Machine-Gun Squads Searching Woods

BERLIN (AP) — Communist police machine-gun squads searched Potsdam district woods today for underground fighters who killed four Red officers in gun battles.

The four Communist police officers were shot last week in the Cottbus area near the Polish frontier. The Red police said two "Fascist terrorists" were arrested Tuesday in connection with the killings, but others were still at large and believed trying to escape to West Berlin.

Vital Statistics Office Will Be Moved

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario's vital statistics office is to be moved from the Parliament buildings for the second time since Confederation. Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar announced today the office will be moved Nov. 9 from the east block of the Parliament buildings to 70 Lombard street.

The first time the office was moved away from the main seat of government was in 1920 when it was located on Spadina avenue.

The move is necessary, Mr. Dunbar said, to give the registrar-general's department room to handle the increasing business in vital statistics.

Failed To Report Accident, Found Guilty

LINDSAY (ENS) — Norman Nesbitt, 16, of Coboconk, was placed on probation for one year in police court in Lindsay Wednesday, when he was convicted of a charge of failing to report an accident on October 5.

A second charge of careless driving was withdrawn by Crown Attorney Lorne Gordon, when two witnesses in the case failed to answer summonses to the case today.

Nesbitt pleaded not guilty to both charges laid. His father appeared in court and stated that the two witnesses in the case had not only persuaded him not to report the mishap, in which another youth Ralph Peters suffered a fractured knee, but also tried to persuade him not to appear in court today.

The other witness, Ross Truax, was also involved in the accident which occurred when Nesbitt took an old wreck from his father's wrecking yard in Coboconk and drove it on the highway.

According to Mr. Nesbitt there were no seats in the car, and Peters apparently fell out when he lost his balance. The accident was reported to a doctor, who then reported to provincial police.

Crown Attorney Jordan asked that appropriate action be taken against his two witnesses for failing to honor the summons, which had been personally served by an officer of the OPP.

Rain May Mean Disaster To Community

HORSE CAVE, Ky. (AP)—Rain may be a million-dollar word to Kentucky's farmers but to this community it could mean disaster.

Stored in huge tanks along the Louisville and Nashville Railroad are thousands of gallons of a corrosive chemical, left there four years ago by an oil company now defunct.

The tanks were ignored until they started leaking last summer. Residents learned that when the chemical reacts with moisture it forms hydrochloric acid fumes and a deadly by-product—arsenic oxide.

The city attempted to get rid of it but was turned down. An appeal to the defence department brought a reply that the government can do nothing about it.

On July 9, the county health board gave the railroad and the Shaw Oil Company six days to dispose of the chemicals. Nothing happened.

Then a grand jury indicted the railroad and the company on charges of maintaining a common nuisance. The case is yet to be tried.

"We've been safe enough 'n this dry weather," says Mayor L. H. Vensel, "but we don't know what will happen if it ever rains."

Youth Pleads Guilty To Driving Charge

LINDSAY (ENS) — John R. Graham, 18, Lindsay, pleaded guilty to a charge of careless driving in police court here Wednesday and was fined $20 and $14.50 costs by Magistrate E. A. Gee.

The charge was laid after Graham's car overturned in the middle of the county bridge in Coboconk two months ago. The car was a complete wreck, but none of the occupants was injured. Graham was defended by H. E. Richardson.

Have Same Chances Against Submarine

HALIFAX (CP)—Vice Admiral E. R. Mainguy, chief of naval staff, said today that Canadian fighting ships would have just about the same chances against a submarine now as they had during the Second World War.

Admiral Mainguy said in an interview that both submarines and surface vessels have improved about evenly.

The navy's new converted sub chaser, the Alogonquin, showed up well in trials off the Atlantic Coast, he said, and the lessons learned would be valuable in future ships.

Dulles Pledges To Keep Delay At Minimum

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has assured Canada that if opponents of the St. Lawrence river power project begin legal moves to block it, the U. S. will attempt to dispose of the dispute quickly.

L. B. Pearson, Canada's external affairs minister, said State Secretary Dulles had assured him of that Tuesday when the two conferred here.

Canada is "most anxious" to begin construction of the $600,000,000 power development jointly with the U. S., Pearson told a press conference after his talk with Dulles. Construction of the St. Lawrence seaway is dependent on the power development.

The Federal Power Commission has given the New York state power authority a licence to join the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission in the construction, but the New York authority has not yet accepted it formally.

DELAY DEADLINE NEAR

However, it is expected to do so by Nov. 5 or 6—the deadline for opponents to begin court action to block the project.

Pearson told reporters Canada has no desire to oppose the right of any American to object to the power project in the courts.

Nevertheless, he asked Dulles for "a minimum of delay" in halting any litigation that might arise. Dulles replied that the U. S. would co-operate in any possible way to hasten construction, Pearson added.

Canada, Pearson continued, hopes to start work on the project next spring, possibly by early June.

"We are assuming that it will be a Canadian seaway," the minister concluded. "We'd like it to be an international project—but if it can't, we'll be quite happy to go ahead alone."

Duke Of Edinburgh Praises Forest Plan

LONDON (Reuters)—The Duke of Edinburgh said here Tuesday night that the "Coronation forest" to be planted in Israel by Jews from the Commonwealth is "most heartening in this age of tension and misunderstanding."

He told 500 guests at a dinner given by the organizers and supporters of the project that it is both the Queen's and his wish that the forest "will long remain a living testimony that the good in man can break through and outlast all past bitterness."

A total of £100,000 is being sought among Anglo-Jewish communities throughout the Commonwealth to establish the forest as a gesture of loyalty and affection to the Queen to commemorate her Coronation.

Kill 27 Red Soldiers In Clean-up Drive

HANOI, Indo-China (AP) — French and Viet Namese troops were reported today to have killed 27 Communist-led Vietminh soldiers and captured four in mopping-up operations south of Phu Nho Quan, 55 miles southwest of Hanoi.

There still is no indication whether the Franco-Viet Namese forces intend to press on to Thanh Hoa in hope of drawing out the Vietminh in divisional strength for a showdown fight.

OBITUARY

MRS. MICHAEL CONWAY

Mrs. Michael Conway, the former Ellen Abbigal Foley, died today at her home in Ennismore township.

Born in Victoria Road parish, in Digby township, Victoria county, she was a daughter of Daniel Foley and Johanna Connolly, both deceased. Most of her life was spent in Ennismore, where she was a member of St. Martin's Church and the Catholic Women's League and the Altar Society of that church.

She is survived by her husband, a daughter Mrs. Gus Moore, Peterborough, Miss Anne Sullivan, Ennismore, a sister Mrs. Mary Grizelle, Windsor, and two brothers, Mat Foley and Joseph Foley, both of Ennismore.

The funeral service will be held Friday from her home to St. Martin's Church, Ennismore, for mass at 10 a.m. Burial will be in St. Martin's cemetery. Arrangements are being made by the Lane funeral home.

Asks U.S. Make Canada Partner

BOSTON (AP)—A Canadian industrialist suggested Tuesday night the United States invite Canada to be a partner in its role as world leader and begin by eliminating "their greatest source of irritation"—tariff barriers between the two countries.

D. W. Ambridge, president of Abitibi Power and Paper Co. Ltd., told the Boston conference on distribution:

"Let us remember that from our two nations must come most of the industrial power which will be necessary if we are to prevent unimaginable disasters. . . .

"No nation, however great, can undertake the enormous responsibilities of world leadership without friends upon whom absolute reliance can be placed."

Ambridge said the United States should look north for its partner and it would find Canada "whose word is as good as its bonds and dollars."

Canada has the same fundamental philosophy of life, Ambridge said, and "has never gone begging for its bread."

Lindsay Juniors Hold Seasons' First Practice

LINDSAY (ENS)—The Lindsay Juniors held their first practice of the season Tuesday night at the Kiwanis Arena, with a turnout of 14 prospective players including eight of last year's team. Four more '53 veterans are expected at works later this week. No coach or manager has been found for the club as yet, but executive members are continuing to work on the selection of local men for these posts.

Among those showing were Tommy Hutton, Art Truax, Hal Williams, and Jack Graham, forwards from last year's squad, and Ross McGill, Con O'Neill, Bill Williams and Don Crawford, last season's blueline squad.

Expected to turn out are Ron and Garf Teel, Murray Packer and Bill Burns. Goalie Reg Truax has apparently stuck with St. Catharines, leaving a vacancy in the nets to be filled and two more out-of-town players from last year will play with Port Perry this year. Six juveniles from Lindsay and district teams are also working out with the squad.

Officials To Attend 50th Anniversary

OTTAWA (CP)—Senior government officials will visit Kingston, Ont., this week-end for the 50th anniversary of the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals.

Among the group will be the governor-general, Vincent Massey, Defence Minister Claxton, Sir Archibald Nye, United Kingdom high commissioner to Canada, and Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds, chief of general staff.

Found Guilty Of Assaulting Police Constable

MADOC—Sixty-two-year-old Niles Fluke of Thomasburg was fined $25 and costs Tuesday when he was found guilty of assaulting Marmora Constable Gordon Caldwell.

Hearing of the evidence was in Marmora October 7. Fluke was charged with assaulting the officer as he arrested Fluke's son, Henry, for swearing. Witnesses said Niles Fluke struggled with the officer to prevent his son's arrest.

Also charged is another son, Gerald, 35, of Marmora. His case will be heard by Magistrate R. C. Jackson in two weeks. The magistrate reserved judgment on the father until Tuesday.

Constable Caldwell suffered groin injuries, a lacerated ear and abrasions in the assault Aug. 29.

Pitcher Wins Award As MVP In Lindsay

LINDSAY (ENS)—Windup banquet of the Lindsay Men's Softball League was held here Tuesday night, when executive and team members gathered for the presentation of a new plaque, donated by Doug Carruthers, sponsor of the Carruthers' Drug team in the league for the most valuable player in the league. A committee of two local sportswriters, two of the steady fans this season, and the head umpire, made the selection on the basis of leadership, defensive and offensive ability, and sportsmanship.

First winner of the new trophy was Dunc Daynes, first-string pitcher and utility infielder for the Carruthers team. The choice proved a popular one when it was announced at the banquet.

The Bacon and Grills trophies for league and playoff championship, were presented to Russ Hanson, coach of the Combines who swept the league in the past season.

Steel Mill Prices Firm

NEW YORK (AP)—Although at least 10 American steel producers have trimmed premium prices recently, regular mill prices in the United States are holding firm, Iron Age said today.

"The steel market actually appears stronger than it has for several week," said the national metal weekly.

Noting that "the hysteria over returning competition has died down," Iron Age maintained that the steel market is "fundamentally sound" and "outlook is for better-than-average business at least through the first half of 1954."

The publication stressed, however, that with three years of guns-plus-butter shortage behind them, steel buyers have become "extremely cost-conscious." Once again they are rating prices more important than delivery, and premium prices are "falling like tenpins."

Baby Shot Before Birth But Doctors Save It

WINCHESTER, Ky. (AP)—Michael Goodwin McGlothen's life has been like that of any other two-month-old boy, with one exception. He was shot before he was born.

Michael's parents, the Walter McGlothens, withheld until today details of their baby's experience.

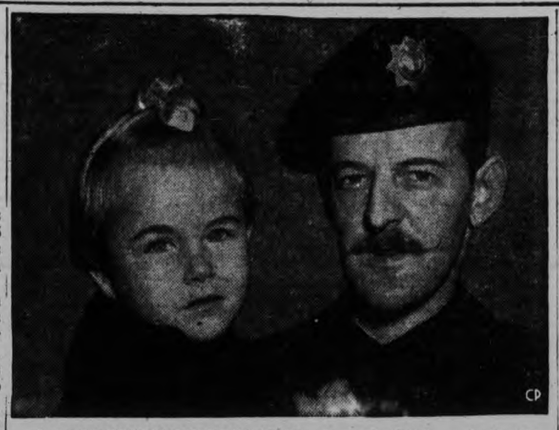
This is how it happened:

Sept. 8, three weeks before the baby's birth was expected, a .22-calibre revolver held by Walter McGlothen's uncle discharged accidentally, and a bullet pierced the expectant mother's abdomen.

With her life and that of her baby hanging in the balance, she was taken to hospital for delivery of the baby by a caesarian operation.

The bullet had lodged near the baby's brain. Surgeons removed it and said neither the baby nor his mother will suffer any permanent harmful effects.

Railway Express Tied Up By Strike



DETROIT (AP)—Railway express shipments were at a standstill here today as 900 members of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks (AFL) went on strike.

The strike was called by George M. Harrison, international president, who termed the walkout part of a country-wide effort by the union to raise the hourly pay scale of all union-member employees of Railway Express Agency, Inc. The Detroit Local 2075 asks for a 30-cent hourly increase.

Richard J. Kowalski, head of the local's protective committee, said he expects a complete tie-up of freight here because all express handlers, drivers and clerks belong to the union.

LAST PRISONER RETURNS—L. Cpl. William Bell, 29, of Toronto, believed the last of Canada's Korea prisoners of war to be repatriated, is greeted by his three-year-old niece, Belinda Lenton, as he arrives in Toronto. He said he hopes to get married during his 60-day leave to Elva Hartley who lives in Manitoba. L. Cpl. Bell was captured at Little Gibraltar last Oct. 22, spent 11 months in Pyuktony prison camp in North Korea and was five weeks in hospital in Japan.

Soviet Movie Distorts U.S.A.

MOSCOW (AP)—A new Soviet color movie portraying American business men and generals as using six Negroes as human guinea pigs in testing a fearful secret war weapon now is playing to packed houses in Moscow.

The strongly anti-American film, which opened here this week, is entitled "Silver Dust." It gives the impression that only "progressives" in the United States oppose the machinations of evil persons.

The movie opens with two American generals representing the "trust" discussing the new silver dust which is believed capable of killing every thing in a vast area without lasting contamination effects.

A young woman is induced to frame a charge of attempted assault against a Negro Communist.

Five other negroes also are arrested and all six are sentenced to the electric chair. But the young woman confesses her part in the framing.

The six Negroes are spirited from prison and brought to a laboratory where a general has them thrown into a cage used to hold animals in tests with the silver dust.

But rescue awaits. Amid buckets of melodrama, the Negroes finally are saved by "progressives."

Fine Strikers $50 For Obstructing Police

HAMILTON (CP)—Ten persons charged with obstructing police in connection with the Wallace Barnes strike were each fined $50 and costs today. All pleaded guilty.

John Agro, representing all the men, told the court the men were the kind who were "the backbone of Canada's labor force." He said they had "a God-given right to earn their bread and butter, and a man-given right to strike in order to get jam to put on it."

Actor Ray Milland, Wife Separated

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor Ray Milland and his wife announced jointly today that they have separated.

The statement said they "have come to the decision that it might be best for both of us to separate temporarily. The problems which have ended in this decision are purely personal. There is no third party involved."

Milland and his wife have been married for 22 years.

Atom Explosion

CANBERRA (AP)—An authoritative Australian source today said British scientists will set off another atomic explosion, their third, at Woomera rocket range within a few days. No observers will be present.

Streets Clean

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—A city water truck crew stuck to its schedule and drove out Tuesday to sprinkle dirt streets in northwest Albuquerque. But it didn't get the job done. The truck got stuck in mud from the heaviest rain the city has had in six months.

Fine Sir John Gielgud On Morals Charge

LONDON (Reuters) — Shakespearian actor Sir John Gielgud today was fined £10 on a morals charge.

He was accused of persistently importuning male persons for an immoral purpose. On the charge sheet he was described as John Gielgud, 49, a clerk.

Gielgud said in court: "I cannot imagine I was so stupid. I was tired and had a few drinks. I was not responsible for my actions."

Magistrate E. R. Guest advised him to seek medical advice. Gielgud, a bachelor, was knighted last June for his contributions to the British theatre.

Fail On Agreement On Future Of Suez

CAIRO (Reuters)—The British embassy today said Anglo-Egyptian negotiators on the future of the Suez canal base have failed to reach agreement but will hold another meeting at a date to be arranged.

The two sides had met today for what was regarded as an all-important session in their prolonged talks.

The embassy said a further meeting will be held after both sides have considered the position. No details on today's session were given.

Information here is that the main points to be settled are the terms under which British forces would be allowed to return in event of another war. The Egyptians are also reluctant to let uniformed British technicians remain as temporary maintenance crews.

Lord Montagu Arrives In Paris By Air

PARIS (Reuters)—Lord Montagu of Beaulieu, 27, for whose arrest a warrant has been issued in Britain, arrived by air today from New York.

He declined to talk to reporters.

It is not known if or when he plans to return to England.

The chairman of magistrates in Lymington, England, said last week that the charges against Montagu concerned a boy scout who was camping near Beaulieu, Montagu's estate, last summer.

A summons against the young peer was issued while he was on vacation in the United States.

Urges Car Designs Be More Comfortable

LONDON (AP)—The Duke of Edinburgh opened the British motor show today and said he thinks it odd that designers haven't solved some simple problems of motorist comfort.

"Why is it for instance that there always seems to be a handle or knob just opposite one's right knee" he asked.

"And surely a little research in a wind tunnel will do away with the piercing draught from a quarter of an inch of open window."

Woman Spy Testifies Against Officer

By RICHARD EHRMAN

NOVARA, Italy (AP)—A shapely Italian brunette who said she spied for the Allies in the Second World War testified today that a former American lieutenant on trial in absentia ordered that she be murdered.

She provided an additional sensation by fainting when the court president asked her if she had been the lover of Aminta Migliari, one of the five men on trial for the 1944 behind-the-lines slaying of American Maj. William Holohan.

The witness, Marina Duelli, 32, now a fashion designer in Geneva, Switzerland, named former Lieut. Aldo Icardi of Pittsburgh as the man who sought to do away with her. Icardi, former Sgt. Carlo Lo Dolce of Rochester, N. Y., and three Italians are on trial for the Holohan slaying. Holohan commanded a secret mission in which the five participated. Both Americans are being tried in absentia.

SECRET COURIER

Miss Duelli testified that during the war she was a secret courier between Allied and partisan units in northern Italy and allied intelligence headquarters at Lugano, Switzerland.

"After the Holohan disappearance, I pressed Icardi for an official report of what happened, but he always eluded my request, which was made in the name of the partisan intelligence headquarters in Milan," she told the court.

"Finally he gave me a letter to bring to a partisan chieftain. I sensed something was wrong. In fact, the letter I was carrying was my death sentence. It was an order that I be removed for security reasons. But I saved myself, fleeing to Switzerland."

Canadians Present Pen To Official

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A group of Canadian government officials and representatives of Canadian Pacific Airlines, called on Interior Minister Angel Carvajal Tuesday. Mexican official with a fountain pen made of a mammoth tusk which was buried for 50,000 years in the Canadian polar region.

Among the visitors were Ralph Campney, assistant defence minister; W. Bendickson, Member of Parliament for Kenora-Rainy River; G. W. McConachie, president of Canadian Pacific Airlines, and Jack McBride C. P. A. manager in Mexico.

Few Of Complaints To CAS Well-Founded, Society Told

A number of cases have been reported to the Children's Aid Society lately, concerning negligence and delinquency in families, which, upon inspection, were learned to be unfounded, and often selfishly motivated.

A complaint of sexual delinquency was mentioned by Miss Rachael Young, superintendent of the society at a meeting, Tuesday, as an example. Upon investigation it was learned that a mother of five was having some difficulty with her husband, but her own attempts to keep the home were creditable. The home was well kept and the children well fed and clean. The difficulty between the parents was not considered serious.

The obvious reason for the complaint was the fact that this family was located in an area where there were few other children.

Although 20 families have been reported to the society in September by police, relatives, neighbors, and anonymous parties, most of these cases are unfounded and concerned with families with a large number of children. The complaints are usually laid by people with few, if any, children of their own, she said.

"It is of concern that complaints are sometimes made because the family bothers people and it is the hope that the Children's Aid Society will be the means of making the family move. Visits to such a home reveal in many instances that the family is doing as well as it can. A family in which there are several children has a difficult time to get any accommodation and if it is an apartment or shared accommodation, problems frequently arise."

In the future the society will not be responsible for the outcome of any private arrangement for adoption, except in the case of negligence to the child when it will then take over the care of that child. "A contract directly between the parents and adopters, without our consultation," Miss Young pointed out, "should not be our responsibility. Without knowing any of the conditions, it is impossible for us to advise."

Thirteen children came under the supervision of the society during September. There were six for reasons of neglect, three born out of wedlock, two adopted at the request of relatives and two who had recently moved into the community.

The financial report, totalled for the first six months, indicated an over expenditure of $1,800 on the budget, but many of the revenue sources have not been tapped as yet. Increased cost of clothing, board and salary increases account for the over expenditure. Miss Young cited one case in which the cost of an article of clothing had jumped from $8 to $16 in the past year.

It was decided by the members to make a capital investment of between $650 and $750 for the purchase of a new electric stove with coal or oil heated annex for the children's shelter.

Landscape Green At Kawartha Add To Difficulty

The 500 members of Kawartha Golf Club will hardly recognize the change of contour on No. 4 green when next they put foot on it, probably for most of them not until the 1954 season opens.

Its gentle slope has been levelled by raising its west side three feet in a cut and fill operation of landscaping that is nearing completion. One thousand cubic yards of soil were moved to carry in the levelling process by a bulldozer, and for that essential feature 20,000 sq. ft. of sod was lifted and replaced.

The soil is a composite of sand, peat and loam, reinforced with fertilizer, and also with a dash of mercury to discourage the worms from raising their little mounds of earth on the putting green.

The more spacious replacement grass job should be thoroughly re-established by springtime. A bunker has been added on the west side of No. 4 for the sake of interest and trouble to the unwary. The final stage is the planting of Washington bent grass within the central area of the green.

Robert MacMorran, supervisor of the grounds, explained today that bent grass is not seeded.

"You lift it from one place and transfer it to the other," he said. "It won't hurt if you shake the soil from the roots. This grass is moved to the place where you want to propagate a new green. It is spread on the prepared location; the new roots may be work tion; the new roots may be worked a little into the soil, or sprinkled with it, plus some fertilizer, good horticultural practice, and then you go away and leave it in the care of nature."

Club members may recall that new bent was planted on the No. 15 green last fall, and was in top condition this summer.

"We got it from No. 18, where it had spread out beyond the clipped area. And, that is where we are now getting the supply for No. 4."

Under foot, the clipped bent feels like the pile of a rich carpet, and it looks like a billiard table. When that work is done on it, and with the desire effect, the earth worms are unwelcome subsoil residents.

"No. 3 green has an easy slope, and it was suggested to the grounds committee that we ought to alter the lay of No. 4 partly to enlarge the element of variety in the terrain. So, we laid out a survey, and left the work to the groundsmen. They have the centre area ready for the Washington bent. It has all been done in about a week."

Kawartha Golf Club property is virtually a park, and richly beautified with trees, rock garden, shrubbery, a pond and waterfall, the whole scenic effect glorified these days by the colors of autumn. The course is recognized by golfers as one of the best in the country. and has become widely known by tournament play.

Its greens detail of the bent grass has to be seen to be appreciated, a refinement that will be developed at the remaining areas where it has not yet been planted.

FRANCE'S FINEST 20—Mr. and Mrs. Sockeel-Trouart are mighty proud of their family which won 500,000 francs ($1,050) after being named France's finest family. There are 18 children in the family which lives in Festubert near the channel coast of northern France.

Humane Societies Elect Officers

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Officers of the Ontario Societies for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, elected here over the week-end, are: Mrs. Noel B. Eaton of Aldershot, president; G. T. Moore, London, Herbert C. Merry, Oakville and Douglas Dalziel, Sault Ste. Marie, vice-presidents; D. Alan Page, Burlington, secretary and F. H. Cooke, Guelph, treasurer.

Resignation of the Rev. C. Loat, St. Catharines, secretary for nine years, was accepted with regret.

David Askew, Newmarket, general manager, reporting on the state of horses used in the lumbering industry in the Algoma district, said hundreds of animals in Algoma district alone being subjected to sickening treatment.

Horses found in bad condition has jumped from five per cent to 20 in the last year, according to figures from the Sault Ste. Marie society.

Lindsay People Lucky Win Car And $1,200

LINDSAY (ENS)—Two Lindsay persons are enjoying the results of their good luck, following their winning of valuable prizes in contests in the last week.

Last Friday, a Lindsay man William Lywood, won a 1953 model car in a draw sponsored by the Oshawa Knights of Columbus. Monday Mrs. I. Willis, here only six years from England, won the $1,200 a radio quiz program, in which she correctly identified a mystery person. She listened to the program from the Peterborough radio station.

Two People Killed In 2-Car Collision

BARRIE (CP) — Two persons were killed and four others injured in a two-car collision four miles north of here early today.

Killed were John A. Rawn, 39, and Frances Day, about 35, Barrie, passengers in the same car. William Kelly, 25, of Toronto and Claude Murray, 33, of Barrie, suffered minor injuries.

Leslie Brooks, 61, of Toronto and Norma Ferrier, 16, of nearby Midhurst, passengers in the other car, also received minor injuries.

The Brooks car collided with the other as it turned out of a driveway.

CCF Leader Recovers $60

TORONTO (CP)—W. J. Grummett, CCF leader in the legislature, discovered $60 was missing from his wallet while travelling on a train in northern Ontario during the week-end.

The conductor wired ahead and when the train arrived at Porquis Junction provincial police removed one of the passengers.

Two hours later police had a confession—and Mr. Grummett's $60.

Mr. Grummett said on his return here Tuesday the passenger had recently been released from Burwash industrial farm. The CCF leader had met him when the legislature's select committee on reform institutions visited the farm some months ago.

Wheat Board Starts Deferred Price System

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian wheat board, for the first time in 10 years of compulsory marketing, has instituted a deferred price system to encourage wheat sales.

A trade official said Tuesday that under the new system, launched last month, a buyer of wheat for export has the choice either of paying the price at the time his order is booked or the price which may prevail at any time until he takes delivery. Previously the fixed-price system prevailed.

This price choice is designed to protect exporters to Britain and other countries where the grain trade now is in private hands and where internal prices may fluctuate sharply.

Bears Damage 40 Cottages

ALGONQUIN PARK (CP)—More than 100 foraging bears have been shot during the last few weeks by game preserve officers in Algonquin Park.

The officers' normal duty is to protect animals but bears have been so numerous that the rangers have been forced to shoot them.

Unable to find food, the bears broke into cottages and cabins. More than 40 cottages at Cache lake were damaged. Rangers fear more damage to others at Smoke lake.

District forester W. E. Gimby said there are more bears in sight this year than he has seen in 25 years. He blamed the hot summer which destroyed the animals' food supply.

Youngsters Build Underground Shacks, Bunkers

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Dozens of underground shacks or bunkers, laboriously constructed by school boys to provide places where they can play, roast potatoes and smoke cigarets in private, have been discovered in vacant lots, it was announced Tuesday.

Officials of the inspection division of the city fire department said the bunkers, some about 30 feet long, are apparently a new juvenile fad. It would take a group of boys, working with pick and shovel, several days to construct one of the more elaborate types.

Apparently they dig an open trench about 20 feet long. This leads into a large hole about five feet square. They cover the top of the trench and hole with a network of sticks and corrugated cardboard and camouflage it under earth.

Capt. Emmett Byrne, a fire department safety inspector, said the underground hideouts are more of a threat to the lives of children than discarded ice boxes which have claimed the lives of more than 17 children in Canada and the United States in the last four months.

Charge Union Head On Malicious Damage

HANOVER, Ont. (CP)—Ralph Dietrich, president of Local 1178 of the Textile Workers' Union of America (CIO-CCL) Tuesday was charged with malicious damage and freed on $100 property bail.

Dietrich heads the union local on strike at the Grey Mist hosiery plant in this town 60 miles northwest of Kitchener. He was arrested on a picket line Monday night, police said, after a car belonging to mill manager M., G. Terney was smeared with red paint.

The strike began Sept. 25.

Some Confusion At Cheese Sale

STRATFORD (CP)—Cheese was sold on the Western Ontario cheese exchange here Tuesday with a conditional rider attached to the 30-cent price.

Cheese factory salesmen were told that if the price does not hold sales will be cancelled and cheese offered again at the next board on Nov. 3.

Interpretation of a cheese marketing board telegram created confusion. The telegram advised the cheese board and the trade had agreed to a 30 cent f.o.b. factory. However, there was no indication what deductions, if any, might be made by the cheese board in excess of the regulation five cents per hundred-weight marketing service charge.

Factory salesmen at first would not offer their cheese for sale until that situation was cleared up.

Exchange officials in telephone conversation with marketing board officials at Belleville, could get no clarification but they did learn that a deal has been completed to sell 50,000,000 pounds of 1953 Canadian cheese to Britain.

Beauty Winner Wins Approval

LONDON (Reuters) — Denise Perrier, 18, French holder of the "Miss World" beauty title, turned a pair of dark eyes on reporters Tuesday and had little difficulty convincing them she's just as pretty in the morning as she is at night.

An aggrieved rival in the beauty contest, decided on the stage of the Lyceum Theatre here Monday night, had expressed doubt that Denise's beauty would stand up to the harsh light of day.

The contest, sponsored by a chain of British dance halls, carried a first pirze of $1,400.

Alexandra Ladiku of Greece placed second. Miss Egypt, Marina Pappaelia, whose preview appearance last week in a shape-revealing Bikini swimsuit shocked London—was third.

When Miss Perrier's victory was announced, Miss Egypt said bitterly, "You should see what she looks like in the morning. I don't think she is so good."

Action Hinges On Signing Of EDC Pact

Plans Nearly Ready; Dulles Hopeful Of EDC Ratification

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Plans are about complete for funnelling United States military aid to West European countries through the projected European Defence Community as soon as it is ratified.

This was reported today by government officials who pictured State Secretary Dulles and other top officials as confident that the long-stalled EDC treaty will be finally approved in the next three or four months.

That action would clear the way for rearming West Germany, the only state which has ratified it so far. Other signers are France, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

NEAR SIGNING

Informants have said a special agreement covering the delivery of American aid to EDC, being worked out with a defence community preparatory commission at Paris, is substantially completed.

In general, it follows the line of agreements required by the U. S. Congress with all the individual countries receiving American assistance.

In brief, the requirements are that the aid must be used to strengthen the free world, that there be adequate publicity as to the source, and that the aid not be transferred to other areas without U. S. approval. Technical provisions cover presence of American personnel in the areas where weapons and equipment are released and used.

FOLLOWS U.S. POLICY

Officials said the agreement has been negotiated in line with basic U. S. policy, as laid down by Congress in recent foreign aid bills, that U. S. aid may be given to international organizations where that is desirable.

Beyond this, an amendment to the bill passed last year specified that only a portion of the authorized military help for western Europe could be delivered prior to the formation of EDC.

One result of this distribution of military equipment through EDC is that it will not be handed over directly to West Germany. Officials feel this should prove reassuring in some degree to French concern about a revival of German militarism.

Lyttelton Says Facts Hard To Get

Labor Party Primed To Challenge Government's Action

LONDON —(CP)— Colonial Secretary Oliver Lyttelton said today Britain is considering bringing several deposed British Guianan cabinet ministers to trial on charges of plotting a campaign of arson in the South American colony.

But, he told the House of Commons, authorities in British Guiana are having trouble "in obtaining sufficient evidence to prefer charges as the agents are unwilling for fear of intimidation to make written statements or give evidence in court."

Lyttelton was speaking at the opening of a full-dress debate on the situation in British Guiana where the Churchill government suspended the constitution and ousted the left-wing ministers to smash an alleged Communist plot to seize power.

The debate was on a government motion asking the House to approve the action.

Labor members moved an amendment calling the action too extreme.

JAGAN HEARS DEBATE

One of the listeners to the debate was Dr. Cheddi Jagan, the deposed leftist premier of British Guiana, who arrived here Wednesday night to present his case to the British public.

Lyttelton agreed that suspension of the constitution was a grave step.

"Viewed in any light," he said, "it is a set-back to the principle on which all political parties in this house are agreed—namely that our colonial policy should be directed toward giving the peoples in the colonial territories an increasing responsibility for the management of their own affairs."

The policy entails risks, he said, and "when events have proved that risks were unjustified . . . we must be prepared to retrace our steps and try something else, always keeping in mind the ultimate

Power For Peace Newest Plan Of Atom Agency

CHICAGO (AP)—The United States today announced its first full-scale attempt to tame atomic power for peace—a move billed as "America's answer" to Soviet claims of mastery over dread new nuclear weapons of war. Thomas E. Murray, a member, said the Atomic Energy Commission will build an industrial power reactor producing at least 60,000 kilowatts of electrical energy—enough to run a city of 50,000. He said the project will cost "many tens of millions of dollars" and that the AEC hopes to have an operating plant in three to four years.

The plant, Murray said, may be located "at or near" an AEC facility for separating uranium-235, the paydirt of atomic power, from natural uranium. The AEC has one such facility at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and is building others at Paducah, Ky., and Portsmouth, Ohio.

IN ADMIRAL'S HANDS

He said Westinghouse Corporation will be the principal contractor for the new plant, of a design "inherited from a naval project." Rear-Admiral H. G. Rickover, the U.S. Navy's reactor expert, was given "immediate responsibility" for the new program.

Murray's historic announcement—a little more than eight years after the U. S. unleashed the world's first atomic bomb at Hiroshima—came in a speech prepared for the electric companies public information program.

He said the AEC decided to beat Russia to the punch by pushing ahead first with an industrial power program instead of concentrating almost exclusively on reactors for military use.

This should show the world that, "even in this gravest phase of arming for defence, America's eyes are still on the peaceful future."

Murray said the world was stunned when Russia announced recently that Soviet scientists had learned the secret of the hydrogen bomb, the tremendous offspring of the A-bomb that could blot out cities.

Defence Efforts To Reach Peak In '54: CIPA Head

OTTAWA (CP)—A Canadian industrialist said today Canada's defences, business and employment will suffer unless her arms machine is kept well oiled and humming in the years ahead.

T. R. McLagan of Montreal, president of the Canadian Industrial Preparedness Association, predicted that the peak in Canada's defence efforts will be reached next year.

"We should continue to press for the maintenance of a preparedness program" even after the current one is completed, he said in a speech prepared for the CIPA's annual meeting.

THEY TELL HOWE

Some 200 industrialists forming an organization that advises Production Minister Howe on Canada's arms program gathered at the one-day session.

"Preparedness is a tough business and we have to deal with unknown problems and I do not think anyone can rightfully criticize the efforts of our preparedness industries," said Mr. McLagan, president of Canada Steamship Lines.

"We now are on the threshold of real accomplishment, but I do say we must watch the future and see that we do not undo all that has been done.

"If we do, it will weaken our defences and also be bad for business and employment."

Maj.-Gen. G. B. Howard, CIPA's vice-president and general manager, agreed with the need for maintenance of the defence machine.

There is a need, he said in a prepared speech, for "long-range planning for the future, sound planning well beyond the current program."

WILL REVISE

"The services will be called on to give some idea of their forward requirements for the years to come. These will, no doubt, be subject to revision from time to time as international tension eases or increases. . . .

Gen. Howard urged industrialists to safeguard their plants from "outside interference by traitorous individuals."

Some plants were ready to wait until all-out war before taking security precautions, but if war came, all plants would be producing arms.

27 Youths Face 44 Charges After Wild Party

CHATHAM (CP)—Twenty-seven youths and four juveniles faced a total of 44 charges today in a closed magistrate's court as a result of a wild teen-age party Oct. 3 in nearby Tupperville.

Two of the juveniles are high school girls from Wallaceburg charged as incorrigibles.

Police said the party was a "sordid affair" that involved "sex, drinking and vandalism."

Crown attorney A. D. Bell said what happened was so "frightful and sordid" that the names of those charged have been kept secret. Their parents were in court today.

The party, held at a girl's home when her parents were away for the week-end lasted from Friday night until Saturday.

Some of the youths played baseball with eggs. Another brought a calf into the house and allowed it to romp over furniture. One youth cut the head off a chicken and spattered the house with blood.

TWO WEEKS OF PROBING

Provincial constable Fred Dicket of Wallaceburg said it took two weeks' investigation to get a complete story and gather signed statements.

Crown attorney Bell said details of the investigation were such that the press would be excluded from the trial. A press release would be issued later.

The charges include wilful damage, indecent assault, contributing to juvenile delinquency, theft of gasoline, consumption of alcohol by minors, consuming in a public place, supplying minors with liquor, theft of a chicken and incorrigibility. Police indicated there may be more charges.

Name Robinette To Supreme Court

OTTAWA (CP)—John J. Robinette, QC, prominent Toronto lawyer, has been appointed a judge of the Ontario Supreme Court and a member of the Ontario Appeal Court, the justice department announced today.

Mr. Robinett is 46.

The department also announced that Carl D. Stewart, QC, of Barrie, Ont., has been appointed a judge of the Ontario Supreme Court and a member of the Ontario High Court of Justice.

Farquhar John MaCrae, a judge of the county court of Ontario county, has been appointed a junior judge of the county court of York county.

John E. Pritchard, QC, of Toronto, will succeed Mr. MaCrae.

Boy's Dangling Body Kept Bell Ringing

KOLDING, Denmark (AP) — Puzzled villagers rushed to the small church of Broerup near here Wednesday to find out why the church bell kept ringing at high noon.

Dangling from the bellrope was the body of a 14-year-old boy, son of the bell-ringer.

Police believe the boy had killed himself because he did not pass an exam.

Secrecy Danger To Increase Of Knowledge, Says Solandt

OTTAWA (CP)—Dr. O. M. Solandt, Canada's top defence scientist, said today that unless industrial research "can be made to pay cash dividends," then industry should not bother with it. In a speech prepared for the Canadian Industrial Preparedness Association, the defence research board chief warned industrialists not to be carried away by their enthusiasm for research and development. "If we are to have healthy industrial research and development in Canada, the same criteria must be applied to expenditure for research and development as to any other industrial expenditure. Unless management is convinced that research can be made to pay cash dividends, then the research should not be done."

Technological progress has set a pace that "vastly exceeds anything seen before," he said. "In the space of a relatively few years we have seen the introduction and will see the perfection of the jet engine. We will see supersonic flight becoming commonplace.

"We have seen the introduction of fission and of atomic weapons, and we will see the widespread introduction of atomic power for industry."

But freedom in the international exchange of scientific information must be maintained if the world was to advance.

Canada must guard against giving out secrets that might help a potential enemy, but scientists and industrialists must recognize that secrecy "will seriously interfere with the growth of the body of scientific knowledge on which we all depend."

"The whole progress of science and consequently of industry depends on the free interchange of ideas and information betwee the scientific communities of different countries."

POOLED IN EUROPE

"One of the curious anomalies of secrecy is that the development of the atomic bomb and the present prospects for production of industrial power from atomic energy

4 Children Die, Mother Hurt In House Blaze

SHERBROOKE, Que. (CP) — Four children of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Bradley died and their mother was severely burned early today in a small fire which damaged the Bradley home in this Eastern Townships centre.

Damage to the second-floor of the wooden tenement was limited to the living room. It is believed the children died from asphyxiation. Faulty wiring was said to be the cause of the blaze.

The blaze was quickly extinguished.

Mrs. Bradley, 35, is in critical condition in hospital suffering from effects of smoke. Mr. Bradley, a rural bread-truck driver, was on his route when the fire started.

The four victims were identified as David, 10 months, Robert, 4, Barbara, 5, and Keith, 10. The four children were found in their bedrooms.

Say Ceylonese Oppose Queen's Visit On Costs

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — Informed sources today said there is strong opposition in Premier Sir John Kotelawela's governing party against inviting the Queen to visit Ceylon next April during her Far Eastern tour. Those objecting say the visit will cost Ceylon too much money and create a false impression that the country is prosperous.

The premier is insisting upon extending the invitation. Among the opposition ranks is former premier Dudley Senanayake.

Italian Floods Toll May Be 100

REGGIO CALABRIA, Italy (AP) Wild floodwaters swept across the toe of the Italian boot today and fears mounted that the final toll would pass 100.

By midafternoon 47 bodies—many of them of children—already had been recovered.

Torrential rains, following tremendous cloudbursts, continued to hammer the poverty-stricken region, which had been devastated by other floods only last year.

The rains, together with surging waters which swept over agriculture fields and into hamlets and towns, balked rescue operations.

The prefect of Reggio Calabria, capital of the region, issued a call for helicopters to aid in rescue operations.

The region, on the toe of Italy, is known to many Canadians as the spot where, on the night of Sept. 2-3, 1943, the British 8th Army launched an invasion of the Italian mainland with the 1st Canadian and 5th British divisions.

In Rome, the interior ministry said all available rescue units, including troops, have set out for the scene of the floods. It added that the provincial government had not yet been able to get any real estimate on the damage or loss of life because of broken communications.

Reggio Calabria is the capital of the province of the same name. It ies just across the straits of Messina from Sicily.

U.S. Scientist, U.K. Professor Win Nobel Gifts

STOCKHOLM (AP)—A Harvard University scientist and a German-born British professor jointly won the 1953 Nobel prize for medicine and physiology for their discovery of fundamental life mechanisms inside human cells, it was announced today.

The honor went to Dr. Fritz Albert Lipmann, 54, professor of biochemistry at Harvard medical school, Cambridge, Mass., and Dr. Hans Adolph Krebs, 53, professor of biochemistry at Britain's Sheffield University.

They will share the 175,292 Swedish crowns ($33,840) prize money.

Dr. Lipmann gained the distinction through his discovery of coenzyme A, an organic substance that plays an important part in nearly every biological process. Dr. Krebs was cited for his "wheel of fortune" explanation of how food becomes energy in living tissue. The two developments are closely related.

SIGNIFICANT ACHIEVEMENT

Both achievements were described by Dr. Goran Liljestrand, secretary of the medical Nobel committee, as being "of the utmost theoretical significance and very likely to have great practical importance in understanding diseases and similar disturbances."

The award was the 44th made by Stockholm's Caroline Institute of Medicine under the will of the late Alfred Nobel, inventor of dynamite, who died in 1896.

The will established similar annual prizes for outstanding work in literature, physics, chemistry, and toward world peace. The literature prize this year already has been awarded to Sir Winston

Baptists Heal 25-Year Schism

TORONTO (CP)—The Union of Regular Baptist Churches and the Fellowship of Independent Baptist Churches amalgamated Wednesday night into the Fellowship of Evangelical Baptist Churches in Canada.

The move, for which groundwork was laid at separate meetings of the two groups within the last few months, came at a meeting attended by 300 delegates representing 225 Baptist churches in Ontario and Quebec.

Both are fundamentalist groups which left the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec, the largest Baptist organization in the two provinces, in the 1920s over the issue of modernist teaching in churches and in McMaster University of Hamilton, then in Toronto.

Rev. Norman Pipe of Simcoe former moderator of the Fellowship of Independent Baptist Churches led the devotional portion of the meeting.

Rev. W. Hal MacBain of Sarnia, former president of the Union of Regular Baptist Churches, was in charge of the business meeting.

Marriage is sometimes performed for ulterior motives, Mr. MacBain said. "But that isn't the case here. We are both as poor as church mice."

Royal Pair Start Tour Nov. 23

LONDON (AP)—The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh will leave London Airport at 8:45 p. m. (3:45 p. m. EST) Nov. 23 for their Commonwealth tour that will take them to Australia and New Zealand, it was announced today.

Their BOAC Stratocruiser is scheduled to reach Gander, Nfld., for a refuelling stop at 3:45 a. m. local time Nov. 24. After an hour-and-a-half stop the plane will depart for Bermuda arriving there at 10 a. m.

The Queen and her husband will leave Bermuda at 6 a. m. Nov. 25 and are due at Montego Bay, Jamaica at 10 a. m.

Captain Anthony Christopher Loraine, flight superintendent of BOAC's Stratocruiser and Constellation fleet, will command the plane.

September Car Entries From U.S. Set Record

TORONTO (CP)—Tourist vehicle entries into Ontario from the United States during September, 190,000, set a record for the month, the department of travel and publicity announced today.

The entry was 38.4 per cent above last September.

The influx during the first nine months of 1953 was 1,348,1?9 vehicles, an 11.5-per-cent increase over the same period last y?

"Sell More To Britain"

Exporters Head Sees Tough Competition For Canada In Reaching World Market

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Canada may expect tougher competition from other countries as she tries to sell her products in world markets, J. H. Ferrie of Montreal, president of the Canadian Exporters' Association, said today.

In a speech prepared for the association's annual convention, he declared that Canada must be prepared and industry must gear itself to meet these conditions.

"If, as has been stated, Canada is buying too much from the United States . . . why do we not transfer some of these purchases to the United Kingdom.

IMPROVE POSITION

"We would thereby improve our trading position with the United States, and make available dollars to the sterling area, enabling it to buy more from us."

It was disturbing, too, said Mr. Ferrie, to read that $18,000,000 in orders for new-type railway equipment has been placed in the United States.

"Does this mean that, with all our industrial advancement, we are unable to produce this new type of equipment or that we are too timid to enter a new field? The net result is to increase our unfavorable trade balance with the United States."

Concerning wheat, he commented:

"Here is a product that has a potential customer in every man, woman and child in the world—probably a greater market than any other product of Canada.

"Surely, with the quality of our wheat products, Canada should be assured of an expanding market that would go a long way towards bolstering our export trade."

Canadians, Mr. Ferrie said, have a standard of living second only to that of the United States.

"This very fact puts us in a vulnerable competitive position with other countries that have a much lower wage scale. Canadian labor leaders, in demanding further increases in wages, should keep in mind that Canada is required to export 25 per cent of its production if this standard of living is to be maintained.

"The Canadian government is working with other governments to obtain lower tariffs with some countries, simplification of tariff acts in others, and freer trade with sterling countries. . . .

"This, however, will take a long time and should not be depended upon to provide any relief against the strong competitive position that exists today.

"There is no easy way out, but every effort should be made to correct and improve our position with such means as we have at our disposal."

JUST EATING DINNER—Workmen who can't get home for their meals usually find some nice cosy place to eat and rest during the dinner hour. Two men Wednesday amazed downtown motorists and pedestrians when they calmly perched on the edge of the Royal Bank building roof amid hydro wires to munch their lunch. They spent a great deal of their dinner hour laughing at the people who stopped to stare at them as other workers rushed back and forth to work. Every now and then they waved to some friend they had recognized from their lofty dinner table.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Reds Return To Talks On Prisoners

No Victory Seen On Demand To Meet Anti-Reds

PANMUNJOM —(AP)— The two Red satellite members of the Korean prisoner repatriation commission ended a three-day walkout today, but there was no indication they had won their point—that anti-Red Koreans be forced to hear Communist efforts to wheedle them home.

The explanations have been stalled since Monday, when the Polish and Czech delegates left the commission after being voted down by the Indians, Swedes and Swiss.

In today's meeting they apparently repeated the demand without success, and the explanations remained at a standstill.

The Communist delegates are forcing the point by disregarding the 14,600 Chinese who apparently will listen, insisting instead on talking with the 7,800 Koreans who have refused with a show of belligerence.

The Red reluctance to meet the Chinese may grow from the stinging propaganda beating they took in the first two days of interviews —only 19 of 921 Chinese chose the road to communism.

After unsuccessful efforts by Indian guards to get the Koreans peacefully to the interviews, the Red efforts were called off in stalemate.

Lt.-Gen. K. S. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the repatriation commission, said after Thursday's session that Indian troops are unable to produce the Koreans "at this time."

The meeting was not adjourned, but was recessed until Friday, leading observers to speculate that some new line of argument may have been presented.

Before the meeting Thimayya said he would ask for an indefinite recess, but he declined comment on that point after the session.

The days without interviews are shopping time from the explanation period set by the armistice, which ends Dec. 24. The Allies already have refused several requests for extensions.

The United States Army announced today that Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson, the former prisoner who switched his choice from communism to home, was flown to Tokyo Thursday.

The Communists also got back a prisoner today—a Chinese who was the cause of an angry UN protest over a three-hour grilling by Red explainers which the Allies termed "cruel and unusual . . . brainwashing."

The Chinese was dazed and bewildered after the long session Saturday and had been kept in segregation. But he was smiling when he left the repatriation commission meeting after requesting to go home.

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public weather office in Toronto at 9:30 a.m.:

Synopsis:

Warm, sunny weather still continues over the eastern half of the continent, but cooler air of Pacific origin has invaded the Prairies and central plains of the United States. However, its eastward progress is under the control of an intense low pressure centre located over North Dakota. As this disturbance moves northeastward towards Hudson Bay, cloudiness and showers will spread into northwestern Ontario today, and over into the Kirkland Lake area Friday. Elsewhere the warm, sunny spell will continue today and Friday.

Regional forecasts valid until midnight Friday:

Lake Erie, Lake Huron, Lake Ontario, Niagara, southern Georgian Bay and Haliburton regions; Windsor, London, Toronto, Hamilton Continuing sunny and warm with light winds today and Friday, low tonight and high Friday at St. Thomas, Wingham, St. Catharines and London 50 and 70, Trenton 45 and 65, Muskoka 45 and 70, Killaloe 40 and 70, Windsor 55 and 80, Toronto and Hamilton 50 and 65. Summary for Friday: Sunny and warm.

Barbers Request Bigger Minimum

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—The Ontario Barbers Association Wednesday night passed a resolution urging the federal government's industrial standards bureau to increase the minimum service charge for haircuts and shaves.

The resolution suggested the minimum charge for haircuts be boosted from 50 to 65 cents and for shaves from 35 to 40 cents.

Earlier president Dan T. Borne of Kitchener, who was re-elected, said association members "couldn't stay in business" if outside shops were allowed to charge such low rates.

Other officers elected during the convention: Les McKerrol, Woodstock, first vice-president; Harry Ross, Oshawa, second vice-president; Ed Work, Toronto, secretary, and Bob Montjoy, Toronto, treasurer.

Priest Finds Stone Pre-Historic Knife

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP) — A stone believed to be a pre-historic knife or club was dug up Wednesday by Rev. W. Golus as he worked on the new Polish Roman Catholic church being built here.

Father Golus said the stone weighs 3½ pounds. It will be sent to archeological experts in Toronto.

"The shape and markings on the stone tend to dispel any idea that it was a natural formation," he said.

Churchill. The other awards are still to be announced.

NATIVES OF GERMANY

Both medicine winners are natives of Germany but have become citizens of their adopted countries. Dr. Lipmann was born in Koenigsberg and studied at the University of Berlin. He went to the United States in 1931 on a Rockefeller Foundation scholarship and has been a Harvard professor since 1949.

His co-winner was born at Hildesheim and studied at the universities of Goettingen, Munich and Berlin. For a time he served as assistant at the famous Kaiser Wilhelm Biology Institute in Berlin. In 1933 he fled to Britain as a refugee from the Nazis.

Lipmann is rated by Nobel committee experts as one of the world's leading authorities on enzymes, substances which promote organic chemical reactions without themselves being consumed in the process. They are believed to do their work, roughly, by catching passing substances and turning them over to a series of other chemicals involved in a reaction chain.

Some enzymes, however, need to be "whipped" into action by other substances known as co-enzymes. The Lipman-discovered co-enzyme A is one of the most important of these "whips."

In the body, this co-enzyme drives certain vital foods such as fatty acids and carbohydrates into the biological chemical plant Krebs has found operating inside the cells.

Security Council Awaits Report On Israel Strife

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations Security Council prepared today to hear a first-hand report on the growing strife in Palestine which has sparked a Big Three call for a full inquiry and counter-demands for council action from Syria and Israel.

Maj.-Gen. Vagn Bennike of Denmark, chief of the UN truce supervision group along the Israeli-Arab frontier, has been summoned from Jerusalem to make the spot report. Informants said he may appear before the council Friday.

Bennike's report is expected to shed light on the three-pronged issue before the council.

1. A United States request—backed by Britain and France—for a full dress probe into border incidents between Israel and her neighbors;

ENDANGER MID-EAST

2. A Syrian complaint that Israel is endangering Middle East peace by diverting the waters of the River Jordan;

3. An Israeli counter-demand that the council take up a charge that the Arab states violated the 1949 armistice agreements, engaged in illegal blockade measures and refused to negotiate a peace.

Last week's Israeli raid on the Syrian village of Kibya brought the Big Three into the Palestine case and inspired their demand for council action. Israel says the raids, which Syria claims took 66 lives, were in retaliation for a long series of Arab killings culminating in the death last week of an Israeli mother and two children.

The Syrian complaint had been expected to come up before the council today, but it was sidetracked by the overshadowing Big Three call for a probe into the border incidents.

A Syrian spokesman emphasized, however, that his country wants to keep its demand separate from the Big Three request. He hoped the council would take up the Jordan river issue Monday.

AID STOPPED

State Secretary Dulles disclosed in Washington Tuesday that the U. S. has suspended a $60,000,000 aid program for Israel because he Second World War, the atomic bomb would never have been developed."

Dr. Solandt spoke of the rise of the "scientific community" in Canada which now compared "favorably" with those in other major industrial countries.

Canada had gone far in her scientific developments through co-operation between defence and scientists and industry.

"If we can continue to foster this effective partnership, we will be able to provide our armed forces with the most effective weapons systems at the lowest possible cost."

Most Prices Low, Industrials Up

TORONTO (CP) — Most prices were low in early afternoon stock market trading today.

Industrials was the only group to make a gain. Western oils took the biggest loss, less than a point, and golds and base metals were both down less than a half-point.

Western oils continued to lose in leading issues as the few minor issue gains were slowly disappearing.

Base metals were down with Falconbridge, Quemont, Hudson Bay and several other seniors losing small amounts. Golds were down with several senior losses dominating the light trading. Holding companies drew little attention and juniors held firm.

Uraniums and New Brunswick base metals slowed a little as leading issues continued with prices mixed. Minor issues slackened their pace.

Industrials made the only gain led by refining oils and utilities. Others were mixed and steels and papers showed a few weak spots.

North Bay Man Jailed In Car Crash Death

NORTH BAY (CP)—Stanley Venasse, 23, was sentenced Wednesday to six months in connection with the death of Jack McGinty, 20, last May.

RCAF Cpl. John Crukshank testified Venasse ignored shouts from his passengers to slow down when the speedometer registered 100 miles an hour. The light truck crashed on a sharp curve at the bottom of a hill, killing McGinty and injuring five other passengers.

Deer In Canal

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A four point buck deer leaped into the barge canal terminal waters in Buffalo harbor Wednesday and swam 45 minutes before it was rescued. But it was discovered the animal was suffering a compound fracture of the leg, and an agent of the society for prevention of cruelty to animals destroyed it. No one could explain how it got into the city.

Cabbie Missing

TORONTO (CP)—A province-wide search started today for taxi-driver Richard Hammond, 23, of Toronto, last heard from Monday when he told his office he was driving fares to Huntsville, about 100 miles north of here. His wife said Hammond, on long trips, usually kept in touch with her.

Cheese, Produce And Livestock

TORONTO FRUIT

TORONTO (CP) — Wholesale fruit and vegetable price changes quoted here today were: Radishes, doz. 40; tomatoes, field, 11-qt 20-30; pears, Bartlett, No. 1 75-85.

Potato prices unchanged.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat opened lower in fairly active dealings on the board of trade today. The bread cereal carried the rest of the market down with it.

Selling in wheat followed news West Germany had gone to Canada to buy the wheat she wanted, taking none from the United States.

Wheat started ¼ to one cent lower, Dec. $1.94¼-⅛; corn was unchanged to ½ lower, Dec. $1.48½-⅛ and oats were ¼ lower to ⅛ higher, Dec. 77½. Soybeans were ½ to one cent lower, Nov. $2.71½-¼.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter print prices were unchanged here today.

Egg prices remained unchanged from Wednesday. Trading was steady on medium grades but only about steady on large and small. Quotations for graded eggs in fibre cases were: A large 65; A medium 51; A small 47; B 51; C 34. Wholesale to retail: A large 70; A medium 56; A small 52; B 56; C 39.

Butter solids: 1st grade tenderable 61; Western 61.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Prices moved narrowly and generally lower in indifferent trade early today on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

Dealings in oats and barley were mostly domestic. Flax received small processor support. The rest of the trade was mostly local and light.

11 a. m. prices:

Oats: Oct. ⅜ lower 73½A; Dec. ¼ lower 71⅜A; May ¼ lower 71⅞A.

Barley: Oct. ⅝ lower 97⅜; Dec. ½-⅝ lower 97¼; May ⅜ lower 99¾.

Rye: Oct. ¼ lower 1.07⅞B; Dec. unchanged to ¼ lower 1.08⅜; May ⅜-½ lower 1.13A.

Flax: Oct. 1 lower 2.83½; Dec. ¼ lower 2.68½; May ¼ higher to ½ lower 2.71½.

BUFFALO LIVESTOCK

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Cattle 450; cutters, medium fat and fat cows 8.50-10.50; fat yellow cows 7-8; medium heifers 10-11; sausage bulls 13-14.50.

Calves 100; choice calves 26-28; heavy bobs 7-10.

Hogs 250; good and choice N. Y. state hogs 21.50-22; good and choice sows 18-20.

Sheep and lambs 100; medium and good ewe and wether lambs 17.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO (CP) — Prices were about steady in dull trading at the Ontario stockyards today. Receipts: Cattle 90; calves 70; hogs 180; sheep and lambs 130; holdover from Wednesday 1,000 cattle.

Common to medium steers and heifers 10-16; good weighty steers 18-19; medium to good fed yearlings 16-21; medium quality stockers 15-16.50.

Calves were steady at 23-25 for choice vealers.

Hogs were steady at 35-50 for grade A with dressed sows 24.

Lambs were steady at 20-21 for good ewes and wethers.

Milan Students Demonstrate

MILAN, Italy (AP)—Two thousand shouting students carrying anti-Yugoslav posters demonstrated for disputed Trieste today in downtown Milan. No incidents were reported.

It was the first Trieste protest in this north Italian city since the British-American decision Oct. 8 to pull their troops out of zone A of the Trieste free territory and turn it over to Italy.

Yugoslavia, which already administers the territory's zone B, claims the whole territory and President Tito has threatened to march his troops into zone A the moment Italian forces enter.

The demonstration here followed two days of rallies in Rome during which police and students battled briefly in front of the Soviet embassy.

Chatham Distillery Transfer Point In $22,500,000 Suit

NEW YORK (AP) — Lawyers Wednesday questioned a former owner about the financial background of a Canadian distillery that figures in a $22,500,000 suit by ex-bootlegger James Niggy Rutkin. Rutkin claims he was defrauded by his associates in a number of big liquor business transactions. His suit is being heard in federal court before Judge Thomas F. Murphy.

The projected transfer in 1931 of the L. L. and B. distillery of Chatham, Ont., from its Canadian owners to a group headed by Joseph H. Reinfeld, is one of the deals in which Rutkin claims he was defrauded.

Before the Reinfeld group could get control of the distillery, it was taken over by Samuel and Allan Bronfman, president and vice-president respectively of Distillers Corp.-Seagrams Ltd. of Montreal, who bought up defaulted mortgages on the property.

Rutkin, now serving a four-year term in prison for income-tax violations, claims Reinfeld and the Bronfmans conspired to deprive him of an interest in the firm.

The Bronfmans and a son-in-law of Reinfeld are the other three individual defendants in Rutkin's suit.

TO RULE ON DEPOSITIONS

Judge Murphy reserved decision on whether he will permit lawyers to submit depositions taken from Jack Dempsey, former world heavyweight boxing champion, who is ill in California, and M. H. Schwartz, Montreal lawyer.

Schwartz represented Charles Burns, one of Leon's partners in the Chatham distillery, in a suit filed against the Bronfmans in 1933.

Maurice Edelbaum, Rutkins' counsel, earlier had produced documents having to do with powers of attorney granted to Schwartz to enable him to collect money from Reinfeld to settle a suit filed by Burns in 1933 in Montreal.

Edelbaum has claimed Reinfeld's payment to Schwartz, allegedly $24,500, was evidence of conspiracy by Reinfeld and the Bronfmans against Rutkin.

Ont. To Appeal Gale Decisions

TORONTO (CP)—The attorney-general's department said Wednesday it will apply for leave to appeal a ruling by Mr. Justice G. A. Gale that motorists can be booked with only one offence in a careless driving charge.

Mr. Justice Gale gave the ruling Tuesday in upholding the acquittal of Max Weinburg of Toronto who had been charged with "unlawfully driving without due care and attention or without reasonable consideration for other persons using the highway."

Mr. Justice Gale ruled that driving without due care and attention was one charge and that driving without consideration for others was another.

W. B. Common, director of prosecutions for the attorney-general's department, said the appeal will be heard by the Ontario court of appeal.

Power For Peace

But world peace would have been more gravely endangered, he declared if Russia had announced successful operation of an industrial power plant—and had offered to swap atomic know-how for uranium produced by other countries.

NEED OUTSIDE ORE

"It is no secret that our atomic weapons program depends upon the receipt of substantial quantities of uranium from foreign nations," Murray said.

"These friendly nations, I think, are motivated mainly by two beliefs. They believe in the military protection afforded by our atomic weapon potential. But we sometimes are inclined to forget that they also are betting on our great record of success in solving industrial and technological problems.

"They are banking on the United States know-how and United States good faith to help them build their nuclear power plants of the future.

"I believe that unless we embark on an all-out attack on our nuclear power program immediately, we may be deprived of foreign uranium ores with the result that our weapons potential will be smaller than need be the case."

Murray said the tremendous cost of building, testing and perfecting an industrial atomic power plant rules out any such development by private enterprise without government help.

But, with improved technology as the government-launched program gets into gear, "the work should gradually be transferred from the federal government so that eventually industry will be carrying the greater burden of this industrial development."

U.K. PLANT STARTED

LONDON (AP)—Britain already is building a full-scale atomic power plant and is ready to start work on another, a supply ministry spokesman said today.

The first, announced last May by Supply Minister Duncan Sandys, is under construction in the Calder Hill area of Cumberland. A government spokesman said it will supply around 50,000 kilowatts to a big atomic research centre.

"This first station—it should be ready within three years—would be able to meet the needs of a fair-sized town," the spokesman said.

"We are ready to build a second and larger station as soon as we settle on a site."

BREEDER PILE

The spokesman said the first power plant will be based on a conventional atomic pile consuming natural uranium.

The second will use a breeder pile—one which consumes uranium but at the same time produces fissionable plutonium, and so needs less refuelling. This pile, the spokesman said, will help produce electricity at a cost comparing reasonably with that of coal-powered generators.

The spokesman said the second plant will feed electricity into Britain's power networks. The British project has been spurred by increasing demands for coal.

Seek Arsonist

CHATHAM (CP) — Police are searching for the persons who set fire Wednesday night to 600 bales of straw on a farm near here. The blaze licked close to telephone wires and traffic on a nearby county road was halted for two hours by the smoke and flames.

Blast Derails Israeli Train

TEL AVIV, Israel (Reuters)—An Israeli freight train was derailed by a mine near the Jordanian lines during the night, an Israel army spokesman said today. There were no casualties.

A sharply - worded protest has been lodged by Israel with the Israel-Jordan mixed armistice commission.

The protest is the latest development in the renewed tension between the Jewish state and its Arab neighbors following a Jewish attack on an Arab settlement in Jordan a week ago.

In Damascus, it was reported that Syrian army men on leave have been ordered to rejoin their units immediately, and no fresh leave is being granted.

Strong troop reinforcements and equipment have been sent to the frontier with Israel.

goal to which our thoughts and our policies should be directed."

Lyttelton said however much the suspension of the constitution was regretted "we should deplore far more the continuance of a government that puts Communist ideology before the good of the people."

NOT INFLUENCED BY U.S.

Lyttelton said the British government acted entirely on its own in the South American colony.

Referring to some reports that the United States had encouraged the action, the colonial secretary said:

"No representations of any kind were received from the U. S. government before Her Majesty's government made their decision."

He challenged Labor party leaders to declare they would not have done the same thing if they were in power.

Then, defending the sending of warships and troops to British Guiana, Lyttelton said:

"The justification for the transfer of troops to British Guiana was that in spite of all the threats of violence which have been rife in the colony no life has been lost and the damage to property, although quite serious, has not been extensive and the arrival of the troops was the signal for widespread relief."

PLOT INVENTED

At a press conference earlier, Jagan accused the British government of "inventing" the alleged Red plot.

John Carter, leader of the opposition United Democratic party in British Guiana, arrived in London today from the colony and promptly accused Jagan of pro-Communist activities.

He and three UDP members who accompanied him hope to confer with British authorities. One of his companions, John Fernandes, said:

"Thank God you sent your troops. People were like strangers. They didn't feel they were in a British territory. Through the youth movement the People's Progressive party was distributing 'Malenkov' and 'Stalin' buttons."

Carter said Jagan's party had tried to capture the colony's trade unions and "every sphere of activity including youth movements."

After a two-hour talk with Jagan, Labor leader Clement Attlee introduced an amendment condemning totalitarian methods in a British colony. The amendment added that Labor "is not satisfied that the situation in British Guiana was of such a character to justify the extreme step of suspending the constitution."

CLAIMED COUP PLOTTED

The London government moved against Jagan Oct. 9 on grounds that the leftist politician was hatching a Red plot. The colonial office said he planned to stage a coup and seize the colony.

Jagan, upon his arrival here, retorted: "If they have evidence we planned to burn down factories and buildings, why don't they take us to the court?"

Jagan accused the British government of inventing a "Communist plot" in the South American colony.

He said the British government, by suspending the colony's constitution on the grounds it was drifting toward communism, had challenged the people's right to vote.

A reporter asked if the United States government had anything to do with the British action in suspending the constitution and sending warships and troops to the colony.

Jagan replied: "We cannot say, but we were surprised to see the quick action which the American government took in endorsing what the British had done."

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP) — The U. S. dollar was at a discount of 1 23-32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds at noon today. Wednesday's noon rate was 98 11-32 cents. Pound sterling $2.76, against $2.76⅝.

Charge Man, 48, In Stabbing At St. Kitts

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Harry Reece, 48, was remanded without plea today in connection with Wednesday's fatal stabbing of Mrs. Florence Ricker, 34, formerly of Moncton, N. B.

"There was a drinking party and Mrs. Ricker was stabbed once," Det.-Sgt. Albert Shennan of the city police said today.

Police said Mrs. Ricker, who lived in Niagara Falls, Ont., and Montreal before coming here 10 years ago, died from a single thrust of a knife in the middle of her back. Investigators seized a long-bladed butcher knife found at the scene.

Mrs. Ricker is said to have been separated from her husband, said to be still living in Moncton.

SLAIN AFTER PARTY

Officers termed the slaying the aftermath of a wine-drinking party in a house on Junkin avenue in north-central St. Catharines. They said they found four empty bottles in the blood-splashed room where they saw the body of Mrs. Ricker.

They said the house, in what is regarded as an upper middle-class district, was in disorder. One wall was blood-spattered.

Police were called by a doctor, who was summoned by Mrs. Inez Martin, wife of the occupant of the house. They found Mrs. Ricker dead in a pool of blood.

Reece and two women were taken into custody for questioning. Several hours later, investigators released the women.

Say French Win Red Stronghold

PARIS (AP)—Agence France-Presse today said a French column has captured Phu Nho Quan, stronghold of the Communist-led Vietminh 55 miles southwest of Hanoi, Indo-China.

The French launched one of their biggest land, sea and air offensives of the seven-year Indo-China war a week ago in an effort to uproot and wipe out two key Vietminh divisions south of the vital Red river delta.

The capture of Phy Nho Quan came as a surprise. Gen. Rene Cogny, French commander in northern Indo-China, said only Wednesday that his prime objective was to engage the enemy forces, and "I hold no interest in the city of Thanh Hoa or the Vietminh base of Phu Nho Quan."

Early dispatches said the base was taken by assault, but did not make it clear whether large forces were engaged or whether the Vietminh fled into the hills, a common tactic.

FIREMEN FIGHT FALSE ALARM FIRE —A false alarm was turned into the fire hall Wednesday, but the firemen still had to fight a "fire." The alarm was turned in as an efficency test at George St. wharf as part of a training scheme by Chief Bill Sorrie. Six minutes after the alarm rang, the firemen were pumping water from the lake to two lines of hose. One line was run up the aerial ladder where Moe Fraser (top left photo) demonstrated various nozzles. Fraser (top right photo) works 75 feet up in the air. Meanwhile down by the pumper, firemen Bud Bannon, Cliff Perry and Tommy Nice play the second hose into the lake. —(Examiner Staff Photos)

Red Encyclopedia Says Jewish Faith Exploited

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Latest volume of Russia's Standard Encyclopedia, on sale today, charges that the Jewish faith is "in the hands of the ruling and exploiting classes as a weapon of spiritual oppression of the toilers."

The section on Judaism in the 600-page volume showed the latest Communist evaluation of the Jewish faith had not changed.

"As ever it plays a reactionary role and is being used by the Jewish borgeoisie of capitalist countries and by international imperialism as a means of the spiritual enslavement of the Jewish toiling masses," it said.

Polio Case Reported

COBOURG (ENS) — A new case of polio, a six-year-old Hope township boy, has been reported by Northumberland and Durham counties health unit for the week ending October 17. These are eight cases of communicable disease recorded, of which six are infectious jaundice and one is scarlet fever.

Jewel Theft

AIX-EN-PROVENCE, France (Reuters) — A French appeals court Wednesday ordered the hotel Aioli at St. Tropez attached to meet a $300,000 claim by Paris jewel broker Paul Hayat. The broker lost money and jewels last August when gunmen took about $600,000 in valuables from the hotel safe.

Heat Hits Bears, Grumpy Bruins Can't Hibernate

BEAR ISLAND, Ont. (CP)—Bears can't go to bed these days because it's too hot. That means grumpy bruins; and possible trouble.

Such is the plight of thousands of bruins, caught without berries in an unseasonably warm spell from Manitoba to Quebec. They are on the rampage in search of food, smashing in walls, windows and doors of boarded-up summer cottages and invading towns and cities.

Many of them are near Bear island, a quiet piece of land deep in northern Ontario in the Timagami area.

Wildlife officials say the bears will not hibernate because of the warm weather in northern areas during the last 10 days. Temperatures have soared as high as 70 degrees in some districts when bears should be thinking of winter sleep.

PREDICTS TROUBLE

Manitoba's chief game guardian, A. P. Davey, says the weather may start serious bear trouble. He says:

"They can't hunt because they are too fat and there are no berries left for them to pick. The weather may start bear trouble."

In Port Arthur and Fort William, in Algonquin Park, where bears normally are protected, and other districts, bears have come out of the bush to wreck many cottages and camps, boarded up for the winter, in their search for food. The animals claw through roofs, smash down doors and tear away window frames in seeking entry. Cans have been smashed open.

One house in the Timmins area was broken into while the owner slept. A 50-pound bear cub got into John Seraphin's home through a cellar window.

At least 100 bears have been shot by forest rangers in Algonquin Park, a provincial game preserve. The rangers normally protect animals but bears are so numerous they have been forced to shoot them.

More than 40 cottages, many of them owned and closed for the winter by United States residents, have been left a shambles.

FARMER KILLS 37

In Kirkland Lake, farmer R. J. Tinnery of Earlton has killed 37 bears this season. He has collected $360 in Ontario government bounties, the most paid to one person in years.

Near Huntsville, a heifer was clawed to death by a bruin. Around North Bay, bears have invaded logging camp cookhouses.

A woman tripped over a bear while taking out her garbage at Mattawa, 35 miles east of North Bay. At Kirkland Lake, Mrs. E. Wilson said a bear slept one night on a couch on her verandah. The animal fled, smashing a window box and tearing a hole in a screen.

Charge Railway "Strikebreaker"

NORANDA, Que. (CP) — The United Steelworkers of America (CIO) today accused the Ontario Northland Railway of trying to break the union's picket line at the strikebound Noranda mines.

In a telegram to Premier Frost, the union, which has 1,600 men on strike for higher wages and the check-off at the copper-gold mine, said:

"Railway workers have no desire to enter Noranda property or to set up goods on ONR spurs used exclusively by Noranda so that the company may draw materials in to the property. . . .

"Ontario Northland Railway and subsidiary Nipissing Central Railway officials state they only want pickets removed from railway property and that the company is to be free to come and go as it wishes over the same railway spur. This is obviously an unfair attitude aimed at abetting the Noranda mining company to break the legal strike."

Fire Department Shows Speed To City Aldermen

Alderman Harold Rehill turned in a false alarm Wednesday afternoon. He didn't have to run for cover, though. It was all for education. Ald. Rehill and the rest of the city council had gathered at George St. wharf for a speed demonstration by the fire department.

Back at the fire hall only Fire Chief Sorrie knew of the surprise practice alarm.

It served adequately to demonstrate to council what the department is capable of. Within six minutes, firemen had two lines of hose playing into the river. One was from 70 feet up on the aerial ladder, the other a regular two-and-a-half-inch line from the pumper.

TIMER

Official timer for the display was recently appointed Alderman Rupert E. Knox. His notebook showed that the chief's car arrived in a minute and a half, the pumper in two minutes, the aerial ladder in three, and the elderly ladder truck only a few seconds after the aerial truck.

Surprised by the speed, aldermen had only favorable comments on the demonstration. Alderman Douglas Miller, an old fireman himself, remarked that it was "a revelation . . . a revelation."

Nt all the equipment was at the practice alarm. Trucks and men were left in the fire hall in case of an actual blaze. Fortunately, there were no real alarms during the 40-minute demonstration.

Mayor Hugh Waddell remarked that he thought the display proved the department was well-prepared for emergencies and kept their equipment in excellent condition.

DIRECTED SHOW

Using the department's short wave radio equipment at short range, Chief Sorrie directed the actions of the aerial ladder and the pumper, ordering changes in nozzles and in the elevation of the ladder.

At first using a 500-gallon-a-minute fog nozzle, the aerial ladder hose was changed over in quick time to an 1,100-gallon-a-minute straight nozzle. The former is used when a fire is under control. The fine droplets of water absorb heat more quickly than does a steady stream. The straight nozzle is used for a fire that it out of control; it provides quantities of water and can be aimed to spread water over a large area of a fire.

Of the fog nozzle, Chief Sorrie said to the council members: "If we'd had that at the Ostrander fire, we'd have done a lot better." The Ostrander fire, one of the more serious George St. fires, was on Nov. 18, 1952, not quite a year ago.

Chief Sorrie plans more tests and demonstrations by his department in the future.

Wayne Divorce Near Settlement

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The turbuelnt John Wayne divorce trial Wednesday took an abrupt turn toward a peaceful settlement.

The trial, one of the most bitter in movieland history, was continued until Oct. 28 to allow both sides time for negotiations on details of a property settlement.

A source who declined use of his name but who was one of the main participants in a series of conferences among litigants and Judge Allan Ashburn, said the trial will follow this pattern:

Mrs. Wayne, who is suing her movie star husband for separate maintenance, will ask a divorce instead. Wayne, this source added, will not contest the suit.

However, Wayne, who is demanding a divorce, has expressed a desire to get his day in court to refute sensational charges hurled at him by his Mexican wife from the witness stand. It was suggested that Wayne might make a rebuttal statement for the court record.

Details of the property settlement were not disclosed on instructions from the bench.

Kept Out Of Prison

Here is a set of figures, for the year 1950, which tells a sorry story:

Country	Population	Sent to Prison
England and Wales ..	41,657,000	20,000
Canada	14,000,000	98,602

In words, the figures mean that a country with a third of the population of England and Wales has more than four times as many people committed to prison in a year. The country with this disgraceful record is Canada.

* * *

What is the reason for this bad record? Canada has fewer and less squalid slums than England—and slums and congestion are breeders of crime and criminals. Canada has plenty of food, money and opportunities to acquire the world's goods honestly. It has enough room to allow the population to flex its muscles without hurting neighbours. Canadians are as God-fearing (in name) as the British though probably less respectful of law, and certainly with a shorter tradition of orderliness.

* * *

Here is another set of figures which go far to explain the disparity of the first. It is the same set, with an additional column:

Country	Population	In Prison	On Probation
England and Wales .	41,657,000	20,000	33,929
Canada	14,000,000	98,602	3,631

* * *

In England a system of probation is used extensively; thousands of guilty offenders who in Canada would get thirty to ninety days in jail are put on probation, given a chance to reform themselves. So fewer people are sent to prison (incidentally, saving taxpayers a great deal of money otherwise spent in feeding, guarding and housing prisoners). In Canada, in the entire country, there are only fifty probation officers, and in the year for which we give the figures, only 3,631 persons haled into court and found guilty were put on probation.

* * *

The figures on probation do not entirely explain the discrepancy. Even if half the Canadian prisoners committed in 1950 had been put on probation instead, the number of convicts would have been far greater, absolutely as well as proportionately, than in England and Wales. Probation not only keeps people out of prison, but works so well that first offenders do not repeat, therefore it further lessens the prison population. Prisons and reformatories are not the best places to reform a person. The majority of people sentenced to prison or reformatory in Canada go out from them unregenerated. Between 1907 and 1950 seventy per cent. of the persons sent to prison were repeaters. Jail and prison sentences encourage recidivism—habitual crim'nal tendencies. Contrast this with England and Wales. From the time that the probation system was introduced there, 1907, until 1950, about seventy-five per cent. of first offenders placed on probation were rehabilitated and did not offend again.

* * *

The case for probation can be pretty conclusively proved—even the few facts and figures given here show it. But to have a system of probation, probation officers are necessary. To have a sound, working system which does not unduly risk the safety of society by releasing incorrigible law-breakers into it, highly qualified probation officers are essential. Canada has some fifty probation officers all told, and no established system for recruiting or training others. Lacking such persons to whose care offenders can be committed, magistrates and judges send them to jail. So seven per cent. of Canada's population goes behind bars each year.

The Bomb Is Felt

Canada is discreet in its handling of explosive issues. Government and other authorities keep the hard realities away from the people as much and as long as possible. For instance, after the war, Prime Minister Mackenzie King (who knew better than other politicians in this country how to avoid offence to the Canadian mores and could spot trouble far off) manoeuvred Canadian troops back home and out of foreign entanglements as quickly as face-saving would permit. Now, of course, Canada can no longer avoid maintaining garrisons abroad, and resulting problems.

In a similar fashion it was decided even before the war ended that Canada would concentrate on the pleasant and useful facets of atomic energy and leave bomb-making to others. So Canada is one of the most advanced nations, insofar as atomic research and equipment are concerned, but has clean hands and a pure heart—officially. Atomic energy means hospital equipment, industrial helpfulness and other innocuous developments to Canadians personally. Oh, yes, we know that bombs are being made and stocked, but that is not our business. Not for Canadians the noisy explosion of a test bomb; and we hope, never the reality of one used against us in anger.

Far-off Australia, without even radium and uranium deposits to worry it, seemed even more secure from atomic contamination. But Australia also has a desert. Bang! Britain needs a testing-ground, Australia has the waste space, and so two British A-bombs have been exploded in the "dead heart" of Australia. The reverberations were heard in Melbourne and Canberra. The reality was too close for comfort.

Australia has now officially and urgently called on the nations for some kind of workable ban against atomic weapons. Australia knows personally what Canadians have intimately been able to ignore—the doom which atomic bombs portend. Canada will have to wake up one day to the threat.

This country has uranium, it has the industrial power, it has the wealth, it has the equipment necessary in this atomic age; it also has much space and a northern frontier impossible to defend. The louder the voice of Canada is raised in support of Australia's plea for atomic disarmament or control, the better may be Canada's future—and the future of the world.

Land-Fill Garbage Disposal

For years Peterborough waged a costly war on garbage, built and enlarged its incinerator but still could not keep up with the amount to be fed into the incinerator and thence to the smoking, smelly dump. This year the city has a new method. The incinerator has been closed and all garbage goes directly to the city dump. There the new method of disposal comes into operation. It is called the land-fill method.

Land-fill is new to Peterborough but not to some other cities which have used it successfully for a few years. What makes the method practicable and eventually profitable rather than costly is a piece of machinery similar to a bulldozer, called a bull-claw shovel. The machine crushes the garbage, packs it down and buries it beneath the soil. Thus the city's refuse is done in, low-lying waste areas are filled, and eventually, when a field is so filled, it can be used for building a new sub-division, or for crops.

An excellent advantage of the system is not only its simplicity and cheapness but also its sanitary convenience. No mounds of garbage are left exposed to flies and vermin, no stench pollutes the air for acres around, and there is no unsightly mess. Garbage arrives in a truck, is dumped according to plan, is crushed, and then earth is scoped over it the same day. The system works in winter, too, by use of prepared trenches, and a top layer of ashes if the earth is frozen too solidly for cover.

Peterborough people interested in the method and result should go down and inspect the area themselves. The dump can be reached either from Highway 7, (Lansdowne Street West) or the river road (Concession Street). Choose a fine day, for the drive is pleasant and even at the dump the sight and smell is not unpleasant. There is some big machinery down there, too, visible evidence of where some of the taxpayers' money goes.

Troops For Peace Or War?

The words that reach one about Korea are so repetitious, the situations so recurrent, the impasses so obdurate, that one becomes apathetic or positively bored by the whole thing. The story of the Korean peace is as weary, stale, flat and unprofitable as the Korean war itself. Yet one must not become apathetic, even a Canadian. A thousand Canadian troops are now sailing to Korea to replace those returned or returning. Are they sailing into war or peace? That question concerns them vitally; it should also concern us who stay at home.

NOTES AND COMMENT

Dentists are now saying that the best way to clean your teeth is to eat an apple after each meal. You see? It takes three apples a day to keep dentists away.

The Canadian Press report of the concert of Canadian music in New York said that the audience was "heavily laden with Canadians." We've been called dull before, but rarely by our own press service.

"Flap Over Security Leaks Picks Up Steam in Capital" reads the heading of an article on the editorial page of the Kitchener-Waterloo Record. Off the record we'd say the metaphors are waterlulus.

The Toronto Telegram, in a recent editorial, seems to confuse the Communists with the Nazis. Easy, there! The Communists were our brave allies, and the Nazis were the degenerate beasts we were fighting. How long ago it all seems!

PRIDE YOURSELF AS A DRIVER?

Rally Round

By BON VIVANT

THE NEXT TIME some boastful type sidles up to me and begins telling how he averaged 60 miles per hour between Toronto and Montreal, I shall give him one of those looks pregnant with disbelief. I learned about average speeds at the recent Thousand Island Rally of Sport Car Clubs from Toronto, Buffalo, Ottawa, Montreal and Gananoque.

✧ ✧ ✧

I BECAME involved in this test of skill because that proved to be false pride in my ability to handle a motor car. A couple of doubting-Thomases, whose ears I had been bending on the subject, invited me and my Kissel, on which I recently traded my Gray-Dort, to participate. At the end of 450 miles of driving at average speeds, I was more than a little deflated. The following day, after completing a series of ingenious driving tests, I blushingly confessed there might be more to this driving business than just sitting behind the wheel of a car, and knowing how to change gears.

✧ ✧ ✧

A RALLY is a kind of motorized paper-chase. You begin at point "A" with instructions to proceed to point "B". You are also given an average speed to maintain. Between points "A" and "B" there may well be one or more check points, so there is none of this dashing along at 60 m.p.h., and then sitting out any time remaining. You do your utmost to maintain an average speed and that is not quite as easy as it may sound.

✧ ✧ ✧

EACH CAR carries a driver; and a navigator, in between fiddling with stop watches, chronometers, dividers, slide rules, Blackwell wheels, maps and such, tells him where to drive and at what speeds. If either makes an error some mighty fancy wheel rolling is required to get things ironed out. Errors in time at check points are penalized. The driver running the course with the fewest penalties has the best chance to win.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS ROAD section is followed by driving skill tests. These look innocent and remarkably simple, until you undertake to do them. A hill climb, with a reverse, parking on the hill and restarting does not sound too difficult. However while you are parked some officious type places an electric bell under your back wheels. If you let your car roll backward half an inch on your restart, you ring the bell. This is bad for you, and brings much joy to the drivers who took the test ahead of you, and mayhap boobed it.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE PARKING TEST in childish. All you have to do is a reverse park in a specified space, at a certain distance from the curb. Anyone can do it, but few do. The acceleration and braking test is another bit of simplicity. From a standing start you accelerate like a bat with a firecracker tied to its tail, and stop with your rear wheels on a designated white line. Penalties are per foot for overshooting the line. Absurd you and I both think, but try it sometime when you have a spare moment.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE FIGURE EIGHT presents no problem. It merely requires driving your car through the figure with a nice judgement of speed for the best possible time without rolling the vehicle over. The wiggle-woggle, forward and reverse, is made up of stakes placed about 15 feet apart, arranged in a line. The essence of this test is to snake your way through the stakes going forward, and repeat the operation backing up, in a reverse pattern. It doesn't sound like much, but it is really one of those things you must do to appreciate.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE FINAL TEST requires parking your car in four different garages. There are penalties for touching the stakes outlining these, but it isn't really hard; once you have figured out the best pattern. The only thing I've refrained from telling you about these tests is that a stop-watch is held on your time in each one. Not only are there the penalties for errors, but your time also counts. This causes not a little grief. Wiggle-woggling and parking are all very well, done in your own time, but a stop watch separates the men from the boys.

✧ ✧ ✧

SPORT CAR FANS I learned are not partial to our domestic cars. They run to Morris Minors, M. G.'s Volkswagons, Austin-Healy 100's, Jaguars and such. The more exotic favour Dellows, O.M.'s, Morgans, Singer Le Mans and Porsches. I've often wondered why, but one rally explained all. Our cars just won't do what the sport car fan wants from a car. Ergo, he buys one that performs to his taste and makes disparaging remarks about Detroit greenhouses.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT IS DIFFICULT to keep your countenance wreathed in smiles when your $5,000 wagon is being patronized by the driver of something costing $1,500, which out-corners, out-accelerates and out-manoeuvres your pride and joy. This is the real test of a rally. I'm looking with longing eyes at M.G.'s and Jaguars, and suspect the days of my Kissel are numbered.

Pressure Speeds Aircraft Refueling

(Trade Topics).

Just a few years ago the normal rate at which an aircraft's fuel-tanks were filled was 20 gallons a minute. Today, it is pumped in under pressure at 200 gallons a minute at each refuelling point.

The advent of jets, with high fuel consumption, necessitated this great speed-up in the rate of fuel flow. For example, the Momet jet airliner with a maximum fuel load of 21 tons, can be pressure-refuelled in less than 20 minutes, but under the old "hand-pump" methods it would have taken at least two hours.

The process of pressure refueling aircraft on the ground was evolved almost accidentally. A U. K. firm had been experimenting for nearly ten years with different types of equipment which would enable fuel to be transferred under pressure from one aircraft to another, in flight. During these experiments the need arose for a method of speeding the refueling of aircraft on the ground: it was found that both the system and much of the equipment developed by the company for air-to-air refueling would meet the requirement.

This new method of refueling aircraft has now become a standard requirement in every aircraft in production today, except trainers. Besides being speedier, it has eliminated damage to high-performance wings caused by men climbing over the aircraft with their ladders, hose pipes and other paraphernalia.

Evidence Of Disloyalty

(By a Special Correspondent in Georgetown, British Guiana)

THE EVENTS leading to the present situation in British Guiana— in which Communists are said by Britain to be threatening the security of the colony— were gradual. They consisted chiefly of controversial legislation of an extreme Socialist type, which was subsequently rejected by the State Council (Upper House) and then canvassed in violent terms at public meetings by P.P.P. leaders.

Coupled with this was discourteous behaviour towards the Governor, Sir Alfred Savage, and permanent officials and evidences of disloyalty, such as refusal to stand during the playing of the British National Anthem, slighting references to Britain's Royal Family, and the refusal to send representatives to Jamaica during Queen Elizabeth's forthcoming visit on the flimsy excuse of insufficient funds.

The general trend made it evident that the P.P.P. was bent on flouting all constitutional conventions and on trying to weaken the Constitution to the point of complete freedom from checks and balances, with the ultimate aim of achieving independence from Britain, and establishing a dictatorial State on the Soviet model. Indeed, Russian influence has been visible throughout.

Following a pointless strike in the sugar industry over recognition of the "pirate" Guiana Industrial Workers' Union, headed by the Minister of Health, Dr. J. P. Lachman Singh, the Labour Minister introduced a Labour Relations Bill to compel the employers to recognise as a bargaining agent any union certified by the Minister as representing a majority of the workers. The Party announced its intention of carrying through the Bill in a single day, but the Speaker of the House of Assembly refused to suspend the Standing Rules and Orders (which would have been necessary for the purpose), saying the Bill was too important to be rushed through. The P.P.P. members walked out, led by the Minister of Education, the Hon. L. F. S. Burnham, and the constitutional crisis had begun.

IN THE SAME WEEK, however, the House sat as usual, the Speaker suspended the Standing Rules, and the debate on the Bill proceeded — although against opposition which leaves it still unpassed a week later.

At the beginning of the month the P.P.P. launched a so-called "Patriotic Appeal" for Amendments" for public signature and presentation to Britain's Colonial Secretary, Mr. Oliver Lyttelton. It calls for the abolition of the State Council and of the Governor's reserve powers; the dismissal of the nominated Speaker of the House of Assembly and his replacement by an elected Speaker; the removal of "official members (i.e. permanent civil servants acting ex officio) from the Assembly and the Executive Council (equivalent to a Cabinet); full adult suffrage from the age of eighteen for all elections; and disenfranchisement not only of public officials, but also of leading personalities in business and the Press, and of "all persons advocating war or fomenting racial strife."

This was the background in which rumours grew up about the revocation of the Constitution but it is unlikely that the crisis will so develop as to make this move necessary. If such a drastic step were really imminent I believe the Governor would first be summoned to London for consultation.

There are, nevertheless, signs that fresh trouble may be expected in the colony. It is for instance, suspected that the three Ministers who are going out of British Guiana intend to provoke a crisis on their return; and that they will either call new elections to confirm their mandate, or else claim that they are unable to govern under a "restrictive constitution."

Both Responsible

(Vancouver Province)

Mr. Justice W. G. Egbert, commenting on a case before Alberta Supreme Court's trial division recently, said there seems to be "an unfortunate belief" that a pedestrian walking in a crosswalk is, by some sort of natural right, relieved of any negligence if struck down.

Mr. Justice Egbert ruled that both a pedestrian, and the driver of a car that struck him, were both equally negligent because neither saw the other. He said it is the duty not only of the driver, but of the pedestrian as well, to keep a sharp lookout.

We are very glad to hear an opinion voiced every day by irate drivers repeated in the rarified atmosphere of a Supreme Court bench. We hope it reaches the ears of some of the casual individuals who seem to take a particular delight in strolling, with deliberate steps, over a crosswalk refusing to accomodate themselves, for an instant, to the needs of heavy motor traffic about them.

Pedestrians and motorists should be equally willing to give each other a break.

When you are in the morgue you aren't much interested who had the right of way.

Montvic Rag Apple Marksman was only 13 years old yet he had gained world renown and had constantly been in the news for many years. Apparently 13 years is a ripe old age for a Holstein bull, and Marksman was one of the most outstanding Holstein bulls in bovine history. He was purchased for $1,325, but that was a very insignificant sum compared to what his progeny brought. One son sold for $40,000 at an auction sale. A daughter brought $17,600. All in all it is estimated that he sired sons and daughters worth well over $500,000.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

For ever, O Lord, thy word is settled in heaven . . . Unless thy law had been my delights, I should then have perished in mine affliction. I will never forget thy precepts: for with them hast thou quickened me . . . I have refrained my feet from every evil way, that I might keep thy word. I have not departed from thy judgments: for thou hast taught me . . .

Through thy precepts I get understanding: therefore I hate every false way . . . Thy testimonies that thou hast commanded are righteous and very faithful . . . Thy righteousness is an everlasting righteousness, and thy law is the truth. (Ps. 119:89,92,93, 101,102,104,138,142.)

Letter To The Editor

ASPHODEL SCHOOLS, TOO

Sir: The photograph in your paper showing the fine new addition to the education facilities in Otonabee deserves a few words of thanks.

I sincerely hope you will continue to print articles on the rural schools in this area. May I suggest that you move a little more to the East and take a look at Asphodel township.

There are three rural schools to serve the Asphodel school area, which is a School Area in name only. The overcrowding while not quite as bad as at Lang, has already exceeded the number which can adequately be handled. Not having any old buildings such as Lang's imposing 100-year-old structure, Asphodel has to content itself with a juggling around of pupils, shifting them to different schools when one or the other nears the bursting point.

I find it hard to understand how such a situation can exist in a district as prosperous and well settled as it is anywhere around here.

The teachers in our schools really deserve a great deal of praise and appreciation for the job that they are trying to do. They do their best to instruct eight grades in one room in a five day week. Allowing one hour and a half per day, this means less than 3½ hours of instruction per week to each grade. Cut this time by about one half day per week caused by compulsory manual training (girls included) and you are doing well to end up with 45 minutes per week per subject studied. Not very impressive according to present standards or requirements.

No one can honestly say that this is good enough. Yet the issue is continually being avoided by those whose duty it is to present the facts to the people.

It is time persons who want something better for their children let their opinions be heard.

Your sincerely,
R. E. STANLEY-JONES.

The Uses of Immigration

(The Edmonton Journal)

Immigration, by increasing our population and helping to raise our standard of real income, can also help materially to reduce emigration. No wonder, then, that such bodies as the Canadian Chamber of Commerce are calling for an aggressive policy on immigration— one aimed at giving us a population of thirty millions by 1975. Besides bringing about large price-cuts in mass-produced consumer goods, such a large domestic market would make us less dependent on international trade; and such a population would reduce the per capita taxation, as well as easing the defence burden.

Say Ship Was On Wrong Side Of Channel

MONTREAL (CP) — Seamen aboard the crippled Norwegian freighter Stugard said Wednesday night their ship was on the wrong side of the channel when she collided with an Italian vessel in the St. Lawrence river.

The 7,258-ton freighter from Tonsberg, Norway, collided with the small 1,450-ton Carla Maria G. heading downstream from Montreal early Wednesday near Portneuf, Que., about 31 miles west of Quebec City.

The master of the Carla Maria G. ran his ship aground as a precaution against sinking, but later backed her off the mud-bank and proceeded downstream to Quebec aided by the tug Foundation Josephine II.

The Stugard, her bow dented from the impact, arrived in Montreal Wednesday night. She was travelling light when the accident happened, having unloaded a cargo of British Guiana bauxite at Port Alfred, Que. Repairs are expected to take two days.

WEATHER CLEAR

Sailors said the Stugard was in the eastbound lane when she tangled with the vessel from Palermo. One seaman said the weather was clear, but the accident occurred at 4:42 a. m. It was not yet light.

Members of the crew who spoke to newspaper men refused to be identified, and the skipper, Capt. K. Markussen said he had no comment to make.

The impact pitched many of them from their bunks, they said. Sverre Rusendal, 24, the radio operator, rushed on deck to find the other ship "badly damaged."

Crew of the Carla Maria G. were kept on board when she limped into Quebec, but it was expected the ship, badly damaged amidships, would be put into drydock at Lauzon, across the river.

Meanwhile, the 20,000-ton liner Samaria left Quebec Wednesday night 24 hours behind schedule for Rotterdam with replacement units for the 27th Canadian Brigade in Germany.

The liner was forced to drop anchor near Quebec when her mooring lines fouled her propellors. Tugs helped her back to harbor and divers descended to free propellor shafts.

TAKE OVER STATION—The Canadian navy has taken over from the United States Air Force operation of the Arctic radio station on Padloping Island which lies off the east coast of Baffin Island, across Davis Strait from Greenland. This map shows the location of the far northern defence outpost. The station carries out meteorological observations and provides radio navigational aids for aircraft flying the northern route between North America and Europe as well as those operating in Canada's far north.

Olson Holds Middle Crown, Wins Easily Over Turpin

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Bobo Olson may not be the greatest middleweight boxing champion the world has seen, but the tattooed man from Hawaii will do until a better one comes along. Bobo did a competent job on Randy Turpin of England in their 15-round showdown at Madison Square Garden Wednesday night. He did not score a knockout, but only because the man from Leamington Spa had a tremendous lot of heart when he was being badly punished in the closing rounds. Turpin made a fight of it, and made no complaint of the unanimous verdict against him by two judges and the referee. He only said between battered lips that he believed he could have done better if he had been free mentally.

Exactly what Turpin meant by that is not clear here. It is a matter of record, however, that the British pugilist has been having some sort of feminine trouble in his home country. After the fight he told a British writer that he thought he might have knocked Olson out within eight rounds if he had been "right."

ONE-SIDED DUEL

This might, thus, have been the first world's championship decided between heart throbs, none of which were visible to the capacity crowd of 18,869 within the Garden or to those millions who witnessed the somewhat one-sided duel on TV.

This particular observer saw it more or less as the officials did. We thought that Olson walloped the Briton by 10 rounds to four with one even—in other words, that Olson won the title going away.

Turpin won the first three rounds and then he took a wacking. The only other round which Randy was credited with was the eighth, wherein he belted Olson a right on the chops that staggered the new champ. However, Turpin was unable to follow up his advantage.

SITTING DUCK ON ROPES

For some obscure reason, Turpin was a sucker at getting caught with his back against the ropes. Every time the former champ staggered into the strands, Olson followed him and poured in the leather. Randy couldn't explain this weakness himself.

Olson said he had not known beforehand of his opponent's weakness, but that once he discovered Randy was a sitting duck against the thongs he took full advantage.

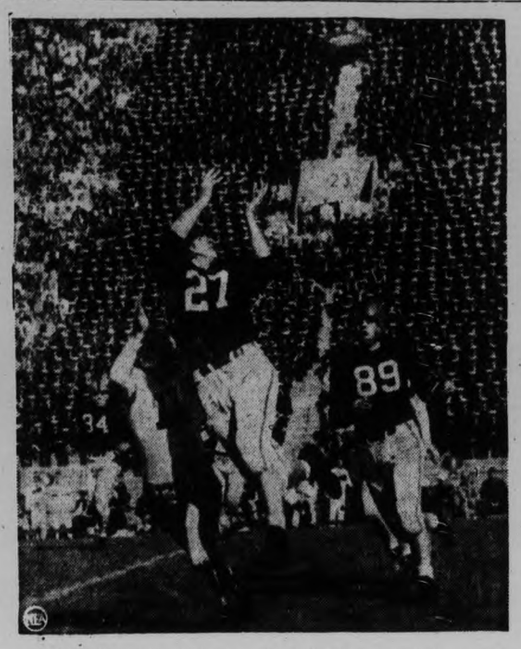
The closest thing to a knockout probably came at the tag end of the ninth round. Olson had caught Turpin in his own corner and had sent the Briton down with a flurry of solid blows to the head. The bell clanged, however, as referee Al Berl reached the count of five.

In the following round Turpin went down again almost at the outset, but got up and was ready to go as Berl reached the nine-count. He took a severe beating the remainder of the round but was in no danger of going down again.

From there on it was strictly a matter of whether Turpin would go the route. Several times Olson had him in trouble, set up for a series of clean shots to the jaw, but each time the Briton called upon his stamina and his ability to slip punches to get away.

The only visible damage to either fighter was a cut which Turpin received under his left eye in the third round, and a cut mouth.

BOTH DID THEIR BEST



The most that could be said of the fight was that both boys did their dead-level best, and that Olson won his title legitimately, by the sweat of his brow. Bobo should hold the 160-pound title with no trouble until he meets Kid Gavilan, supposing that the Cuban Keed beats Johnny Bratton at Chicago Nov. 13.

When Bobo fights Gavilan, that will be different.

Retirement probably looms for the crestfallen Turpin although he indicated he wants to keep on fighting. His nearly-blind mother, Mrs. Beatrice Naley, said in England "Randy is sure to retire now."

Turpin, who weighed a surprisingly-low 157 to Olson's 159½, had been criticized roundly for not boxing enough in training. Asked if he would have trained differently now that he knew Olson's style, he replied: "No, my trouble wasn't physical—it was mental."

His mental pains will be eased somewhat by a purse of $55,625. Olson received the same.

INCOMPLETE—Princeton backfielder Francis Lovecchio (27) reaches up for a pass in the first quarter of the Princeton-Navy game at Palmer Stadium in Princeton. The receiver is covered closely by Navy's George Welsh (11). At right is Princeton and Harvey Mathis (89). The pass was incomplete. Navy won 65-7.

OUT WITH INJURY—Starry end Don McGillis will be an absentee Saturday as Orfuns tackle the Ghosts in Cobourg in the return grid group final, Don having suffered two fractured ribs in the first playoff game here last weekend. He is an ace pass receiver and deadly tackler.

Bev Goulding announced yesterday that the proposed exhibition grid game Saturday between SPS and PCVS seniors had been called off as some the players were taking in the Red Feather tourney in Toronto. So the PCI-ers are idle on games till Oct. 31 when Oshawa Combines play them here to settle the district title. Even if Oshawa, now up 10 points, should win the series there's some doubt as to whether COSSA officials would let 'em proceed. This point was raised the other day when Combines were barred from the Red Feather tournament—Alliston going in from Central Ontario in their place— on the grounds that two Oshawa high schools were fielding just one team combined, the OCVI and Oshawa Central. What if Toronto collegiates sent in combined teams?

Orfuns are drilling nightly for their big game in Cobourg on Saturday when they must overcome a six-point deficit or drop back to intermediate "B" contention. This is ORFU intermediate "A" group finals. Don Bark's ankle is okay for running on again and 'tis hoped he can kick Saturday, as Jack Matthews won't be available. Hank Russelle is still out with a ruptured ear drum and Johnny Giardino's ankle will sideline him. Don McGillis has a couple of cracked ribs and won't play. However, the club boasts a lot of depth and Coach Kotowski says Cobourg hasn't seen a great many plays the Orfuns have been practicing on. Several shakeups likely in the local lineup, as this is one game the squad must win. And by at least seven points.

In A Six-Club Grouping

Lakefield, under acting coach Cam Wasson, is entered in a six-team OHA intermediate "A" group for this winter, and will play home games at Civic Arena until natural ice comes to Lakefield. The Cobourg crew will use Port Hope until the Cobourg rink is re-opened about the middle of December. Lindsay, Bowmanville and Port Hope all have artificial ice for home games, but we haven't heard where the other club, Orono, will play home games before the freeze-up. Possibly on the road the first part of the schedule. The schedule will be drawn up shortly for publication. Meantime, several of the clubs are starting workouts.

* * * * * *

Word comes that Jake Wade has signed to play with the Belleville Redmen in our OHA senior "B" group this season, and will probably be used on defence. Jake broke in as a junior here and later saw pro puck action in various American centres ere starring for years in the senior setup of the Maritimes. Returned to Peterborough several season ago to shine up front and on defence with the Petes before leaving (with Arn Dugan) last year for senior "A" at Brantford. The latter club folded this fall and Jake passed up a chance at senior "B" in Woodstock to return to Central Ontario play. An excellent puckster, Jake should help Belleville a lot. Dugan remained in B.C. after the lacrosse season.

Hopers Celebrate Title

Port Hope's Legion Beavers are settling down now after a big victory celebration following their winning of the OBA juvenile "B" championship o'er Dunnville. First provincial baseball title ever for the town, and the folks went all out to whoop it up with the boys at a parade and speech-making affair. A long time to wait for a ball crown in a good lakeshore centre, but they're happy now. The Hopers were worried when they lost pitcher Roger Lee early—he came up this way for a junior whirl—but big Mike Harrison hurled great ball, along with Bruce Ballett, to push the pack through. Mike is a son of Hap Harrison, best first-sacker the senior Petes ever had. He starred afield and at bat here back in the 20s in the days of Heckman, Swanston, Cherrett, Murray, the Roses, Wolff and the other diamond aces.

* * * * * *

Those mean Mills brother from away out in Alberta certainly haven't many mat followers at the Brock Arena the past two weeks. They play it really rough, the big westerners, and twice now have needed a police escort from the ring to their dressing room after the main bout as angry fans hemmed them in. Tiny Mills is the worst as he persists in interfering and aiding Al in the latter's bouts. Did it again last eve to allow Al a win over Tim Geohagen, just as he did a week earlier to let brother Al pin Pat Flanagan. Mustn't like the Irishers, eh? But they serve up heated action and the refs can't keep up with them. Tiny and Flan drew in the lively semi-final, while Alan Garfield won the prelim o'er Jack Wentworth.

For Young And Old

TORONTO (CP)—Prizes of $1,100 in cash and two trophies are offered for square dancing contests Nov. 16 to 21 during the Royal Winter Fair here. The junior division takes boys and girls from 10 to 17 years old, and older contestants are in the senior sets.

Doug Miller President Puck Juniors

Doug Miller Sr. (city alderman) has been named president of the local OHA junior "B" club for this season, with Bob McCabe vice-president, Doug Landon secretary and Bill Sims the treasurer. Executive includes Myer Cherney, Curly Alberico and Jack McNamara, with one more to be added. Red Creighton is coach and manager, aided by Lloyd (Moon) Wootton. Gunner Lynch will be trainer, and Dr. Jack Epping club physician.

The team, succeeding the junior Oddfellows in OHA competition, has started practises, and the next open workout will be tonight at six in Civic Arena. Officers are still seeking a sponsor, but intend to operate in any case, and have been accepted by the OHA.

The question of a grouping has not yet been settled, though it is expected that Lindsay, Oshawa, Peterboro and either Belleville or Cobourg—or possibly both of these latter clubs—will form the league, with play starting sometime in November.

Moore Ordered To Defend Title

NEW YORK (AP) — Boxing's joint board of review Wednesday told light heavyweight champion Archie Moore to defend his crown by Dec. 24 against "somebody," but preferably Harold Johnson, the No. 1 contender from Philadelphia.

Moore successfully defended his title on June 24 when he outpointed Joey Maxim, from whom he won the championship. His six months of non-title grace expire Dec. 24.

Charlie Johnston, Moore's manager, told the board that he ahs never received an offer for a Johnson-Moore fight. Moore won three out of four fights with Johnson before he won the title.

"We're willing to fight Johnson or anyone else if someone will guarantee us $100,000," said Johnston.

Ted Waltham, secretary of the British Boxing Board of Control, said if no American fight appeared, he would try to interest London promoter Jack Solomons in a Moore-Yolande Pompee title match in London. Pompee, of Trinidad, is second behind Johnson in the NBA rankings.

4-Goal Seattle Rally Clips Bombers In WHL

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Seattle Bombers rallied for four goals in the final six minutes to defeat New Westminster Royals 5-4 in a Western Hockey League game Wednesday night.

The Royals, playing at home, led 3-1 at the 14:42 mark of the third period. Then Dave Wall scored the first of four successive Seattle goals. Wall fired another less than a minute later, followed by Mark Marquess and Wayne Brown. The first Seattle goal was tallied by Fiori Geogan.

Bobby Love notched two goals for the Royals and Pete Durham and Blinky Boyce added singles.

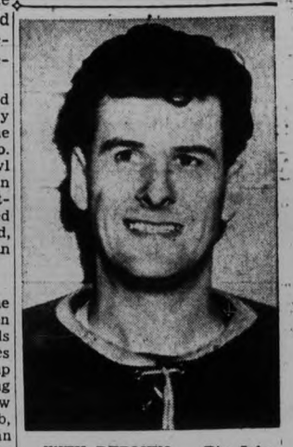
A Big "Hey Rube" Threatens After Main Mat Bout Due To The Mills Brothers

Another "hey rube" almost developed at the Brock Arena last night following Al Mills' unpopular win in the main bout over Timothy Geohagan. And once again it was Al's tricky brother Tiny who caused the uproar. He interfered from outside the ropes to throw Tim off-balance and let brother Al fall on the Irishman in time for a dazed referee—who had been knocked flat seconds before—to revive and count one-two-three.

As angry fans swarmed around the ring, Tim protested voilently and Pat Flanagan climbed into the ring to argue on Tim's behalf, too. This led to a short but sharp brawl featuring the two Irishmen against the two villainous westerners. The latter finally were led by police through a sullen crowd, with one chair being thrown in their direction.

TIM AT WORK

Just before that final fall in the main bout, Geohagen had been whaling the bejabers out of Mills in retaliation for a series of chokes and eye rasps. Tim had Al up against the ropes and was banging him right and left with elbow smashes, and Referee Joe Golob, who ventured too close, caught an elbow to the chops and down he went. It was then that Tiny Mills reached in to upset Tim and let his groggy brother flop on him in time for the reviving ref to count Geohagen out. It was in 11 minutes.



Tim had taken the equalizing fall in slightly more than 12 minutes with his unconscious head and neck hold, the "Irish sleeper", to the delight of the crowd. He threw his big opponent into the turnbuckles and then applied his specialty. Al opened the round with a savage corner attack, hammering Timothy's kidney and kicking his prostrate foe. But the Irishman—once a professional strong man—came back to mix it hard, too, picking the big fellow up at times with ease to throw him around. Mills fought fiercely, using illegal tactics, and paying no attention whatsoever to the ineffective ref, even shoving him around occasionally. Golob made the mistake of trying to pull him off illegal grips, instead of counting on him right away.

WON OPENER

Mills won the opening fall in 14 minutes with a crotch-hold and throw into the buckles, following it up with a body slam, after a tired Tim climbed back from being thrown out of the ring. Mills scaled 255 to Geohagen's 232 and was much rougher, but Tim was stronger than his heavier rival and took a lot of abuse, including kicks, punches, hair pulling and eye rasping. He was tied up by Tim once in the ropes to take a beating until the referee belatedly rescued the husky from Alberta.

Colorful Pat Flanagan, at 232, and the 274-pound Tiny Mills fought furiously to a draw, both being counted out of the ring as they slugged it out hard near the ringside seats. Pat had pushed Tiny out and chased through the ropes after him. It was a redhot scrap, chock full of hard action from start to finish. Tiny was much bigger and used a barroom style of putting the boots to a fallen foe, choking him, yanking his thinning hair and eye gouging. But Flan was faster and had a barrel of sly ring stuff to hold his own in the heavy battling. Golob couldn't quite keep up with it, so neither grappler paid him much heed. After the bout, which went 21 minutes, Pat threatened Tiny with a chair over the head, no doubt recalling their tangle a week ago when Tiny caught him from behind with a chair on the noggin to allow brother Al to win that bout.

English Alan Garfield, going 235, won the prelim in 25 minutes over rough 228-pound Jack Wentworth with his British specialty, a reverse back-breaker, forcing Jack to concede. It was a slow bout at first but pepped up shortly with Wentworth using a lot of mean mat stuff. Garfield was quite indignant and argued bitterly before going in for some rough tactics himself. The ref missed plenty. Wentworth had the better of it for quite a distance but Alan did get going eventually with body slams and leglocks to set his opponent up for the fall.

WITH REDMEN — Big Jake Wade, formerly with the Petes' puckists—and last winter senior "A" at Brantford—is reported to have signed for this season with Belleville Redmen in senior "B" ranks. The former pro and amateur ace will probably play defence for the Quinte crew, though he is also a classy forward.

Turpin "Well Beaten" Says London Paper

LONDON (AP)—Randolph Turpin's defeat by Bobo Olson in the world middleweight title fight in New York Wednesday night "is a ring tragedy that can be explained at the moment only by inadequate training methods," George Whiting said in the London Evening Standard today.

In a story from New York splashed across the front page, Whiting blamed Turpin's defeat on his lack of condition.

The Evening News said: "Sackcloth and ashes and do not look for any excuses. Turpin was well and truly beaten." The News said Turpin's training methods were suspect from the start.

Leafs Tie Detroit, Show Promise Of Better Things

By ED SIMON, Canadian Press Staff Writer

The suspicion is growing that Toronto Maple Leafs may have a hockey team this year. Nudged out of the National Hockey League playoffs last season for one of the few occasions in their history, the Leafs are away with the leaders this fall. And there are indications that they may stay there.

There are few personnel changes from the fifth-place Leafs of last spring. But Conn Smythe's bumper crop of rookies is a year older, and a number of them show signs that they have a better idea of what it's all about.

Leafs — B Copy — Noon Sport —

In fighting the league-leading Detroit Red Wings to a 1-1 tie Wednesday night, Toronto showed promise of better things.

YOUTHS GET GOALS

Trailing 1-0 after rookie Bill Dineen sank a 25-footer while they were a man short in the second period, the Leafs took command of play, bombarding Terry Sawchuk in the Detroit cage until he yielded the equalizer midway through through the final frame.

And the tying goal by 19-year-old Eric Nesterenko was a gem.

The Flin Flon, Man., youngster, who graduated from junior ranks less than a year ago, squeezed his shot between Sawchuk's pad and the goalpost on the short side. It was the only one of 32 drives to beat the great Detroit goalie all evening.

Harry Lumley stopped 20 shots at the other end, including some dangerous efforts by the top Detroit scoring threesome of Earl Reibel, Gordie Howe and Ted Lindsay.

The result gave the Wings a clear two-point lead in the standings. The Leafs drew level with Montreal Canadiens in second place, but the Montrealers have a chance to tie for the lead tonight as they visit the winless Chicago Black Hawks. Boston Bruins take on New York Rangers in a battle for fourth place, currently held by the Bruins by a one-point margin.

Maroons' Win Sinks Sarnia; Mercurys Lose

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Three more teams got into action for the 1953-54 season Wednesday night as three games were divided between the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series and the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A southern group.

Sarnia Sailors made an unimpressive season's debut at home suffering a 5-1 setback by Chatham Maroons whose victory hoisted them into a tie with Stratford Indians on top of the OHA Senior A standings.

In the other game of the big-eight loop, Stratford Indians slammed the gate on Owen Sound Mercurys with a 6-0 shutout in Stratford.

Sudbury Wolves, last year's league champions also started their NOHA schedule on the wrong foot, being edged out 3-2 by Sault Ste. Marie (Mich.) Indians in Michigan.

Jim Connelly, Ed Didone, Joe Carveth, Jim Lee and Ernie Dick shared scoring honors as Chatham blasted the sailors. Pat O'Leary fired the sole counter for Sarnia.

The Stratford marksmen were also evenly divided. George Aitken, Mickey Roth, Dinny Flanagan, Ron Ingram, Herve Dejordy and Tom Walker each scored for the Indians.

Henry (Pop) Backor's goal midway in the third period was the winning tally for the Sault Indians. Ron Rubic and Johnny Raynak notched the others. Mauno Kauppi and George Defelice shared the scoring for the Wolves.

Flyers Win 4-1 Over 'Shirts; Tigers Nip Cits

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Kitchener-Waterloo Greenshirts, who started the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A season like a ball of fire, seem to have run headlong into a thunderstorm.

In their first five games the Greenshirts were tagged with only one loss. Since then they have suffered two consecutive defeats.

In Barrie Wednesday night the Flyers came from behind a 4-1 deficit to edge the Shirts 6-5. In other OHA Junior A action Wednesday night Hamilton Tigers handed Quebec Citadelles their fifth loss in six starts with a 4-2 decision in Hamilton.

The Flyers trailed 3-1 going into the final period. Kitchener made it 4-1 in the third before the Flyers came to life to score five goals while allowing the visitors but one.

THREE FOR MORTSON

Chuck Mortson hit the Kitchener net three times to lead the uprising. Jim Robertson, Johnny Martan and Frank Hudson scored the other Barrie goals.

Bob Jones tallied twice for Kitchener with Glen Cressman, Grieg Hicks and Claude Boileau rounding out the total.

The Citadelles traded the Tigers goal for goal in the first two periods at Hamilton before the home team rapped in two unanswered markers in the third.

Bill Stewart, Marty Kilrea, Marlin McAlendin and Ted Reid clicked for the Hamilton goals. Karl Wandowich and Mike Ratchford connected for the Citadelles.

Remember When—

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Harry Greb, the "Pittsburgh Windmill," died at Atlantic City 27 years ago today following a minor operation. He was world's lightheavyweight champion in 1922, and from 1923 to 1926 held the world's middleweight boxing crown being succeeded by Tiger Flowers.

Eight Red Feather Teams Vie For Golden Rule Trophy

TORONTO (CP)—Eight Ontario high school football teams compete Friday and Saturday in a tournament which puts the emphasis on sportsmanship rather than victory.

Not that it won't pay to win. Only a team which wins its game can qualify for the Red Feather tournament championship. But a team won't be selected for the championship unless it adheres to a 10-point code which calls for a high level of sportsmanship on the part of players and coaches.

St. Catharines meets London Central and Hamilton Westdale plays Toronto Danforth Tech Friday. Alliston takes on Ottawa Fisher Park and Toronto Etobicoke is matched with Sudbury Tech Saturday.

The teams represent each football conference in the province.

This fourth annual Red Feather tournament of champions is sponsored by the Federation of Ontario School Athletic Associations in co-operation with the T. Eaton Co. Ltd., and the Toronto Telegram.

PROCEEDS FOR WELFARE

Proceeds go to Ontario's Red Feather organizations and thence into community welfare work across the province. Last year's tournament realized a total of $14,129.

L. S. Beattie, Ontario's superintendent of secondary education, said in an address to last year's tournament competitors that the project linked good sportsmanship with community service.

"This Red Feather tournament is a demonstration of how the sport of football may contribute to a higher cause than even that of personal development or good sportsmanship," he said. "Not only have you given us an exhibition of good football, but you have also shown us you are prepared to make the extra effort, to go the second mile in service to others."

Each winning team will receive a Red Feather football trophy and a mounted golden rule scroll, illuminated with the players' code.

Awards will be made by Joseph McCulley, warden of Hart House at the University of Toronto.

Stengel, Grimm Top Managers In Major Loops

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Milwaukee's Charlie Grimm, who boosted the Braves from seventh to a surprising second-place finish in one year today was voted National League manager of the year.

Grimm, runner-up to Casey Stengel Wednesday for major-league managerial honors, had no trouble outscoring Charlie Dressen, Brooklyn's deposed manager for the National League's top spot.

The 55-year-old Grimm drew 110 of the 179 votes cast by members of the Baseball Writers Association in the annual Associated Press poll. Dressen was second with 66 votes. Eddie Stanky of St. Louis and Rogers Hornsby of Cincinnati, the only other managers to receive recognition, divided the remaining votes.

Stengel naturally was selected as top man in the American. He received 143 votes to outdistance his challengers easily. Lou Boudreau of Boston was second with 19, seven more votes than Paul Richards of Chicago received.

GRIMM NO NOVICE

Grimm, who succeeded Tommy Holmes as Braves' manager in mid-season of 1952, is no novice. He served two separate terms as pilot of Chicago Cubs, putting in a total of 10 full seasons and parts of three others. He led the Cubs to pennants in 1932, 1935 and 1945.

The jovial Dutchman, however, probably is as proud of his feat in leading the lightly-regarded Braves into the runner-up position to the champion Dodgers as he was in each of his three flags. In pre-season polls, few experts dared predict a better than fifth-place finish for the transplanted Boston club.

As a reward for his outstanding work in boosting his team five notches in a single season, Grimm was given a three-year contract to lead the Braves through 1956.

Edwards Goes To Cubs

CHICAGO (AP)—Bruce Edwards former Brooklyn catcher who was thought washed up because of an arm injury, is returning to the major leagues.

This time Edwards, now 30, is coming up as a third baseman.

Chicago Cubs announced Wednesday they have purchased his contract from their Des Moines, Iowa affiliate in the Western League.

EXPERT CANOEIST

LYNN LAKE, Man. (CP)—Wilbur Crawford, formerly of Amherst N.S., reached here from Flin Flon, 150 air miles distant, by canoe. He covered the tortuous route, perhaps 300 miles by water, in 29 days with one day's rest each week.

U Of T Team Wins Intercollegiate Track And Field

MONTREAL (CP)—A surprising University of Toronto squad ran away with the 46th annual senior intercollegiate track and field championship Wednesday.

The strong Varsity contingent triumphed in eight of the 15 events and amassed 78 points, more than twice the total compiled by McGill athletes, who finished second. The Toronto team also scored nine second-places but did not figure in the two records broken.

Also participating were McMaster, Queen's and University of Western Ontario, last year's hosts and champions.

Toronto jumped into an early lead and gradually pulled away from the rest of the field. They beat McGill with 43½ points. The hometowners compiled 34½ points.

Western was third with 28½, Queen's next with 21 and McMaster last with only two points.

DOUBLE WINNERS

Points were distributed on a 5-3-2-1 basis.

Toronto's R. Harding and N. Williams paced their team with two victories apiece, Harding winning the 220- and 440-yard runs and Williams the 120-yard high hurdles and the 220-yard low hurdles.

B. Waller of Western ran the 880 in the record time of 1:55.9, beating the previous mark of 1:57.2 held by McGill's Phil Edwards. He also placed first in the feature one-mile run.

L. Whitman of McGill heaved the 16-pound shot put 46 feet, 9¼ inches, bettering the previous mark of 44 feet, 7¼ inches, also held by a McGill athlete. Whitman also won the discus throw.

F. McDougall of Queen's came first in the three-mile event and team-mate B. Barry won in the pole vault.

Chicoutimi Holds Lead In QHL

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Chicoutimi Sagueneens took over sole possession of the Quebec Hockey League leadership Wednesday night, blanking Springfield Indians 6-0 to move out of a tie for top spot with Ottawa Senators.

In the only other game scheduled, Sherbrooke Saints picked up their first point of the season by playing to a 2-2 deadlock with Valleyfield Braves.

At Chicoutimi the Sagueneens caught Springfield off balance to build a 4-0 lead in the first period.

Bucky Buchanan and Jimmy Moore starred for Chicoutimi, each scoring twice, while Buchanan was also in on Stan Smrke's second and final goal. The shutout in the nets was Phil Hughes'.

At Valleyfield the Braves remained tied with Ottawa in the league's No. 2 spot when they couldn't hold an early lead and let Sherbrooke fight them to a 2-2 tie.

Valleyfield looked in winning form as Jean-Paul Bisaillon and Larry Kwong pumped home goals within the first five minutes. But they failed to follow it up and goalie Paul Leclerc let Marcel Bonin and Geisebrecht of the Saints outguess him to equalize.

CAHA To Decide Maritime Trophy

KEMPTVILLE (CP)—The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association will decide later this season what trophy the Maritime Major Hockey League teams will play for, W.B. (Baldy) George, CAHA president, said Wednesday.

Whatever that decision is, the Maritime major clubs won't play for the Allan Cup if they have any professional players on their teams he said.

George was commenting on a statement in Glace Bay, N.S., by C. Roy MacDonald, president of the Maritime league, that the league will insist on playing off with the Allan Cup winner if the Alexander Trophy is taken out of circulation.

George said no formal motion has been made by the CAHA to withdraw the Alexander Trophy, presented in 1949 by Field Marshal Lord Alexander for competition among "major series" clubs which were allowed to carry professional players.

The Allan Cup was to remain the championship emblem of senior leagues unconnected with the major series clubs.

'SPIEL ENTRIES START

KITCHENER (CP)—Several entries have already been received for the 26th annual Granite Club invitation bonspiel to be held here Nov. 16-20. Entries from clubs in Chicago and Kapuskasing, Ont., have arrived and last year's winners, Stu Graham of Toronto and Sid Smithers of Galt, are expected.

Barons On Top With 6-4 Win Over Hornets

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Cleveland Barons hoisted themselves into undisputed leadership of the American Hockey League Wednesday on the strength of a win over Pittsburgh and defeat of Providence Reds by Buffalo Bisons.

The Barons downed the Hornets 6-4 at Pittsburgh when Eddie Olson pumped home two goals late in the last period to give Cleveland the game. Roy Ross, Jackie Gordon, Chuck Blair and Glen Sonmor fired the other Cleveland goals. Willie Marshall, Earl Balfour, Phil Maloney and Dan Lewicki tallied for Pittsburgh.

At Buffalo the rampaging Bisons knocked Providence out of their first-place tie with Cleveland and themselves took over the No. 2 spot with a 7-2 win. It was the Bisons' first victory at home.

Don Marshall, Gaye Stewart and Steve Wochy each scored twice, with Capt. Johnny McCormack adding the seventh tally. Gene Leclerc and Pete Kapusta registered for Providence.

In the only other game played Hershey Bears chalked up their first win of the season with Dunc Fisher and Obie O'Brien getting two apiece to help the Bears to a 9-4 win over Syracuse Warriors. Arnie Kullman, George Sullivan, Lorne Ferguson, Don McKenny and Norm Corcoran notched the other Hershey goals. Harry Pidhirny fired two for Syracuse with Mike Narduzzi and Kelvin Burnett adding singles.

FAVORED AT 100-8

LONDON (AP)—Kithyra climbed into a co-favorite's spot alongside Jupiter for the Cambridgeshire Stakes during an odds callover Wednesday night.

The horses to beat, the bookies say, rate odds of 100-8 against.

The Cambridgeshire will be run over a mile and a furlong at old Newmarket Oct. 28.

Close behind at 100-7 are Sailing Light, Wych Au Poor, Choir Boy and Sunny Brae. Choir Boy runs under the colors of Queen Elizabeth II although he is not owned by royalty. The Queen holds Choir Boy under lease from the British national stud.

Sunny Brae moved into the 100-7 bracket when his odds shortened from 100-6 during the last two days.

Caerlaverock was seventh preferred at 22-1. Six 25-1 selections were Hilltop, Valdesco, King of the Tudors, Monty, Ocean Sailing and Prince Charlemagne.

SUSPEND TWO PLAYERS

TORONTO (CP)—Joe Zorica of Hamilton has been suspended for three games and Jack Higgins of St. Catharines for one game, the Ontario Hockey Association announced Wednesday. The suspensions are the result of match penalties handed the players in an OHA Junior A game at St. Catharines last Friday when the Teepees defeated Hamilton 9-1.

RIDES THREE WINNERS

ALBANY, Calif. (AP) — Jockey Willie Shoemaker brought in three more winners at Golden Gate Fields Wednesday to come within three of the incredible mark of 400 in a year. The pint-sized Texan boosted his own world record to 397 aboard Bullregor in the third race, Touring Dog in the fourth and Irene's Angel in the sixth.

Bridge Burned

BOSTON (AP) — The Dover street bridge, a principal span connecting the south shore of the harbor with downtown Boston over Fort Point channel, was destroyed by fire early today. A 50-foot section of the 965-foot-long bridge collapsed onto the New Haven Rail road tracks in a blazing rubble of cement, steel and timbers.

"Personal Problems" Beat Turpin, UK Champ Declares

By TED SMITS

NEW YORK (AP)—Randy Turpin, the pride of Britain who hoped to regain the world's middleweight boxing championship Wednesday night, attributed his defeat by Bobo Olson to the fact he "had personal things on my mind."

He did not make the announcement that some London newspapers expected him to make after the fight, and Jack Solomons, the British promoter, said none would be forthcoming.

"I think I could have stopped him in eight if I was right mentally," Turpin said quietly while lying on a bench.

Turpin has had marital troubles and has been named in a divorce suit.

Turpin spent a considerable time during the fight backed up against the ropes, his fists lowered, taking a pummelling from Olson.

"Why did you stay on the ropes?" he was asked.

"Search me," was his candid answer.

HE'LL FIGHT AGAIN

Turpin said he had no objection to the fact the referee permitted considerable clinching and in-fighting, something that is not done in England.

"It's the America style," said Turpin.

"I'll fight anyone," Turpin declared, as if to put at rest rumors he might retire.

"I felt as strong as ever at the finish, but I was just missing," he said. "No, he didn't hurt me—not even when he knocked me down."

Turpin had a bad swelling and cut under his left eye and cuts inside his nose and mouth.

Schweir Rolls A 370

D. Schweir rolled a 370 single this week in the Major Bowling League and A. Caccavella had a triple of 873. Burtol's led teams with 3484 as UEW led in singles with 1292. The 7-0 wins were taken by Burtol, Plaza, Clapper, Curtis. UEW, Boucher, Paramount and McLeod over Bartley, Sherbrooke, Crowley, Silents, E & B, Revenoors, Godson and Clements. The 5-2 victories went to D & W, Patterson, Sea Horses and Hewitt against Selkirk, Lock, Wonder and Edwards.

Good scores included: J. Goodson 736, W. Harris 785, D. Abraham (345) 816, R. Balaam 711, W. Stanbury 724, D. Schweir 766, B. McCarrell 727, E. Downer (328) 801, G. Doherty 750, B. Miller (344) 749, W. Irvine 727, C. Signorotti (305) 835, M. Akers 774, W. Boon (315) 776 and J. Johnstone 763.

Retire Two Top Standardbreds

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP)—Florican and Highland Ellen, world-record-holding harness horses, have been retired, it was announced Wednesday at Yonkers Raceway.

Florican, a 6-year-old trotter owned by E. Roland Harriman's Arden Homestead Stable, Goshen, N.Y., set a world mark of 2:33 for 1¼ miles in winning the $25,000 American Trotting Championship at Roosevelt Raceway last Aug. 27.

Highland Ellen is a 9-year-old mare owned by Ralph Kroening of Milwaukee. She holds two records: Highest earnings among pacing mares, $93,295, and best pacing mark for two heats divided, 8:04 2-5, set in Lexington, Ky., in 1950.

Go Slow Strategy Gave Olson Championship

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — The new middleweight champion of the world said through puffed up lips and bloody teeth Wednesday night that his winning strategy "was to give Randy Turpin the first three or four rounds and then finish fast."

"My manager (Syd Flaherty) told me to go slow," Carl (Bobo) Olson said in his dressing room after his 15-round victory for the title.

"So I just took my time and let him wear himself out. I felt I got stronger as I went along and wasn't tired at the end."

Shortly after the bruising fight, Jim Norris, head of the International Boxing Club, said he hopes to match Olson next with welterweight king Kid Gavilan if the Kid can take Johnny Bratton in Chicago Nov. 13.

GAVILAN CONFIDENT

Gavilan watched the middleweight battle from a poor seat. "I'd like to meet the winner," the Cuban said. "I'm sure I can whip either one. I think Olson would be tougher than Turpin."

Olson's nose was bashed and his face was marked with several bruises.

"The hardest blow he hit me was a left hook in the middle of my face in the fourth round," Olson said.

"I was stunned for a while. But I shook it off. After that, I knew I could make it."

Musical Standard

LONDON (AP) — An international conference Wednesday agreed on a uniform musical pitch. The decision, made by the International Standards Organization, specifies that the tuning pitch for note A in the treble clef shall be 440 cycles a second. Most countries already follow this standard.

Stengel Baseball Manager Of Year

By BOB MYERS

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP)—Casey Stengel is duly grateful, for the fourth time in five years, to be named baseball's manager of the year.

He made this point as clear as Stengel can make anything clear when advised at his home that he had won the 1953 award, hands down.

The New York Yankee skipper received 107 of the 179 votes cast by members of the Baseball Writers Association of America in the annual Associated Press poll.

The vote was quite a tribute to the 64-year-old master, only man ever to manage a team to five straight world championships. He won this same distinction in 1949, 1950 and 1952.

As Stengel put it this award was purely a case of the Yankee team, the front office and the coaches movement "to build me up and win for me this great honor."

SEEMED INTRIGUED

Casey seemed intrigued that his vote was far greater than the combined ballot for the other 15 managers in the big leagues.

Milwaukee's hero Charlie Grimm, was second, with 30 votes, six more than Casey's beaten rival in the world series, Chuck Dressen, then of Brooklyn, now of Oakland, Calif.

Other votes: Paul Richards, Chicago White Sox, 10; Lou Boudreau, Boston Red Sox, four; Al Lopez, Eddie Stanky and Rogers Hornsby, one apiece.

"The first time we win the pennant and we win the championship, this vote or award to me was tremendous," recalled Casey, adding that he was "elated," it was "really something," and "wonderful" as the next awards were received.

PLAYERS GREAT

"Now we get to this fifth and we win the championship again and first I have to say my players were great with speed and good arms and they attend to bizness and naturally you have to say the front office which there has been no changes in since I come to the club has stood back of me and my coaches goota be thanked for the job they did for me. . . .

"Fellas kept asking me how am I going to win five straight," Casey went on, "and I said how should I know. I know some people that knew how they won four straight but I didn't know anyone who had won five straight and how was I gonna know how to win five if nobody else did?"

In conclusion, or nearly so, Casey noted:

"We got a pretty good outfit and if they don't get too confident and don't go too far on this honor Mr. Stengel has just won again, well. . . ."

Well, the Yankees will make it six straight.

Former Resident Electrocuted

Funeral services were held in Lorraine, O., Tuesday, for the late John Wilbert Wilson, 67, a resident of Peterborough until 30 years ago, who was instantly killed by electrocution Friday when he apparently fell against a switchboard at the plant of the National Tube Co. in Lorraine, where he was employed, and 6,600 volts of electricity passed through his body.

Burial was in Ridgehill Memorial Park Cemetery, Lorraine.

He was born in Waubaushene, Ont., son of late John Wilbert Wilson Sr. and the former Maria Hannah Bird of Peterborough. He was educated at Central School in Peterborough and PCI. He learned the trade of electrician at CGE and was later employed by the Peterborough Utilities Commission and at the Nassau power house.

Surviving besides his wife, Ellen, are a daughter, Doris of Toronto, and a sister, Mrs. Sadie Graham, 658 Hawley St., Peterborough.

The deceased was a member of the Salvation Army and the Loyal Order of Moose in Lorraine.

Smoky Lima Gets Lift From Rose

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—The Lima News Wednesday printed a picture of a perfumed rose on page one as a public service in this town, which has been covered since Friday by smelly smoke from a burning sewage dump.

Under the perfumed rose, with perfumed ink, The News invited:

If Lima's stench has got you down,

Sniff right here and drop that frown.

Trucks Collide Driver Injured

WARKWORTH (ENS)—Fred Nelson of Keene suffered minor injuries about 5:00 p.m. Wednesday when his gravel truck was in collision with another gravel truck, driven by Floyd Dovell of Gooderham.

Nelson received a bump on the head and a painful blow in the chest, but did not require medical treatment. The cab of his truck was demolished and both rear springs of Dovell's truck were broken.

The accident occurred about 1½ miles east of Burnley and seven miles west of Warsaw on county road 61, which is being repaired at present.

Dovell was driving east up a hill with a load of gravel when a car, driven by Kenneth Billcox, RR 3, Colborne, travelling in the same direction, pulled out to pass at the top of the hill. Nelson, driving west, was coming up the east side of the hill and applied his brakes when he saw the car passing. His truck jack-knifed and struck the left side of the east-bound truck.

OPP Constable Judson of Cobourg investigated.

Warkworth Man Falls 20 Feet From Ladder

WARKWORTH (ENS) — Charles Killingbeck, RR 2, Warkworth, was slightly injured shortly before noon Wednesday when he fell 18 or 20 feet from a ladder at the home of Oliver Willis on the 6th concession of Creemore Township, east of Campbellford.

His shoulder, leg and ankle were injured, but he did not require medical treeatment.

Killingbeck was helping to build a chimney on Willis' house at the time. Willis' father, James Willis, was holding a ladder against the side of the two-storey building. Killingbeck had climbed to the top, and when he sprang over to the roof the ladder shot out from under him.

He fell to the ground, landing on his shoulder and the side of his head.

Helicopter Patrols

LONDON (Reuters) — British and Norwegian whaling firms have ordered helicopters for use in the Antarctic, it was announced Wednesday night. The planes take off from whaling factory ships to do lookout patrols.

OBITUARIES

MRS. JOHN R. BUTLER

Widow of a United Church minister who preached in many churches in the district, Mrs. John R. Butler, 82, Toronto, died Wednesday in a Peterborough hospital.

While visiting her nephew, Kenneth Stewart, RR 1, Lakefield, Smith township, she became ill about three weeks ago and was taken to hospital. Her health had not been good for a number of years.

Born in Denbigh, in north Lennox and Addington county, she was the former Eva Matilda Lane, daughter of John W. Lane and Matilda Weese, both deceased. She was a member of High Park United Church in Toronto.

Her husband died in 1941. Mr. Butler preached in United Churches in Cavan, Warkworth, Woodler, Frankfort, Foxboro, Bayside and Cortice.

She is survived by 22 nieces and nephews.

The body is being sent from the Hendren funeral home to the Bowes funeral home in Cobourg for funeral service Friday at 1:30 p.m. The Rev. E. C. Kelloway of Cobourg United Church will officiate. Burial will be in Union Cemetery, Cobourg.

HARRY ADLAM

Harry Adlam, 41, of 508 Wolsley St., collapsed Wednesday at his home and he died before getting to hospital.

A city fireman administered oxygen as Mr. Adlam was being taken from the General Medical Clinic to St. Joseph's Hospital. He died in the ambulance on his way to hospital.

He had been in poor health for some time.

Mr. Adlam was born in Peterborough and lived here all his life He was the son of Frederick Adlam and the late Annie Gray.

Left are his widow, the former Gladys Valerie Gilbert; a son, James Frederick Adlam of Peterborough; a daughter, Mrs. George Lipsett (Barbara), at home; two brothers, Leonard of Peterborough and Walter of St. Catharines; and a granddaughter, Peggy Louisa.

Mr. Adlam was a carter by trade. He was a member of Park Street Alliance Church.

The funeral will be 2 p.m. Friday at the Belleghem funeral home, the Rev. J. F. Sauve of Park Street Alliance Church officiating. Burial will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

Royal Car Stalls Driver Blushes

LONDON (AP)—A Royal limousine conked out in busy Leicester square Wednesday night with the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh inside.

They were about to return to Buckingham Palace after attending the premiere of a film of last summer's successful Mount Everest expedition.

The starter whirred but nothing happened.

The crowd let out a good-natured cheer.

The chauffeur looked harassed.

Finally the duke opened the door, helped the Queen out, and the laughing couple entered the car of an aide for the drive to the palace.

Two strong-armed bobbies pushed the big Royal car a few yards down the street, and it started readily.

The chauffeur drove off amid cheers.

OPP Jail Teen-Agers As Stolen Car Wrecked

THOROLD, Ont. (CP)—Provincial police Wednesday night arrested a 17-year-old Hamilton youth and a 15-year-old girl after they wrecked a stolen car on the Queen Elizabeth way near Niagara Falls. Neither was hurt.

Officers said the pair were trying to get into another car when arrested.

Thorold is two miles south of St. Catharines.

Bound For Kitchener After 10,000 Mile Ride

WINNIPEG (CP)—Buffalo Bill Martsch and his horse, Rocky, passed through Winnipeg Wednesday en route home to Kitchener, Ont., on a 10,000-mile trip by horseback to Vancouver and back.

Advised by his doctor to "take it easy" because of a weak heart, Bill started out May 1, 1952, to see the country. He travelled the south route and is returning by the north. He still has about 1,500 miles to go.

WFTU Expected to Replace Cominform As Red Agency

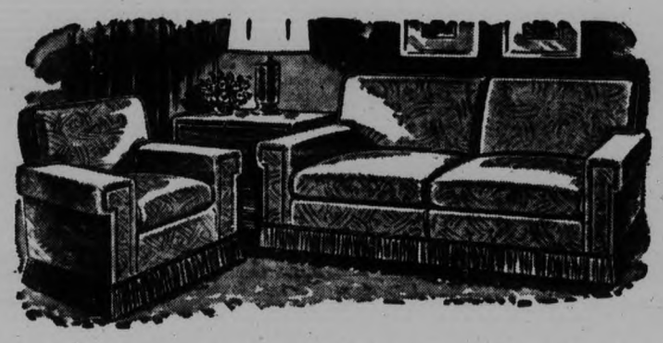
VIENNA (Reuters) — The Communist-sponsored World Federation of Trade Unions wound up its third congress Wednesday night after an 11-day session that leaves little doubt it will replace the Cominform as the chief co-ordinating agency for world communism.

Speeches and reports made it clear, non-Communist observers believe, that the mass appeal of trade union solidarity is being prepared as the primary means of propagating communism through the world.

The Cominform, established after the Second World War, linked Soviet satellite countries by the "Communist information bureau."

FRANTIC CHEERS

More than 800 delegates from 79 countries, claiming to represent 88,600,000 workers, cheered frantically as the last session wound up with a fiery speech by the WFTU's Italian president, Giuseppe de Vittorio. African, Asian and Latin-American delegates threw paper in the air, waved colored handkerchiefs and scarves, then linked arms and clapped and chanted in rhythm for more than 20 minutes.



The keynote from the opening day was the same. It was drummed home in every speech, appeal, document and regulation:

"Let us create a united front of workers of the world of genuine trade union interests, let us enlist the support of non-Communist workers in every workshop and factory and let them force their unions to join the WFTU. Let us win support from the artisan and middle classes and from peasants and intellectuals by supporting their demands and making ourselves their spokesmen.

"Side by side with this the new 'popular front' must fight intensively against Western capitalism in all its forms—against big power and big business rule in the colonies, against American economic influence in the capitalist Western states and against the capitalist economy everywhere."

Death Accidental Urge Curve Be Resurfaced

Bringing in an accidental death verdict Wednesday at an inquest into the death of Ruppert Hewlett, 43, of Crumb St., Renfrew, a five man corner's jury recommended a stretch of highway near Havelock be resurfaced to cut down car accidents.

Hewlett died as a result of injuries September 26 after his car smashed into the rear of a parked truck, one half-mile west of Havelock on Highway 7. Police and the truck driver blamed the accident on a skid caused by the slippery road surface.

Meeting in the county council chambers before Coroner Dr. H. G. Carleton, the jury heard evidence by J. A. Jewell, Havelock truck driver, OPP Constable George Rose of Campbellford, George Charles, motorist at the scene, Dr. R. K. Magee of Peterborough, and Bill Reid, Campbellford photographer.

Reid, first witness, identified photographs taken by him of the accident scene and Jewell's truck. Dr. Magee said he examined Hewlett at the Civic Hospital in Peterborough and found him unconscious, bleeding from the ears and nose with evidence of a skull fracture and brain damage. Multiple rib fractures had been received and both lungs were collapsed.

DIED LATER

The patient died in the early morning. Dr. Magee agreed his injuries were similar to injuries one would receive in an accident such as the one Hewlett was in.

Constable Rose said he arrived at the accident scene to find three vehicles on the south side of the road. It was raining heavily at the time, about 9.30 at night.

One car, identified as Charles', was off the shoulder, facing away from the highway in the ditch. Further along, Jewell's tow truck was found facing east with Hewlett's car smashed into its rear facing west.

Although the curve where the crash occurred is well-banked and vision is good, several accidents have happened on that corner, the officer explained.

He attributed this to the condition of the road west of the curve and described it as "very smooth" and "glazed" and especially slippery when wet. He suggested that 150 to 200 feet of the highway west of the accident scene should be resurfaced.

The tow truck had clearance lights shining behind it, from which direction Hewlett's car had come, a red light flashing and was parked well off the shoulder.

A flare, set up by the truck driver, could be seen burning to the east of the accident, but one set up to the west, could not be found. It was discovered later in the ditch, presumably after a car struck it and knocked it over.

WENT TO PULL OUT CAR

Jewell said he had gone to the accident scene originally to pull Charles' car from the ditch and was waiting for OPP officers to arrive when the crash occured. Charles and the trucker were sitting in the vehicle's cab when Hewlett's car smashed into the thick oak planking at its rear.

The car had presumably gone into a skid on the curve, swung half around, and struck the truck.

Earlier he had put out flares to the east and west of where the crash occurred on police recommendations.

As a tow truck driver, Jewell said he saw more accidents at that corner than any place else. He suggested the road surface be improved at the corner.

Testifying before the jury, Charles, an army lieutenant stationed at Camp Borden, said he had been travelling around the same corner earlier when his car skidded and flipped into the ditch. He had been uninjured.

After hearing the evidence and upon the advice of Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, QC, and Dr. Carleton, the jury returned with a recommendation that the section of highway where the accident occurred be repaved in view of the number of accidents there.

Almost overshadowed was the jurors' decision that Jewell died as a result of injuries received in the crash.

Members of the jury were Frank H. Patterson, foreman, H. G. Rumary, C. A. Murphy, D. J. Lillico and George Baker.

Service For Youth Held At Stirling

STIRLING (ENS) — Sunday morning service at St. John's Anglican Church was given over to the young people.

The three senior grades of the Sunday School entered with the choir and occupied the choir stalls. The junior classes and the senior choir occupied the front pews of the church.

Marvin Tanner read the lesson and Douglas Harding read the 23rd psalm. Special prayers were said by Barbara Woodbeck, Lois Vardy and Marjorie McActon. Sidesmen for the congregation were Bob Noble and Art McConnell and for the choir John Noble and Bob McArton. The junior WA sang a hymn and three special hymns were sung by the boys and girls with Mrs. H. Morrow at the organ.

The rector, the Rev. H. C. Secker, dedicated a new lectern Bible, a gift from Mr. and Mrs. James Warren and family in memory of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Thompson, members of St. John's.

Louis H. Winslow Busy Judging Plowing

MILLBROOK (ENS)—Louis H. Winslow, veteran plowing match judge who judged all week at the World Plowing Match in Cobourg, officiated at the King-Vaughan match near Schomberg on Tuesday.

On Thursday he will judge at another match near Kingston. During the World Plowing Match he was host to a contestant from Finland and his manager, Vaino K. Neuvonen, BSA of Helsinki, secretary of 4-H clubs in Finland. While here the men from Finland visited the farms of I. W. Larmer and W. W. Kennedy.

Dosco Starts Use Of Machines To Better Mining In Nova Scotia

TORONTO (CP) — Lionel Forsyth, president of Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation, said today his company is introducing mechanized methods in Nova Scotia coal mining that should restore the industry to good health.

In an address prepared for the Empire Club, Mr. Forsyth said a program of revised policy and methods of operation has become what he considers the most significant world development in the history of longwall mining—the "Dosco miner."

It is a machine that extracts and delivers coal to the conveyor. No explosives are required with this mechanical miner and no manual labor.

MANY PROBLEMS

For some years, coal operations in Nova Scotia have been beset by "steadily increasing costs of production, lower productivity of manpower and intensified competition from hydro-electric power, oil and natural gas."

A program was devised to meet these changes. An outstanding result was the "Dosco miner," produced by a corporation whose operations in many industrial fields justified Dosco as "an asset of Canada."

He was told by a Toronto friend three weeks ago: "In Toronto financial circles Dosco is a dog. Most people here think of it as a sort of government charity supported by subsidies, subventions and doles supplied from Ottawa as a sort of grudging insurance against unemployment of a needy and indolent Maritime population —a pap-fed industry, incapable of survival on its merits."

STATISTICS SHOW

Dosco's president made his rebuttal with statistics. During the three years ended Dec. 31, 1952, Dosco produced 16,713,830 tons of coal and 2,198,262 tons of steel in primary form; it marketed 1,500,000 tons of finished steel products and 250,000 tons of semi-finished steel.

During the same period, Dosco built 6,187 railway cars and exported 2,258,000 tons of iron ore above its own requirements.

Through its associate and subsidiary companies it paid in wages, salaries and pensions $222,900,000 and spent $237,360,000 for purchase of materials and supplies. The corporation and its affiliates paid $13,814,300 in income taxes; it deducted and remitted to the government $12,274,273 in employees' income taxes.

Nothing of the taxpayers' money was expended in aid of the steel industry. Dosco's coal operating companies, engaged in transportation of coal to markets in Quebec and Ontario, received subventions in aid of freighting cost amounting to $7,272,923.79.

Mr. Forsyth said Dosco is the only steel producer in Canada which produces a Canadian finished product from raw materials of entirely Canadian origin; it is the largest producer of coal in Canada; no industrial enterprise in Canada employs a larger labor force.

Make Final Plans To Lay Cornerstone

COBOURG (ENS) — Arrangements have been completed for the cornerstone laying at the administration building of the new ordnance depot.

Defence Minister Brooke Claxton will lay the cornerstone at 1.30 p.m. on October 30. Municipal officials, representatives of various civic groups and others will attend from Cobourg as well as high ranking military personnel. There will also be a military band in attendance.

When the ceremony is over, there will be open house for the general public. Conducted tours through the vast ordance depot warehouses will be held. In the evening the Minister of Defence and party will be guests of the mayor and council at a buffet supper.

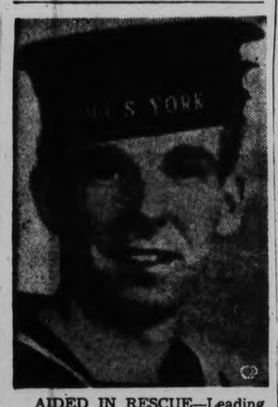
Strike Cuts Off Gas In London

LONDON (AP)—London's busy motor traffic moved toward a shutdown today in the face of a growing gasoline famine caused by a wildcat strike of 2,600 tank-truck drivers.

As the strike went into its fourth day, officials of the state-owned London transport system said its buses would soon be stalled; garages hung "sold out" signs on their gasoline pumps, and there was a noticeable slackening of taxi services.

A spokesman for the British Automobile Association gave this gloomy picture:



"London, for all practical purposes, is without petrol. We are rationing hundreds of stranded motorists to a gallon apiece so they can get home or go to a garage outside the affected area."

The tank-truck drivers, members of Britain's huge Transport and General Workers' Union, are demanding pay raises of 10 shillings a week, retroactive to Aug. 1 and dismissal of non-union men.

Neither the strikers nor employers would divulge the average present wage.

The union officials advised the strikers to go back to work and negotiate their grievances, but the truckers unanimously voted at a mass meeting Wednesday to continue their walkout.

The strikers run trucks supplying London out of 32 depots operated by major British oil companies.

AIDED IN RESCUE—Leading Seman Bruce S. McDonald, 24, of Dartmouth, N.S., has been commended for the part he played in rescue operations following the crash of a twin-engined United States navy patrol boat in St. George's harbor, Bermuda. He was coxswain of a small boat which picked up four men from the U.S. boat.

Officer Plugs Beagling As Training for Modern War

OTTAWA (CP)—It has been said that the battle of Waterloo was won on the playing fields of Eton.

Canadian schoolboys, in years hence, may be taught that victories of the Canadian Army were won on the hunting fields of Camp Borden.

At least, that is the tongue-in-cheek thesis of a Canadian Army officer who manages a pack of 12 beagles during his spare time as a physical education instructor at Camp Borden's school of infantry.

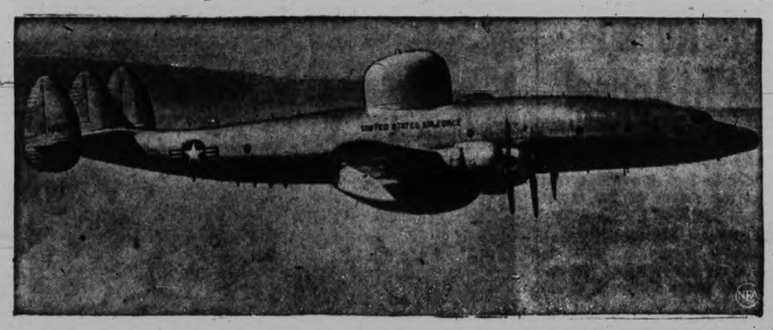
The hounds are not on the army payroll. They were purchased in England by a group of Canadian officers for recreation purposes. Their upkeep is paid by the officer-owners.

Writing in the Canadian Army Journal, Capt. J. A. Gillanders of the Royal Canadian Regiment argues the case of beagling as an aid to infantry training.

USED IN SOUTH AFRICA

In his historical notes leading up to his main argument, Capt. Gillanders, who entitles his article "Beagling as Training for War," notes that Edward VII sent 24 beagles to Lord Kitchener in South Africa where they were to be used as a means of exercising chair-borne officers in Pretoria.

Let Capt. Gillanders take it from here:



"Many of the principles of war are equally applicable to beagling and to follow hounds with any degree of success demands the same qualities that are demanded of the present-day soldier. . .

"Perhaps the most important of the follower's 'duties' is that of remaining silent: Nothing can be more distracting to hounds working out a line than a lot of idle chatter or yells of encouragement . . . Noise means loss of surprise and consequently a direct violation of one of the most important principles of war. . .

"Beagling demands physical fitness, endurance, dash, initiative and personal discipline. . . ."

Plan New Highway

WELLAND (CP) — Construction of a $700,000 highway to link Welland with Port Colborne on the west side of the Welland canal was approved Wednesday by Welland county council. The six-mile [illegible] will extend from the Lincoln street boundary between Welland and Crowland township to Port Colborne.

FLYING SEEING-EYE — The U.S. Air Force's RC-121C, shown in flight for the first time over Burbank, Calif., is the nation's latest powerful radar search plane. The long-range Lockheed transport, identified by the top "shark fin" and lower "big bulge," has increased its fuel capacity to permit it to stay in the air for extended periods.

Traffic Ruling Goes To Appeal

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Can a car owner be convicted of a traffic offence, despite lack of evidence that he was the driver of the motor vehicle in question?

This question will be put before Mr. Justice Dalton C. Wells in weekly court here Friday. His decision may carry far-reaching effects.

A Woodstock man, George H. Greenfield, was convicted of careless driving by Oxford magistrate R. G. Groom, April 24 this year under these circumstances.

Greenfield's lawyer has appealed.

Magistrate Groom said there was no satisfactory evidence as to the identity of the driver but found sufficient evidence that Greenfield's car was being driven in a careless manner.

Desinged Air Strip Map Surveyor-General Retires

OTTAWA (CP)—Bruce W. Waugh the man who put Canada on the maps, retired last month as surveyor general of Dominion lands.

He joined the government service in 1909 when 119 field survey parties were on the Prairies recording the subdivision of new lands.

He leaves now at 65 with vast areas completely covered by means of mapping from air surveys.

Mr. Waugh himself designed and compiled the first air strip map nearly 23 years ago. It covered a strip 80 miles wide between Winnipeg and Lethbridge. The map was intended primarily to help pilots, but it came in useful again a few years ago for planning that stretch of the Trans-Canada Highway.

It was in 1938 that Mr. Waugh launched his program for eight-mile-to-one-inch aeronautical charts of southern Canada. The war gave impetus to the work, and by 1944 219 of the maps had been completed.

At the University of Toronto Mr. Waugh studied electrical engineering as well as surveying, and the combined knowledge helped in the development of the radar altimeter, an airborne instrument for recording contours, which was carried out under his direction.

He became surveyor general of Dominion lands in 1948.

Mr. Waugh was born at Seaforth, Ont. In retirement he and his wife, his companion on some rugged field surveys, will spend their summers at Ottawa and their winters in the south.

Murdered Girl Pledged Love, Wouldn't Marry

CORNWALL (CP)—A letter written, but never mailed, by Marie Anne Carrier before she was brutally murdered pledged her love to a second lieutenant but said she never could marry him, it was learned Wednesday.

The army officer, Peter Balcombe of London, Ont., is charged with the murder of the attractive reserve sergeant in the Canadian Women's Army Corps from Bienville, Que.

The letter, reported in the possession of police, rejected Balcombe's proposal that he get a divorce from his wife so that they could be married.

The letter was reported to say in effect: "I love you, but can never marry you and shall remain single for the rest of my life."

The letter was the latest clue in the case which started a large-scale investigation by Ontario and Quebec police since the nude, knife-ripped body was found in a ditch near Iroquois, 35 miles west of here, last Thursday.

In Toronto, it was reported a paper cup with two sets of fingerprints has been found near the spot where the girl's body was found. The cup has been sent to the RCMP laboratory in Ottawa.

"Message From God" Tells Prophet To Visit Canada

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Prophet Jones of Detroit said Wednesday night he has "received a message from God" instructing him to visit Canada.

He said in a telephone interview that he has not yet "been told" when to make the trip but he expects it will be early next year when he arrives in Toronto.

The self-styled religious leader of some 6,000,000 persons in 45 of the 48 states, the West Indies, Liberia and West Africa, said he has never before been abroad.

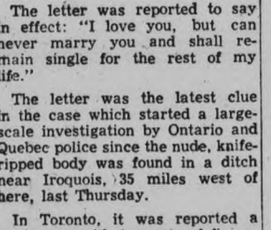
The prophet, who lives in a 54-room French castle, is officially known as Rt. Rev. Dr. James J. Jones, Dominion ruler of the Church of the Universal Triumph, the Dominion of God.

Prophet Jones, who usually wears expensive rings and other jewelry, said he believes he has been instructed to visit Canada because of the "great friendship" which exists between Canada and the U.S.

Honor William Houck

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—A testimonial dinner was given Wednesday night for William L. Houck, who goes to Ottawa next month as representative of the newly-created federal riding of Niagara Falls. For 14 years, Mr. Houck, a Liberal, represented Niagara Falls in the Ontario legislature. He is a former mayor.

Windsor Orders Boys' Tiny Shacks Destroyed



WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Works department employees started Wednesday to destroy a number of underground shacks, laboriously constructed by school boys, which were discovered Tuesday by fire department inspectors.

Dozens of the shacks or bunkers, apparently designed by boys to provide themselves with a private place where they could play, roast potatoes and smoke cigarets, had been constructed in two vacant fields.

Fire department officials said the boys might have suffocated or suffered burns in the cardboard-lined shacks.

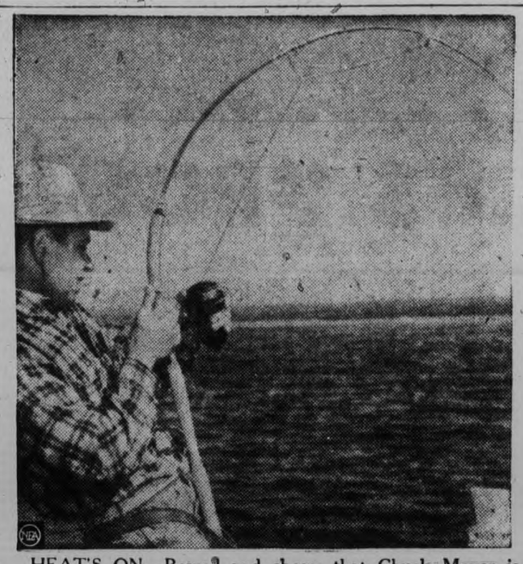
Find Paintings Mutilated, Blame Serial



AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP)—An episode in a radio serial has been withdrawn in New Zealand as a sequel to mutilation of paintings in the Auckland Art Gallery.

In the episode, a reporter, masquerading as a member of a gang seeking to spread racial intolerance, was given instructions to go to a private gallery and damage pictures of colored people. He did not do so, but it is thought the idea may have stuck in the mind of a child listener.

Next day after a visit to the art gallery by parties of school children it was found that the eyes of seven valuable historical portraits of Maori chiefs had been pierced, probably with a pencil. A slash was made in another picture, apparently with a pocket knife.

W. B. Yates, director of broadcasting, announcing that the episode, had been withdrawn and would not be broadcast from other stations in the national network, said the series had been played to various audiences privately and there was no indication that any normal person would be influenced or affected.

The "Superman" series in question is an Australian production and is being broadcast in Australia, New Zealand and South Africa. It has been running in New Zealand for over three years.

HEAT'S ON—Bowed rod shows that Chuck Meyer is gaming after another big one off Montauk Point, Long Island. The Patchogue, N.Y., angler broke the all-tackle monster fishing record landing a 261-pound 11-ounce mako shark with spinning tackle. Shark fishing is a new fad.

BEARS ON FRUIT DIET

A bear in an apple tree and another gorged and sunning itself on a roadway was a little spectacle of nature Wednesday in the vicinity of the Max Rishor cottage, Clear Lake. It is not far from South Beach.

CATTLE SALE HERE

A consignment auction of Aberdeen-Angus cattle at the Exhibition grounds Saturday afternoon is bringing to the sales ring selected black animals from the herds of breeders in an extensive area of the province. Duncan Brown of Shedden is auctioneer.

SPRAINED ANKLE

Mrs. Walter Pratt, 43, of 645 Charlotte St., was treated at Civic Hospital Wednesday night for a sprained ankle she sustained when she twisted her foot. She was released after treatment.

1954 MUSIC FESTIVAL

The official syllabus was issued today by the Peterborough Kiwanis club for the eighth annual music festival. This festival will be held between March 9 and 17 and entries close January 15. Norman Armstrong is chairman of the festival committee.

HIT AND RUN

Northbound on Monaghan Rd. Wednesday, a 1953 Cadillac sedan was the victim of a hit and run accident. It was struck by a passing car and damage, a fender scrape, was estimated at $20. It was driven by H. Paulen, 62, of 104 Avenue Rd., Toronto.

CHARGE RAISED

At a meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses, held Wednesday, it was decided that the present fee of $2 per call was inadequate to meet today's costs. As a result the general fee was raised to $3 per call. As usual, all fees depend upon the ability of the party to pay.

TWO CHARTER MEMBERS

At the consecration and constituting of the William James Dunlop lodge No. 675 in the Masonic Temple on Wednesday night were William Lytle and Cyril Lech two of the charter members of Royal Arthur lodge which was formed in 1914.

CHARGED WITH RUSTLING

Charged in court today with cattle rustling, Charles Harrington, 53, of Ennismore, was remanded until Tuesday on $3,000 bail. He is being held in connection with the theft of cattle from the farm of J. D. Sullivan, Ennismore township Sunday. He was arrested Wednesday by OPP Constable John Cawood.

HOPES TO RETIRE TO CITY

Hon. William J. Dunlop told the Masons of Peterborough on Wednesday night when the lodge which was named after him was constituted and consecrated that he hopes to retire to Peterborough. He and Mrs. Dunlop had planned to live in Peterborough when he retired from his University of Toronto post. But things turned out otherwise; he was named minister of education.

Radio Station Staff Reach Agreement

Radio station employees of CHEX, Peterborough, and CKWS, Kingston, have reached a union agreement with the Brookland Co. Ltd. of Toronto the Canada Labor Relations Board has announced.

Some 14 employees of CHEX and 15 of CKWS are members of the National Association of Broadcast Engineers and Technicians (CIO-CCL). They were certified last March.

Details of the agreement were not given. The employees and owners of the two stations were negotiating on wages, hours and union security.

Members of the federal labor conciliation board consisted of Eric C. Taylor, Toronto; Joseph Sedgwick, Toronto; and Miller Stewart, Sturgeon Point. They were appointed to try and settle the dispute between the two parties.

Braunds Drop Four Stores From Chain

Three Closed One Sold In Reorganization

A general streamlining is underway in Braund's Home Food Markets. The number of stores has been reduced to four, plus the feed department at 718 George St. N.

Four of the smaller retail outlets in the former chain of eight stores have been closed. One of them, at Lock and Braidwood Sts., is being sold to Claire O'Toole.

Mr. O'Toole is expected to continue to operate it as a grocery store. However he had no comment to make when asked about this today.

"It's a business re-organization," Ernest C. Braund said today. "You can call it a general streamlining. By concentrating on the larger stores we hope to give more efficient service to the public; we found this difficult with the smaller ones.

"We're going to continue our feed department, of course."

NONE LAID OFF

None of the old employees has been laid off. They are being absorbed into the re-organized setup.

The four stores will be those already in business at Park and King Sts., the Ashburnham one on Hunter St. E., and the two George St. stores—one at 429 George St. N. and the other at 718. Some changes will be made here, too, in the interests of efficiency.

The four stores dropped from the Braund chain are those at 591 Chamberlain St., 241 Rubidge St., 659 Reid St. and 591 Lock St.

Who's Got The Pin

STIRLING (ENS)—A rush trip to Belleville General Hospital Wednesday noon turned out to be a false alarm. Mrs. Albert Bastedo, Front St., Stirling, thought her two-year-old daughter, Elizabeth, had swallowed an open safety pin. So the child was rushed to hospital 15 miles away. The little girl was x-rayed several times but there was no sign of the pin.

Meeting Seeks To Provide Housing For Aged

How to house elderly people was the subject of a discussion sponsored Wednesday night by the Peterborough Local Council of Women.

For some time now the Local Council of Women have been trying to find out the facts on low-cost housing for the elderly, and they have been trying to gauge the situation in this city. Along with this fact-finding program they are trying to educate the public to take an interest in the subject.

L. E. Ludlow, director for the aged branch of the department of public welfare, was guest speaker at a meeting in the YWCA. He stressed the need for accommodation for old people and quoted extensively from three relevant Ontario Acts.

ASKED QUESTIONS

After his talk, the audience—consisting of 50 members of the women's group, welfare organizations and interested civic organizations—asked questions about housing.

Peterborough has no municipally-owned home for elderly people. Anson House and the House of Providence come under the Charitable Institutions Act. Both are denominational.

Peterborough county has a home near Lakefield.

Last year the Elderly Persons Housing Aid Act was amended so that not only municipalities, but also limited dividend housing corporations, can get provincial assistance in building homes for elderly people.

At present the Local Council of Women are studying two types of housing project. One is the Hastings County home in Belleville, and the other is the York Township home.

The Belleville project is an apartment block with each unit a bedroom, living room and bathroom. There is a communal dining room for the majority of the residents. Separate accommodation, including a dining room, is provided for those who are too old or infirm to look after themselves.

128 APARTMENTS

The York Township project is 128 apartments in a block, each unit accommodating two persons. Some of them are bachelor apartments. Each unit contains a bedroom, bathroom, living room and kitchen.

Rent for apartments varies between $29.50 and $35 a month. To be eligible a couple must have a monthly income of at least $85. This permits an elderly couple, both of them drawing pensions, to meet the rent without too much difficulty.

"We must think of housing in our communities to care for those who can look after themselves," said Mr. Ludlow. "Institutions are for those people who need a measure of care."

He commended the Local Council of Women for their interest in this social problem which is growing more acute all the time.

Smith Claims Slaughtering Offensive

Nick Peconi Charged With Operating On Filthy Premises

Prosecution evidence in the first of six public health charges against Nick Peconi of Otonabee St., Wednesday, heard the accused's slaughterhouse in Smith township described as "something beyond description."

This testimony was delivered by Alex Edmison, clerk, board of health secretary and sanitary inspector for Smith, in the charge of carrying on an offensive trade laid by the township.

Mr. Edmison was alone in having difficulty finding how to describe the Peconi slaughterhouse, though, as it appeared during inspections dating back to the latter part of August and early September.

For instance, Dr. H. G. Carleton, veteran Smith township medical officer of health, called it "very filthy, a stinking mess" emitting "very bad odors, a very bad stench," and a "very putrid odor."

He was commenting on the animal heads, legs and hides he found around the slaughterhouse, located near Nassau. Flies swarmed about the carcasses, the MOH said.

First witness called by the prosecution, represented by Walter H. Howell, was John R. Corkery, registrar of deeds for the county of Peterborough. He identified the Peconi property in question as Lot 22, Concession 4 of Smith. William Telford, Smith assessor, further identified the land.

VERY FILTHY

Called next, Dr. H. G. Carleton first outlined his background in medical work, then described the accused's property. He said there were two houses there, in addition to a small cement barn, about 400 feet north on the concession road and two-fifths of a mile from Highway 28, between the highway and the Otonabee river.

Visiting there August 19, he found the premises "very filthy." He continued: "The flies were numerous and the odor was very bad. Parts of animals, including hides, heads and entrails were piled up, exposed."

From an earlier visit, he described a scene, "the like I never saw in my life," much the same as found August 19.

Following the second trip, he directed Peconi in a letter, to cease his operations, including cutting up animals and carcasses, and throwing refuse.

Returning September 3, he found his order had not been observed by the defendant.

To Dr. Carleton, there was "no question" the accused was committing an offence. He added a licence had never been granted the accused to operate the slaughterhouse during his tenure of office.

Cross-examining the witness, A. L. Elliott, QC, asked the doctor if he knew of any other slaughterhouses in Smith. After a negative reply, he questioned the MOH about his knowledge of a Smith township councillor, Howard Beavis, slaughtering animals. The defence counsellor received a negative reply again.

Work Begins On Building St. Giles' Church

Less than 13 months after the first service was held for the Presbyterians in the southern section of the city building commenced today on the new St. Giles' church.

The contract has been awarded to Charles Huffman Ltd. and the church is being erected on Park St. south between Edison and Braidwood avenues. The power shovel moved onto the lot today to commence excavations and even with only a few hours' notice more than a score of members of the congregation gathered to see operations begin. The Rev. Gilbert Smith, the minister, was present, and offered a short prayer.

Next Sunday it is planned that a service of consecration will be held on the lot immediately following the morning service in Confederation School. Mr. Smith will be in charge, he will be assisted by the Rev. R. D. Duncanson of Norwood and members of St. Giles' Kirk session.

The new church will accommodate 418. It is of modern design with special attention being paid to the natural lighting. To overcome a basement feeling in the Sunday School the entrance, at street level, is half-way between the main and Sunday School floors.

The overall length is 85 feet and the width 38 feet. The nave will be 60 by 30 feet, the choir and chancel 21 by 18 feet and a narthex or main entrance 12 by 46 feet.

WORK COMMENCED TODAY on the new St. Giles Presbyterian Church on Park St. South when a very informal ceremony took place as the power shovel moved onto the lot to begin excavations. In spite of fact that anly a few hours notice was given more than a score of members of the congregation were present. However, on Sunday morning the official ceremony will take place. In TOP picture members of the congregation, which started services less than 13 months ago, are grouped around the shovel while in LOWER the Rev. Gilbert Smith, the minister, is assisted in the turning of the sod by Bobby Mortlock who is given moral support by his mother, Mrs. Bert Mortlock. Members of the building committee Douglas Melville and G. Wilson Craw look on. The building, it is expected, will be completed within eight months.

Hits Parked Car Driver Charged

George Todd of Concession St., Lakefield, was charged with drunk driving today in Magistrate's Court as a result of an accident on the outskirts of Lakefield Wednesday. His case was adjourned one week.

According to Price Morris, Lakefield chief, Todd's car was driving east into the town when it swerved across the road, smashing into the front of a parked car owned by Ken Reid of Bridge St., Lakefield.

Reid's car was pushed into the front of a parked truck and damage to the parked vehicle was estimated at $275. Todd's car sustained $150 in damages.

An accident at noon in Peterborough Wednesday resulted in damage of $70 to two vehicles, a truck driven by Joseph McWilliams, 39, of 476 O'Connell Rd., and a car driven by Mrs. Isobel Hillier, 35, of 554 Murray St.

Mrs. Hillier was driving west on McDonnel St. and McWilliams north on Park, when their vehicles collided at the intersection.

W. J. Dunlop Consecrates Lodge Named In His Honor

William James Dunlop Lodge No. 675, Peterborough's fourth Masonic lodge, was constituted and consecrated on Wednesday night in a beautiful ceremony in the Masonic Temple. The man for whom the lodge is named, the Hon. William James Dunlop, minister of education for Ontario and a past grand master of Grand Lodge, was the master in charge of the ceremony. He was assisted by several grand lodge officers and past masters of Peterborough's other three lodges. Masons from many of the lodges between Hamilton and Smiths Falls were present.

It was a memorable occasion for the presiding master who became a member of Peterborough Lodge on October 1, 1908, and since that day has had many Masonic honors conferred upon him.

DINNER SERVED TO 250

Prior to the ceremony dinner was served in the dining room with more than 250 sitting down. Rt. Wor. Bro. Ross L. Dobbin, the first master of the new lodge was toastmaster and the toast to the Grand Lodge of Canada in the Province of Ontario was proposed by Bro Paul M. Irwin and Most Wor. Bro. Dunlop responded.

The speaker in commencing his short address told of coming to Peterborough in 1907 as the principal of King Edward public school. That school was then on the southern fringe of the city. In 1908 he went to Queen Alexandra, then in the very north of the city, as principal.

Referring to his post as minister of education he warned his listeners to not get alarmed about all they read and hear about the changes being made in the educational system of Ontario. "When new proposals are made there is always a storm raised against them and that is to be expected. We are solving problems today, they are not headaches. We are a growing province and must have more schools."

He said he always regarded masonry as a great anchor in this country. Masons are men who see things clearly and are willing to do their duty. Masonic ritual teaches men to be real citizens and he felt that masons are today realizing that more attention must be paid to religion.

"In Peterborough we have a masonic city second to none in Canada and masonry has always played its part in this community. Corinthian and Peterborough lodges may not be the oldest in the eastern section of the province but they have for years taken a leading place in the community.

"Tonight is a night which I will ever remember. I came here as a boy and tonight comes the climax, a lodge in my own city of Peterborough, is given my name."

Wor. Bro. the Rev. William McDonald presented the speaker with a beautiful picture of the new masonic temple. Wor. Bro. J. E. Watters proposed the toast to the visitors and this was replied to by Rt Wor. Bro. the Rev. Harold B. Neal of Lindsay and grand chaplain and Rt Wor. Bro. W. J. Attig of Hamilton, the assistant grand secretary.

After the consecrating of the lodge the following officers took their chairs: Rt. Wor. Bro. R. L. Dobbin, worshipful master, Wor. Bro. J. E Watters, immediate past master, Wor Bro. Walter H. Mortlock, senior warden, Wor. Bro. David E. Bell, junior warden, Wor. Bro. E. L. Burnham, secretary, Rt. Wor. Bro. Fred Hills, treasurer. Wor. Bro. the Rev. William McDonald, chaplain, Bro. J. A. Hill, director of ceremonies, Bro. Frank R. Pope, senior deacon, Bro. Frank W. Ross, junior deacon, Bro. Paul M. Irwin, inner guard, Bro. S. J. Black, senior steward, Bro. P. E. Moore, junior steward, Bro. R. G. B. Jackson, tyler and Bro. Robert Johnson, organist.

Boy Knocked Down By Truck Seriously Hurt

STIRLING (ENS)—Garry Reid, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Reid, Rawdon township, is seriously injured and in Belleville General Hospital after being knocked down by a truck late Wednesday afternoon. Both lungs are said to have been punctured, but no bones are reported broken.

The boy was playing in the driveway of the Shamrock Cheese Factory, a mile east of Stirling, when he was struck by an unidentified truck. The driveway is at the rear of the cheese factory.

His mother heard his cries from their living room quarters, over the cheese factory, and she went out and found him lying on the ground. His father, a cheesemaker, took him to Belleville hospital some 15 miles away.

Provincial police from Belleville are investigating the injury.

FULL MOON TONIGHT

The hunters' moon is full tonight, and if the sky remains cloudless it should be a grand display. Several township barns last night, roofed with aluminum, were gleaming rectangles of reflected moonlight. Some one has said that the other months of the year exist only to produce October.

Minister Sprints 12 Blocks To Catch Boy Seen Climbing In Trunk Of Pastor's Car

A spirited 12 block chase ended Wednesday night with the Rev. Gordon S. Maxwell nabbing a young boy he had found in his car trunk. The boy, along with five companions, was taken to the city police station and released later.

Mr. Maxwell had come out of Trinity United Church about eight o'clock when he saw the boy in his trunk. He yelled, the boy bolted, and the pastor took out after him.

The chase ended 12 blocks later on Charlotte St. when the boy was finally caught. Taken back to the church he told Mr. Maxwell he had been only playing hide and seek.

Five companions showed up to see what the trouble was and they were taken to the police station too by PC Jack Wilson. The boys ranged in age from 13 to 15.

No charges will be laid but the boys will be sternly lectured as a result of complaints that boys had been disturbing the church during meetings there.

Drama Festival Will Extend Over Three Days

For the first time in its four-year history the Peterborough Drama Festival will extend over three evenings. The executive of the festival association Wednesday night surveyed the entries and decided three evening performances were necessary; however, since no junior groups were entered, the Saturday children's matinee will be dropped. Festival dates are Thursday to Saturday, November 19-21.

Professor Arnold Edinborough of Queen's University will adjudicate the one-act plays, both those entered for competition in the Eastern Ontario Drama League finals, and those to be assessed non-competitively.

The most distant entry is from Belleville, whose Theatre Guild will stage Noel Coward's one-act 'Fumed Oak'.

Season tickets will be available for the three public performances in the Queen Mary auditorium. Seats for individual performances are to be obtained at the door. Stage-management committee is headed by Ray Gillies, other members being Mrs. J. Low, Miss Jean Buck, Mrs. H. Cherney, Cecil Potts, James McNabb.

Business management of the festival is under the chairmanship of Harry Cherney, assisted by W.A. Brown. Other Committees are: publicity and advertising, John Nornabell, Christopher Gledhill, W. A. Brown; reception and registration: Mrs. James Wharry, Miss Genevieve Fowler, Mrs. W. J. Gilling; house committee, Joseph Barnard.

Rules for the festival were drafted by Peter McCombe and have been sent to all entrants.

A complete list of groups entering and the order of the play presentations is being prepared by the association president, R. J. Bolton and the secretary T. J. Allen.

Lack Of Rain Dries Ont. Thames To Trickle

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Lack of rain has dried the Thames river to a bare trickle—so much so that upper Thames valley conservation authority has been unable to get Fanshaw lake back to normal.

Spokesman for the authority said that flow of the river into the lake was so low that normal seepage and evaporation left only a "fine spray" coming out of the discharge tubes.

Low level of the Thames is part of a drought pattern evident across western Ontario.

Albertaa Gov't Assists Municipalities With Low-Interest Loans for Waterworks

EDMONTON (CP)—The village of Falher, 250 miles northwest of Edmonton, with a population of 667, recently borrowed $15,000 for a new municipal building.

This is an example of how Alberta's Social Credit government makes money available to smaller municipalities which would find it impossible to sell debentures in the open market for financing improvements.

Municipalities can get loans from the Alberta government under three acts: the Self-Liquidating Projects Act, in effect since 1950; the Municipal Capital Expenditure Loans Act, and the rural electrification revolving loan fund, in effect since last April 1.

The machinery is handled by K. J. Hawkins, deputy provincial treasurer, and the actual mechanics are uncomplicated.

A single form is all that is required to submit a loan application under the Municipal Expenditure Loans Act.

The municipality attaches its most recent financial statement to the application along with the municipal by-law approving the project, the order of the Alberta public utilities commission approving the borrowing and detailed financial estimates of the project's cost.

Mr. Hawkins checks the application and, if it is satisfactory, approves it and passes it on so that debentures may be drawn up and an order for a cheque for the amount of the loan made. When the municipality returns the debentures, the government's cheque is waiting.

The effect of the Self-Liquidating Projects Act is evident. Throughout Alberta, small towns are installing water and sewage systems with borrowed money at an interest rate of two per cent.

The loans are available for any self-liquidating project: Any project which will increase a municipality's revenue enough to pay annual interest charges and instalments on the principal.

Up to Oct. 1 this year, 130 loans had been made under this act, all representing water and sewage projects.

Loans have totalled $20,244,569 with the province making $22,000,000 available for municipal borrowing.

Since the fund for the municipal loans act was set up April 1, loans have totalled $21,912,970. Thirty-nine cities, towns and villages have financed 100 projects with these loans, the projects including hard-surfacing roads, grading and gravelling streets, building bridges or sidewalks, electric light plants or other municipal improvements.

Loans of $2,905,608 have been made to 66 rural electrification associations up to Oct. 1. These loans are for capital expenditures involved in the construction of rural electrification transmission lines.

"Custom-made" Coffee New Breakfast Vogue

Marvellous 100% Real Coffee Made "Strong, Medium or Mild" Right in the Cup

At breakfast you could always get your toast light or dark—your bacon medium or well-done—your eggs, 2, 3 or 4-minute boiled. But your coffee? Well, you just got coffee!

The coffee might be too strong for you—it tasted bitter. Or too mild for you—it tasted weak. But if you were in the minority—too bad! After all, one pot of coffee can't satisfy everybody's taste.

But then came the revolution—the "Coffee Revolution"! Now the most forgotten "little man" can get just the cup of coffee he likes! Seriously, though, it's the women who make the coffee who brought on the revolution! It was they who discovered the wonderful new Instant Chase & Sanborn, and started serving it for breakfast.

First of all, here's 100% real coffee that really tastes like it. Chase & Sanborn scientists saw to that! They took on the job of producing an "instant" worthy of Chase & Sanborn's 100-year-old coffee reputation. They never relaxed till they had succeeded in extracting from the finest coffee beans the color and texture—the rich robust flavor and aroma of freshly ground coffee.

Next, housewives decided that this definitely superior "instant" plainly belongs whenever and wherever coffee is served. And then, everybody caught on to the other important benefit. Cups of Instant Chase & Sanborn can be "custom-made" to each person's taste. Goodbye to the old one-pot handicap!

Farewell to Grounds

For the housewife, Instant Chase & Sanborn means the end of that doleful after-meal chore of scouring a stained coffee pot and disposing of coffee grounds. Here is the modern, dainty, trouble-free way of serving fine coffee.

Budgeteers are excited about the savings on Instant Chase & Sanborn too. The regular size jar makes about the same number of cups as a pound of regular ground coffee. Yet it sells up to 40¢ less than a pound of regular coffee.

THIS REALLY IS MY COFFEE!

New Instant Chase & Sanborn is 100% real coffee—and tastes like it. Rousing, rich-flavored coffee—ready with its magical lift the moment you add the hot water.

It's your kind of coffee—made by people with nearly 100 years of coffee experience.

One sip and you'll agree—it's so good you'll make it your regular coffee!

Now!..the Flavor and Aroma of Freshly Ground Coffee Instantly!

TAKES HIS FARM WITH HIM—At 66, old Jack Ratliff is tired and "looking for a place to stop." He recently made an overnight stop at Salina, Kan. He's pictured there, asking Frank Reese about a camp site, as the Reese children examine his covered wagon. From Salina, Frank drove south — destination Phoenix. Ratliff calls Pritchett, Colo., home. Some 14 years ago, when the drought and dust weakened his lungs, he decided to take to the open road. Since then he has been in all 48 states. The homemade wagon is practically a self-supporting unit. He has three burros pulling it. On them ride a dog, a goat and a Banty rooster. The rooster and goat are tied on, but the dog rides free. "Rooster could, too," says Jack, "but the big trucks keep blowing him off." Trailing alongside are a jack and a Shetland pony. A dozen Banty chickens, riding in a crate behind, keep him supplied with eggs. The goat gives him milk. He bakes his own bread in a homemade stove. Jack travels from 15 to 20 miles a day and expects to hit Phoenix by December 1. To help pay his way he sells cards and burros (he has had colts every year he has been on the road) and participates in various western-type celebrations. Jack plans to go prospecting for gold when he reaches the Arizona desert.

Find Clothing Thought Owned By Slain Girl

WOODSTOCK, Ont. (CP)—Police Wednesday seized articles of a woman's clothing found in a cabin attic near here.

It is believed they may have belonged to Anne Carrier, 22, whose stabbed and nude body was found last Thursday near Morrisburg, Ont.

Police said the clothing was stuffed in the attic as though an attempt had been made to hide it.

Montreal To Be Film Board Site

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent announced Wednesday the government has rejected a city of Ottawa bid to prevent the transfer of the National Film Board from the capital to Montreal.

The prime minister told reporters following a cabinet meeting that representations by the city of Ottawa were considered. He said there will be no change in plans, already authorized by Parliament, to construct a new film board headquarters in Ville St. Laurent, near Montreal, at a cost of about $6,000,000.

"The issue is settled," Mr. St. Laurent said.

The prime minister added that the cabinet's decision would be set out in a letter to be sent to Mayor Charlotte Whitton, who led the city campaign to retain the film board in Ottawa.

Scout Officials Meet To Pick '55 Jamboree Site

REGINA (CP)—Canadian Scout officials meeting here Friday face a knotty problem—where to find a place large enough to supply a tent town of thousands of hearty eaters, and with plenty of trees to keep their knives busy.

The Canadian site for the 1955 international Boy Scout jamboree will be decided by the general council of the Boy Scouts Association of Canada.

The jamboree, the biggest thing in scouting meets, is the eighth to be held—the first in Canada. The seventh was in Austria last summer.

More than 15,000 khaki-clad youngsters from 57 countries are expected to attend. Some jamborees have had more than 50,000.

EXPECT 35 DELEGATES

Among the 35 delegates expected here will be Fred Finlay, Toronto, chief executive commissioner; Col. George Simmons, Ottawa, executive commissioner for administration, and Jackson Dodds, Montreal, deputy chief scout for Canada.

Mr. Finlay, secretary of the Bank of Nova Scotia, recently succeeded Maj.-Gen. D. C. Spry, now director of the Boy Scouts Association international bureau in London.

The meeting's main business will centre on naming the international site. Delegates also will discuss plans for the second Canadian rover moot, a meeting of senior scouts to be held this year.

There are minutes of previous meetings to be reviewed along with reports on the Canadian scout contingent to the Coronation and Canadian jamborees this year.

Tribute will be paid the late W. L. Currier of Ottawa, deputy chief executive commissioner, who died earlier this year.

EXECUTIVES of the American Hotel Association enjoyed a Western breakfast when they gathered for the pre-convention sessions of their meeting at Montreal. Left to right in the serving line are Arthur J. Packard, president of the AHA; A. B. Gislason, manager of the hotel department of Swift and Company, Chicago, who were the hosts, and William W. Faw, of St. Augustine, Florida.

Would Keep Controls

TORONTO (CP)—Board of control announced Wednesday it will ask Premier Frost to discuss the possibility of the province's continuing rent controls in a modified form. One member of the board proposed that the province be asked to review its stand and decontrol rents gradually.

Elected Moderator

TORONTO (CP)—Rev. James N. Milroy, minister of Rogers Memorial Presbyterian Church here, was elected Tuesday as moderator of the Toronto and Kingston synod of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. He succeeds Rev. J. L. Burgess, until recently minister of the Presbyterian church at Elmvale, Ont.

Little Helpers Give Annual Donation

MILLBROOK (ENS)—The annual service for the St. Thomas' Branch of the Little Helpers was conducted by the rector, the Rev. L. R. Pocock on Saturday afternoon.

Special children's prayers and hymns were offered. Mr. Pocock emphasized lessons from one of the parables of the goodness of the seed and of the various qualities of soil upon which it fell. The Little Helpers then took their mite boxes to the chancel steps putting them into white baskets. These were taken by three of the older boys to the sanctuary where they were presented by the rector and placed on the altar.

After the service there was a brief play period outside under the leadership of Mr. A. J. Ball. Then all gathered in the parish hall where afternoon tea was served to the mothers by members of the WA, with Miss Ellen Kent as convener. While the Little Helpers enjoyed their refreshments a flannelgraph story by Mrs. Pocock for children delighted old and young alike. It showed vividly in the story of the flood the goodness of God and the two fold response of Noah. Noah built an altar for himself and his family and they offered the best that they had, but the offering was not complete without the promise of loving obedience to God.

French Film Has Renewed Capital Punishment Debate

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — With impeccable timing, a motion picture about capital punishment has hit London hot on the heels of a sizzling political debate—about capital punishment.

Just as thoughtful citizens were pondering a royal commission report on how modern civilization should punish its killers, along came the angry French film 'Are We All Murderers?' to start what assuredly will be a long run at the Curzon cinema in sophisticated Mayfair.

This is strong stuff, so strong British censors cut out one scene indicating that condemned men, unable to walk to the guillotine because their feet are tied, have to be hauled along. The picture was directed by Andre Cayatte, an ex-lawyer who felt his colleagues worried too much about law and too little about justice.

The theme of Are We All Murderers? — the French title "Nous Sommes Tous des Assassins" eliminates the question mark—is that murder usually has its roots in society's own imperfections. Thus Cayatte's slayers are an illiterate who learned to kill in the French resistance, a vendetta murderer, a slum dweller driven mad by his child's crying, a man who could have been cured by an operation and one who may not have been guilty at all.

These five are in the same cell, electric lights beating down on them, sleeping with wrists chained, waiting for the dread moment when warders in stocking feet will fling open the door and prepare the victim for execution, while an official speaks sepulchrally of the desirability of being brave. This ritual, followed by the straggling procession down the hall to the execution block, involves, as one critic observed, squeezing out of a grim situation "its last bitter relish."

FIND FILM STIMULATING

British writers found the film harsh, melodramatic in spots but tremendously stimulating. Dilys Powell in the Sunday Times called it "extradordinary." And Cayatte himself later had an experience in real life which resembled an incident in his film. A railway clerk told him of a factory worker in the same apartment distressed by his children crying. The authorities were advised but said they could do nothing. Then the man killed a child, and the apparatus of society swiftly went into action.

Are We All Murderers? has a special appeal in Britain and France, the only two countries in Western Europe which retain the death penalty. It has already made a great impact in France, where a critic placed it among the year's five best films, and it will certainly add to the arguments in Britain, which now is mulling over the recommendations of the royal commission. This report notes among other things that hanging, the standard method of capital punishment in Britain "leaves the body with the neck elongated," making it unsuitable for return to relatives.

WELLAND (CP)—Deputy reeve Clifford Bigger of Crowland won the "warden's class" at the annual Welland county plowing match here Wednesday. Deputy reeve Clarenc Lambert of Wainfleet was second. Louis Schneider of Welland too the jointer-plows-in-sod section an Ray Schneider, also of Welland won the no-handling-in-sod group.

THERE IS NONE BETTER!

Barbara Brent's BUYS AND WHYS
A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, October 22nd — "Put on the right clothes—then forget them!", a famous designer said to me the other day. "It's not a matter of money that makes you look well-dressed, but a sense of rightness!" . . . Made me think of the unbeatable combination of skirts and sweaters (or blouses!) and how right they are for any occasion —with LIGHTNING FASTENERS to give the skirt that sleekness of line you want. Whether you make it in velvet or plaids; in corduroy or flannel—use a Lightning Fastener—and feel right about the whole thing! Action's smooth as silk—yet secret automatic lock is ever-sure. Pass-word to skirt triumph is: "Lightning No. 805—7 inch size please".

Nothing's Too Good . . . for the best baby in the world! That's the way I felt about mine—and I know you're just the same. And the best . . . makes me think of FARLEY'S RUSKS . . . made from the finest English wheat flour (sugar-sweetened for quick food energy and appealing flavour)—and fortified with the calcium and phosphorus which is so valuable in bone and tooth development. During teething time, how baby loves Farley's Rusks . . . they comfort his tender gums, give them the exercise they need to help those teeth come thru'. So buy . . . and try . . . Farley's Rusks—and the favourite of English mothers will soon be your favourite, too! You'll see Farley's in good food stores, everywhere, in the yellow package with the ceilophane top.

If Your Youngsters are dressed warmly, they won't mind the cold weather. So, for lots of healthy, outdoor play this winter, I'd like to recommend VICEROY RUBBER SNOW MITTENS. They're fleece-lined with extra-long wristing for added protection. But, best of all, they're dipped in latex (rubber in its purest form) to keep water, snow and wind out . . . warmth in. And the latex stays pliable in the coldest of weather. And here's good news, mother!—because Viceroy Mittens are waterproof, there's no need for you to have several soggy pairs of mittens drying after outdoor play. Look for Viceroy Mittens in red or brown (some with Cowboy or Indian designs) and in sizes small, medium, large and now extra large for junior adults.

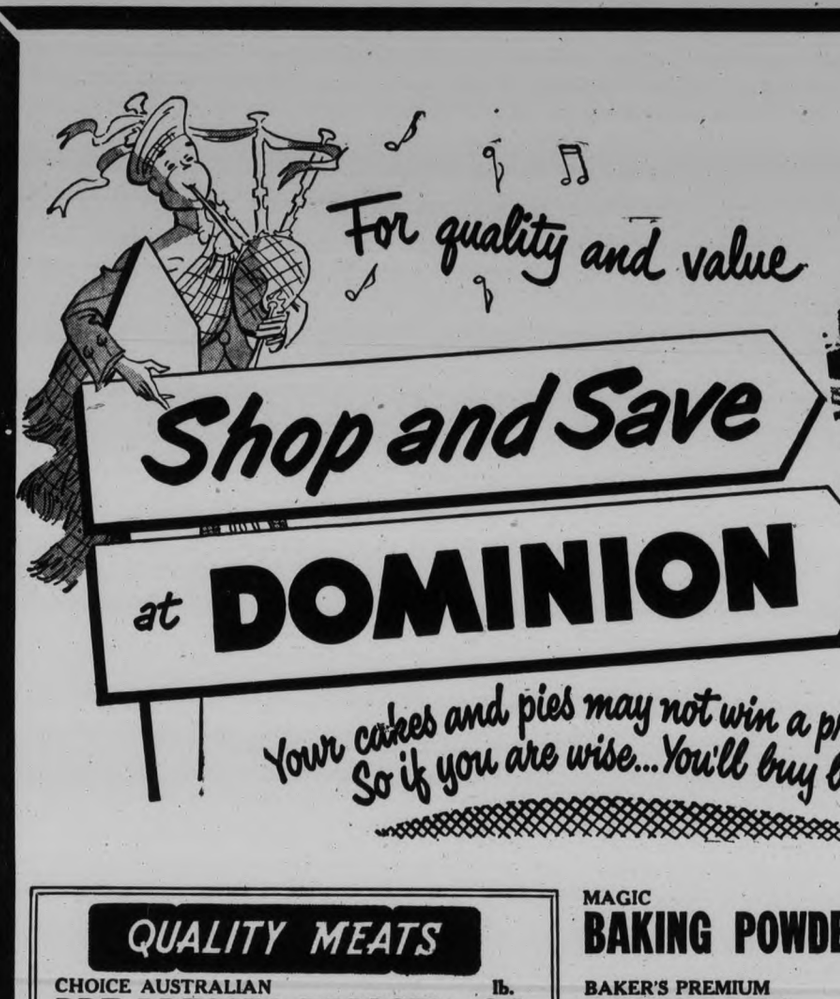
Hold On To Romance with both hands! . . . by keeping them young and lovely with JERGENS LOTION. Prove for yourself how good this pure, white, liquid lotion is . . . when used regularly after the new detergents—or any harsh cleanser. You can see the problem detergents bring—even though they are so effective. The very same chemicals which enable them to cut into grime and dissolve grease—have a way of dissolving the natural oils and youthful softness of your hands! So smo-o-o-o-th on Jergens Lotion right away! It contains two wonder-working ingredients doctors use for softening! In a wink, they penetrate and help to replace the softening moisture your hands need! Use Jergens Lotion—avoid detergent hands. 15c, 37c, 65c, $1.15.

Ah Choo! I hope you're not catching a cold . . . but if you are, here's good news. Mentholatum brings fast relief to dry, stuffy nostrils . . . soothes an aching head. Simply spread it liberally inside each nostril and sniff well back. See how it relieves the irritated membranes—eases the stuffiness. And for that aching head of yours—rub Mentholatum gently on the temples and forehead. Mentholatum, with its combination of fast-acting ingredients in a bland, soothing base, relieves many discomforts. That's why I insist on always having a jar of MENTHOLATUM handy in my medicine cabinet.

Ran Head-on Into A Crisis Last Week . . . The Boss came to dinner — unexpectedly — and nothing planned! I felt panic, for a moment, and then remembered my ever-ready shelf of HEINZ CONDENSED SOUPS. Served him hot Chicken Consommé with a little chopped parsley added at the last moment. Made a curry of the veal cutlet with Heinz Condensed Cream of Celery Soup to give it that added "something special" my husband expects of me. Dinner was a great success. It's a wise woman who keeps a supply of the flavourful Heinz Condensed Soups, always on hand. Apart from Soups that will delight the family . . . they're wonderful for sauces, casseroles, meat loaf or dressings!

Busy Day Ahead? . . . then build for energy with a piping hot bowl of "CREAM OF WHEAT" at breakfast. 5 Minute "Cream of Wheat" cooks to delicious smoothness in five minutes—and gets you and your family off to a quick start. Top your hot "Cream of Wheat" with brown sugar . . . with golden bananas . . . or with strawberry jam . . . and watch the family go for it! Good to know that they're getting iron in their favorite cereal . . . iron to build red blood, together with calcium and phosphorus for diets deficient in these elements. A good hot breakfast—means a good day—and there's nothing more effective than a delicious hot bowl of "Cream of Wheat" . . . for everyone!

We All Need Help With The Housework—don't we? I depend a great deal on the efficiency of BIG 5 CLEANSER . . . and believe you will too, once you've used the new improved cleanser. The modern and unique method of production brings such a saving that Big 5 Cleanser which is tops in quality—costs only half as much as you'd expect to pay! For pots and pans, sinks, bathtubs, linoleum and all porcelain surfaces—Big 5 Cleanser is a wonder-worker! You'll find it polishes while it cleans. (And do try odorless javel powder—made by Big 5—safe for silks, nylons, rayons and even woolens. Disinfects and softens water too!)



There's No Telling When The Cold Bug May Bite You . . . especially now that the weather is so changeable. If you're a victim do try FACE-ELLE tissue handkerchiefs. They won't cure your cold but they'll go a long way towards making it bearable because they're so soft and kind to your poor old nose. They're more absorbent too, and as for strength . . . well! Face-elle makes the only THREE-ply tissues in Canada! But be sure you get genuine Face-elle! Don't let the habitual use of any other brand name keep you from enjoying the extra comfort of Face-elle. Just say "Face-elle please" . . . Wonderful for removing make-up and for dozens of other uses too!

Twenty-Six Big Cash Prizes Every Week—are given in BLUE BONNET'S thrilling CHRISTMAS CASH contest! Think of it—each week a prize of $500; of $200; of $100; with 5 prizes of $50 and 18 prizes of $25! Famed Detective Of B.C. Passes

VANCOUVER (CP) — Forbes Cruickshank, one of British Columbia's most famous detectives, died here Tuesday. He was 86.

Mr. Cruickshank won international fame for his work in solving the notorious "Beryl G" hijacking and murder case in 1924 and was given credit for clearing up a $42,000 Nanaimo, B.C., bank robbery the following year.

The Beryl G, a small boat running rum between Canada and the United States, was found floating off the coast of Washington state in 1924, its decks covered with bloodstains. The owner, Capt. George Gillis, and his son Bill, 17, were missing.

With only a camera and a hat as clues, Mr. Cruickshank, then an inspector with the B.C. provincial police, started an investigation that took him through the slums of Seattle and across the continent.

His work resulted in the capture of Owen (Cannonball) Baker and Harry Sowash. They were convicted of murdering Capt. Gillis and hanged here in 1935.

Dutton Family Wins Prizes At Plow Meet

ST. THOMAS (CP)—It was family day at the annual plowing match of the Elgin County Association Wednesday.

Mrs. Allan Brown of Dutton took second place in the women's division and her three sons, Kenneth, Murray and Gerald, finished first in the St. Thomas Kiwanis Club for junior farmers under 16 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Prong of Aylmer and their son Ronald also competed in different classes and Mr. Prong was champion for the day.

QUEEN WILL VISIT—This is typical of the rough, rolling country in New South Wales, Australia, which will be visited next February by the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh during their round-the-world tour. Two riders cross a huge wool station, or ranch, and ride beneath an old eucalyptus tree. The rolling country gives way at intervals to the grassy plains which support one of Australia's biggest agricultural industries, mutton and wool.

Australian Women Critical Of Royal Train Term It "Museum Piece"

By RICK STEVENS

SYDNEY (Reuters)—The "museum piece" Royal train to be used by the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh during the New South Wales section of their tour of Australia has roused a storm of protest here.

Critics, mostly women, claim that the coach in which the Royal visitors are expected to travel is "uncomfortable" and in "shockingly bad taste."

The coach was built 53 years ago for the Queen's grandfather, the late King George V, when, as Duke of Cornwall and York, he visited Australia to open the first federal parliament May 9, 1901.

The New South Wal s transport authorities who are responsible for refurbishing the coach for the forthcoming trip claim the train will provide "the last word in comfort."

The same coach was used by the Duke of Windsor, when as Prince of Wales he visited Australia in 1920. Later, it was used by Queen Elizabeth's father and mother, the late King George VI and the present Queen Mother, when, as the Duke and Duchess of York, they visited Canberra to open the federal parliament buildings in 1927.

Successive governors - general, including the Duke of Gloucester, have used it sincem

AMPLE BUT OUTMODED

Refurbished, the coach will have a main bedroom suite and two other suites, each with bathroom attached, lounge, dining room and small kitchen. The three suites will be enamelled in cream with gold lines.

Fittings will be gold - plated. Blinds, carpets and cushions will be Royal blue.

But critics describe the dining room furniture as straight out of a fruity melodrama." The furniture in the lounge, they say, is "clumsy and out of scale," while the bedcovers, curtains and blinds are "gloomily suburban." They object also that the electric fans fitted to the walls are no substitute for air conditioning.

Whatever the Queen thinks of the train, she will have to spend only seven or eight hours travelling in it. She will make only two short journeys of about 243 miles in all. The rest of her tour of New South Wales will be by air and road.

Their flying program will take them about 10,000 miles. The Queen's willingness to fly will make it possible for her to see the sprawling "outback" as well as the capital cities. Most of the time, the Queen and the Duke will fly in a special Royal Australian Air Force Dakota airliner.

The silver twin-engined aircraft will have a lounge and observation cabin decorated in the Queen's favorite colors. It will be piloted by a Royal Australian Air Force crew headed by Sqdn. Ldrm J. G. Cornish.

Wherever it goes a "ghost" Dakota will follow, ready to take over in case the Royal plane is held up.

The Royal couple will make 35 flights in all, the longest single hop being a little more than 1,000 miles from Adelaide, in South Australia, to Kalgoorlie, in western Australia. On their only overwater flight, from Launceston, Tasmania, to Melbourne, Victoria, a four - engined flying boat will be used.

On their visit to the great barrier reef, off Queensland, the Royal pair will travel in a glass-bottomed boat which will enable them to see the multi-colored coral and marine life.

Insanity Causes Much Lost Time

MONTREAL (CP)—Health Minister Martin said Wednesday that mental illness accounts for more lost time in Canada than tuberculosis, cancer and poliomyelitis combined.

Mr. Martin spoke at the official opening of a new wing of the Allan Memorial Institute of Psychiatry, a part of Royal Victoria Hospital and widely known for having developed the day-hospital principle under which patients may come for treatment from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The minister said there are nearly 60,000 patients in mental hospitals across Canada.

"In spite of our vigorous preventative efforts, mental illness is still one of Canada's most serious health problems. I am told that in Canada one person in 10 suffers from some form of emotional disturbance at one time or other."

Dr. D. Ewen Cameron, AMI director, said that last year some 20,000 patient-days of treatment were given by the institute.

Turnkey Quotes Confession

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—A jail turnkey Wednesday quoted George Nelson, 23, on trial for murder in the death of his 20-year-old wife, as saying he hit her with a crank handle.

Allan Ritchie testified that Nelson hammered on the front door of the jail early July 17 and told him: "I think I have killed my wife."

He said he asked Nelson if he had had an accident. He said Nelson replied:

"I did not have an accident, I hit her with a crank handle."

Ritchie said he admitted Nelson and saw blood on his hands and shirt. He asked another turnkey to call police.

Constable Earl Fare said he examined a car in front of the jail and found in it the battered body of a woman.

The woman died soon afterwards in hospital.

20 Neighbors Aid Polio-Stricken Farmer

WOODSTOCK, Ont. (CP)—Dust swirled into the air at Springbank farm, Woodstock, Wednesday as neighbors rallied to assist a young navy veteran who is down on his luck.

Tractors roared and plows clanked as some 20 plowmen gathered at the farm to do the fall plowing for Tom Dent Jr., who is confined to hospital in London with polio.

MISSING CHOPPERS

MONTREAL (CP)—J. J. Aubrey said it was bad enough when a thief stole such articles from his parked car as a camera, topcoat, pen and pencil set and candy. But he would like the thief to return his false teeth.

NOTIFIED POLICE — The quick thinking of a young Montreal lad, 16-year-old Royal Brochu, led to the arrest of three youthful suspects to the fatal beating of a cab driver in the Metropolis. Royal was riding his bicycle and as he passed the parked taxi he noticed a struggle going on in the car. He followed the suspects after they fled the stalled auto and rode on ahead to notify the police. Later he aided the police in identifying the trio who got away with $2.50. Cab driver Robert Taylor, father of 10 children, received the fatal beating with an 18-inch lead pipe.

MARRIED 60 YEARS and still enjoying their life are Mr. and Mrs. George Benton, 782 Water St. Mr. Benton retired when he was 48, but has kept active during the intervening 31 years with his flowers and varied other activities.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Mr. and Mrs. George Benton Celebrate 60th Anniversary

Geordge Benton and his wife decided shortly after they were married that when Mr. Benton reached the age of 50 he would retire. He improved on that ambitious target by two years.

He retired 31 years ago and this week Mr. and Mrs. Benton celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary at their home at 782 Water St.

The Bentons had set themselves quite a goal. Mr. Benton was a lathe operator who had not completed his apprenticeship. The day after they were married, he had 20 cents in his pocket and his next payday drew his usual $5.

By their own admission the Bentons have been lucky and "God has been good to us." The only time Mrs. Benton was treated by a doctor was when their son, George, was born. Mr. Benton, too, has required the attention of a doctor only once.

Mr. Benton was born May 6, 1874 in the home at 287 Dalhousie St. that still stands. His parents were George and Maria Benton. His wife was born the same year in Port Hope, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Pilling. When she was still a girl, her father, who was an engineer on the Grand Trunk railway, brought his family to Peterborough.

MARRIED AT HOME

Mr. Benton started his apprenticeship as a lathe operator with the Peter Hamilton company in 1891. Two years later the couple were married in the bride's home by the Rev. John Trotter of Murray Street Baptist Church.

At the end of his apprenticeship he went to work at the CGE. At one time, James E. Girven who is now manager of the motor and generator department of apparatus division boarded with them while he served his apprenticeship. In 1913 Mr. Benton thought he would like to move his family to California where a brother was living. But they returned to Peterborough a year later and Mr. Benton returned to the CGE where he was put to work on the same lathe he had left. He spent 10 years on that job and then switched to work for the William Hamilton company until the fall of 1921 when he retired from regular work, at the age of 48. While he worked he saved and invested in real estate which hastened the day when he was able to retire.

He has kept busy in those years of retirement however. He works as a clerk for auctioneer J. H. Miles to keep himself active. He is also an active gardener and for many years was an active member of the Peterborough Horticultural Society. He still attends meetings.

When he was eight years old his parents first took him to the market building situated behind the old city hall that was torn down in 1951.

He helped them sell flowers and has been doing it ever since which makes him surely one of the oldest salesmen on the market.

BUTCHERS' ARCADE

He recalls that there was an arcade in the market building of those days and almost all the city's butchers sold their meat from stalls in the arcade. Three pounds of tenderloin could be bought for 25 cents.

Mr. Benton has specialised in perennials and rock garden plants and Mrs. Benton who is as enthusiastic a gardener as her husband has grown many flowers in their home.

Mr. Benton, a life-long Conservative, has taken an active interest in politics. For several provincial elections in recent years he has served as assistant to District Returning Officer, Douglas Lawrie.

Besides her interest in flowers Mrs. Benton has made a hobby of antiques. She began collecting antiques when she was a girl. Often she was urged to sell many of her items and in 1945 she was persuaded to begin offering them for sale.

The Bentons live in the present. Just this year they were presented with the horticultural prize for the best rock garden in the city. They have won many prizes and awards in exhibitions with their flowers through the years.

Mrs. Benton at one time was active in the Park St. Baptist Church and years ago was president of the Children's Aid Society and the city's old age pension board and the mother's allowance board as well as being active in the Big Sisterhood which did welfare work in the city.

The couple have one son, George, who works as a member of the office staff of the Eastwood Construction Co. One grandchild, Miss Katherine Benton is a teacher in the Lakefield Public School.

Have they enjoyed their life so far, and do they have any regrets? A comment of Mr. Benton's answers both questions, "If I had the chance, I'd do it all over again."

Bear, Two Cubs Shot In Tree

WARSAW (ENS) —Two Dummer township men shot a large bear and two cubs in a tree on Monday within a mile of Warsaw.

Stan Payne and Ralph Edwards were driving cattle home from the summer range. As they approached the jog in the road at the corner of Hilliard Edward's farm, they saw three bears in a large elm tree.

Payne and Edwards kept as far as possible from the tree as they went past and drove the cattle to Hilliard Edward's. There they got a rifle each and returned to the elm tree. Payne killed two bears and Edwards shot the other while they were still in the tree.

It is believed they were the bears that molested Percy Drain's small pigs a week ago. Four more bears were killed in North Dummer last weekend.

WI Euchre Party

TRENT RIVER (ENS) — The Women's Institute held the first of a series of progressive euchre parties in the community hall on Friday night when eleven tables were played.

Prize winners were, Mrs. James Cook, Francis Ruttan, Ted Watson, Havelock and Mrs. H. T. Scott, Campbellford.

The main feature of the evening was the draw on the daffodil quilt, which was the prize winning quilt at the district annual in Norwood. Mrs. Bill Parcels, RR 2, Havelock, was the winner.

Wage Strike

CARCASSONE, France (AP) — At the request of management and labor, police today occupied the Salsigne gold mines in southern France. Workers demanding higher wages walked out Wednesday. The gold miners are asking the same pay as coal miners in the region and 4,000 francs ($11.42) in monthly indemnity pay pending settlement of the dispute.

Trade With Russia

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Two Danish freighters were loaded today with goods destined for Vladivostock, the first shipment under a new $150,000,000 trade agreement between Argentina and Russia. The cargo consisted of 1,200 tons of pork, 1,200 tons of lamb and 63,313 boxes of butter.

Ship Destroyed

VERA CRUZ, Mexico (AP)—All 11 of the crew of the coastal freighter Constanti managed to swim ashore after their ship caught fire Wednesday. The ship was destroyed.

Britain Purchases £1,000,000 In Cheese

LONDON (Reuters)—The British government announced Wednesday night that it has bought £1,000,000 worth of cheese from the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association.

Maj. Gwilym Lloyd-George, food minister, added in a statement that he is glad it has proved possible despite current balance-of-payment difficulties to agree to this purchase "of a commodity of which Canada had traditionally been a valued source of supply for the United Kingdom."

The deal will provide Britain with about 10,000,000 pounds of cheese—a little more than is needed to provide a two-ounce ration for everybody for one week.

DOROTHY DIX

Says He Was Led To Altar Told To Change Attitude

DEAR MISS DIX: Several months ago I began dating a young lady, never realizing that she was more interesting in me than I in her. My friends warned me that I was being led to the altar, and the next thing I knew—there I was. Optimistically, I thought I would become attached to her, but that's not the way things have turned out. Although she is a considerate, loving wife, and a good housekeeper, I have no affection for her. Now we are to have a child, and still my feeling for my wife hasn't changed. I will do my best in the role of father, but every day I become more frustrated, more bitter.

NICKY

THREE WAYS OUT

ANSWER: When faced with a bad situation there are three things you can do: continue to rail against fate for putting you on the spot, do something drastic to solve your plight, or decide to face it and work out the best way of living with conditions as they exist. You are now in the midst of the first possibility and obviously not finding it very satisfactory. The second suggestion out of the dilemma can scarcely be expected to give more satisfaction. Certainly you don't want to miss the satisfaction of fatherhood. Therefore, we come to number three, which is the mature, adult way of handling your tangled affairs.

The fact that you entered matrimony with something less than wholehearted enthusiasm doesn't necessarily mean that you are doomed to a hoepless union. Your wife apparently loves you, is thoroughly cognizant of your needs, and concerned with your welfare.

Why not try a bit of co-operation instead of straining at the bit? With the arrival of your expected child your entire outlook on life may change. Since you couldn't very well leave your wife now anyway, do try to change your own attitude and give her a fair chance to show you what happiness marriage can hold.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My nerves are being wrecked by the situation in which I find myself. My husband works away from home, and I am alone with a small child and a male relative of my husband's. I don't have a minute's privacy with this man interferring with everything. He watches me work, listens to every phone call, is present whenever a neighbor drops in for a visit.

W. S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The man represents a potential danger to your reputation, if nothing else, and I think this point should be stressed to your husband. It's unfair for any husband to put his wife in a situation that's so objectionable to her. No matter how much your husband thinks of his relative, there's no reason for you to put up with an unbearable annoyance.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm going steady with a boy of 19 who is in service. While on leave he became engaged to another girl, but tells me he doesn't love her as much as he does me. Is he sincere?

JOYCE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Most certainly not, Joyce. Your young man is out to win as many feminine hearts as possible. He's too young to know what he wants, and will probably go on as he is for another year or two. Don't take him seriously and you won't be hurt.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband just doesn't want to grow up and take on his responsibilities as head of the family. All week long he has the comforts of a well-kept home, and a cheerful, loving wife. Then on weekends he expects the freedom of going out with the boys, drinking and dancing. He doesn't want me along on these night-clubbing expeditions, insisting that I'd only be spoiling his good times. Most of his associates on these sprees are single, or divorced people. I feel the best solution for us would be to live our own lives, while continuing to share the home. He doesn't like the idea of my going out, yet claims that his own relaxation depends on going out alone. Should I allow him to continue along these lines, or insist on going along with him, or try to make him stay home more often? We have three children and have been married for ten years.

S. G. V.

HIS MERRY WEEK-ENDS

ANSWER: What your husband lacks in domesticity he makes up for with a silver tongue that apparently bemuses you into believing anything. You say he likes to spend his weekends with the boys, yet one of the amusements on these recreational bouts is dancing. Just who is fooling whom? It seems to be his conviction that parking your week's allowance on the table constitutes a fulfillment of all his family obligation and you are aiding and abetting him by compliantly accepting his dictum. You have the type man who will get away with anything he can, and you are giving him plenty of scope. Following the lines into which your marriage has been routed will end with complete loss of your children's respect for you both. They will resent their father's continued absence, and your own acceptance of it. Try eliminating some of the home comforts until dad contributes his share of matrimonial responsibilities. His childish dodging of shouldering chores isn't doing any good. As with a child, a little firmness will set him in a more conventional pattern. Better exercise firmness if you want to save your marriage.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: After an unfortunate first marriage, contracted when I was very young, I married a wonderful man and we have five children. I have one child from the first union, and she is my problem. She is now 15 years old and though she lives with her father, she would rather be with me, where she would have a good home. Our children are well brought up and are getting proper schooling. How can I arrange to have my daughter?

Mrs. Hazel W.

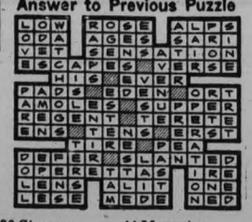
✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The problem should be taken up with a lawyer, or the court that awarded custody to the father. If her father is good to her, it's doubtful if you can regain her, but if she is unhappy with him, or there is any indication of neglect, the custody order may be reversed. The girl is almost old enough to come to you of her own accord, so even if she isn't permitted to live with you for a while, patience will soon settle everything for you both.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm in love with a boy, 22, but recently learned that he hasn't been true to me. Should I continue to go with him?

Brenda



✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If you can't trust a young man as a friend, you can scarcely expect fidelity from him as a husband. I doubt if he's worth continuing the friendship.

✧ ✧ ✧

Mr. and Mrs. Harold McMahon of 565 Riverside Drive have returned home from a motor trip to Halifax where they spent five weeks with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jack McMahon.

✧ ✧ ✧

Mrs. Ross Moore was the guest soloist at the Trinity WMS Thankoffering meeting Tuesday afternoon. She sang "We Thank Thee" and "Count Your Blessings" with piano accompaniment by Mrs. H. A. Mitchell.

✧ ✧ ✧

Chi Rho Fellowship Group of St. John's Anglican Church met in the parish hall Tuesday evening. Mr. Harold Chate gave an interesting talk on his recent four-months visit in England. Refreshments were served by Miss Margaret Dainton.

✧ ✧ ✧

Winners of the draw prizes at the Kinettes' bridge and fashion show Wednesday evening, which included a lovely sweater and gifts of perfume and cosmetics, were Miss A. R. McNabb, Miss Mary McKee, Miss E. Hetherington, Mrs. Edith Pue, Mrs. Ross Armstrong, Mrs. Bruce Taylor and Miss Mary Greer. Each of the more than 600 guests attending received a small lipstick in an exciting new shade.

✧ ✧ ✧

Gail Abramsky, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Abramsky of 482 Gordon Avenue, celebrated her fourth birthday Wednesday, October 21st, with a party. Her guests were Jackaline Smith, Carolyn Katz, Barbara Collis, Stephen Schacher, Shelley Swartz, Karen and Teddy Golumbia, Eleanor Zachs, Anita Gishman, Louis and Melvin Karp and Arlene and David Abramsky.

✧ ✧ ✧

The Kinettes' bride and fashion show, held on Wednesday evening at Club Aragon, is being highly acclaimed as a pleasurable event by their guests. The convener of the show was Mrs. William Godson, ably assisted by the president Mrs. Cameron Craig. Mrs. Howard Powell was responsible for the tickets, Mrs. Norman Buzzell for the draw prizes and Miss Audrey Oliver for the favors. The decorating, to provide a quite charming woodsy fall setting on the stage and down the 60-foot runway for the models, was the work of Mrs. Harvey Ball. Mrs. George Ball had charge of the ushering. A former Kinette, Mrs. Maurice Holt, was commentator for the show, and Kinettes expressed their appreciation to her in a gift. Flowers were presented to Mrs. Myer Levine, co-ordinator of the show.

Named Director

KITCHENER (CP) — Bishop William J. Smith of Pembroke Tuesday night was named national director of the Catholic Women's League of Canada. He was formerly Ontario provincial director and succeeds Bishop J. C. Cody of London, Ontoria, who has held the post for the last five years.

Entertain Group

George Street Church Federation entertained the members of Trinity Federation at the meeting Monday evening which opened with a poem and an expression of welcome by president Mrs. George Gatfield. Scripture selection was read by Mrs. L. McDougall and prayer offered by Mrs. C. McBride. Mrs. James Goldie sang "In the Garden of My Heart" and "At Sundown." Guest speaker was Miss Greta Clark, returned missionary from China after 30 years service, who was introduced by her friend Miss Isabel Connolly, also a guest, who was introduced by Miss Gladys Walker. Miss Clark was thanked by Mrs. Stan Johnston. Lunch was served by Mrs. Howard Allison and her committee.

Boate, 171 Antrim St. Ann Merritt is convener of the Home Baking table, Carolyn Ball in charge of Leather craft and Mary Sutton convener of the Candy Table.

The Treasurer will be Rosemany Deyell, Baby sitting services will be looked after by Dianne McNamee. Plans were made to decorate the Parish Hall for the church bazaar. Beth Conley was asked to have the basket ball repaired for immediate use. Badge and chevron studies will commence soon and members plan to take drama, mission study, Dorcas, handicraft and Bible study.

Supper Circle

An overflowing horn-of-plenty attractively centred the table for the meeting of Trinity Supper Circle held in the ladies parlour of Trinity United Church, Monday evening. Mrs. Donald Hess and her group were in charge of arrangements for the buffet supper. Mrs. S. Thomas, and Misses N. Moffatt, B. Hutton and H. Thompson assisted Mrs. Hess in the worship service. The program dealt with the resistance, relief reconstruction and reconciliation of the Christian churches in Europe during and since World War II. Miss Helen Thompson presided for business. A completed layette, to be forwarded to a mission station in Northern British Columbia, was on display. Mrs. K. Lee, Mrs. S. Thomas and Miss J. Lynch were appointed nominating committee to present a slate of officers for 1954 at November meeting. Miss Catharine Hodgens told something of the work of Miss Anne Coppethorne, a United Church missionary in Angola who has been adopted for special prayer by the Circle. Orders for Missionary Monthly subscriptions were requested at an early date.

Thankoffering Meeting

The United Thank-Offering meeting of the afternoon branch of All Saints' WA was held Tuesday in the newly decorated WA room with Mrs. Howard Clark presiding. The meeting opened with singing "Praise, O Praise Our God and King" followed by thanksgiving prayers. The Bible reading was taken by Mrs. P. Perley and the Litany was led by Mrs. L. Barry. A solo. "The Lord Is My Shepherd" was beautifully rendered by Mrs. C. E. Hobbs, accompanied by Mrs. J. Hardill. Mrs. R. Price introduced the speaker, Miss Greta Clark, a former Chinese missionary. She told of the work of some of the spiritual women in China who are carrying on and glorifying God. A vote of thanks was expressed by Mrs. J. Carroll. The dorcas secretary reported two bales of clothing had been sent to Toronto and an afghan is being sent to Strachan Houses for their bazaar. Little helpers party will be held on November 12th in the parish hall. The collection amounted to $110. Mrs. P. Hughes and helpers served refreshments at the close.

Mission Band Gives $67.60

Nettie McKenzie Mission Band of Knox Church met in the assembly hall with 38 members present for the Autumn Thankoffering meeting.

Leroy Sarginson, president, was in the chair and secretary Evelyn Simpson read minutes of the previous meeting. Treasurer, Nadine McGregor reported that $67.60 total money-gifts have been paid to the Presbyterian treasurer. Mrs. D. Richardson called the roll.

Visitors to the mission band were Mrs. H. Clegg, president of the afternoon WMS, Mrs. R. Laing, secretary of younger groups and Mrs. E. Mesley, secretary of the afternoon WMS. Mrs. Clegg and Mrs. Laing spoke briefly to the children, complimenting them for their contributions to the towel kit and the good work they are doing. The worship service was conducted by Mrs. R. Hanscom with Susan Sharpe and Louise Mahood as the "Inseparable Twins" who read scripture and took up the offering. Gordon Sarginson read a "thank you" poem. Candles were lighted by Charles and Wallace McCracken. Mrs. C. Ross was pianist. The meeting was closed with the mission band credo.

Exciting New Fashions, Luxurious In Style Presented In Kinette Show

One of the very nicest fashion shows presented for a Peterborough audience was viewed with pleasure by more than 600 women Wednesday evening. It was sponsored by the Kinette Club and held at Club Aragon where tables were set up for an hour of bridge beforehand.

Clothes were exceptional—specially selected for this occasion by Mrs. Myer Levine and carefully co-ordinated with the most enchanting hats by Miss Olga Haskill. Beautiful jewellery and gloves were the finishing accessories.

The show ran exactly 55 minutes, and 10 minutes was taken out by Kinettes to award the handsome prizes donated to them.

It might have been arranged by that worn but still true advice to those who want to be slim — slim enough to wear fashions such as were shown — "always leave the table hungry." This show left you wanting to see more of it.

All the latest fashion edicts were included: "little fur" touches, best loved in a small-round collar of white ermine on a black wool suit having the new Empire bodice front, a full bloused back, and dolman sleeves with tiny cuffs; the "lantern sleeve", like huge puffs, on a clever late day dress of black polished satin; the "teaser skirt" in a billowing bell pouff on a midnight blue taffeta, swept up in front over a frivolous frou frou crinoline of ruffled pink net, for the cocktail hour and dancing dates; and many others.

The tiny cocktail hats were most intriguing, and definitely flattering both to the growns and to the wearers. The featured one was a glistening bird, sparkling with sequins and rhinestones, and a wisp of veil. The others, bejewelled and veiled too, could also be adapted to afternoon wear. They were in velvet, fur felt, velour and feathers, the colors delicately toned.

Of course there were very attractive hats teamed with the coats, suits and wool dresses. Outstanding among these was a "beaver" hat to complete the season's top suit fashion in a bulky brown tweed jacket with a pencil slim black skirt which was topped with a weskit of black velveteen. The hat worn with the ermine collared suit was a white feather poke bonnet. The "pixie hat" in turquoise velvet was just the right foil for a purple Paisley print dress which was notable also for the fabric—sheer silk and wool with a delightful "feel."

First on the show were the most necessary ingredients to a Canadian's fall and winter wardrobe—the coats. The first one shown was a black charcoal great-coat having a sweeping shawl collar of moss green, featuring shaggy wool tufts of a lighter shade of green. Lavish fur trim of mink-toned muskrat was on a muted blue casual coat. But the one that really caught attention was the "dandy coat", reminiscent of the flapper days, but strictly modern in fabric — a combination of fur and wool — dyed "action red" and made in the chesterfield style with black velvet collar.

Professional models presenting this show jauntily carried umbrellas with some of these coats. And for those quick on the uptake, they offered numerous fashion tips such as new places to wear your rhinestone pin — on the shoulder tip, at the back, holding up the hemline just a little, or as a star on the fur muff.

As the "fashions around the clock" moved to the tea hour, there was a rustle of black taffeta in a dress with jewelled inner bodice of pink silk shantung rising out of the wide scooped neckline. Then came the popular wool jersey bodice with velvet touches atop a skirt of mohair such as was used in the Victorian era, this one stiched with velvet ribbon and braid banding and swinging out over taffeta and a crinoline.

(Crinolines were under most of the after-5 gowns, or else the skirts were carefully interlined and stiffened like the glamorous eggshell satin that had side paniers and a full swirling back sweeping from the sheath slim front.)

Flame red silk shantung made a versatile date dress, the bodice being the thing, with all-over tucks for a corded effect, and cut very low and off the shoulders but extending into tiny sleeves. Another in the high fashion red of this fall was of Chantilly lace over net over silk taffeta, with a Paris touch in the gathered hipline swirling into a tailspin flare from the low waistline. Exciting addition of glamour in curled white coque feathers and long white gloves gave this outfit the name "Cherries in the snow."

Sweet and demure for the young Peterborough Miss in the party season was a frock of spun ribbon silk in diagonal line of blue, black and silver metallic, with daring recollete crossed low in the front and wide and bare across the shoulders, extending into short gathered sleeves. It was worn with white gloves and a pale blue silky velour hat and had the touch of black velvet in the belt.

The ballerina gown is tops for the ball gown this fall and the several versions shown featured full layers of silk net for very full skirts. Midnight blue net, touched with stardust, was over black; a smoke shaded illusion was created with black over pink net. The very bare look was presented in brown lace with iridescent sequins in floral motif.

Each of the four models in a floor length dance gown made the finale. One featured shrimp net, one chartreuse and one pastel clouds of blue, pink and white net, and the other was sleek sophistication in rustling black taffeta with folds of shocking pink and scarlet across the bodice and forming a voluminous bustle bow and swishing insert down the back.

CWL Takes to Task Kinsey's Report On Women

KITCHENER (CP)—The Catholic Women's League of Canada says it sympathizes with "Protestant and Jewish women so rudely maligned" by Dr. Alfred Kinsey's report on sexual behaviour in the human female.

Delegates passed a resolution Tuesday which said the report was "on the flimsy basis of 7,500 women interviewed out of a total of 80,000,000." Only 12 per cent of the women interviewed were Roman Catholics.

The League, holding its annual convention here, said Dr. Kinsey had "degraded science and acted as a charlatan in publicizing his findings; with bunk and arrogance he deplores the influence of the church and home in the field of sex education."

Delegates said all legitimate means must be used to discourage the circulation, especially among youth, "of such harmful, ersatz material."

Bishop J. C. Cody of London said "we are not objecting to scientific research, but it should be kept in the proper place."

Another resolution deplored a statement by Senator W. Rupert Davies made during a special Senate committee investigation on the sale and distribution of salacious and indecent literature. The CWL claimed the statement said in effect that money considerations are more important than moral considerations.

Central H & S Annual Fall Tea Pleasant Event

The Central Home and School Associations annual fall tea was a very pleasant event of Wednesday afternoon. This time the weatherman favored the ladies with perfect weather to make up for the rain and snow they have encountered on previous occasions.

Mrs. Don Craig and Mrs. Roy Irwin were the co-conveners and they decorated the kindergarten room with hangings of evergreen combined with colorful bittersweet and Japanese lanterns.

Mrs. J. R. Henderson laid the tea table with a white lace cloth and had a piece of polished driftwood as the holder for bittersweet and cedar, highlighting it with green tapers in wooden holders.

Presiding were a past president, Mrs. E. L. Horning, Mrs. Wm. Guppy and two teachers, Miss E. Dix and Miss L. Esplen.

The servers were Mrs. M. Fowler, Mrs. G. Minty, Mrs. A. Stringer, Mrs. G. Endicott, Mrs. W. Bassin, Mrs. H. Shearer, Mrs. W. Langan, Mrs. J. Twigg, Mrs. R. Boate, Mrs. I. Shaw, Mrs. M. Gainor and Mrs. S. McBride.

Those looking after supplying the tea table were Mrs. H. Tranter, Mrs. R. Davidson, Mrs. W. Davidson, Mrs. R. Weekes, Mrs. R. Sutton, Mrs. Dunford, Mrs. T. Ardern and Mrs. L. Raper, and the tea was made by Mrs. R. Kelsey.

Three pupils and a teacher, and two mothers, supplied the background tea room music. They were Mrs. Don Munro and son David, Mrs. R. Baker and son Barry, Michael Philip and teacher Miss S. Palmer.

Sale tables were put up in the hallways leading from the centre door to the kindergarten.

There were "white elephants" and plants for sale by Mrs. B. Scarlett and Mrs. L. Reid; home baking in charge of Mrs. F. Hocking and Mrs. Wm. Sorrie; and candy in charge of Mrs. S. J. Rowe and Mrs. H. Gray.

The Asscoiation president, Mrs. J. Callaghan welcomed guests at the tea room door, assisted during the first hour by first vice-president, Mrs. W. Caldwell, and in the second by Mrs. D. T. Crawford, wife of the school principal.

Tickets were taken by treasurer Mrs. W. Armstrong.

Ever Awake Class Decorates In Fall Trend

Ever Awake Class provided a most charming tea-room setting in St. James' Sunday School for their guests on Wednesday afternoon.

Taking their cue from the trees whose beauty is enhanced by the autumn coloring, the decorators chose streamers in brown, yellow, red, orange and green and then filled large baskets with branches of colored leaves and bronze and gold 'mums.

An ingenious idea for the flower holder on the tea table was a long yellow vegetable marrow, and a green pepper squash was cut in two to make holders for the yellow candles. White snowberries spiked the centrepiece of bronze 'mums and on the quartette tables they were with tiny bittersweet branches in little three-cornered holders of squash.

Then, a corner of the room was given to a display of the harvest fruits and vegetables, and very colorful it was indeed with apples, pears, grapes, turnips, pumpkins, beets, carrots, sheaves of wheat and oats, banked with evergreen branches.

The decorating was done by a committee of Mrs. C. Brown, Mrs. N. Monks and Mrs. G. Hutchinson.

Class president Mrs. H. Rolufs received the guests, assisted by class teacher Mrs. H. James, and the tea room hostess was Mrs. R. Rutherford. Those who brought small children were invited to leave them with the baby sitter provided for the occasion.

Tea was poured by Mrs. G. H. Hewitt and Mrs. E. M. Davis and servers were Mrs. B. Dewar, Mrs. E. Maudsley, Mrs. R. Lawes, Mrs. F. Parsons, Mrs. T. Morse and Mrs. J. Nurse. The plates were replenished by Mrs. D. Traynor and Mrs. W. Deyell and the kitchen was in charge of Mrs. N. Monks, Mrs. C. Brown and Mrs. W. McCullough.

Parcels at the "parcel post" table had been all sold before the first 15 minutes of the tea elapsed, proving the popularity of this attraction. Mrs. D. Carter was in charge.

A display of delicious home baking was rapidly disappearing with Mrs. T. Busby and Mrs. W. Rosebush in charge of sales. Mrs. E. Carl and Mrs. J. Kelly had the candy table.

A "country store" featuring canned goods was in charge of Mrs. C. Runnett and the sewing table where aprons, mitts, boottees, dressed dolls, etc., were for sale, was attended by Mrs. C. Jones and Mrs. B. Callan.

Members had on display a complete babies' layette which they have prepared for sale.

Baby Bd. Mothers Of Murray St. Have Second Tea

A newly decorated parlour at the Murray Street Baptist Church provided a brighter background for the attractive tea decorations put up by the Mothers of the Baby Band for their fall tea on Wednesday afternoon.

This was the second tea for this group and it was very nicely convened by Mrs. Wm. Cocks and Mrs. Mel Curtis.

This year's president is Mrs. Frank Ephgrave, who was receiving, assisted by Mrs. Ivan Morgan. The tickets were in charge of Mrs. Mrs. J. Wishart whose records indicated more than 200 had been purchased.

A most interesting display in the anteroom was the "talent table". Each member had made articles for this herself and they included babies' wear, hand-knit mitts, blouses and playsuits, a pleated plaid jumper for a little girl, fancy babies' nighties, washcloth and soap novelties and the most unique were children's play aprons of plastic equipped with pockets for their crayons.

Sales at this table were in charge of Mrs. Harold Shaw and Mrs. Jack Thackeray an they were being kept busy. The home-baking and candy table was also busy with Mrs. Jack Quinn and Mrs. Alf. Hardwicke in charge.

A layette made by the mothers as a welfare gift was displayed by Mrs. A. Rightmyer. There was also a display of plastics for sale.

The decorating theme carried out by Mrs. Wm. Loomis and Mrs. Jack Miller featured orange and brown and white for this pre-Hallowe'en date. They had festooned the bazaar tables colorfully and had also provided frills for the plate on which the baked goods was placed and fancy baskets for the candy.

A Paisley lace cloth was on the tea table and the centrepiece was of bronze, gold and white 'mums, in a green dish, with yellow tapers.

The small serving tables each had an imitation bouquet centrepiece in the three colors and each hostess wore a matching corsage.

Tea pourers were Mrs. J. Hayward, Mrs. H. Wells, Mrs. S. Malsch and Mrs. H. Frise and the serving was done by Mrs. C. Gillespie, Mrs. Jack Dickinson, Mrs. Robert Orr, Mrs. Robert Kinsman, Mrs. Glenn Ketchebaw, Mrs. Myron McLean, and Mrs. Pat Cameron, with Mrs. Russ Baer the hostess in charge.

The sandwiches and small cakes had been made by members for the tea. Mrs. Norman Bullied fixed the sandwich plates, Mrs. P. Lavictoire the relishes, Mrs. Jack Robson the cakes, and Mrs. George Stewart and Mrs. A. Smedmor looked after the tea making.

Background music during the tea was provided by Mrs. Don McKenzie and Mrs. Percy Johnston.

Prince Of Wales H & S Gives Tea

A happy tea hour was spent at the Prince of Wales School on Wednesday afternoon when room mothers and the teaching staff were entertained by the Home and School executive.

President Mrs. A. Parker welcomed them and briefly discussed the next Association meeting, to be held October 27th, when four members of the Board of Education will speak on how the board functions. She also mentioned tentative plans for a November fun night.

Mrs. W. E. Baggs, past president, presided at the tea table which was charmingly arranged with lace cloth, centred with bronze and white chrysanthemums.

Mrs. A. Drynan was responsible for the table arrangement and she also convened the tea, assisted by Mrs. W. Pakenham, Mrs. J. Morley, Mrs. P. Butler, Mrs. L. Martin, Mrs. J. Turner, Mrs. S. Adamson, Mrs. D. Macgregor, Mrs. H. Ferguson, Mrs. F. Gray, Mrs. C. Huffman, Mrs. A. Barber, Mrs. R. Elliott and Mrs. W. Preston.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Reducers Can Eat Like Queens

Up until about two weeks ago I could count on letters from you asking for pickle and late jam recipes.

Now do you know what's happening? In about every sixth letter there is a request for a calorie chart and reducing menu. They reminded me to weigh myself, and be switched if I hadn't gained two pounds.

That's what comes of cool weather, no gardening to do, and the comfort of cooking in a warm kitchen—and eating what you cook.

I put my coat on, pulled on my gloves, pulled in my stomach and went for an hour's walk, and made reducing resolutions on the march. march.

Besides all that, I've run out of reducing menu sheets so I am on the spot of having to line up another set of meals for you—and me.

Reducers can have a whale of a good time. If they really settle down to it they can eat like queens and soon look like one.

Reducing meals need never be dull. Just forget about stacks of buttered toast, cakes, pies, puddings, cookies, and accent the positive. Meat, eggs, fish, fowl, vegetables—beautiful colorful unlimited vegetbles—fruits that would make even Cleopatra (who had to import so many of hers) envious.

So quit being sorry for your chubby selves and set to work on slimming that figure.

BREAKFASTS FOR REDUCERS

1) One large orange sliced or sectioned; one poached egg on ½ slice toasted unbuttered bread. Clear coffee. 2) One-half grapefruit (no sugar) one egg cooked in shell with one unbuttered slice whole wheat toast. One glass hot or cold milk or cafe au lait (half and half double-strength coffee and hot milk). 3) Six-ounce glass fresh or canned unsweetened fruit juice; one egg—any style but not cooked with fat; whole wheat toast with one teaspoon butter; clear coffee.

LUNCHES FOR REDUCERS

1) Six ounces consomme; Salad Plate: 2-oz. cottage cheese OR meat OR fish on lettuce leaves with 1 whole sliced tomato, ¼ cucumber, low-calorie dressing (see below); 1 slice whole wheat bread with 1 teaspoon butter; 8-oz. skim or buttermilk; small ripe pear. 2) Whole-wheat sandwich spread with maponnaise on 1 slice, mustard on the other, with thick slice lean meat, and lettuce; 8 or 10-oz. glass skim or buttermilk; small ripe banana. 3) 8 ounces vegetable soup; 1 slice whole wheat toast with 1 teaspoon butter; 1 tomato, 1 carrot, 2 celery stalks; 8 oz. skim milk; 1 bunch grapes.

DINNERS FOR REDUCERS

(These dinners may be extended for non-reducing members of the family by adding potatoes, rolls, cookies.) 1) Sole or other fish fillets baked in mustard and onion sauce; baked squash, broiled tomatoes; fruit salad plate of pear crescents, overlapped with orange sections (use 1 large pear and 1 large orange and little low-calorie dressing); clear coffee. 2) Broiled 4-oz. ground beef cake; shredded green beans sprinkled with low-calorie cheese; medley of quick-cooked fresh corn, sweet green and red peppers; thick slices fresh tomato and cucumber on lettuce; blanc mange pudding with plum sauce sweetened with sucaryl; clear coffee. 3) Broiled baby beef liver and bacon; cauliflower with skim-milk and parsley sauce; small baked potato with 1 teaspoon butter; coleslaw with reducers' dressing (see below); individual baked custard. Clear coffee.

I am giving you a salad dressing that has not appeared here before. This is such a favorite it could be the deciding factor between chubbiness and a beautiful figure—for it will make you love your salads.

LOW-CALORIE DRESSING

In the top of the double boiler soak 1 tablespoon gelatin in ½ cup cold water for 5 minutes. Now add ¼ cup sugar (OR 8 sucaryl tablets), 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 2 teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika. Mix well, then add 1 1/3 cups boiling water and 2 tablespoons butter. Stir until gelatin is dissolved over simmering water. Now beat 2 eggs well and beat into them the hot gelatin mixture. Return to top of double boiler, cook over simmering water, stirring, until mixture begins to thicken. Remove from heat and stir in ½ cup vinegar. Chill. When it is fairly thick, beat with rotary beater until smooth. Cover and store in refrigerator. The whole family will like this.

6—In Memoriam

HARVEY—In loving memory of my wife, Mrs. Helena Harvey, who passed away Oct. 22, 1952.
I have lost my soul's companion
A life linked with my own,
And day by day I miss her more,
As I walk through life alone.
—Fondly remembered by her husband, Ernest Harvey.

LONSBERRY—In loving memory of Ivan Lonsberry, who passed away Oct. 21, 1951.
When evening shadows are falling
And we sit in quiet alone,
To our hearts there comes a longing
If he only could come home.
Friends may thing we have forgotten,
When at times they see us smile
But they little know the heartache
Our smiles hide all the while.
—Ever remembered by Mother.

LONSBERRY—In loving memory of our brother, Ivan Lonsberry, who passed away Oct. 22, 1951.
Oh, God, what a weight of sorrow
Must we, the lonely ones, bear;
A lonely home, a silent voice
And only his vacant chair.
—Remembered by sisters, brothers-in-law and nephews.

MANN—In loving memory of a dear mother, Ada M. Mann, who passed away three years ago, Oct. 22, 1950.
How dear, how near her memory,
How close, how sweet it stays.
To watch above her loved ones
And guide them through the days.
How perfect, too, each thought of her
How comforting to know
Her own dear love is with us still,
To bless the way we go.
—Lovingly remembered by sons and daughters.

7—Card of Thanks

Mere words cannot express our feelings of gratitude to our many friends for the innumerable acts of kindness, thoughfulness and sympathy extended to us during the recent illness and death of a devoted husband and father, Sherman Killen. Please accept our sincere appreciation.—Mrs. M. Killen and Connie.

UK Cheese Order Great Relief To Producers

BELLEVILLE (CP)—W. O. Coon, president of the Ontario cheese producers' marketing board, said today the shipment of 10,000,000 pounds of cheddar to Britain will bring material relief from the possibility of a surplus developing in Ontario next spring.

He was commenting on the announcement by the United Kigdom government Wednesday that it will buy the 10,000,000 pounds from Ontario producers at a total cost of £1,000,000.

Under the British deal, the Ontario marketing board will be getting a little less than the 30 cents a pound it would have received had it turned over the surplus to the federal government on Nov. 1. But Mr. Coon said Ontario producers and buyers agreed last week that an export market was "desirable at this time."

However, individual cheese factories will not suffer, Mr. Coon said that those factories which delivered cheese to the marketing board during the last five months will be paid in full on the basis of the guaranteed 30 cents a pound for No. 1 grade, effective Nov. 1, less carrying charges.

The cheese producers had met the current "emergency" alone, said Mr. Coon, but he hoped the example will set a pattern whereby the entire provincial dairy industry will organize itself into a single body, handling its own marketing.

Fingerless Body Said Dock Boss

NEW YORK (AP)—The body of Michael Brogan, whose attitude had cooled towards the racketsridden International Longshoremen's Association, was found Wednesday in the Hudson river.

All the fingers were missing.

Brogan vanished on the waterfront Sept. 20 in the midst of the current battle for dock control between the ILA and a new AFL longshoremen's union.

A 49-year-old hiring boss, Brogan at first refused to sign an ILA loyalty pledge. Later, he signed but apparently under duress.

Tattoo marks and other physical peculiarities led to the identification.

Knowles To Enter Checkoff Bill

OTTAWA (CP) — Stanley Knowles, CCF member of the Commons for Winnipeg North Centre, announced today he will introduce at the coming session a bill to provide for the voluntary revocable checkoff of union dues in labor contracts.

Mr. Knowles said he has given Commons officials formal notice of the measure, similar to one he has brought up annually for the last few years.

It would amend the federal labor code, which applies to such industries as railways, shipping and communications that are under Parliament's jurisdiction in industrial relations. It would not apply to current disputes over the checkoff in strike-bound gold mines, under provincial jurisdiction.

Under the voluntary revocable check-off, employers collect union dues when authorized by the individual union member, who may revoke the arrangement at any time. Mr. Knowles' bill would make this compulsory on the employer.

Urge Tighter Security For Jail In Cornwall

CORNWALL (CP) — Tighter security measures were recommended Wednesday for the 119-year-old counties' jail here by members of the legislature's select committee on reform institutions.

Maj. John Foote, minister of reform institutions, accompanied the committee on its first visit to an eastern Ontario jail.

13 Mau Terrorists Executed In Kenya

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—Thirteen Mau Mau terrorists were hanged at Githunguri, Kenya, today for their part in the Lari massacre last March.

Today's executions were the second batch to be carried out. More than 100 death sentences have been passed. Twelve Kikuyu tribesmen were hanged Oct. 15.

MOURNING THEIR DEAD — Koreans weep bitterly for sons and husbands who died during the recent war. President Syngman Rhee, who was present at a memorial service at Seoul, was mobbed as the huge crowd, torn with emotion, stormed the rostrum. Nearly 34,000 Koreans died in the war.

Fine 5 Pickets In Hamilton Obstruction Case

HAMILTON (CP)—Five persons charged with obstructing police during the strike at the Wallace Barnes plant on Oct. 15 pleaded guilty this morning and paid fines of $50 and $3 costs. They were John Bell, Don Stewart, John Losell, Nick Ciraolo and William Faithful.

In the case of Thomas Dargavel, who "placed himself in defiance of the law" by hitting a man on the sidewalk, the fine was $100 and costs.

Edward Pritchard, convicted of striking an unknown person, was remanded for sentence until next Wednesday.

John Dewolf, said to have pushed two women causing them to fall, will be sentenced for obstruction on Oct. 26.

Two other men, also charged with obstruction, James Henderson ,and Clarence Rudling, were fined $25 and costs each.

All the above-mentioned pleaded guilty.

Mike Popwich was acquitted on a charge of causing a disturbance.

Trial is continuing for Thomas Davidson, who pleaded not guilty to obstruction.

Says State Department Spoiled Beria Meeting

NEW YORK (AP)—A newspaper man says a state department official disrupted arrangements he had made for a meeting in Spain with a man said to be ex-Russian police boss Lavrenty P. Beria.

Gene Fuson of the San Diego (Calif.) Union, returning from a trip to Spain, said Wednesday night he had worked out plans for meeting the man believed to be Beria.

But interference by U. S. state department workers in Spain upset the schedule, Fuson claimed.

Pair Remanded On Theft Charge

Two Lindsay men, Donald McCabe, 23, of 4 Russell St. W. and John Hogan, 23, of 80½ Queen St., were remanded on $2,000 bail today in magistrate's court until Monday when they will face charges of car theft.

They were charged in connection with the theft of a panel delivery truck from Charlotte St. Tuesday night. The two men were arrested in Scarboro and held there for Peterborough police.

The owner, W. B. McChesne of 183 Lock St., reported the truck stolen about 8:20 that night. He set the time of the theft between seven and 7:45.

Car theft carries a minimum penalty of one year.

Meeting Seeks

The percentage of elderly people is increasing in Ontario, he said. In 1881, 3.39 per cent. of the population was 65 years or older; in 1941 this had increased to 8 per cent. And life expectancy has increased from 40 years, some 90 years ago, to nearly 69 years now.

"Can you tell us what the need is, here?" asked Ed Humphrey of the Peterborough and District Labor Council (CCL).

"You must make your own survey to find out what the local need for accommodation is," said Mr. Ludlow.

Dr. J. P. Wells, Peterborough MOH, said: "Many homes for the aged mean one thing—provision for bed and board. That's something we must get away from. We must combat the sense of futility in these people".

Dr. Wells added that there is still a measure of compulsion to get old people—not able to make decisions for themselves—into institutions.

Mr. Ludlow was introduced by Welfare Officer Arthur Metheral and thanked by Mrs. W. H. Morton. Mrs. A. W. Nelson, president, was in the chair.

W. S. Goulding of the community planning branch, Toronto, was to have shown some films on housing projects for the aged elsewhere in Canada, but he was unable to come.

Other meetings to interest the Peterborough public in this problem are planned.

ALBERT W. SMITHSON

One-time resident of Millbrook and Warsaw, Albert W. Smithson died in Port Colborne October 15 at the age of 70. He was the son of the late Samuel Smithson and Mary Waterman of Bailieboro.

Born in South Monaghan, he married the former Mary Richards of Millbrook, who survives, and moved to Port Colborne 39 years ago.

Surviving besides his wife, are one daughter, Mrs. Leslie R. Cuthbert (Aileen) and two grandsons, Ronald and William Cuthbert of St. Catharines. A niece, Miss Gertrude Creba, resides in Peterborough while a sister, Mrs. W. J. Lunney (Lillian) predeceased him by two weeks.

The funeral was conducted Saturday afternoon from the Dell Merton funeral home in Port Colborne to Oakwood cemetery where burial was made under Masonic auspices.

Mr. Smithson had been a member of McNab Lodge, AF & AM, King Hiram Chapter, RAM, and Beacon Lodge, IOOF.

JOHN SARGINSON

After the past year's ill-health, the death occurred of John Sarginson, two miles west of Bancroft on Highway 28.

Mr. Sarginson was born June 26, 1877, near Highland Grove, Cardiff township, in the County of Haliburton, third son of the late Margaret Watson and John Sarginson, Sr.

He attended the South School at the Grove. By faith he was an Anglican, and also a member of Deer Lake Orange Lodge, No. 74, Highland Grove.

On December 24, 1902, he married the former Mary Delinda Hodgins of Highland Grove. They lived just south of the village for eleven years during which time Mr. Sarginson was engaged in lumbering. They bought their farm near Paudash, now owned by Edward Evans, and moved there in the spring of 1913. They remained there until a few years ago when they bought a home in Bancroft where they celebrated their Golden Wedding in December 1952.

Left to mourn his loss is his wife, Mary, two daughters, Mrs. Albert (Ruby) Nicol, Kenesis Lake, Mrs. George (Maggie) Kellar, Bancroft, five sons, Robert of Belleville Creamery, Belleville, William of Department of Lands and Forests, Haliburton, Percy of Bethany, Claude of Marmora, Clifford of Bancroft, 27 grandchildren, two great grandchildren, one brother, Jim, Belleville, one sister Mrs. Fred (Ella) Succee of Highland Grove.

He was predeceased by two sons, Royce and Herman of Bancroft, two brothers, Tom of Strasbourg, Sask. and Robert of Bancroft, and three sisters, Mrs. Charlie (Margaret) McMahon, and Mrs. William (Mary) Hills of Wilberforce, and Mrs. (Lizzie) McInroy of Cleveland, Ohio.

The largely attended funeral, and beautiful floral tributes spoke of the esteem in which he was held by the community.

The pall-bearers were Howard Kerr, son, Leslie Young, William Young, Sr.

Rev. S. Brownson, Bancroft conducted the services at home and at the grave. Interment at United Church cemetery, Paudash.

Western To Give 169 Diplomas

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Students, parents, friends and faculty will pack Convocation Hall at University of Western Ontario Friday for one of the biggest events of the academic year—fall convocation.

The graduation exercise will issue 169 diplomas and four honorary degrees.

Honorary degrees will be awarded Dr. Harold R. Kingston, retired principal of University College and dean of the faculty of arts and science; Dr. Perry S. Dobson, former principal of Alma College, St. Thomas; Very Rev. Fr. Georges Henri Levesque, dean of the faculty of social services at Laval University; and William S. Turner, principal of Brantford Collegiate and Vocational School.

Arthur R. Ford, chancellor, will preside at the ceremony.

Custis Pleads Guilty To Indecent Exposure

CAYUGA, Ont. (CP)—Pleading guilty to a charge of indecent exposure, Bernard E. Custis, Hamilton Tiger-Cat football player, was fined $65 in magistrate's court here today.

Provincial constable D. O. Lewin said there were two little girls 70 feet from the scene of the offence.

Custis told the court he found it necessary to stop his car to answer a call of nature and did not notice the two girls.

Communists Report S. Korean Defection

TOKYO (AP) — The Communist Pyongyang radio said tonight that South Korean air force Capt. Kim Sung Dae flew his American-made F-51 Mustang fighter to North Korea Monday.

Communist correspondents at Panmunjom earlier had reported the defection.

14 Inches In Two Days Fall In South Africa

DURBAN, South Africa (AP)—More than 14 inches of rain have fallen in East London during the last 48 hours causing severe flooding and extensive damage to property. No loss of life is reported.

The city is isolated except for telegraphic communication and there is a blackout due to flooding of the power station.

Frost To Meet Toronto Board

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Frost is willing to meet Toronto's board of control in the near future to discuss rent controls, it was learned at Queen's Park today.

Informed sources said, however, that there is no likelihood the premier will acceded to the board's request that the province continue controls after March 1.

Board of control this week refused to take over rent controls in Toronto after the province vacates the field next spring, and asked the province to continue controls.

The premier believes Toronto could set up control machinery of its own, perhaps only for some areas of the city, to guard against drastic rent increases.

The province decided early this year that it would drop rent controls next March on the ground that most municipalities no longer need the controls.

Woman's Clothes Brought To Scene

CORNWALL (CP)—A woman's clothes, found Wednesday in a tourist cabin at Beachville, near Woodstock, arrived here today by provincial police cruiser.

It is believed the clothing may have belonged to 22-year-old Anne Carrier, whose stabbed, nude body was found in a ditch near Iroquois last Thursday. Peter Balcombe, an army lieutenant, has been charged with her murder.

Charles Playton, who operates a tourist cabin business, accompanied the clothing here.

Police said the clothing was stuffed into attic rafters of the cabin as though an attempt had been made to hide it.

The articles were found by the owners of the cabin when cleaning up.

The items did not include a dress or shoes.

Palestine Situation "Tense"—UN Official

NEW YORK (AP)—The United Nations' chief truce supervisor in Palestine arrived here today, declaring the situation there is critically tense—but not likely to cause a major conflict.

Maj. Gen. Vagn Bennike of Denmark, chief of staff of the UN truce supervision team, came back at the call of the UN Security Council to make a first-hand report on sharpened Arab-Israel friction.

St. Louis Officer Questioned For Seven Hours

CORNWALL (CP)—Lorne Chesebrough of Kingston, the 28-year-old driver of a bus which took 20 persons to their death July 31 in the Williamsburg canal, was acquitted Wednesday of a charge of dangerous driving.

Judge G. E. Brennan freed the Colonial Coach Lines employee following a motion for acquittal submitted by defence counsel R. A. Hughes of Ottawa.

Mr. Hughes contended there was no case against Chesebrough and that much of the crown's evidence could have been used by the defence.

Crown Attorney R. P. Milligan admitted that the stalled unlighted truck which the bus struck before plunging into the canal three miles west of Morrisburg was a "menace to the highway."

Judge Brennan said there was no evidence of negligence on the part of Chesebrough.

Max Roodman, 40, of Toronto, the driver of the stalled truck, has been charged with manslaughter. A similar charge against Chesebrough was reduced to dangerous driving.

Roodman is scheduled to face trial on the manslaughter charge at the Supreme Court assizes here next week.

Acquit Busman In Cornwall Fatality

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Police Lieut. Louis Shoulders returned to seclusion Wednesday night after a seven-hour question-answer session with his superiors as key witness in the investigation of possible irregularities in police handling of the Greenlease kidnap-slaying.

It was Shoulders who Oct. 6 arrested Carl Austin Hall, the confessed kidnap-killer of six-year-old Bobby Greenlease, and recovered about $293,000 in ransom cash.

Particulars of Hall's arrest and the handling of the ransom money are under investigation. Half of the $600,000 Greenlease ransom is unaccounted for.

Police chief Jeremiah O'Connell told reporters that the panel of investigators may recall Shoulders for further questioning, but that he would not reappear today.

Shoulders, 55-year-old police veteran, ducked past reporters after testifying and rode a private elevator to the ground floor of police headquarters. His appearance came as a surprise, as he had been excused through the first two days of testimony because of a nervous condition.

O'Connell declined to comment one way or another on the results of Shoulders' testimony.

Thorold Man Heads Ontario Zone Of CCA

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Corps Association today announced the election of Arthur McKinnon of Thorold as president of its Ontario command. A Second World War naval veteran, Mr. McKinnon is a former vice-president of the corps' Dominion command.

Thomas Kelly of Toronto and Earl Clarkson of St. Catharines are vice-presidents. Shirley Wood of Toronto is secretary and Albert Holder of St. Catharines treasurer.

Smith Claims

Following the cross-examination, Magistrate R. I. Moore, QC, asked the MOH if he had no power to stop immediately a menace to public health. To this, the doctor replied "we have done everything we possibly can do," and said he "thoroughly agreed" there should be some authority to stop a bad situation.

SERVED LETTER

Mr. Edmison testified he had served the doctor's warning letter to the accused and echoed the MOH's evidence on the conditions of the slaughterhouse. He quoted the accused as saying there "wasn't much use" going to Smith officials to obtain a licence to operate the business.

He said the Smith board of health had recommended court action "to do away with this menace to public health."

Mr. Elliott asked the clerk if he knew Councillor Beavis slaughtered animals, suggesting the slaughter took place outside and that parts of the animals were left on the ground.

"Why didn't you investigate his slaughterhouse?" Mr. Elliott asked.

"We have never had any complaints," the clerk replied. "It's my duty to investigate complaints not stir up trouble."

Gordon Fitzgerald, reeve of Smith, also testified that he visited the Peconi property and found, among other things, "an awful smell."

"Does Mr. Beavis have a slaughterhouse permit?" asked Mr. Elliott. The only reply was no.

"Embarassing isn't it?" the lawyer asked of the reeve. Mr. Fitzgerald, however did not appear to be embarrassed.

Three nearby residents, Francis Carberry, lockmaster of Nassau, Mrs. Eunice Killoran and Mrs. Francis Godfrey, took the stand to describe a smell with which they were all familiar as a result of past experiences with slaughterhouses. They all agreed that it came from the direction of the accused's property.

The case was adjourned after the court heard one defence witness, Dr. A. M. Johnston, retired veterinarian-surgeon.

He told of visiting the Peconi property a few hours before court and found the whole slaughter house "odorless" and "in very good condition."

The charge, however, was dated September 3 and Dr. Johnston could not describe earlier conditions.

Light Truck Crashes Into Grocery Store

POWASSAN, Ont. (CP)—A light truck plowed through a grocery store near here Wednesday and emerged pushing pop cooler, ice cream freezer and counters before it. No one was injured.

Driver Cedric Hummel, 23, of Powassan said he lost control and the truck roared off the road, bounced off a gasoline pump and into the store.

Owner Douglas Mathers, his wife and five children were eating breakfast in another section of the frame store at the time.

Powassan is 18 miles south of North Bay.

Driver Acquitted

FORT ERIE (CP)—Magistrate Johnstone Roberts today dismissed a charge of dangerous driving against Gerald P. McDonald of Welland.

The charge was laid after an accident Sept. 20 on the Queen Elizabeth Way near here.

Court Decision Causes Delay In Two Charges

Two careless driving charges were adjourned in Magistrate's Court this morning because of a decision Mr. Justice Gale has been reported to have made on the charge.

The Supreme Court justice ruled that a charge of careless driving must disclose only one offence. This decision, however, may be appealed by the Attorney General's department.

Since, however, Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, QC, has had no official notice on the matter, he suggested this morning, with defence counsel W. J. Arthur Fair's approval, the charges be adjourned until such notice is received.

On the same charge of careless driving, however, the court accepted a plea of guilty on the part of Joe Johnson, 65, of 458 Bolivar St., who was fined $10 and $2.50 on the count. The charge was laid after Johnson struck a car in passing. Damage did not exceed $20.

Indiana Riot Reported Quiet

PENDLETON, Ind. (AP) — A shouting, window - smashing demonstration by inmates of the Indiana Reformatory appeared to have quieted today, and officials planned to move them out of a dormitory where the disturbances centred.

Officials said about 10 ringleaders were removed from the dormitory Wednesday night and the remainder of the 120 dormitory inmates quieted.

No injuries were reported.

The 1,500 inmates of the reformatory had been locked in their cells all day as the outgrowth of a dining room demonstration Monday and sitdowns in the industrial shops Tuesday.

Officials said the men were dissatisfied over the food and "everything in general."

Gifts Admission To Tea At St. Luke's

A "Gift Tea" was held Wednesday afternoon at St. Luke's rectory to which members of the church were invited, their admission being a gift of dried fruit or other ingredients for the Christmas cakes, mincemeat and Christmas puddings which are made for sale at the church bazaar which is to be on November 25th, just one month before Christmas.

Hostess Mrs. W. J. Gilling received graciously, assisted by Mrs. D. H. Wyatt, president of the Afternoon Branch of the WA, and Mrs. Roy Sanderson, president of the Evening Branch.

The gifts were received by Mrs. M. Mesley, Mrs. G. Maniece and Mrs. J. J. Turner.

Wives of the church wardens, Mrs. Donald Worboy and Mrs. H. Willis, poured the tea.

The tea table was centred with a large WA cross, made from a large white candle and having the letters WA set in blue beads.

On the mantelpiece was burning a large square candle decorated with sequins and beads which is a sample of those being made for sale at the forthcoming bazaar.

WA members served tea and dainty refreshments.

Fans Won't Let Amos 'n Andy Quit Radio

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—People just won't let Amos 'n' Andy quit.

The veteran blackface comics, who have stayed in the big time longer than any adio stars, were thinking of retiring last season, but they're back on the CBS network every Sunday as lusty as ever.

Amos (he also plays Kingfish) is Freeman Gosden, 54, genial, father of three children, the spokesand father of five.

is Charles Correll, 63, wry, friendly man for the comedy team. Andy

"Like a lot of old-timers in radio," Amos explained, "we sort of felt left out when TV came along. Everybody was talking about the new medium and overlooking radio. We never had any notion about dying with our boots on; we wanted to quit while we were still ahead. So we let it out that we were thinking of retiring."

IMMEDIATE REACTION

The reaction was immediate. Amos 'n' Andy fans poured forth a flood of letters, wires and phone calls. When Amos visited a friend in Asheville, N.C., residents heard about it and took a quarter-page ad in the local paper urging: "Please don't quit radio, Amos."

"Things like that helped change our minds," said Amos. "Also there was the urging of William Paley, head of CBS, and Justin Dart, our sponsor. We were impressed by the fact that there are more radios now than ever before. And there are many areas that the sponsor can't reach by TV.

HAD TO PAD HIM

"There was one other thing, too. The show was our baby. We did not feel like handing the baby over to somone else."

I asked the boys why they didn't play in the TV version of Amos 'n' Andy.

"We don't look the parts," volunteered Andy. "We found that out when we did pictures years ago. I'm supposed to be the big fat one. So they had to pad me up, front and back, and they made me wear lifts on my shoes."

"Doing TV wouldn't have worked out," Amos added. "I couldn't very well play Amos and Kingfish."

IMPERIAL POTENTATE ARRIVES FOR MONTREAL VISIT — Remmie L. Arnold, right, of Petersburg, Virginia, Imperial Potentate of the 700,000-member Shrine of North America, and his wife, are greeted on arrival at Montreal by J. H. Spence, chairman of the board of governors of the Montreal Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children. While in Montreal, Mr. Arnold will visit the hospital and speak at the Masonic Temple.

"Nightmare" Storm Sweeps Superstructure From Ship

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—When the 1,200-ton French fishing trawler Vaillant arrived in Port here recently, crew members told an adventure story that ranked with the most nightmarish tales ever recounted in St. John's.

During a tornado 400 miles southwest of Ireland, a mountainous wave struck the ship, swept away part of the superstructure, smashed wooden partitions in the officers' quarters, flooded the crew's quarters with three feet of water and swept 40 barrels of coal off the deck.

Everything above deck was warped and twisted when the ship put in here for repairs. Capt. Michel Desjardin and his 40-man crew from Fecamp, France, told of the chaos during the remaining 17 hours of the storm.

"Mon Dieu, I am lucky to be alive," said the skipper. He had just left his room when the wave struck, carrying away the sink and the door.

The ship shivered and appeared likely to founder. After several tense minutes it put on a burst of speed and came out of the trough spilling water like a diving sea monster. The trawler took another dip, rose laboriously to the crest of a wave and rallied from then on.

Capt. Desjardin said he had never seen such a storm in 24 years at sea.

The ship was without electric light until its arrival here. The crew was left without water when a keg was washed overboard. One of the boats had been swept away and a three-ton anchor had been shifted from its berth on the foredeck.

Fellow Workers Help Ill Friend

TRANSCONA, Man. (CP) — A new home will be waiting for Mike Gennick when he's well enough to leave an iron lung, thanks to the boys in the roundhouse.

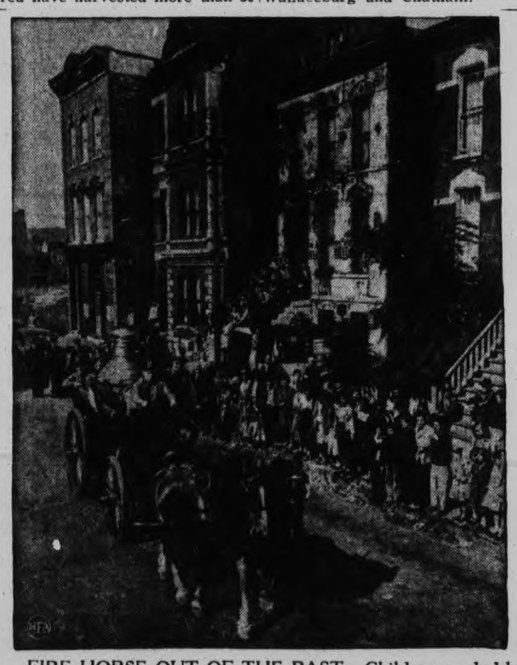
When polio struck him back in July, the 27-year-old railroader had just started building a new house for himself, his wife, and their three-year-old daughter.

It was to have four rooms in a 1½-storey frame dwelling.

Mike's fellow-workers at the CNR roundhouse here didn't forget him.

Bright autumn days saw the men up early, heading for the skeleton dwelling. And they worked with such zest that the home's just about ready for a coat of stucco.

Mrs. Gennick says the way things are going she will be able to move in well ahead of cold weather.



The house-warming? That will be postponed until Mike gets home.

Dry Weather Speeds Sugar Beet Harvest

TORONTO (CP)—Dry weather in southwestern Ontario has speeded operations of sugar beet growers.

A sugar company has reported that growers in the Kent-Lambton area have harvested more than 50 per cent of their estimated 240,000 tons of beets.

Producers say the sugar content and the tonnage per acre is well above average. The main flow of beets has been to the factories in Wallaceburg and Chatham.

FIRE HORSE OUT OF THE PAST—Children probably found it amusing to see this 50-year-old fire engine roll past the old building on De Koven Street in Chicago, Ill., where the 1871 fire started. The old buildings will be razed, but the plaque which marked the site of Mrs. O'Leary's home will be remounted when the new buildings are erected. The celebration of the 82nd anniversary of the fire highlighted the city's fire-prevention week.

Court Questions Blood Test Use

KITCHENER (CP)—A charge of impaired driving against Lincoln Miller of Kitchener was dismissed Wednesday by magistrate J. R. H. Kirkpatrick after defence counsel questioned the admissibility of blood tests for alcoholic content.

Defence counsel George Lochead asked the court:

"Who is, or can possibly be, the authority for intoxication?"

He questioned the validity of tables presented to the court by Ernest Brown, a biochemist at the Kitchener-Waterloo Hospital.

Mr. Brown testified that a test taken of Miller's blood showed it contained .8 per cent alcohol. "By established standards .5 to 1.5 indicated impairment," he added.

Magistrate Kirkpatrick ruled he had to have evidence relating impairment directly to Miller's driving.

Drama Festival Names Jamieson For Medal

OTTAWA (CP) — Mrs. L. T. White, president of the Dominion Drama Festival, announced Wednesday the organization has nominated D. Park Jamieson, a Sarnia lawyer, to receive the Coronation medal.

The festival was one of a number of Canadian organizations asked to nominate an outstanding member to receive the medal following the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth.

Mrs. White said Mr. Jamieson's nomination has been approved and that he has received the medal.

Britain Purchases £1,000,000 In Cheese

OTTAWA (CP) — Britain saved the Canadian government a little money in its decision to buy 10,000,000 pounds of Ontario cheese.

Under an agreement with the Ontario producers, the federal government was to purchase all unsold Ontario cheddar held on Nov. 1 at 30 cents a pound.

The British deal cleans out the Ontario surplus and thus there likely will be no Ontario cheese offered to the federal government.

Officials here were generally heartened by the arrangement since it would increase the flow of Canadian foodstuffs to its traditional market overseas, but they wondered about its impact on Canada's future supplies.

Canada on Oct. 1 held 46,807,000 pounds of cheddar. This was down slightly from 47,128,000 last year. The British deal will cut supplies to about 36,800,000.

Production has been relatively steady earlier in the year but declined slightly in August and September. One official said that if production is not maintained, Canadians may find themselves slightly short of cheese, with a possible price increase following.

In Toronto, members of he cheese producers' marketing board conferred with representatives of the trade last Friday to set a minimum price for the domestic market. They set the price for sales in Canada at 30 cents.

While no announcement was made as to the price for the cheese to be shipped to Britain, it is believed the export cheese will be sold for about 26½ cents a pound.

Say Traffic Stalled For Miles

Food, Health Problems Developing As Walkout Continues

LONDON —(AP)—The government today called in troops to avoid paralysis of London transport and industry resulting from a wildcat strike of gasoline truck drivers.

Labor Minister Sir Walter Monckton told the House of Commons that troops will take up posts today and will arrange for distribution of gasoline beginning Saturday morning.

Monckton said the 2,600 strikers had ignored his appeal and the call of their own union to go back to work and let the established conciliation machinery function.

"On such information as I have there is serious ground to think that those who are inclined to Communist views and are members of the Communist party are taking part in keeping this strike alive," he said.

TO CONTINUE STRIKE

The strikers voted unanimously Thursday night to continue their strike—now four days old—until their demand for a 10-shilling weekly raise is met. Union leaders told them no action would be taken in their behalf until there is a general resumption of work.

The opposition Labor party announced its approval of the government's action.

Eight hundred army drivers will gather at Woolwich this afternoon and evening. They will concentrate on delivering supplies to people engaged in essential services. RAF personnel also will be used.

Troops were last used in a British labor dispute in April, 1950. The Labor government called soldiers out to unload ships after a dock strike tied up the port of London and threatened food supplies.

BASIC WAGE SECRET

The truck strikers, who are demanding the firing of all non-union co-workers as well as the pay raise, would give no indication of the present basic wage for their jobs. Neither would the employers.

The walkout left idle more than 3,000 other workers involved in oil distribution throughout the city.

The strike spread to northern England when 180 drivers and depot workers at Jarrow-on-Tyne walked out to join what they called "the national strike."

The fuel crisis hit not only London's mammoth transport system but also posed serious threats of

Two Ships Collide At Vancouver During Bad Fog

VANCOUVER (CP)—The coastal steamers Nardena and Princess Elizabeth collided in dense fog under Lions Gate bridge at the entrance to Vancouver harbor today. Two persons were reported injured. Details were not immediately known and thick fog blanketing the Vancouver area made it impossible to see the vessels from shore. Two persons were reported to have been injured aboard Union Steamships' 1,300-ton Nardena. A spokesman for Canadian Pacific Steamships, owners of the 5,251-ton Elizabeth, said they had no reports of injuries aboard that ship.

The Princess Elizabeth was outbound for Nanaimo on Vancouver island and the Cardena inbound from up-coast ports when they hit beneath the big suspension bridge across First narrows.

The two vessels remained wedged together after the impact and were towed clear of traffic routes by three tugs.

Illegally Held Man Freed After 41 Years

BROCKTON, Mass. (AP)—Seven men, found to have been illegally committed as prisoners, were free today after serving terms in state institutions for periods of from six to 41 years.

All seven wept with joy when their freedom was ordered Thursday by Superior Court Judge Felix Forte on the grounds their commitment was illegal and without even a hearing in some cases.

Judge Forte found one of the men, Elmer Bridges, had been a prisoner for 41 of his 51 years on a case of mistaken identity.

LOCKED UP AT 10 YEARS

The judge said Bridges was locked up as a boy of 10 on a charge of truancy from Tewksbury schools when, in fact, it was Bridges' brother who was the truant.

Bridges was so overjoyed on his release he shook hands with everyone in the courtroom, from the judge to reporters covering the hearing.

All seven were sentenced to indefinite terms as defective delinquents.

MINOR INFRACTIONS

Judge Forte found many of the men were transferred from detention homes to state prison institutions for minor infractions during their commitments.

The other six men released and their terms are:

William J. Bryant, 33, of Lawrence, committed at the age of 10 for truancy.

Gerald F. Martin, 27, of Lynn, one of a family of 16 children, in custody 11 years for receiving stolen goods.

Henry A. Gilbert, 48, of Northampton, a prisoner for 24 years. He became a musician and leader of the band at the Bridgewater state farm.

James Goodridge, 33, of Wrentham, in detention 28 years after confinement at the age of five. He later was termed a sex case and confined at Concord reformatory and Bridgewater.

Martin J. Perkins, 55, of Worcester, committed for larceny of a pipe, tobacco and sofa pillow and confined for 30 years.

Paul Rivers, 25, of Somerville, committed in 1947 as a defective delinquent.

Several others were released in recent months when it was found they were committed illegally.

In the past, defective delinquents —feeble-minded cases with delinquent tendencies—could be committed on a petition signed by a doctor and approved by a judge. Present-day methods require psychiatric examinations and court appearances.

The state corrections department now is in the process of studying all such cases and will report later to a legislative recess commission.

EXPRESS SURPRISE

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice department officials today expressed amazement at the report.

One official said he doubts if such a thing could ever happen in Canad.

The only method of committing persons for indefinite terms in Canada is through formal charges under the Criminal Code as an habitual criminal or criminal sexual psychopath. In each case, hearings must be held in open court and the sentences reviewed every three years by the justice minister.

400 Hunters Marooned By Snow Drifts

SHERIDAN, Wyo. (AP)—Three airplanes flew over the snow-blanketed Big Horn mountains in northern Wyoming today dropping instructions to several hundred hunters marooned in the area.

The small reconnaissance-type planes dropped packages to hunting parties containing detailed instructions on how to signal from the ground as to their needs and condition.

There were no reports of any hunters being lost or any undergoing hardships.

Bush said the Wyoming national guard unit at Worland, on the western side of the mountains, was sending in heavy equipment to help break out any roads or trails the hunters might have used getting into the area.

FOUR FOOT DRIFTS

Four-foot drifts blocked all main highways in the Big Horn forest Thursday and many hunters had to abandon their automobiles.

Forest service officials reported at night, however, that the storm had abated and some hunterswere beginning to trek out of the mountainous area.

The weather bureau said no additional snow is expected.

Sheriff Willard Marshall of Sheridan estimated 300 to 400 hunters were trapped in the remote forest by the heavy snow.

Get Agreement On Control

TOKYO (AP) — An agreement giving Japanese police and courts jurisdiction over British and other United Nations soldiers who commit crimes against Japanese while off duty was reached here today.

The agreement is to be signed next Monday.

It follows closely a pact covering the jurisdiction of American security forces which goes into effect Oct. 29.

Commonwealth countries refused for more than a year to give Japan criminal jurisdiction over their troops stationed in Japan or visiting Japan from Korea.

Research Centre Big Milestone

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe said today the opening of the National Research Council's building research centre marks an important milestone in the development of new construction techniques in Canada.

The centre, located on the site of the council's Montreal road laboratories on Ottawa's outskirts, was officially opened by Mr. Howe at the conclusion of a three-day building research conference here. The conference was attended by delegates from Canada, Britain, the United States and Sweden.

Believed to be the first laboratory of its type in the world, the centre was especially designed for research on all phases of building and construction in Canada's variable climatic conditions.

During the next few years, the centre will concentrate on solving construction problems encountered in northern Canada.

Says Canadian Cheese 'Poorly Marketed'

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Dr. W. A. Mackintosh, principal of Queen's University, said Thursday night Canadian cheese "is the most poorly marketed of all our products."

It was one of several barbs which he injected extemporaneously into the previously-prepared text of a speech to the Canadian Exporters' Association.

In a discussion of various Canadian products he started to say "larger population (in Canada) would eat up all our cheese," and then added: "If producers of cheese would ever get an effective marketing system."

The lawyer said she had attempted the act when she finally became convinced that her husband would never agree to a reconciliation.

Few Details About Crash

LONDON (AP) — Reports reached here from Lebanon today that a Swedish plane had been shot down in Syria Thursday. The Swedish consul in Beirut was quoted as blaming the Israeli air force. But an official spokesman in Israel said there was "no truth whatever" to the story.

There were conflicting accounts of just how many persons had been killed in the reported crash. A Beirut message said 35 passengers and crew members were killed and that the bodies were taken to Damascus, in Syria. But word direct from Damascus was that the plane was a small one and that only the pilot and co-pilot had been killed.

The crash was said to have taken place on Mt. Herman (Jabal Al Sheikh) which rises to 9,232 feet 25 miles west-southwest of Damascus, the Syrian capital.

In Stockholm, the Swedish press, in stories on the Damascus crash reported earlier, identified the two dead as Lars Ove Goransson, 21, and Fritz Conrad, a Latvian refugee, both from Malmp, south Sweden.

Wilson Will Be Out Of Line-up Month

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Pat Wilson, playing-coach of the senior Niagara Falls Cataracts, will be out of the line-up about a month as a result of injuries suffered in a traffic accident.

Doctors said today Wilson will be away from his coaching job with the Ontario Hockey Association team for a month and will probably be able to play again about February. He suffered internal injuries when his station wagon collided with a cement truck here Tuesday.

Heavy Fog Tangles Ontario Traffic

TORONTO (CP) — Heavy fog swept into much of southwestern Ontario today, grounding planes and slowing traffic.

All flights from Malton airport were grounded for 12 hours starting at 9 p. m. Thursday night. About 10 planes took off on delayed schedules today.

Flights from London and other airports in southwestern Ontario were grounded. At 9:30 a. m. the visibility at London airport was still zero. Fog also delayed flights at Ottawa airport.

Traffic moved slowly but no serious accidents were reported. Many persons were late for work.

The Welland ship canal was closed by fog early today, holding up ships for 14 hours. Fifteen upbound and 10 downbound vessels were delayed.

Weather officials blamed moisture-laden air blowing in from the Great Lakes and off rivers. The air was forced up when it hit the land, struck cool air and condensed.

Seamen End 25-Day Strike

OTTWA (CP) — The 25-day strike of seamen on Canada's deep-sea ships has been settled, it was reported authoritatively today.

Settlement details were not made known here.

The strike has been in progress since Sept. 29, with the Seafarers' International Union (AFL - TLC) demanding higher wages and a shorter work week.

About 1,000 members of the SIU on 35 ocean-going ships had been called out by the union. Several of the vessels were tied up in Canadian ports. Others, still at sea, had not been affected.

Have No Major Tax Cuts In 1954, Abbott Declares

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott Thursday night washed out hope of any major tax cuts in 1954, but left open the possibility of substantial cuts in 1955 "and later." By that time, if world tensions ease, the government may also be in a position to resume paring the national debt, he added in a speech prepared for the annual meeting of the Canadian Industrial Preparedness Association.

"I cannot forecast what our essential defence needs may be over the next three to five years," he said. "If we have to maintain our present rate and scale of preparedness, further tax reductions can only come from further growth in total output and efficiency.

"If, as we all hope, real progress can be made in reducing world tensions, some real reductions in defence corps could come our way—not much, if any, in 1954—but perhaps in 1955 and later."

Production Minister Howe, in a brief address, said he felt that Canada is now in a position to meet any defence problem that may arise.

Defence Minister Claxton said the satellite countries appeared to have changed their tactics, though not their "recognizable design." He believed the change resulted from the defence efforts of the freedom-loving countries. Canada's effort should continue.

"Defence is like fire insurance," Mr. Claxton said. "You shouldn't cut off the policy just because you haven't had a fire."

Report Former Queen Attempts Suicide

PARIS (AP)—Beautiful ex-Queen Alexandra of Yugoslavia appeared in a French divorce court Thursday wearing on her left wrist a bandage which her lawyer said was due to a grief-stricken suicide attempt.

Louis de Chairsemartin, the lawyer for the former queen, said she had tried to commit suicide Wednesday night at her Paris hotel by cutting her wrist with a pocketknife. He said a doctor visited her Thursday morning but that she did not ask for a medical certificate excusing her from the court appearance.

Northern Ireland Returns Government

BELFAST (Reuters)—The Northern Ireland Unionist government, firm advocate of maintaining the link with Britain, is once again firmly entrenched in power as a result of Thursday's election.

With 13 results to come, the state of the parties bidding for the 52 Ulster House of Commons seats was: Unionists 31; Nationalists 4; Labor and Independents 4.

In the previous House the Unionists had 37 seats and the Nationalists, who advocate union with the neighboring Republic of Ireland, had nine.

Victory for the Unionists was expected. They have been in office since 1921, when Northern Ireland was given a separate parliament. The country is responsible for its own home affairs, while foreign and defence matters are handled from London.

Accuse Local Heads Of Bribe-Taking

DETROIT (AP) — The AFL Teamsters International union Thursday seized control of two locals whose leaders are accused of bribe-taking, shakedowns and sellouts of members.

The action came as more excavating and trucking contractors told of "getting right with the union" by payoffs ranging from $100 to $500. In one case "a couple of new suits" was the suggested payoff to a union business agent.

On orders from teamsters international president Dave Beck, trusteeships were clamped on Detroit Local 247 and Pontiac Local 614.

Five of six defendants now undergoing examination on extortion charges have been officers of the two locals. They were automatically removed, however, by the international's action.

Gloucesters' Colonel Awarded VC

LONDON (Reuters) — Lt.-Col. James Carne, leader of the "Glorious Gloucesters" during the regiment's Imjin river battle in Korea in 1951, has been awarded the Victoria Cross, it was announced today.

The third Commonwealth soldier to receive Britain's highest award for valor during the Korean war, Carne returned home only this month after having been freed by the Communists in the prisoner exchange.

Maj. Kenneth Muir and Pte. William Speakman earlier won VCs during the Korean fighting.

Carne, 47, will receive the medal from the Queen at an investiture in Buckingham Palace Tuesday. The Queen will also present him with the Distinguished Service Order which he won for previous Korean service.

The citation accompanying the VC award, released by the war office today, said he "showed powers of leadership which can seldom have been surpassed in the history of our army."

LEADERSHIP OUTSTANDING

He inspired his men to "fight beyond the normal limits of human endurance in spite of overwhelming odds and ever-increasing casualties of ammunition and of water."

Carne was in command of the 1st Battalion of the Gloucestershire Regiment when it came under heavy Chinese Communist attack from April 22 to April 25, 1951.

"During the 24th and 25th the battalion was completely cut off from the rest of the brigade, but remained a fighting entity in face of almost continual onslaughts from an enemy who were determined at all costs and regardless of casualties to overrun it," the citation said.

"Throughout the entire engagement Lt.-Col. Carne, showing a complete disregard for his own safety, moved among the whole battalion under very heavy mortar and machine-gun fire inspiring the utmost confidence and the will to resist amongst his troops. . . .

Deny Churchill Going To UN

LONDON (CP)—A government spokesman today denied a United States press report suggesting that Sir Winston Churchill is considering attending the current United Nations General Assembly to urge a settlement of critical East-West issues.

The report, carried today in the New York Times, said Churchill had discussed with his advisers the possibility of attending the assembly session to "use this dramatic means to urge a settlement of critical issues between the Soviet Union and the Western powers."

The Times quoted "a reliable source" as saying Churchill discussed the plan with several Conservative members of Parliament at the Conservative party conference at Margate, England, held Oct. 5-11.

Blunt Talk For Soviet

Dean Urges A-Bomb Used At Next Aggression

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gordon Dean, former chairman of the atomic energy commission, today said "the next Soviet aggression" anywhere must be regarded as an invitation to use atomic bombs—possibly on Russia herself.

Dean said in a speech prepared for delivery in connection with the 50th anniversary of the motor truck industry of southern California that "the time has come when we must be very clear and very blunt in our dealings with the Soviet."

"I believe the time has come to make Russia understand that if she moves in any quarter of the globe she will be struck and struck hard, not simply at the front line of her aggressive troops but at every element which supplies those troops.

"Let's tell them, and mean it, that while we hate the thought of using atomic bombs, the next Soviet aggression must be regarded as an invitation to use them, if need be, to stop the aggression.

"Let's make it plain that if Russia moves directly or indirectly in Korea, the Middle East or Arctic tomorrow, we not only will but we must destroy the vitals of such a movement—every marshalling yard, every supply depot, every contributory industrial population. . . .

"Let's tell them we will tolerate no debate as to the meaning of aggression. Such debate might take years. We'll know aggression when we see it.

"But if there be any doubts on this score, let's make it plain that it is aggression when a mortar or weapons carrier from the Skoda works of Czechoslovakia is found next to a dead man from the Western world. That's enough. It is enough when a MiG, employed to assist an aggression, can be traced to a Russian factory."

Ask Exporters Try Harder On Sales

By FORBES RHUDE

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Canadian exporters today told themselves to try harder to sell Canadian goods in other countries.

They did this at the annual meeting of the Canadian Exporters' Association in adopting a series of policy recommendations.

One of these "noted with alarm that many Canadian exporters do not exert the same efforts in promoting export business as in the domestic sales field."

It noted, too, that "extensive overseas travelling by export executives coupled with intensive market research and carefully planned sales promotion are basic requisites to successful exporting;" and that "the Canadian government maintains an excellent trade commissioner service which to date has not always received the full support of Canadian exporters."

They recommended that association members actively consider "plans for increased export efforts and continue to urge non-exporters to participate in export trade as a national duty; and that the association should approach other interested groups with a view to formation of a joint committee to organize a concerted effort for promotion of export trade."

SEEK INCENTIVE

They also asked the government "to explore immediately the possibility of providing incentives to Canadian companies to increase their exports."

The exporters said the U. S. as a member of the General Agreement on tariffs and trade signed at Geneva in 1947 "has repeatedly disregarded the spirit of that organization by imposing new import curbs and bans."

They asked the Canadian government, "through aggressive diplomatic representation . . . to encourage the United States to reduce its barriers, visible and invisible, against all imports."

GET EVEN: LAST RESORT

They further suggested that Canada "apply retaliatory action as a last resort, in the event of the institution of import curbs on products, the interchange of which are covered by existing agreements."

The government was asked to make "further and stronger representations" to the U. S. concerning simplification of American customs procedures and "to open negotiations at the earliest possible opportunity with the United Kingdom and other Commonwealth territories with a view to arriving at a substantial liberalization of trade."

It was also urged "to press for a still greater expansion of products and dollars in 1954 of the British West Indies trade liberalization plan and an increase in the percentage of the United Kingdom token import scheme."

The government was further asked to inform agriculture, industry and other producers whenever trade negotiations with other countries are planned, so as to give them ample time to state their problems and make recommendations, particularly if tariff rates on specific commodities are to be negotiated.

2 Admit Cleaning Out Bank

Fled To Ontario With $103,972 In Tube

HARRISONBURG, Va. (AP)—Two bank officials pleaded guilty here Thursday to cleaning out the vault of the only bank in little New Market and speeding to Ontario with $103,972 crammed in a slit inner tube.

Immediately after their arraignment in federal district court, Judge John Paul sentenced Theodore Roosevelt Beahm, 56, to a total of eight years in prison and Don R. Simpson, 55, to 12 years in prison.

Beahm formerly was mayor of New Market and was cashier and executive vice-president of the Citizens National Bank in the Shenandoah valley community. Simpson, a director in the bank, took out bankruptcy papers last month.

Charles Simpson, 31, a nephew of the former director, pleaded guilty to charges of being an accessory and was sentenced to 3½ years in prison for helping transport the stolen money.

Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation said only $10,820 of the funds, which included $ 500 in cash, had been recov

Churchill Receives Confidence Vote On British Guiana

LONDON (AP)—The House of Commons gave a clear-cut vote of confidence Thursday night to the Churchill government for its action in suspending the constitution of British Guiana and ousting the government of leftist Premier Cheddi Jagan. The House rejected, by a vote of 294-256, a Labor amendment denouncing the government's move and then endorsed the Conservatives' action without a count. The 38-vote margin was considered a decisive victory for the government, which charged the Jagan government was plotting to set up South America's first Communist rebime in the rich colony.

One spectator at the stormy five-hour debate which preceded the vote was Jagan himself, who flew to London to present his case. At a press conference the dapper East India-born dentist declared that the story of a plot was "invented" and challenged the government to arrest him if it believed he and his ministers had plotted to burn government buildings. He denied that his People's Progressive party, which won 18 of the 24 seats in the Colonial Assembly at the last election, was Communist, though he declared it definitely was not anti-Communist.

CONSIDERING TRIALS

Colonial Secretary Oliver Lyttleton told the House the government is considering bringing several of the deposed ministers to trial on charges of plotting a campaign of arson. But he admitted there would be difficulty in getting sufficient evidence as some "agents are unwilling for fear of intimidation to make written statements or give evidence in court."

Prime Minister Churchill and Lyttelton directed the swift moves in the rich colony of rum, sugar and bauxite Oct. 8 after British troops had been moved in as a precaution.

TOO DRASTIC, SAYS LABOR

In their attack, Labor members called the government's action too drastic. Few, however, sought to defend the ousted ministers.

Clement Attlee, former Labor prime minister, contended the government should have dismissed the Guiana ministers while dealing with the threat, but should have kept the colony's constitution in force. The constitution came into effect only this year.

Attlee conceded there was little doubt some of the local leaders were Communists and said the people of Guiana had made "a very big mistake" in electing them.

Jagan Thursday night addressed a rally of more than 1,000 wildly-cheering supporters at which he declared the charge of communism was a "red herring." He denied his party had conspired to foment strikes to halt production in the sugar mills.

D. C. MacDonald CCF Candidate

OTTAWA (CP)—Donald C. MacDonald, national organizer and treasurer of the CCF, announced today he will be a candidate for the Ontario leadership of the party at its provincial convention Nov. 20-21 in Toronto.

The 39-year-old former newspaper man, a member of the Ontario provincial council of the CCF since 1946, will seek the post left vacant in August by the resignation of E. B. Jolliffe.

In a brief statement, Mr. MacDonald said several people have asked him to run and he has decided to let his name stand.

"I expect there will be several other nominees," he added.

BREWIN MAY RUN

According to reports in CCF quarters here, these might include Andrew Brewin, Toronto lawyer and unsuccessful candidate in federal elections, and Ald. William Dennison of Toronto, former member of the legislature for Rosedale.

Mr. MacDonald has been a full-time CCF worker since 1946, first as national education secretary and since 1950 in his present office. He is a former president of the Ottawa and District CCF Council.

He was born in Cranbrook, B. C., and in the last federal election he ran in that area—Kootenay East—losing to a Liberal. It was his first try for legislative office. He was raised on a farm near Ormstown, Que.

Bond Payroll Sales Reach $29,040,450

OTTAWA (CP)—The new Canada savings bond campaign rolled up a big early gain with total payroll sales climbing to $29,040,450 in the first two days of the official drive.

This, said the Bank of Canada Thursday, is about four times as large as the $7,329,000 sold in the first two days last year. Part of the gain resulted from advance canvassing among federal employees. The campaign opened last Monday and will continue for some weeks.

Ontario led the provinces with a spectacular payroll sales jump to $9,408,150 from $1,398,800 last year.

Report Prices Mixed In Toronto Trading

TORONTO (CP) — Prices were mixed in early afternoon stock market trading today.

Refining oils and steels made the biggest industrial gains. Utilities showed some strength and papers were mixed.

Base metals were higher with seniors mostly steady.

Golds were down half a point.

Western oils were unchanged from the opening with few issues trading and most of them down slight amounts. Uraniums and New Brunswick base metals slowed from their brisk pace of the last few sessions.

The 1 p. m. index showed industrials up .35 at 308.69, golds down .46 at 69.78, base metals up .32 at 147.47 and western oils down .01 at 92.47.

Youth 21, Shot, Among Bushes Taken For Bear

SALAMANCA, N.Y. (AP) — An Indian youth identified as Harvey Silversmith, 21, of Caledonia, Ont., was shot and killed Thursday by another youth who mistook him for a bear, sheriff Morgan L. Sigel of Cattaraugus county reported.

The fatal shot was fired with a 30-30 rifle by Laverne Redeye, 19, also an Indian, according to Sigel.

Dr. James Happell, Cattaraugus county coroner, said he would issue a certificate of accidental death.

Sigel said the shooting occurred after a group of school children reported seeing a bear swimming in the Allegheny river. Redeye went to the bank of the river, thought he saw a bear moving in the bushes along the bank and fired, Sigel said. Silversmith was hit in the jaw.

The Canadian youth had been visiting relatives on the Allegany Indian reservation.

St. Thomas Has Site Needs Cash For Centre

St. Thomas has a memorial community problem centre differing from Peterborough's mainly in phases of financing. Their ratepayers are being asked to vote on the question: "Are you in favor of taking over and completing the St. Thomas and Elgin memorial community centre at an estimated cost of $210,000, and issuing debentures to cover that cost?"

St. Thomas has a site and apparently the foundation of a community building, but is short of funds to see it through to completion.

Already $145,000 voluntarily given has gone into the project, and the total expenditure so far is around $190,000. Hence, the "city should be getting an excellent arena and community hall or auditorium at a reasonable figure." There are $65,000 in obligations the city is not bound to assume, according to the advice of the St. Thomas city solicitor. Some litigation about pre-stressed concrete structural work involves $30,000, and this is included in the amount which the city council recommends for acceptance and payment by the people.

"A move was made in June to dissolve the incorporated company," but there is some doubt whether dissolution actually took place.

food shortages, factory shutdowns and health problems. Vehicles were stalled for miles around the city.

The London executive of the national health service called on the government to make sure patients do not suffer because doctors haven't enough gasoline to reach them.

FUNERALS OFF

Many funerals scheduled for today were cancelled as undertakers reported their gas supplies depleted. The Undertakers Association appealed for emergency supplies of gasoline contending that "stoppage of funerals would produce serious public health conditions."

A spokesman for the British Automobile Association gave this picture:

"London, for all practical purposes, is without petrol. We are rationing hundreds of stranded motorists to a gallon apiece so they can get home or go to a garage outside the affected area."

Prime Minister Churchill today put some of his cabinet ministers on a stand-by basis for the weekend to deal with any new crisis in the strike.

He kept in close touch with the situation himself and cancelled an engagement to speak at the Alamein reunion tonight.

Manville's 9th Wife Charges Husband

NEW YORK (AP)—The ninth wife of Tommy Manville says the asbestos heir fired a shot at her, striking her left foot.

Anita Roddy-Eden Manville made the accusation in a suit for separation filed in Manhattan Supreme Court. She says Tommy fired the shot last March 14 in his New Rochelle home. The bullet missed her by inches, she adds, then bounced from a wall and hit her left foot.

The Weather

Peterborough Temperatures:

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public weather office in Toronto at 9:30 a.m.:

Synopsis:

The pleasant sunny weather which southern Ontario is enjoying, is due to a belt of high pressure which extends from the Maritimes across the New England states and over the lower Great Lakes regions. However, the western portion of the high pressure is breaking down. Cloud, associated with a weak cold front, is expected to move into southern Ontario this evening from the west. Weekend weather will be somewhat cooler but temperatures will still be above normal for late October.

Cloudy skies and scattered showers are forecast to continue today and Saturday in the north country.

Regional forecasts valid until midnight Saturday:

Lake Erie, Lake Huron, Lake Ontario, Niagara, southern Georgian Bay and Haliburton regions: Windsor, London, Toronto and Hamilton. Sunny and warm today, clouding over this evening; cloudy with a few sunny intervals and widely scattered showers; a little cooler; winds light today, northwest 15 Saturday; low tonight and high Saturday at St. Thomas, Windsor and Toronto 45 and 65, Wingham and London 40 and 65, Trenton, St. Catharines and Hamilton 45 and 65, Muskoka 35 and 65, Killaloe 30 and 65. Summary for Saturday: A little cooler.

Firing Squads Kill Five Partisans

BERLIN (AP)—Five anti-Communist partisans have been executed by firing squads in East Germany and thousands of Red troops and police are hunting surviving underground fighters near the Polish frontier, the United States high commission's Neue Zeitung reported today.

The newspaper said two Communist police officers and several patrolmen were killed in a new clash within the last 48 hours in the Cottbus district. The East German government had admitted four police dead in gun battles there last week with "Fascist terrorists infiltrated by American and West German spy centres."

READY TO CELEBRATE

The executive of Cobourg's Galloping Ghosts are planning a dinner after their home game with Peterborough Orfuns Saturday afternoon. It will be a celebration of the return of the Eastern Ontario title, "or a bitter farewell to the Orfuns taking off for the provincial play-off route again." The Cobourg weekly says: "There will be no halfway gestures at that supper, either roaring champions or bitter, defeated second bests." Peterborough takes a handicap of six points to the lakeside town.

PHONY AMBULANCE ALARMS

The two local ambulance companies are angry over a rash of false alarms that are being phoned in. Thursday night both Nisbett's and Boyd's answered a call to Romaine and George Sts. but it was a wild goose chase for both of them. The incident was reported to city police. "It's not funny," commented Norman Nisbett. "We could be out on a false run when somebody is really seriously hurt."

Nelson Convicted Of Manslaughter

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — George Nelson, 23, was convicted today on a reduced charge of manslaughter in the bludgeoning of his 19-year-old wife and sentenced to 15 years.

The jury deliberated about an hour. Nelson was originally charged with murder but the jury brought in the reduced charge.

High Buttoned Boots Latest In Men's Fashion Show

LONDON (Reuters)—There was some fancy footwork—and a few dandy suits to boot—at a male fashion show presented here Thursday night by the British shoe industry and the Men's Fashion Council.

Pointed toes, wedgie moccasins and high-buttoned boots sat on tables and tried to look dashing instead of downright embarrassing.

The shoe trade says the day of the plain black or brown shoe is over.

They hope to get the menfolk into something livelier in the way of footwear. Like the white buckskin and black patent leather combination, adorned with three pearl buttons, or the wedgie with the dangling tassles.

The pointed toe is also creeping back, the trade says.

NOTHING DULL HERE

There were plenty of raised eyebrows in the audience too for the splendor of the clothes worn by the models.

A bearded one modelled an Englishman's week-end suit—hard-to-miss checked cloth in a fawn mixture, with a single-breasted jacket which was pleated at the sides to give an illusion of slits. Another model strode out in magnificent heather green plaid plus-fours. With it he wore a green fur felt cap.

Then came the man about town in his "Bermuda green dinner jacket and midnight blue trousers."

Coffee Party First ORMTA Meeting

A coffee party Thursday morning at the home of Mrs. R. Y. Kenny, 319 Pearl Avenue, highlighted this month's meeting of Peterborough Branch of the Ontario Registered Music Teachers' Association. Mrs. Kenny was assisted with the refreshments by social convener Mrs. Keith Braund.

During the business conducted by president Mr. Donald Kennedy final plans for the convention of the ORMTA to be held here in Trinity United Church Hall on Monday, November 9th, were made. Peterborough Branch will act as host to delegates from branches of the eastern section of the Province. This will be a day-long convention with each branch represented in charge of a session. Plans for the evening session, in charge of the local branch, include a short concert by local artists.

Program convener Mr. Christopher Gledhill announced the meeting on November 24th will be in the form of a students' recital for all grades and will be in the Public Library auditorium.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP) — The U. S. dollar was at a discount of 1 27-32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds at noon today. Thursday's noon rate was 98 9-32 cents. Pound sterling $2.75¾, against $2.76.

Stopped—Almost

Stopping, almost, to detect a shorting wire under his dashboard, Donald McFadden, 19, of 1013 High St., didn't have his brakes on quite hard enough Thursday and his car rolled into a parked car, causing $40 damage. He had just passed the corner of George and King Sts., when he smelled the burning insulation and stopped to find the trouble. The parked car was owned by James Purvis of Bellevile.

Car Door Opened, Auto Hits It, Both Damaged

Two vehicles each sustained $100 in damages after a motorist opened his car door in the path of a second car on McDonnel St. Thursday.

William McKelvey, 39, of 627 Oxford St., was driving west when his vehicle struck the door of one owned by Samuel Fama, 34, of 658 Brown St., near the intersection of Park St.

Fama was parked on the north side and was opening his left door when the accident occurred. PC Bert Howden investigated.

Youth Pleads Guilty To Car Theft

HAMILTON (CP) — Arrested Thursday in Niagara Falls, Ont., 17-year-old Charles James Allen, pleaded guilty this morning to car theft and was remanded until Oct. 29 for sentence.

While travelling to Niagara Falls with a 15-year-old girl friend at speeds ranging to 65 miles an hour, Allen turned the car over on a corner. Both were thrown out, but not hurt. A passing motorist picked them up, then left to phone the police. The couple fled hurriedly but were picked up later in Thorold—allegedly after the boy had stolen another car and abandoned it.

PoWs Delaying Decision On Sitdown

PANMUNJOM (AP)—Red efforts to persuade anti-Communist Korean war prisoners to return home appeared today to be stalled at least until next week, and there was no indication whether the PoWs would call off a sitdown which threatens the armistice.

The prisoners had been expected to announce a decision today. But in mid-afternoon an informed source said the North Koreans would wait at least until Monday to reply to Indian efforts to get the explanation program going again.

The neutral nations repatriation commission met today for two hours, then recessed without reporting progress on the problem of coaxing balky anti-Red Koreans to attend Communist interviews.

After today's commission meeting Lt.-Gen. K.S. Thimayya, the Indian chairman, said the commission could not agree on the amount of force needed to get the Korean prisoners out of their compounds and the possible consequences of such action.

PUSH 'EM, THEN WHAT?

Indian troops were empowered to "push" balky prisoners to get them to the explanations. But he added:

"If other North Koreans jump in to help, or attack Indian troops, and it becomes necessary to use force against those prisoners, that is an entirely different matter. It is, the consequences and the amount of force which is at issue."

Manvers Pupil Polio Victim

BETHANY (ENS)—The first case of polio reported in this district is a boy aged eight who lives on 7A highway about two miles west of the village. He was taken to Peterborough Civic hospital isolation wing when his illness was diagnosed as polio by Dr. G. M. Longfield. He attends Galloway's School and this school has been ordered closed by the trustees on recommendation of Miss G. Raikes, RN, of Millbrook, who is the district health nurse in connection with the Durham County Health Unit. His condition was reported today as satisfactory.

A turkey dinner and concert scheduled for next Wednesday under the auspices of the United Church has been postponed until a later date pending any further developments.

Casualties Of Korean War Will Be Over Three Million

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Final casualty figures for the Korean war, still clouded by uncertainty over the fate of thousands missing who may be dead, indicate both sides suffered a toll of more than 3,000,000. Based on figures from official and United Nations delegation sources, total casualties for the UN side are figured at 1,474,269, of which the Republic of Korea total is 1,312,836, the United States 144,173 and the 15 other UN Allies 17,260. Canada's total was given as 1,396. In all but a few instances, the figures ran past the July 27 armistice date. Washington sources, basing their figures on a roundup they made in July, estimated Communist casualties, killed and wounded, at 1,420,000, and prisoners at another 120,000 for a total of 1,540,000—scaled down from an estimate last April of 1,876,000.

MANY MISSING

The U.S. still has 7,955 listed missing. The defence department early this month said they "must eventually be presumed dead."

Along with almost-complete casualty tolls, delegation sources have revealed that the UN allies actually put onto the front thousands more of men, through rotation and replacement, than the standard size of a unit. From three to six times the strength of a unit finally served on the front.

Turkey, for example, with a unit of 5,000 men, had personnel numbering 29,882 during the three years Turkish troops were on the front.

Troop losses generally figured in ratio to the standard size of the unit involved.

CASUALTY BREAKDOWN

This is the breakdown of UN casualties:

Republic of Korea: dead 415,004, wounded 428,568, missing 459,428, returned prisoners of war 7,848, prisoners still claimed to be in enemy hands 1,988. Total 1,312,836.

United States: dead 25,604, wounded 105,961, missing and presumed dead 7,955 (as of Oct. 9), captured and returned 4,631 (adjustment of Aug. 19 figures), prisoners now in repatriation compound 22. Total 144,173.

Britain: dead 710, wounded 2,278, missing 1,263, captured 766. Total 5,017.

Canada: dead 291, wounded 1,072, missing 21, captured 12. Total 1,396.

Turkey: dead 717, wounded 2,246, missing 146, captured 219. Total 3,349.

Australia: dead 291, wounded 1,340, missing 39, captured 21. Total 1,591.

France: dead 288, wounded 818, missing 18, captured 11. Total 1,135.

Greece: dead 169, wounded 543, missing 2, captured 1. Total 715.

Thailand: dead 114, wounded 794, missing 5. Total 913.

Ethiopia: dead 120, wounded 536. Total 656.

Colombia: dead 140, wounded 452, missing 65, captured 29. Total 686.

Belgium-Luxembourg: dead 97, wounded 350, missing 5, captured 1. Total 453.

Philippines: dead 92, wounded 299, missing 57, captured 40. Total 488.

Netherlands: Dead 111, wounded 589, missing 4. Total 704.

New Zealand: dead 34, wounded 80, captured 1. Total 115.

South Africa: dead 20, missing 16, captured 6. Total 42.

The Pentagon estimates put the Chinese Communist dead and wounded at 900,000, the North Korean figure at 520,000. Chinese Communist prisoners were estimated at 20,000, North Koreans at 100,000.

Accident Results In Conviction On Driving Count

On a charge arising out of a very minor accident October 4, Mrs. Mary Sculthorpe, 36, of 232 Edinburgh St., was convicted of impaired driving Thursday by Magistrate R. I. Moore, QC.

Wilfred Gedge, 537 O'Connell Rd., was standing at the corner of McDonnel and Reid Sts. that day and witnessed the accident. He said a car pulled up to the corner where it stopped and a second vehicle, driven by the accused, pulled up behind it, rounded it and struck the already stopped vehicle.

The driver and passenger of the first car, both described as youths, got out of the car and Mrs. Sculthorpe, out of her vehicle. The youths evidently said she had hit their car because Gedge quoted her as saying: "Why I didn't hit you; I didn't do that damage."

PC Grant Gillespie, next witness, described the way he found the vehicles on his arrival at the scene and said the woman staggered slightly while her breath smelled very strongly of alcohol.

CHEWING GUM

Mrs. K. I. Shadgett, police matron, who visited her in the cell, said she could smell alcohol on the accused's breath in spite of the fact she was chewing gum. She also said the defendant was very abusive, argumentive and resisted efforts on the matron's part to take off her jewellery.

According to the accused, she had consumed one bottle of beer just prior to the crash and the accident didn't happen the way it was described by Gedge.

She said she arrived at the light first and the second car pulled up after. When the two cars collided, she got out and inspected the damage with the youths. On the stand she claimed she didn't argue with them or anyone at all until attempts were made to lock her in the police cell.

Under questioning by defence counsel J. C. Currelly, she admitted her health was not very good and she was highly excitable.

Other witnesses who saw her prior and following the accident said her condition was normal. W. R. Sollitt, 277 John St., said they had consumed a bottle of beer each about four o'clock, half an hour prior to the accident.

Mrs. Sollitt, the other defence witness's wife, agreed the accused's condition was normal when she left their house and drove away. Visiting Mrs. Sculthorp at about 11 o'clock, Dr. Robert Young found her condition to be normal, and said he found no symptoms of intoxication. At this time she was in the police cells.

OPP Constable D. K. Ross, who arrived and left the scene prior to the arrival of Constable Gillespie was very non-committal about her condition. "I wasn't in any position to say whether she was impaired or not."

Mr. Currelly pointed out to Magistrate Moore he thought it "significant" neither of the other two parties involved in the accident testified on the Crown's behalf.

"Yes, and I don't like that," the magistrate answered.

He found, however, the Crown had submitted enough evidence to prove the charge and imposed the minimum penalty, $50 plus $10.50 costs. The defence announced today they would appeal the sentence.

31 Teen-Agers Appear On Charges

CHATHAM (CP)—Charges ranging from indecent assault to chicken theft were dealt with in court here yesterday when 31 Wallaceburg district teen-agers appeared on 44 charges laid as a result of a two-night party on a farm in nearby Tupperville on Oct. 3.

"This looks as though it's going to be a field day for the press," commented crown attorney A. D. Bell as he prepared to wade through the maze of charges before magistrate Ivan B. Craig.

"There have been many wild stories circulating about the Tupperville incident, and I am glad the press is here to get the true picture," Magistrate Craig said.

He said he had always found the press very fair.

The charges included indecent assault, contributing to juvenile delinquency, theft of gasoline, consumption of alcohol by minors, supplying minors with liquor, theft of a chicken and incorrigibility.

The court action came after almost three week's intensive investigation by police, and ended a flood of rumor and gossip.

HAD LIVELY TIME

The evidence indicated the party started following a dance at the Wallaceburg district high school. It was held at the home of a Tupperville farmer, who with his wife had gone away for the weekend.

The party "got out of hand," according to Mr. Bell, and before dawn, the youths had drained a storage tank of gasoline, filling up the tanks of their cars; drank beer; used up 20 dozen eggs playing baseball on the front lawn, splattering the wallpaper in three rooms and a hall, and having an egg-eating breakfast contest; killed a chicken, splashing blood around the house; where it made a fearful mess of the rugs and floors; opened bureau drawers in the bedroom and tore underclothing.

SUGGESTED POKER

A 14 - year-old girl, giving evidence in connection with indecent assault charges against two youths, said she and some boys were playing cards, when someone suggested they play strip poker.

"I wouldn't have anything to do with it," she said.

She said two boys, in fun, carried her upstairs and tossed her on a bed. Absolutely nothing happened. No one touched her, she said.

The charges against the two boys were dismissed.

Ten charges of gasoline theft were heard. Some of the boys pleaded guilty and paid fines of $10 and costs. The rest, who pleaded not guilty were remanded for trial in Wallaceburg on Nov. 24.

Several boys who returned for a party the following night, pleaded guilty to consuming alcohol and paid fines of $25 and costs of $39.50.

LIQUOR SUPPLIER FINED

George DeMaeyer of Wallaceburg pleaded guilty to a charge of supplying liquor to minors and was fined $50 and costs of $64.50.

During the hearing Mr. Bell denied there was any truth in rumors of dope being used.

Only the cases involving three juvenile girls were held in camera.

When the in-camera hearing was over, Magistrate Craig said he was "shocked by some of the evidence.

Later, in an interview, the magistrate expressed amazement so few parents of the accused youths attended the trial.

After some of the youths were fined and others remanded for trial, the mother of one of the girls said:

"I wonder if these fines will be a lesson to them."

The mother of another of the girls said:

"This is the most shocking thing that has ever happened to me."

Rain Still Hampers Flood Rescue Work

By ALLAN JACKS

REGGIO CALABRIA, Italy (AP) Rescue workers searched frantically today through wrecked homes in a dozen small villages for victims of devastating flash floods that may have claimed as many as 100 lives.

Torrential rains continued to pour on the stricken area from Reggio along the Ionian sea this morning. They stopped abruptly at noon, but heavy clouds threatened new downpours.

In the Reggio Calabria area alone 53 dead have been accounted for. Scores of persons are missing.

Hundreds were injured in the disaster, the worst here since an earthquake levelled the region in 1908. Residents said the damage, estimated in billions of lire, was far greater than that caused by similar inundations two years ago.

Among the hardest-hit hamlets was Rosario di Valanidi, inhabited almost entirely by women and children whose husbands and fathers have gone to Canada to work. Assunta Condemi, 40, was rescued after her own heroic efforts to save the lives of her three small children were thwarted by a sudden wave of mud and water that tore her smallest child out of her hands.

At San Giorgio, bodies dug out of debris were lined up in a macabre column under the eaves of the little railroad station.

The floods struck without warning just before dawn Thursday, catching many persons asleep in bed.

Twelve hours of heavy rains had turned large areas into seas of mud, but caused only minor damage. Then suddenly, tremendous cloudbursts struck across the toe of the Italian boot. Mountains forming a huge bowl only a few miles from the coast caught the water and sent it racing towards the sea.

Mountain torrents, usually dry at this season, ripped away bridges that ordinarily are five to 10 yards above the water. The boiling water surged out of the river courses, wrecking homes, tearing down communications and power lines and devastating thousands of acres of vineyard and olive orchards.

Its force tore great holes in stone and concrete walls and tossed automobiles and farm vehicles hundreds of feet.

Among 17 known dead in the village of Oliveto was the parish priest, Don Giuseppe Maesano, who drowned trying to rescue a drowning child.

Italian soldiers, firemen and volunteers, including women, searched for the missing and helped clear the debris cluttering village streets and highways.

YOU—AND YOUR CAR—WILL ENJOY A GARAGE
Smart Garage Builders Are Turning To The "BERRY" All-Steel Garage Door

A SMART DOOR—Horizontal grooves in the rugged High-Grade sheet steel. A triple layer of zinc plate, Bonderite and paint give you a door fully rust-proof.

LIGHT WEIGHT—One piece steel with the strongest method of vertical and diagonal reinforcement known. Easily supports 100 lb. weight on any corner. NO SIDE SWAY—exclusive stabilizing arm quickly centred in opening... once centred it will never, never rub on the door jamb.

LABOR INSTALLATION COSTS SLASHED—Door operates smoothly and silently on steel ball bearing rollers which glide in V-type tracks. Wheel tolerance eliminates pin point alignment.

NO SPECIAL FRAMING—The hanger strap is perforated so that it can easily be nailed to any desired point. The entire operation is amazingly simple, any ceiling joist 4 to 7 feet from the door jamb can be used as supporting member.

QUIET—26 pieces of thick sponge rubber stop sound waves from vibrating between the framing and the door. The roller operates on the track in almost absolute silence.

SECURE—Latch locks door on both sides. Steel rods are used instead of troublesome chains, adjustable to right or left hand.

WEATHER SEALED—Bottom rubber weather seal is fully adjustable.

OWNER CAN ADJUST DOOR TENSION—Anyone can adjust the tension and balance of the new Berry Door. A simple twist of a single nut on each side of the door regulates the tenison of the powerful lifting springs.

NOTE: All Berry Doors are designed so that they can be put together to make a DOUBLE DOOR.

8' 0" x 7' 0" ALL-STEEL DOOR with Hardware $73.50

Security Council Again

History is repeating itself. The Security Council is back in the news, and, it seems, in action. Between 1946 and 1950 the Security Council of U.N. was the most important and most discussed international agency in existence. It seemed to hold the threads of peace and war in its hands, and certainly it was the storm centre of international politics. Remember the veto (Russian, of course)? People counted the number of times the Soviet representative used a veto, and counted with alarm. That veto was used in the Security Council.

* * *

By 1950 the Security Council was paralyzed and the great decisions it was charged with making by the builders of the bright new post-war world were not being made. A way was found to circumvent the U.S.S.R. veto in the Council by referring matters directly to the U.N. Assembly. Yet, in charter and fact, some readers may have been surprised to realize by a headline in this newspaper yesterday, the Security Council still exists.

* * *

The Security Council is reviving. A few months ago it took up the Moroccan issue. Now it has in its hands the dispute between Israel and Jordan, and the problem of Trieste has been put on its lap by the Soviet Union. Whether it can deal with these matters satisfactorily or not remains to be seen. If it can, then the Security Council will be back in its intended place as the prime international agency for peace-keeping; better, the U.S.S.R. will have shown its intention to be peacefully co-operative, for the Security Council can operate only with the concurrence and support of the major powers which have perpetual seats on it (and the right of veto), and one of them is Russia.

It's Not Crime If It's Big Enough

We observe with interest that the Egyptian Government is going to auction off the personal possessions of ex-King Farouk next February. We ask (but without any expectation that anyone will give us an answer) by what right the Egyptian Government does this? Does it now own what used to belong to Farouk? If so, has it any documents that, for instance, the International Court at The Hague would recognize as valid, to prove its ownership?

We have no special interest in Farouk, but we are curious about the institution of private property. The present regime in Egypt, having pushed Farouk off the throne, has now pinched a large amount of personal property belonging to him. From this we deduce that it is wrong to steal a watch from a man whom you have intimidated, but that it is alright to steal several million dollars' worth of goods from a King you have intimidated. In short, if your crime is big enough, nobody can bring you to book for it.

It has always been thus. When Cromwell and his followers killed a King of England they broke up many of his treasures, sold them, stole, looted and generally behaved with all the moral grandeur which distinguishes the Egyptian Government at this moment. The French and the Russians did the same after their revolutions. It is the accepted thing to steal from Kings if you can get away with it. The laws which apply in ordinary cases are, for some reason which we think we understand but will not attempt to explain, suspended when the victim, and the thieves, are of sufficient magnitude.

Condemnation Of The Soviet Union

When the war ended in 1945 the United Nations was felt to be an effective instrument for maintaining world peace. No one considered that all the United Nations would think alike, but there was reason to believe that they would all act rationally and in good faith. Was not the great United States fully in support of it—unlike its abstention from the League of Nations following the Great War? Was not the powerful Soviet Union an ally of the victors who intended to create peace and goodwill on earth? So the foreign policy of many western nations was based confidently on U.N. The aggressive Soviet expansion in the first years after the war shattered hopes and illusions; it also made a fundamental change in Western nations' foreign policy essential.

The record of the Soviet Union's external actions between 1945 and the Korean War is full proof of the necessity for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. It is baldly stated in a handbook of NATO, recently published in Paris. Here is the listing:

—aggression against Iran in 1946
—seizure of control of the countries of Eastern Europe, culminating in the coup d'etat in Czechslovakia in 1948
—the rejection of the Marshall Plan and subsequent efforts to cripple the economic recovery of the West
—the organization of the Cominform
—violations of the Potsdam Agreement
—the year-long Berlin blockade
—the blocking of peace treaties with former enemy countries
—the continued maintenance of large Soviet forces throughout Eastern Europe, and the building up of 'satellite' forces
—the recurrent abuse of the veto in the United Nations
—since June, 1950, the continuing support of open Communist aggression against the Republic of Korea.

The word "aggression" has worn smooth in the last eight years and one is in danger of forgetting what it means. Let the list above restore its hard meaning to easy-going Canadians, and when Russia takes a mollifying attitude to the West let them not forget the Russian record.

The U.S.S.R. talks poppycock when it labels NATO aggressive and a menace to world peace. The menace was Russia, the aggression was hers. The Soviet Union created NATO.

Peterborough Sons Become Toronto Fathers

There are more Irishmen in New York than in Dublin. There are more Finns in Minneapolis than in Helsinki. There are more Poles in Chicago than in Warsaw. There are more Peterborough people in Toronto than in Peterborough. This last startling fact is a statistic we ourself have arrived at, through careful calculation and no more than the ordinary amount of figure-twisting allowed to all statisticians. It stands to reason that there are more Peterborough Torontonians than Peterborough Peterburians. Here is the reason to stand on, several of them.

Take the size of Toronto. In 1901 the population was only 208,040. Now Greater Toronto measures 1,117,470 heads (1951 census). Toronto did not grow all these Torontonians itself in a mere fifty years. In fact, the birth rate in Toronto is lower than in most other Ontario places (20.8 for each thousand in 1951), and the death rate is higher (11.4 for each thousand). So the natural increase—the excess of births over deaths—cannot alone account for Toronto's big population. Much of the increase is due to immigration, of course, but only 208,952 people in Toronto in 1951 had been immigrants. The rest were native-born Canadians. So, Toronto has expanded by taking in people from other provinces, and principally from Ontario centres near Toronto—like Peterborough.

Now take the other side of the story—Peterborough's side. Take its birth rate—high. Take its death rate—low. Respectively there were 28 births for each thousand of the Peterborough population in 1951, and only 9.7 deaths. In this calculation we should also take into account the rest of Peterborough county, which has also heavily contributed to Toronto's growth (birth rate 28 a thousand; death rate 9.6 a thousand). The city rate leaves a natural increase of 18.3 persons in each thousand of the population. Now these 18.3 extra persons marry, have children and carry out the other normal pursuits of Peterborough people—one of which is moving to Toronto.

If no Peterborough people moved to Toronto or elsewhere, this place would be very much bigger than it now is. In fact, by natural increase alone, assuming the 18.3 per thousand rate to be constant, Peterborough would have had, from a start of 10,995 people in 1901, 28,115 now (a mathematical calculation of a geometric progression). Now, if all those people had stayed, and counting the thousands of immigrants from other parts of the province, of the country and from abroad, Peterborough would now have a population of 80,000, not 40,000. Why does it not have this size; why is Toronto so big? Because Peterborough people have gone to Toronto, attracted to it like iron filings to a magnet, flies to a honey-pot, buzzards to a flesh-pot.

All the foregoing is propounded for the sole purpose of warning Peterborough people not to criticize Toronto too harshly, for in doing so, they are really criticizing Peterborough people. It is a warning other Ontario centres might heed. Toronto, the unloved and unrespected by outsiders, is the creation of those outside centres. So, you disparage Toronto and Torontonians only at the risk of condemning your own flesh and blood. Peterborough sons, Hamilton sons, Brantford sons, Belleville sons, they become the fathers of Toronto. Toronto is what it is because these other centres were what they were.

The Army Of Love

By JOHN CAIRNCROSS (in Rome)

LAST FEBRUARY an Italian journalist, a Signor Renzi, wrote an article entitled "The Army of Love." There was nothing sensational about it. In the realist post-war Italian tradition, it aimed at presenting the disastrous war in Greece in a rather cynical light, far removed from the floridly rhetorical style endemic in Italy under Mussolini, and even after his disappearance.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE SKIT dwelt at some length on the amours of the occuyin. troops, and was seasoned with certain piqu.nt details. It attracted no special attention at the time, particularly as the review in which it appeared, "Cinema Nuovo," is addressed to a specialised public.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE WAS great surprise, therefore, when in September Renzi and Aristarco, his editor, were sent to the fortress of Peschiera to await trial before a military court in Milan on a charge of slandering the armed forces. Their arrest was justified by the fact that, like every adult Italian male except the aged and infirm, they were on the Reserve.

✧ ✧ ✧

AFTER a five days' trial the court ordered them (on October 9) to pay costs; reduced them to the ranks; and sentenced Renzi to seven months' and Aristarco to six months' imprisonment with suspended sentences. This means their immediate release—followed, in all probability, by an appeal to a higher court and the quashing of the sentence.

✧ ✧ ✧

PERHAPS the strangest aspect of this strange affair is the contrast between the provision of the military code under which the men were sentenced, and the liberal post-war Constitution which rules that Reserve officers and men can be tried only by civil courts. The Army may see nothing curious in accepting as still valid a law which provides for punishment for officers against the King Emperor and the Fascist Grand Council (all of them long ago abolished). The prosecuting counsel, General Solina (who saw service in Greece) may, with little show of legal argument, have swept aside this contrast as "a hoary tale." Nonetheless, Italian public opinion shows signs of demanding that Parliament take the steps, which it should have taken long ago, to put matters right.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE TRIAL also brought out another factor which strikes foreign observers in Italy—the tendency to glorify The Law as something untouchable and unchanging, when in fact what is being defended is a type of authoritarian regime; and when more liberal legislation is regarded as a pernicious innovation.

✧ ✧ ✧

SOLINAS maintained that the Army is always the same, irrespective of changes in the regime, and the defence was not slow to point out the absurd consequences of this assertion. (It now becomes a crime, for instance, to criticise the forces of the petty Italian despots of the eighteenth century). And the Army comes perilously near to defending, not its conduct in Greece, but the regime that sent it there.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE TRIAL was not without its humorous side—the humour being chiefly concerned with the amatory adventures of Italian troops. It was not enough for the Generals called for the prosecution to deny that there was ever any trouble over the lack of home leave; that supplies were arbitrarily commandeered, or to affirm that the only hostages shot were two criminals who the Greeks were delighted to be rid of. It had to be proved that the Army was chaste to a degree unheard of under any Occupation. The elevated abstract principles of the law disappeared in a welter of details.

✧ ✧ ✧

RENZI had asserted that the usual tariff of the Greek ladies was a loaf. "Impossible," said the prosecution. "That would have meant doubling Army rations, and the increase would have been noticed. If any Greek women did traffic in their charms they were not driven by hunger but by habit and vice." (And this in a trial which has been justified in part by the unfortunate effect of the magazine article on Italo-Greek relations).

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE WERE SAID to have been hasty encounters on trains between Greek black marketeeresses and troops. "Out of the question," said the prosecution. "Trains were strictly controlled."

Officers usually had women in their quarters. "Perhaps," suggested one judge, "these women were just staying there as guests."

"Or," added the other judge, equally gallantly but more plausibly, "they were just girls going in to have a drink and a chat with the officers." (Smiles all round).

THE NET result of the affair has been to make the Army look rather ridiculous, and to make public opinion realise that, in the matter of civil liberties and limits on the arbitrary powers of the police, Italy is behind the rest of Western Europe. Other recent incidents, such as the release of two men who had already served seventeen years on a murder charge, and who were subequently found to be innocent, has added point to a welcome campaign to bring Italian judicial practice into line with that of her neighbours.

German inventors, already one notch up with their creation of an anti-snoring device, have invaded the far more difficult field of combatting the drunk driver. Mr. Guenter Hehemann, a Munich inventor, now claims he has perfected an auto that cannot be driven by an intoxicated person.

His formula calls for installation of a "psychotester" in the car. When the driver puts the key in the ignition, three lights flash on and put him through a complicated drill before the motor can be started. One light requires one turn of the wheel, two lights mean two turns and so on.

This routine demands a good deal of dexterity and quick thinking. It is calculated to befuddle the intoxicated driver and probably will.

The only trouble with it is that it will inevitably do the same for other drivers. The flustered husband piloting his expectant wife to hospital, the irate woman who has just bested her husband in argument, the crestfallen young man jilted by his girl— they may all be stymied at the wheel by Mr. Hehemann's formidable contraption.

Cabbage Patch

(WINNIPEG FREE PRESS)

THE past and present came into jarring contact the other day at the foot of an English garden. Early this year, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wilson took up residence in a cottage in Downton, a village in WiWltshire. It was a nice cottage, part of a new housing project, and one of the first things Mr. Wilson did was to set out his garden. In turned out to be a very satisfactory garden, with flower beds beneath the back windows, a stretch of lawn and then a few vegetables, with a cabbage patch at the far end.

The Wilson must have known that history hung heavy over their little Wiltshire village. It was upon Wiltshire meadows that Alfred the Great had met and conquered Guthrum the Dane. It is just seven miles from Downtown to Salisbury, one-time seat of the Wessex kings, and on Salisbury Plain stand the mysterious megaliths of Stonehenge, pointing their gaunt fingers into the mists of prehistoric Britain.

But it was not until, at the far end of the cabbage patch, while trying to dig a hole in which he might place a clothes pole for Mrs. Wilson, that Albert came face to face with history in his own back yard. Fourteen inches down the post-hole auger stopped. Although Albert did not know it at the time his auger had come to rest upon the tessellated floor of a Roman villa.

Within hours the whole village was talking about the great discovery. There was suppressed excitement when the archaeologists arrived and it was not long before the Wilson's little garden and the Churchill's garden next door and the garden beyond that were being carefuly scraped away to reveal the black and white and red mosaic floor upon which the patrician feet of Roman overlords had trodden 1,700 years ago.

But the thrill of discovery, for the Wilsons and their neighbours, has begun to wear a bit thin. They are proud enough of their contribution to England's store of archaeological knowledge. They are resigned to the fact that their backyards have been transformed into an ancient monument. But the council of Downtown has a quite unhistorical problem on its hands, for a man cannot grow cabbages on a tessellated Roman floor and some sort of arrangement will have to be made to take care of Mrs. Wilsons clothespole.

Autumn Stillness

(From The New York Hearld Tribune)

Autumn comes to a city with no more noise than is made when a plane tree's withered leaf hits a sidewalk. It even comes quietly to a countryman's acres of less asphalt and more trees. Autumn, until a rabbit begins to dodge a shotgun and a squirrel bounces butternuts on a stone wall, will be pretty still and pretty nice. A convention of sparrows can discuss migratory plans with a far weaker sound track than that made by an afternoon party of a women's bridge club, or a bunch of men arguing about the World Series. Even a cow acts quieter nowadyas, a man thinks. And certainly a rooster doesn't crow so often The cool stars that shine down on their purple counterpoints in a pasture are quiet, too. A good-sized star can get a long way across the sky without making as much racket as a trailer truck on the Thruway, and asters are mighty soundless in the upland fields where huckleberries no longer tinkle in tin pails.

Two-Fold Benefits

(The Niagara Falls Review)

We do not know about Americans drawing Canadian old age pensions and U. S. Social Security at the same time, but several Canadians are doing so, and quite legally. They are Canadian and have lived more than 20 years continuously in Canada but they also have been employed across the river or in Buffalo, and thus have been paying social security dues and, on retirement, are entitled to both payments. That would also apply to Americans, living on this side and employed across the river, who had lived here continuously for 20 years.

Canada Day In New York

(Montreal Star)

We can think of no more neighbourly gesture than that of Governor Dewey in proclaiming our Thanksgiving Day "Canada Day" in New York State. The very best thanks of the Canadian people will go out to him.

Friendly relations between Canada and the United States need no reaffirmation. They are continuous and active. This is not a passive friendship taken for granted. Every day thousands of Canadians and Americans pass back and forth across the long border with the utmost freedom and without that suspicion that marks border-crossings in so many other places. And in the border communities the stranger would be hard put to it to distinguish between Canadian and American so much do they think and act alike.

To speak of the 3,000 miles of undefended frontier has become a platitude. In his proclamation Governor Dewey has hit upon a happy variant of this description. He calls the border "a line of peace." Let us thank him for this, too, and thank God that we have such good neighbours.

WIDOW'S MITE

A very small man married a widow who was unusually large and tall. A few weeks after the wedding one of his friends came upon him looking very glum.

"What's the matter?" asked the friend, "Isn't your new wife agreeable?"

"She's kindness itself," said the small one sadly.

"Isn't she a good cook?"

"None better in the world."

"Then what's the matter?"

"I'd be perfectly happy," blurted the little man, "if people didn't call me 'the widow's mite'!"

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Ye men of Israel, hear these words; Jesus of Nazareth, a man approved of God among you by miracles and wonders and signs, which God did by him in the midst of you, as ye yourselves also know: him, being delivered by the determinate counsel and foreknowledge of God, ye have taken, and by wicked hands have crucified and slain: whom God hath raised up, having loosed the pains of death: because it was not possible that he should be holden of it . . . Therefore let all the house of Israel know assuredly, that God hath made that same Jesus, whom ye crucified, both Lord and Christ.

Now when they heard this, they were pricked in their heart, and said unto Peter and to the rest of the apostles, Men and brethern, what shall we do?

Then Peter said unto them, Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost. For the promise is unto you, and to your children, and to all that are afar off, even as many as the Lord our God shall call. (Act 2: 22-24, 36-39.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Take heed, brethren, lest there be in any of you an evil heart of unbelief, in departing from the living God. But exhort one another daily, while it is called To day; lest any of you be hardened through the deceitfulness of sin. For we are made partakers of Christ, if we hold the beginning of our confidence stedfast unto the end. (Heb. 3: 12-14).

BEEF FROM NORWOOD

Sir: Would you kindly print these few lines in your paper.

Thanksgiving Monday, every year,
Bring 'round the Norwood Fair.
The 4-H Hereford Calf Club
Was anything but fair.
The calves were paraded 'round and 'round
Then finally sorted out.
First prize, second prize and right down the count.
As a rule in competition,
First prize is the best,
But Oh! No, not this time.
It was better, to be next.
The Special Prize was for the first.
The red ribbon I do reckon
But then the final judging says,
No, it's for the second.
The best calf never mentioned,
I'm sure by some, a laugh,
We'd like to see fair play intentions.
"Congratulations" to the Red Ribbon Calf."

"A 4-H CALF CLUB ADMIRER".

Jolting The Motorist

(Chicago News)

We trust the engineers and police traffic experts who are working on the problem of the heavy death toll on the Edens Expressway are discussions at Buffalo, N. Y., where the Institute of Traffic Engineers met this week.

Normal traffic hazards such as sharp curves and intersections have been ironed out and deadly monotony has now taken over as a top hazard on our superhighways. Clearly monotony is one factor in the Edens death toll.

Among the suggestions viewed favourably by the engineers was one for the increased use of "jiggle bars" to jolt the nodding motorist out of his reveries. "Jiggle bars" are rounded concrete castings that can be set into highway lanes to warn drivers they are moving on a collision course.

Arctic Family Prepared To Enjoy Quebec Visit

QUEBEC (CP)—The Ananaks of Port Churchill, in the Canadian Arctic, arrived here Thursday to spend a few weeks before making the 1,500-mile trip home.

Jimmy Ananak, 56, a leather-faced, stocky man, and his family are here by accident.

Last Wednesday, Jimmy packed up to go home after serving four years at the transport department station at Resolution island, off the southern tip of Baffin island.

He boarded the icebreaker N.B. McLean for the 50-mile trip to Port Burchwell and planned to proceed home from there by dog team.

So, along with Willie, 19, Annie, 23, and Joe, 3, he embarked with his dog team—10 huskies and six pups. Willie and Annie are his step-children and Joe is Annie's boy.

Thursday, the McLean heard that the 884-ton Halifax freighter Arctic Prowler was in distress after losing a propeller shaft.

On orders from Ottawa, the McLean towed the crippled vessel 900 miles to Cape Normand in the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the Ananaks went along.

Capt. Wilfrid Dufour then sailed for Quebec when the transport department decided that Jimmy and his family could go home on the D'Iberville, leaving for Labrador "in two or three weeks." An RCAF plane will then fly the family home, dog team and all.

MOVIE FAN

Jimmy's face wrinkled up in a smile when visitors crowded around but the only member of the family who could speak a little English was his stepson, Willie, dolled up with shirt and tie.

Willie said the family helped with domestic chores at Resolution island.

He described his step-father as a hunter. "Hunt seals, polar bears, fishing," he said.

Willie asked only one question: "Any movies here?"

When told there were shows in Quebec, he said briskly: "Want see 'em."

U.S. Shuts Out Foreign Goods By Tariffs

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The United States virtually shuts out manufactured goods of other countries, J. D. Ferguson of Rock Island, Que., president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, said Thursday night.

In an address prepared for the Canadian Industrial Traffic League, Mr. Ferguson said United States department of commerce figures for 1951 show that imports of manufactured foods and other finished products amounted to only 26.9 per cent of total U.S. imports.

In comparison, Canada's imports in 1951 were 75.4 per cent manufactured goods.

TWO OBJECTIVES

He said the U.S. tariff has been built up with two objects in mind:

"First, to import free of duty or at very low rates, raw materials and finished products which she either does not produce herself or produces in very small quantity:

"And second, to establish rates of duty so high that they are practically prohibitive on manufactured goods which compete with United States manufactured goods."

Canada's exports were declining in relation to her total production. About 18 per cent of her gross national production was exported per cent in 1938.

May Cut Troops In Europe France Becoming Worried

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Growing talk here about the possibility of reducing United States ground forces in Europe has evidently disturbed the French government at a time when it is hoping for early parliamentary approval of the European Defence Community.

Retention of the six American divisions now in Europe for a long time now is regarded by the French as a major requirement for their approval of EDC.

They view the U. S. divisions not only as a safeguard against Soviet attack but also as affording protection, along with British troops, against possible revival of threatening German military power.

Under the EDC treaty, West German forces would be armed uv to a strength of at least 12 divisions as part of the North Atlantic Alliance.

The outlook for French approval of EDC had recently become bright again after much uncertainty. Now a possible threat to ratification prospects in France is seen in these developments:

1. An unofficial disclosure from Paris, subsequently confirmed here, that the U. S. has dropped a tentative proposal to send an additional armored division to join its North Atlantic Treaty forces next year.

2. Defence Secretary Wilson's recent remark that development of new weapons would make it possible in the long run to cut down on American ground forces in Europe.

There has been speculation concerning a review of military strategy by the joint chiefs of staff looking toward reduction in American forces now widely committed around the globe.

MISUNDERSTOOD MAYBE?

Some authorities here are reported to feel that implications were read into Wilson's statement abroad which were not factually justified. Their belief is that he was not necessarily talking about cutting down American fighting power at some future date, but was rather suggesting that new weapons, notably in the atomic field, might enable fewer men to do a better job in the western European defence system.

Nevertheless, reports reaching the state department have made clear that the French government was somewhat disturbed and apparently felt that assurances that American policy is basically unchanged should be forthcoming.

See Many "Ifs" Attached To Big 4 Playoff Chances

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

There are so many "ifs" attached to the play-off chances of Big Four and Ontario Rugby Football Union teams that even the figure filberts have given up trying to "dope" out the situation. The teams can decide for themselves on the playing field.

Everything is just about settled in the Western Conference and senior Intercollegiate Union. The 16-game western schedule ends Saturday night and the only thing to be decided is venue of the opening game of the total-point two-game semi-final between Saskatchewan Roughriders and Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

University of Western Ontario Mustangs in the college group are considered shoo-ins for their second straight title. They lead the league with six points on three straight victories, two more than University of Toronto Blues and four up on both Queen's and McGill.

Mustangs are at home to Queen's Saturday and McGill meets the last-place and winless McMaster Marauders at Hamilton.

BOMBERS FACE ESKS

The Western Conference schedule closes out with Winnipeg meeting the runaway league-leading Eskimos at Edmonton and the last-place and out of contention Calgary Stampeders at home to Saskatchewan.

In the Big Four, Toronto Argonauts and Ottawa Rough Riders are on the spot. Each has eight points, four behind Montreal Alouettes and Hamilton Tiger-Cats, tied in the No. 1 position.

And here's where the "ifs" start. If Toronto beats Tiger-Cats at Toronto on Saturday and Rough Riders snap their three-game losing streak and knock over the Alouettes at Montreal, eastern Canada fans can look for a tight race to the wire.

If Montreal and Hamilton win, the point spread between the co-leaders and Ottawa and Toronto will be six with three games remaining in the 14-game schedule.

On paper, there isn't much difference between the clubs in Saturday's games.

CLOSE RACE

The ORFU race shows Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen in the lead with 14 points, two more than Sarnia Imperials and Toronto Balmy Beach in a second-place tie. The Dutchmen and Imperials each have two games to round out the 12-game schedule while Beaches have three—two with Brantford Redskins who have looked pretty sad with nine losses in as many starts.

The Imperials meet the Beaches at Sarnia on Saturday and Kitchener is at Brantford. Victory would clinch a playoff berth for the Dutchmen.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

On the green grid sward sloping gently toward Lake Ontario in Cobourg's Horse Show Park tomorrow aft two fine football squads will fight fiercely. Peterborough Orfuns have to hit hard from the two p.m. start in an attempt to overcome a six-point deficit from the first of the ORFU intermediate "A" group finals. Winner of the points-to-count series steps right into provincial "A" finals, while the loser drops back to "B" playdowns, won last year by Cobourg after losing to Orfuns. A grand gridiron scrap on tap and many Peterborough fans will be on deck to root the Kotowski crew to victory. If they play ball up to par they can do it.

Hockey season for the Petes officially opens the same evening with the local club playing Oshawa Truckers in Bowmanville. Yes, Saturday sees the start of the OHA senior "B" schedule on a couple of fronts, the beginning of a 40-game grind ere March playoffs. Orillia, Belleville and Kingston are the other entries, Stouffville Clippers being the only absentee from last winter's good senior loop. Kingston won out an went on to take the provincial title. All five clubs are reported stronger than a year ago, which augurs well for puck fandom in these centres. Eddie Redmond's TPT Petes will strive hard to rack up the first win of the season. Orillia comes here next Friday.

Sifting Wheat From Chaff

Quite a scramble down Bella Villa way for spots as Coach Red Doran puts his prospective Redmen through their practice paces. Jimmy Irvine is back from Toronto seeking the goalie job against Don Letman of Kenora and Don Barclay. The Duncan twins, Jake Wade and Bob Taylor are newcomers there, while Doran, Goyer, Desjardins, Semark and the other regulars are showing up well, according to Quinte reports after a week of drilling. Redmen gave Kingston a torrid series last spring ere bowing out, but claim to be much stronger now. We'll wait and see. The revamped Orillia outfit opens the schedule there on the morrow, Kingston having a bye on getaway night.

Glad to see Peterborough back in OHA junior "B" ranks, since Oddfellows decided to call it quits this semester. No name for the team yet as officials are on the prowl for a sponsor, and the 1953-54 grouping hasn't been lined up yet. Rather looks now like Peterborough, Lindsay, Oshawa, (playing in Port Perry), and either Belleville or Cobourg—possibly both. Ald. Doug Miller heads the local juniors, other officials being Bob McCabe, Doug Landon, Bill Sims, Myer Cherney, Curly Alberico, Jack McNamara and Dr. Jack Epping. Coach and manager is Red Creighton, assisted by Moon Wootton, with Gunner Lynch the trainer. One more executive member to be added. A raft of prospects have been working out for spots this week.

Orillia Busy Building Up

Playing coach Vic Gregg, former Maple Leafer, is busy lining up the Orillia Pontiacs. Has his pick of five goalies, Jack Naylor, Bob Shropshire, Bruce Hook, Bill Vollick and Bill Miller. Defencemen include Lloyd Pearsall, Al Shewchuk, Aubrey Percival and Bruce Gapp, along with Gregg. Big Jack Davidson, formerly with Petes and Orillia, has been transferred on his bank job from Orillia to Port Dover. Some of the forwards available are Ab Bowen, Earl McCrone, Murray Richardson, Roy Conacher, Danny MacDonald and a couple of imports from Camp Borden. Bruno Favero is still Orillia property but may get his release to go with Owen Sound. The Pontiacs last year proved the most rugged club in the six-team senior "B" setup.

Listened in for a time last eve to the Boston-Rangers' game as Johnny Godfrey's nephew is with Bruins and Ike Hildebrand with New York. Little Ike scored the first goal of the game to show again that he can hold his own in NHL company. Lacrosse fans here can understand how this polished performer will worry opposing netters plenty and yet not take many stiff bumps as he goes in on goal. He's small but smart, and rarely gets hurt in hockey or lacrosse. Canadians beat Hawks in the other game. Incidentally, there was no turnover in team captains in the NHL this year, the same set as a year ago being Butch Bouchard of Canadiens, Ted Lindsay of Wings, Milt Schmidt of Bruins, Ted Kennedy with the Leafs, Bill Gadsby at Chicago, and Allan Stanley of Rangers.

Tigers Win Second Game Dump Niagara Falls 8-2

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hamilton Tigers, able to break into the win column of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series only twice last year, can breathe easier after Thursday night's game. The Tigers won their second game in as many starts in the new 1953-54 season and Hamilton fans are pinching themselves to make sure it's true.

The Tigers showed plenty of class with an 8-2, home-ice victory over Niagara Falls Cataracts, league newcomers. In Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A action Thursday night North Bay Trappers pulled their goaltender for an extra forward and scored a goal in the last minute of overtime to tie Pembroke Lumber Kings 3-3 at Pembroke.

THIRD DEFEAT

In Hamilton the Tigers handed the Cataracts their third consecutive defeat. Murray Comfort had a field day for the Tigers, netting two goals and assisting on two others. Anslow also fired a pair for the Tabbies with the others going to Dinning, Hammond, Busch and Taylor. Olsen and McNulty clicked for the Cataracts.

George Gosselin salvaged a point for the Trappers in the thriller at Pembroke when he fired his tying marker with a minute left to play in the overtime session. Mike Bukacheski and Chester Koneczny rapped in the others.

Bruce Giesebrecht bagged two for the Lumber Kings, including the one that gave Pembroke a 3-2 edge in the overtime period. Jack Douglas counted the other for the Kings.

Action in the Senior OHA loop tonight will see Stratford Indians at Chatham Maroons. In the NOHA Sudbury Wolves play Pembroke.

November 14 Will Be Joe Krol Day

TORONTO (CP)—Retirement of one of Canada's all-time great football players will be marked Nov. 14 by a Joe Krol day.

Krol's playing days after 15 years in senior football ended abruptly last Sunday when he aggravated a knee injury.

Toronto Argonauts were playing Montreal Alouettes that day and the same two Big Four teams will be in action in Varsity Stadium here Nov. 14 when "King Krol" is honored.

Big Joe, a Windsor high-school product, broke into the Big Four league with Hamilton Wildcats after playing for the University of Western Ontario Mustangs. He started his nine-year tenure with Argonauts in Montreal Oct. 27, 1945.

In that game, won 31-6 by the Argos, Krol threw four touchdown passes to Royal Copeland, and kicked two converts and two singles.

Rocket Still Stars Helps Lead Habs To 3-2 Victory

By ED SIMON, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Somehow the word was getting around that Maurice Richard wasn't the man he used to be. The Rocket, on whose fire-power the fortunes of Montreal Canadiens had depended for a decade, was considered obsolete, or at least obsolescent, to many National Hockey League fans exposed to the sharp-shooting prowess of Gordie Howe, Ted Lindsay and other younger luminaries. Even the Montreal faithful began to waver this season, looking to Jean-Marc Beliveau, the fabulous rookie from Quebec, to take over the 32-year-old Richard's scoring mantle.

But there were clear signs today that the Rocket isn't ready to draw his old-age pension yet.

When he fired the first Canadien goal in their 3-2 victory over the tail-end Chicago Black Hawks Thursday night, it gave him six for the season, just two more than Detroit rookie Earl Reibel and teammate Bernie Geoffrion, his closest rivals.

MAY BEAT RECORD

Howe and Lindsay, who have played seven games, the same number as the Rocket, have counted three and two markers respectively. Beliveau has one.

If Richard could maintain his present clip over the full season he would wind up with the phenomenal total of 60 goals, 11 more than the record of 49 set by Howe last year.

Judging by the attention the Hawk forwards gave him in the later stages of Thursday night's contest, the Rocket will have to work for every goal from here in, unless Beliveau, Geoffrion and a few more Canadien snipers can take the pressure off him by improving their output.

BOOM-BOOM HELPS

Geoffrion did his part, firing the goal that brought Montreal level with the stubborn Hawks for the second time in the third period. And third-stringer Kenny Mosdell produced the winning tally with less than two minutes left. Bill Gadsby and Bill Mosienko were the Chicago marksmen.

The victory boosted the Habitants into a first-place tie with the idle Detroit Red Wings.

Meanwhile, New York Rangers outlasted Boston Bruins for a 4-3 victory that enabled them to take over fourth place from the losers by a single point.

SHARE GLORY

A major share of the glory belonged to three alumni of Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League. Ike Hildebrand and Wally Hergesheimer scored a goal apiece and Hergesheimer set up former Bruin Paul Ronty for a third tally while the third promoted Baron, goalie Johnny Bower turned aside 26 Bruin drives.

Nick Mickoski got the fourth Ranger tally while Dave Creighton, Real Chevrefils and Joe Klukay were the goal-getters for Boston, who fought their way back from a three-goal deficit at the end of the first period.

Decide Against Signing Waiver

TORONTO (CP)—Officials of the four Ontario Rugby Football Union senior teams Thursday decided against waiving the Oct. 1 signing deadline which would have permitted Blake Taylor to join Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen.

Taylor, property of Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four union does not want to play for the Hamilton team. Since the start of the season he has been trying to get his release to play with the Dutchmen. However, Hamilton would not put waivers on the player, fearing another Big Four club would grab him.

When the other three Big Four teams finally agreed to waive on Taylor, the signing deadline had passed. Out of six ballots cast in the ORFU, it is believed that four were against transferring the player. Balmy Beach and Sarnia Imperials are believed to have cast negative votes for fear of strengthening the Dutchmen and harming their playoff chances.

Olson Likely To Take On Kid Gavilan

NEW YORK (AP)—Bobo Olson probably will defend his new middleweight boxing title against welter champ Kid Gavilan in February at San Francisco or New York.

While the champ flew home to his wife and four children in San Francisco Thursday, promoter Jim Norris started planning his future program.

"We'd like to have Olson fight Gavilan if the Kid gets past Johnny Bratton at Chicago, Nov. 13," said Norris. "Even if he should lose his title to Bratton, he might be the opponent.

LIKES IDEA

"Flaherty (Sid Flaherty, Olson's manager) said Wednesday night he'd like very much to take on Gavilan. He wants us to promote it out in San Francisco. I, personally, would rather have it go to New York. There is no definite date. Bobo won't be ready to go until the first of the year."

As for Britain's Randy Turpin, who was dropped twice by Olson while losing a unanimous decision Wednesday night in a 15-round match, Norris would like to have him back in February.

"I asked his manager if he would be interested in coming back to fight Paddy Young or somebody like that in February," said Norris. "They seemed interested. He's a useful fighter and made a good showing."

USE GRAFTON'S LAY-AWAY PLAN FOR FALL & WINTER ITEMS

MORE THAN FREEZE-UP SAFEGUARD NEEDED TO GIVE ENGINES COMPLETE WINTER PROTECTION!

AMBULANCE DRIVER TELLS HOW HE LEARNED TO INSIST ON "PRESTONE" ANTI-FREEZE

Walter Darwin, independent ambulance operator of Toronto, Ontario, learned the hard way that there is no substitute for "Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze.

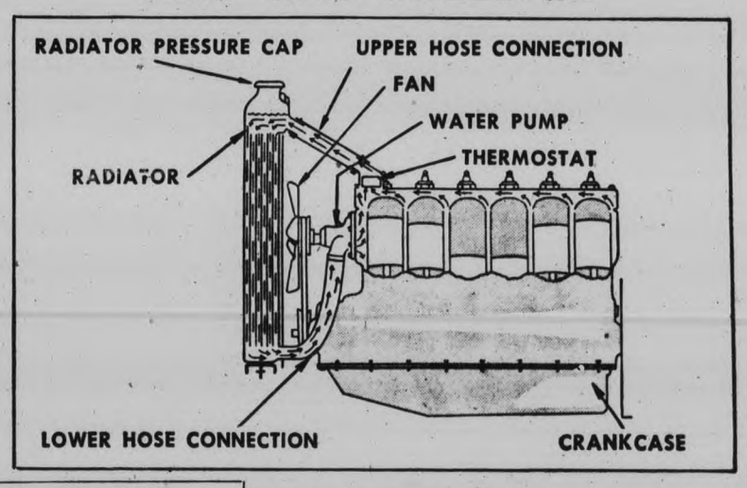
Says Walter Darwin: 'One bitter night four years ago on the way to an accident I had one of those 'just as good' anti-freezes boil over. I had to stop and phone another ambulance to make the call. That cured me! There just isn't any other anti-freeze that gives the same complete protection as "Prestone" Brand. Ever since that night I've used "Prestone" Anti-Freeze and no matter how cold it gets, I've never had trouble.'

You're Set! You're Safe! You're Sure!

"Prestone" Anti-Freeze gives Extra protection against winter engine enemies

FREEZE-UP ONLY HALF THE HAZARD

"PRESTONE" ANTI-FREEZE PROTECTS AGAINST RUST, CORROSION, FOAMING AND ACID CONTAMINATION



If freeze-up were the only problem connected with winter driving the answer would be very simple. As a matter of fact there are many fluids, solutions and chemicals which either by themselves or when added to water will resist freezing at low temperatures. Many of these substitutes for a scientifically compounded anti-freeze have been tried . . . nearly always with disastrous results to the car engine.

Many of these make-shift anti-freezes resulted in corroded, rusted and clogged cooling systems. Others boiled over, evaporated and foamed, causing serious engine damage.

No such problems worry the driver who uses "Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze. Product of this country's largest, most completely equipped automotive cooling system laboratory, "Prestone" Anti-Freeze has proved itself over millions of miles of driving under the most extreme winter conditions.

"Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze —the most effective anti-freeze ever developed for automotive cooling systems—is fortified with a combination of special ingredients to give much more than just freeze-up protection. "Prestone" Anti-Freeze gives car engines extra protection against rust, corrosion, acid contamination, clogging, seepage, foaming and deterioration of metal and rubber parts. No other anti-freeze can give the same complete protection.

INCREASES ENGINE EFFICIENCY AND GAS MILEAGE

This cutaway view of an automotive engine shows the vitally important role of the cooling system

In winter, 150-160 degree thermostats do not permit car engines to operate at temperatures required for maximum efficiency. Cold running engines develop oil sludge, carbon deposits and sticky valves.

Because "Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze does not boil or foam at high engine operating temperatures it is possible to use thermostats opening at 180 degrees. The results of using "Prestone" Anti-Freeze with a high opening temperature thermostat are tangible indeed. There is a definite reduction in oil sludge, carbon deposit and engine wear. The engine operates with greater efficiency and delivers more miles per gallon of gasoline.

Fourteen Special Ingredients make "Prestone" Anti-Freeze Different from Any Other

There's Nothing Else Like It!

Made from a formula with fourteen special ingredients, "Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze gives the extra protection that makes it different and superior to any other anti-freeze.

"Prestone" Anti-Freeze is the original 'one-shot' anti-freeze that is still ahead of the field. As automotive engines have improved, "Prestone" Anti-Freeze has kept pace through continued research, development and testing.

Proof of performance is shown by the overwhelming public preference for "Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze over all other anti-freezes.

More Anti-Freeze Lost Through Foaming Than From Evaporation

It is a popular misconception among drivers that evaporation is the only cause of loss of anti-freeze solution. The fact of the matter is that overflow loss through foaming of as much as a half-gallon of solution per thousand miles of driving can be caused by an anti-freeze that traps and holds air in solution.

Foaming loss occurs during high speed driving when air mixes with the solution at high circulating speeds. The trapped air takes up space and increases the volume of the mixture until some of it goes out the overflow pipe.

Although it is a serious problem with some anti-freezes there is no foaming problem with "Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze.

Is Your Car Less Than 8 Years Old?

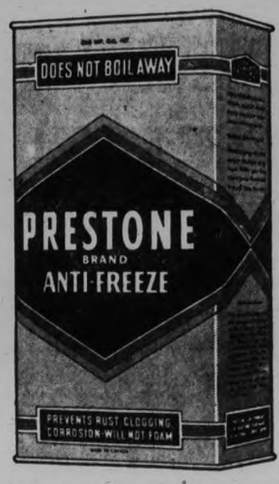
Registered vehicles produced during the last eight years represent more than 50% of all cars in service. The newly designed engines in modern vehicles affect anti-freeze solutions in many ways. Increased horsepower; high speed engines; high compression ratios; radiator pressure caps—these and other refinements combine to place tremendous loads on cooling systems. The result is increased heat and pressure build-up on the anti-freeze solutions.

"Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze has demonstrated under the most severe conditions that it gives complete protection to the most modern car engines.

Guarantee

National Carbon Limited guarantees that "Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze, if used according to printed directions, in a normal water cooling system, will protect the cooling system of your car against freezing and clogging from rust formation for a full winter; also that it will not boil away, will not cause damage to car finish, or to the metal or rubber parts of the cooling system, and that it will not leak out of a cooling system tight enough to hold water.

ALL-WINTER ALL-WEATHER GUARANTEE



The guarantee shown here appears on every can sold. No other anti-freeze is backed by this guarantee—no other anti-freeze can give the same complete protection.

SOLD ONLY IN CANS BEARING BRAND NAME "PRESTONE"

Unwary car owners are often deceived by claims that such and such an anti-freeze is 'just the same' as "Prestone" Brand. The truth is that "Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze is made only by National Carbon Limited who make no other brand of all-winter anti-freeze. Drivers should insist on and get "Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze. It is sold everywhere in Canada.

Flyer Describes Air Force Types

MARMORA (ENS)—The monthly dinner meeting of Marmora District Chamber of Commerce was held in the Royal Hotel on Wednesday evening under the presidency of Ralph E. Neal.

Mr. K. Box, manager of Belleville General Hospital, outlined the extension of that hospital entailing an expenditure of $600,000. Industries in the Bay of Quinte area and organisations will be approached for financial assistance.

Guest speaker was Squadron Leader D. Wood, Public Relations Officer, Central Command, RCAF, Trenton. During the Second World War he went overseas in 1941 on loan to the RAF Pathfinder Bomber Command. On his 27th flight over enemy territory he was shot down and was a prisoner in Germany for two years before being released by the Russians.

Since then he has served four years in the Arctic Circle on the RCAF Arctic Survey. He described the eractions to adverse conditions of three different types of personalities in the Air Force with whom he was associated.

Dr. Allan Brown, of the Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto, will be guest speaker at the November meeting.

Daird Lawson Wins Speaking Contest

CAVAN (ENS) — The North Cavan Public School Area public speaking contest was held in Ida parish hall Monday evening with Bruce Sargent as chairman.

There were 12 contestants. Mrs. Eric Fallis, Miss Jean Burnham and Mr. H. Williams, Millbrook, were the judges.

David Lawson of SS 2, Mount Pleasant, who spoke on Television was chosen winner and will go to Campbellcroft to compete in the semi-finals this evening.

There were musical numbers by the schools of the area between speeches, directed by Miss D. Hegaboam, musical director for Cavan.

The contest was under the direction of Mrs. W. G. Waterman, Peterborough.

THEIR SON TO RETURN—Mr. and Mrs. Van Buren Dickenson, of Big Stone Gap, Va., are very happy now that their son, Pfc. Edward Dickenson, an American PoW held by the Reds, has changed his mind about staying with the Communists and his request for repatriation has been approved. Mrs. Dickenson said, "As soon as I heard there was an American boy over there who wanted to come back I knew it was Ed."

CHANGES MIND—Pfc. Edward Dickenson, 23, of Big Stone Gap, Va., one of the 23 American PoWs of the Reds who wanted to remain with their captors, is reported to have changed his mind. Dickenson informed an Indian guard at Panmunjom that he wished to be returned to the United Nations side. He appeared before a five-member neutral nations board, and his request was granted.

Reds Abandon Indo-China Town

HANOI, Indo-China (AP)—The French high command announced today that Franco-Viet Namese troops have abandoned the town of Phu Nho Quan, 55 miles southwest of here, after destroying all Vietminh military installations.

Troops were pulled back southwards about eight miles.

An army spokesman said the Franco-Viet Namese troops had clashed with Communist-led Vietminh units just east of Phu Nho Quan, killing 28 and capturing 14.

The Vietminh division which fled Phu Nho Quan before the French and Viet Namese attacked, continued to scatter in the limestone hills west and northwest of the town.

Franco-Viet Namese troops are holding positions on Mandarin road 20 miles north of Than Hoa, but have made no further move toward the big rebel war base.

The French announced meanwhile that the 5th regiment of Moroccan infantrymen has arrived from Germany and is disembarking at Haiphong. Another regiment is expected next week.

Bank Governor

LONDON (Reuters)—The Queen today approved the reappointment of Cameron F. Cobbold as governor of the Bank of England for a second five-year term. Cobbold became the bank's youngest governor in 102 years when he took office in 1949 at the age of 44.

Polio Victim

STOCKHOLM (Reuters) — Sixty seven new cases of polio were reported in Sweden this week, the board of health announced Thursday. Two patients died. Since a polio outbreak started in July there have been 99 deaths out of 2,006 cases.

Singer Admits Violating His Agreement

By HERB ALTSCHULL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Julius La Rosa, a singer whose swan song launched him as a celebrity, glided toward a show-must-go-on performance tonight amid publicity ripples from his abrupt firing by Arthur Godfrey.

Godfrey, the television titan, gave the young Brooklyn baritone his sailing papers Monday. That was a swan song, Godfrey told his morning viewers as La Rosa finished singing.

"At first," La Rosa told a press conference Thursday night through incipient tears, "I didn't know what he meant. I had never heard the expression before. But I understood later when he said something about wishing me godspeed."

WHAT'S HUMILITY?

La Rosa said another thing he doesn't understand is what Godfrey means by "humility," the quality Godfrey said La Rosa had lost.

"Ever since I was on his show, it was one of his staunch themes," La Rosa said. "He never said exactly what it was. It was sort of an indefinable something."

But La Rosa emphasized he does not want to get into a battle with Godfrey, for whom he had worked 23 months until he was sacked along with orchestra leader Archie Bleyer.

"I wouldn't be disrespectful to him," La Rosa said. "He's older than I am and my father always taught me to have respect for people older than you.

DIDN'T WANT PUBLICITY

"I didn't want any publicity because it wasn't the right thing. Children should be seen and not heard and two wrongs don't make a right."

The 23-year-old baritone sings at a Naval Relief Society ball tonight at the naval gun factory. He was stationed there as a sailor for two years before Godfrey "discovered" him.

La Rosa said "deep down in my heart I know that Mr. Godfrey had no bona fide reason for firing me."

VIOLATES AGREEMENT

But he acknowledged he had violated an agreement with Godfrey under which all the "little Godfreys" said they would hire no independent booking agency to represent them.

Godfrey told a press conference in New York that he fired La Rosa for signing the personal management contract. He fired Bleyer, he said, because Bleyer made a phonograph record featuring Don McNeill of the rival American Broadcasting Co.

La Rosa's contract with the Columbia Broadcasting System still has five years to run and poses an iron-clad hurdle to his cashing in on big money offers.

In the meantime, his agent is holding in abeyance such offers as $7,500 a week for La Rosa to appear at theatres in New York and Chicago and $4,000 for a one-night stand in Kalamazoo, Mich.

CBS said it plans to use La Rosa in other radio-TV appearances, but was not sure just exactly where and when.

Forest Fires

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Governor John Lodge issued a proclamation late Thursday closing all Connecticut woodlands and brushlands until the forest fire hazard eases. The order means that hunters, whose season opened five days ago, will have to forgo their sport until it is rescinded. Connecticut's rainfall has been only about one-third normal for two months.

41 Motels Now In Ontario

TORONTO (CP)—The tastes of the motoring public have brought a new trend in tourist accommodation throughout Ontario—the motel.

Provincial government statistics show that motels have been built at the rate of one a week during the last two years. The latest count shows 411 spread across Ontario and competing with 900 provincial hotels and 296 tourist homes.

Experts state that it is only because the demand for accommodation exceeds the supply of motels that hotels and tourist homes have not been hit by a summer slump.

Hotels cost more to build and more to operate than a motel. The cost of constructing a modern hotel has been estimated at $15,000 a room. Meanwhile, motels are being built on the basis of from $8,000 to $10,000 a room with all the trimmings. The hotels also have a higher overhead.

The Ontario motel varies slightly from its United States counterpart in that many American units provide housekeeping accommodation and eating quarters in addition to bedrooms.

The majority of Ontario's motels provide only sleeping accommodation.

GOVERNED BY ACT

Motel operators are required to purchase provincial licences costing $5 and must observe regulations of the 1947 Tourist Establishment Act. However, the government still receives many complaints of "robbing."

Some motel operators set the price of rooms on the type of car the tourist drives. Others jump rates on holiday week-ends. Others operate semi-detached cabins under the guise of motels.

London is an important centre for motels. There are 111 clustered in and about the city, catering to the large transient American trade between Detroit and eastern New York state cities.

There are 142 motels in operation between Toronto and Niagara Falls the majority around the latter city. More are spreading into northern Ontario resorts. The first motel in eastern Canada was built in 1946 near Kingston.

In an effort to establish high standards in the motel industry, two Ottawa brothers, Fred and Norman Butler, have organized the Ontario Motor Court Association.

Investigate Death

WAUBAUSHENE (CP)—Provincial police here are investigating the death of Mrs. Edward Barbour, 38, mother of three small children. Police said Mrs. Barbour died in her home Thursday of a wound from a .32 calibre revolver. The body was found by her husband in a bedroom. The gun was also found in the room.

RCAF Purchases 860 Planes In 13 Months

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCAF has purchased about 860 aircraft from Canadian companies in the last 13 months, it disclosed Thursday.

The figures were given to the Canadian Industrial Preparedness Association during the group's brief tour of the experimental section of the RCAF's Rockcliffe station here.

The aircraft were of 17 different types and no breakdown was given among fighters, trainers and reconnaissance ad photography planes. The association got a look at various RCAF planes, including the CF-100 all-weather jet fighter.

The aircraft figures were given on a chart showing the number of planes tested by RCAF pilots and the number finally accepted.

TESTED 1,070 PLANES

In the 13 months from September, 1952, to last month inclusive, the air force tested about 1,070 planes and rejected some 200. Rejections ranged from 28 to 91 per cent of aircraft tested on their initial flight.

The air force maintains acceptance teams at the four main aircraft prdouction centres—Montreal Toronto, Winnipeg and Edmonton—and a mobile acceptance team here. All aircraft must be thoroughly tested by these teams before they are accepted by the RCAF.

Strangled By Rope

OWEN SOUND (CP)—Four-year-old Sheila Anne Rutherford of nearby Leith was strangled Thursday while making a swing out of clothesline rope. She apparently fell off the back porch of her home, and the rope caught round her neck.

NOTED PAINTER—A. Y. Jackson, one of the founder-members of Canada's famed "Group of Seven," whose work aroused international interest in the 1920's, looks at one of the more than 100 of his paintings on display at the Toronto Art Gallery. The exhibition traces the artist's development through 51 years of painting.

Perfume Water To Drive Fish From Polluted Areas

DEPARTURE BAY, B.C. (CP)—Stand well back men. Here is the basic—and only—ingredient in the latest perfume discovery:

Concentrated essence of old sea-lion skins.

But there is no need to panic. The tasty-sounding liquid is going to be used to chase fish.

The concentrated essence is one of the least attractive odors in the world. Offensive to man, beast, bird and fish, it's being distilled in the basement of the Pacific biological station at this Vancouver island bay near Nanaimo.

There are 90 technicians and biologists on the station staff, all studying aspects of coast fish and marine life.

In his basement laboratory, Dr. J. R. Brett is studying habits of B.C. fish and brewing old fur.

He has found that salmon have an acute sense of smell. They can detect the presence of a sea-lion, seal, bear, or other predatory animal by an odor exuded from the fur. They leave the vicinity fast when they detect the smell.

But they can't smell water polluted by such things as waste from pulp mills. That water lacks oxygen, and fish in it die from air starvation.

In order to keep fish away from polluted water, Dr. Brett thinks it will only be necessary to put one drop of the powerful distilled sea-lion into the water and every fish in the area will high-tail away for cleaner and sweeter waters.

Farmers With Grain In Field Insure For As Much As $25,000

REGINA (CP)—Saskatchewan farmers, with little hope of early grain deliveries to plugged country and terminal elevators, are protecting their farm-stored crops with floater insurance.

Some firms insure for loss by fire and lightning and others provide additional coverage for burglary and for loss through transportation accident.

Floaterinsurance is nothing new in the wheat province. Large-scale farmers a decade ago took advantage of it while they awaited higher prices for their grain.

Floater insurance on grain can be taken for any period—one to 1 months. Typical premium rates are eight cents for $100 insurance for eight months and 10 cents to obtain additional coverage for burglary and transportation in the same period. Rates for two months are 12 cents and 15 cents; 16 and 20 for three months, and 40 and 50 cents for a year.

In former years, a farmer might estimate the price of wheat would rise by December. He would take out floater insurance for four months. Today's guess for the length of coverage depends on when the farmer thinks he will find an opening for deliveries.

Indicative of the large amounts of grain held by Saskatchewan farmers, one insurance firm said that the lowest general coverage sought was about $8,000, while many were taking out floater policies for up to $25,000.

US To Withdraw Weather Ships From N. Atlantic

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) The United States notified the United Nations Thursday that it is withdrawing its 14 weather ships from the North Atlantic. The ships have provided weather reports to aircraft and served as floating search and rescue stations.

They were part of a fleet of 25 under the general direction of the UN's International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO).

The U. S. notice, contained in a letter to ICAO, said "the government of the United States, as a result of a study just concluded, has determined that the services provided by the ocean stations in the North Atlantic are no longer required by the United States and that the benefits derived by the United States are no longer commensurate with the cost. Consequently the United States has decided not to participate in the program after the expiration of the present agreement on June 30, 1954."

WILL CRIPPLE PROGRAM

Withdrawal of the United States will cripple the air safety program and ICAO said it will call a special meeting in Montreal—its permanent headquarters—shortly to discuss the situation.

The 25 ships have been organized in 10 floating ocean stations strung out across the North Atlantic. They have been manned and supported by 14 other countries besides the United States: Canada, Belgium, Denmark, France, Iceland, Ireland, Mexico, the Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland and Britain.

The cost of maintaining the operation has been based on the number of North Atlantic crossings by aircraft of each participating nation. The majority of planes on the North Atlantic route are American.

SIGN AIR AGREEMENT — Australia, represented by Sir Douglas Copeland, Australian High Commissioner to Canada (seated, centre), becomes the 20th state to sign the Rome Convention of 1952 at a ceremony at International Civil Aviation headquarters in Montreal. The convention specifies the rules and limits of liability in the case of an aircraft causing death, personal injury or damage to property in foreign territory. Present at the signing are, left to right: ICAO secretary-general Carl Ljunberg; J. W. Stone, Australian representative on the ICAO council; Sir Douglas, legal bureau director P. K. Roy, and Dr. Edward Warner, president, ICAO council.

Building Costs Curbing Hotels

MONTREAL (CP)—High building costs are slowing down construction of new hotels in Canada, D. J. Caswell of Sundridge, Ont., executive chairman of the Canadian Hotel Association, said Thursday.

Attending the annual convention of the American Hotel Association, Mr. Caswell said in an interview a first class hotel costs from $13,000 to $14,000 a room, with even the most economical type of building costing about $10,000 a room.

He knew of some companies in Toronto who had considered starting a new hotel but were discouraged by high construction costs.

Hotel business last year was generally good, he said, but the main trouble was lack of guests during week-ends.

One way of countering this was to encourage week-end conventions and to give low week-end rates.

Massey Calls Jackson Great Canadian Artist

TORONTO (CP) — Governor-General Vincent Massey Thursday called artist A. Y. Jackson "a great Canadian painter, a great Canadian, and a legendary figure in the Canadian scene."

The occasio was Mr. Massey's first official visit to the Art Gallery of Toronto—for the opening of a collection of Mr. Jackson's paintings and a handicrafts display arranged by the Ontario branch of the Canadian Handicraft Guild.

Three of the Jackson paintings are from the governor-general's collection.

Good Neighbors

PATRICIA, Alta. (CP) — When the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Donovan burned to the ground neighbors immediately provided accommodation, bedding and clothing. Then they arranged a community shower which brought $1,300 in cash gifts.

Jury Awards Man $45,074

TORONTO (CP)—A civil jury Thursday awarded Walter Hagan $45,074 damages for injuries received in an accident, even though he had only asked for $35,000.

Juries do not know the amount asked before they make their award. Mr. Justice G. A. Aylen reserved judgment on whether he would endorse the award. Judgment will be stayed until he does.

Mr. Hagen, 64, was struck by a truck which went out of control Nov. 26, 1952, in east central Toronto. He spent seven months in hospital and has been unable to work since.

Deposition Read On Newark Liquor Combine

NEW YORK (AP)—A deposition made in 1948 by Joseph H. Reinfeld, former bootlegger, was read in part Thursday at a $22,500,000 recovery suit in federal court.

The deposition told of a Newark, N.J., liquor combine in 1929 and the early 1930s which bought liquor from distillers in Canada, England, France and Germany and sold it on the "high seas to whoever wanted it."

The deposition was read into the record by Maurice Edelbaum, lawyer for James Rutkin, another former bootlegger, who seeks the $22,500,000 from Reinfeld, his former bootlegging partner, three other individuals and two liquor firms, on charges he was defrauded in liquor dealings.

Reinfeld, in a statement made in November, 1948, in the offices of Clarence Fried, then acting as counsel for Rutkin, said the liquor combine had two offices in Newark while it was in operation and that it had bank accounts in at least three banks in New Jersey and New York.

He estimated that in 1931 the combine's cash assets totalled between $400,000 and $600,000.

Reinfeld said the combine's usual mode of operation was to buy liquor in Canada through an export firm, ship the consignment to the island of St. Pierre in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, where it was put on boats, and deliver it to "customers on the high seas" off the coast of the United States.

According to the deposition, the purchases were made through the Northern Export Company, which Reinfeld said was operated by Abe, Samuel, Allen and Harry Bronfman.

Samuel and Allen Bronfman are defendants in the suit, as are Harold C. Levin, known as Harold C. Renfield, the Browne Vintners Company, Inc., and Renfield Importers, Ltd.

$12 A GALLON

Reinfeld, in his deposition, said liquor was bought at $12 to $15 a gallon cash and whisky at $3 a gallon during 1929, 1930 and 1931.

He said that when the bootleggers wanted an order, he went to Montreal, where he met one of the Bronfman brothers and made arrangements for liquor to be sent to St. Pierre.

Reinfeld said that most of the liquor was purchased from Seagram's, Ltd., of Canada.

Browne-Vintners Company, Inc., was sold in 1940 to Seagram's, Ltd., for $7,500,000.

Rutkin, now serving a four-year sentence for income tax evasion, alleges that this was one of the deals in which he was defrauded of his rightful share.

Crosby To Take Big Plunge Into Television

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Groaner is going to take the big plunge into TV.

One of the last big entertainers to hold out against television, Bing Crosby has finally consented to grace the home screen with a show of his own. But he'll make only two programs this season, according to present plans.

Will he ever do a weekly or monthly show?

"Not on your life!" he scoffed. "Not unless they fire me at Paramount!"

MUSICAL SHORT

The crooner disclosed his plans on the set of "White Christmas," the Irving Berlin musical he's doing with Danny Kaye (another TV holdout), Rosemary Clooney and Vera-Ellen. As soon as he's through with the film, he'll go to work on the TV shows. One is due for telecasting Dec. 27, the other next spring.

"The show will be like a musical short. We'll pre-record the music and shoot one half-hour show in a day. If we take any longer than a day we can't make any profit from the show. I don't think we'll have much trouble. I'm pretty good at singing to a playback. We ought to be able to knock off a song an hour."

VOICE PLAYED BACK

Crosby referred to the method of filming musical numbers that is employed in the movies. The songs are recorded beforehand. Then the record is played back on the movie set while the singer coordinates his lip movements to the sound. Thus the singer can concentrate on his visual aspect without worrying about the quality of the music, which is already assured.

Bing, who has made three TV appearances in the past, has no ambitions to do live TV.

"I think film is the thing. That's the only way you can achieve any kind of perfection. It's the same as in radio. You get a much better show by using tape than by doing it live."

Trade Comparison

GLASGOW (CP)—Sir Archibald Forbes, past president of the Federation of British Industries, told a Chamber of Commerce meeting that Britain's share of Canada's trade is less than before the Second World War. In 1939, he said, Britain supplied nearly 18 per cent of Canada's imports compared with nine per cent in 1952.

Labor Trouble Lawyer's Fault Union Declares

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — The Guardian, official publication of various locals of the United Automobile Workers (CIO), Thursday quoted union leaders as saying lawyers, employed as labor relations experts, have widened the gap between labor and management understanding.

The bi-monthly publication quoted Earl Watson, president of Local 195, as saying that "stalling seems to be the pattern in negotiations. . . especially where companies are hiring lawyers."

Wilfred Blackburn, the local's representative, said delay in setting contracts builds up a tension within the workers and their families "and it isn't until the union is in a position to strike legally that settlements are reached."

Chief "trouble-makers," he said, are the George Preston labor relations advising firm of Chatham, Ont., and lawyer G. C. Richards, Windsor, who do the talking for several Windsor firms in negotiations.

Supreme Court Case Proves Interesting To Criminals

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—If you happen to the operator of any illegal business, be a smuggler, bookie, burglar or a case pending in the Supreme Court of Canada should interest you.

On its outcome may hinge your safety from the law, insofar as the income tax act is concerned.

The law now requires every person to file an income tax return. If he doesn't, he can be prosecuted for evading income tax. These returns are secret and never go beyond the assessor.

This applies to criminals the same as anyone else. Any criminal can make a frank statement to the income tax people about his ill-gotten gains and be sure that no word of it will ever be used against him in court.

ILLEGAL GAINS UNKNOWN

Taxation officials say they have no idea how much of the $2,556,000,000 collected in income and corporation taxes the last fiscal year can be put down to illegal gains.

No record of income taxes can be produced in court in criminal cases. The reason, officials say, is this: The law requires everyone to file income tax returns. Therefore, it would be wrong to use his return in prosecution against a person who had obeyed the law by filing the return in the first place. It would mean self-imcrimination.

The case pending before the Supreme Court arose in Vancouver when 27 persons were arrested and charged as bookies. The prosecutor requested that the suspects' income tax returns be produced in court, or that an income tax official testify orally about contents of the returns.

The income tax department refused, arguing that the income tax act does not permit any such testimony in a criminal case.

The British Columbia attorney-general's department argues that it is more in the public interest that criminals be brought to justice than the federal taxation department collect revenue from them.

Moose In Hospital

MONCTON, N.B. (CP)—An automobile was damaged and a young moose was sent to hospital when they collided on a highway near here Wednesday night. Lloyd McPhee said the animal jumped in front of his car and was killed. It was dressed and taken to hospital, where it will be on the menu.

Plans To Hunt Treasure In Rideau Canal

OTTAWA (CP)—Allan Moses, retiring after 31 years of locking boats through the Rideau canal here, is planning to search the canal area for buried treasure.

The 60-year-old lockmaster says he won't have to go outside the city limits to look for money stolen when the canal was being built back in the 1820s. He thinks he knows where some of it lies. But he claims there is also buried treasure at other points along the old canal which links Ottawa and Kingston.

He says records of the early canal builders show a great deal of money was stolen in a payroll robbery. The money was in coin shipped from England in iron-bound barrels.

AMOUNT IN DOUBT

Mr. Moses hints about certain evidence he has found but says that until recently he couldn't do much about it. He adds there probably isn't as much money hidden as some people think because he believes the packers of the barrels in England were an untrustworthy lot.

He believes other hoards may be waiting for the finder at Stone House Point, near Smiths Falls; at Rideau Ferry where he says United States money from Civil War days is supposed to be hidden; and at Jones Falls, about 30 miles north of Kingston.

The Rideau canal was built at a cost of about $4,200,000 to provide a safe water route between Montreal and the Great Lakes in the event of war with the United States. The war of 1812 proved the more-direct St. Lawrence river route a dangerous and expensive transportation artery.

SEIZED BY AMERICANS

Numerous boatloads of supplies heading up the lakes were captured by the Americans. Defence experts conceived the idea of shipping up the Ottawa river from Montreal to Ottawa and linking the settlement to Kingston by canal.

Starting in 1826, under direction of Lt.-Col. John By of the Royal Engineers, 2,000 laborers were employed annually on the big project.

Nowadays only pleasure boats and the occasional commercial craft travel the picturesque route. Nevertheless the canal serves as a storage place for 255,000-acre-feet of water from the Rideau river watershed. It is regarded as one of the biggest such storage areas in Eastern Canada and the transport department values it at nearly $13,000,000.

85, Hikes 60 Miles

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. Sylvia Marie Carlen, an 85-year-old Detroit grandmother, wasn't at home for her birthday celebration Thursday. The spry woman climbed out of her bed at 5:45 a.m. and started a 60-mile walk to Port Huron, Mich. Mrs. Carlen has taken daily walks for years. She saves cross-country hiking for her birthdays.

COLLISION VICTIM—Two powerful tugs move in close to cast lines aboard the crippled Italian freighter Carla Maria G, victim of a St. Lawrence River collision that left a gaping hole in her starboard side. The vessel, rammed in dense fog near Quebec City by the Norwegian cargo carrier Stugard, ran herself aground to avoid sinking following the collision. She later freed herself and was taken in tow to Quebec. The Stugard, with a dented bow, continued on her journey to Montreal.

Russia Orders Giant Step-up In Consumer Goods Production

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government ordered a giant step-up today in production and distribution of consumer goods. It was part of the big drive announced by the Malenkov government Oct. 8 to boost the living standards of the Russian people.

A two-page decree, issued by the Soviet council of ministers and the Communist party's central committee, ordered a 72-per-cent increase over the 1950 output of consumer goods—in terms of money value—by the end of next year. It also called for:

1. The opening of 40,000 new stores and 11,000 new restaurants and dining halls by the end of 1956.

2. A brush-up by all Soviet internal trade organizations of their services to the public and elimination of backward distribution methods.

3. The training of additional personnel to give the Soviet consumer the best service he has ever received.

ADMIT FALLDOWN

The decree, a counterpart of recent Soviet moves aimed at increasing farm output, admitted that Soviet consumer goods arrangements have fallen short of satisfying the needs of the people.

"There are big drawbacks and deficiencies in the trade organization," it declared. "There is not enough refrigeration equipment or mechanical loading equipment.

"The organization of the public food supply is backward. There are insufficient dining halls and restaurants and the people must wait too long to be served. Sale and distribution of building materials is inadequate."

The new consumer goods schedule repiaces one included in the 1950 five-year plan that called for a 70-per-cent increase in the monetary volume of domestic goods trade by the end of 1955.

Roosevelt Forced Withdrawal Of 100,000 Allied Troops

Sir Winston Churchill says "the first important divergence on high strategy" between Britain and the U.S. in the Second World War came after taking strong Allied forces from the Italian front for use in the landing in southern France.

Sir Winston said he favored maintaining heavy forces in Italy for a drive toward Vienna and the Balkans.

President Roosevelt disagreed and almost 100,000 Allied troops were withdrawn from Italy for the landing Aug. 15, 1944, in southern France. As a result, Churchill says:

"Italy was not to be wholly free until May 2, 1945; the right-handed drive to Vienna was denied to us; and, except in Greece, our military power to influence the liberation of southeastern Europe was gone."

The Examiner's Weekend Saturday publishes first instalment of "Triumph and Tragedy," the sixth and final volume of the Nobel prize-winning memoirs of the wartime and present prime minister. In Canada, publication rights are held by Weekend Picture Magazine and the first story will appear in the Examiner on Saturday.

The volume traces the Second World War from Operation Overlord, the Allied landings in Normandy June 6, 1944, to the final surrender of the enemy 14 months later.

Sir Winston said the landing in the south of France "was originally conceived as a feint or threat to keep German troops on the Riviera and stop them joining the battles in Normandy, but the Americans in Cairo had pressed for a real attack by 10 divisions and at Tehran Stalin had supported them."

On his visit to Italy, Sir Winston also saw Marshal Tito and discussed the future of Yugoslavia. Sir Winston adds:

"Tito assured me that, as he had stated publicly, he had no desire to introduce the Communist system into Yugoslavia, if only because most European countries after the war would probably be living under a democratic regime. Developments in small countries depended on relations between great powers. Yugoslavia should be able to profit by the growing improvement in these relations and develop along democratic lines."

Churchill also was concerned over the rest of eastern Europe, noting:

"While we were thus striving to reach a balanced result in Yugoslav affairs by direct negotiation with Tito, no progress had as yet been made with Moscow about Poland, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria."

Grain Crops Will Be Fed Fertilizer From British Columbia

KIMBERLEY, B. C. (CP) — Prairie grain crops will be fed chemical fertilizer from a new $9,000,000 plant built by the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada Limited.

The plant, one of the most modern in Canada, is designed to produce about 190 tons of ammonium phosphate daily.

Production started Oct. 14 and practically all the finished product will be shipped to the Prairies. Fertilizer plays an important part in the growing of wheat and other grains in the western provinces.

HAS OTHER PLANS

The plant is part of Cominco's $56,000,000 development program which takes in hydro-electric and metallurgical installations.

The manufacture of fertilizer is a complicated business. Eight major buildings are in use at the new plant for treatment of raw materials.

Materials for ammonium phosphate production come from three sources: Phosphate rock from Montana; ammonia from Alberta, and iron-sulphide, isolated during the treatment of lead-zinc ore at Cominco's Sullivan concentrator here. The iron sulphide is treated in a roaster plant and the generated sulphur dioxide is used for sulphuric acid production.

For 20 years the company has operated a chemical fertilizer plant at Trail, B. C., and the planning states for the new plant were handled by Cominco engineers and designers.

TWO YEARS TO BUILD

Construction took two years on a site near the Sullivan concentrator.

The farmer probably does not realize the many processes through which the fertilizer runs before it is ready for market. The buildings at the plant include a roaster, acid, rock, phosphate and storage plants. There is also a supply warehouse.

Directing the big project is L. J. Nicholson who has a staff of 150 workers.

37th Blast Victim

BOSTON (AP)—Charles J. Murphy, 52, navy yard civilian worker died Thursday, the 37th victim of an explosion and fire which wracked the navy aircraft carrier Leyte last Friday. Murphy was taken to hospital after he was rescued from the fire which swept the forward part of the ship.

introducing a BRILLIANT NEW DODGE

the ROYAL V8

Lowest-priced car offering these 2 great engineering triumphs for '54

NEW PowerFlite COMPLETELY AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSION

THE V-8 ENGINE THAT'S YEARS AHEAD

You'll find the Dodge Royal V-8 is Dodge at its finest — a more powerful, smoother, more luxurious successor to the Dodge Coronet V-8. It offers you matchless performance in the medium-priced field . . . a combination of the "ideal-design" Red Ram V-8 engine, famous for efficiency and economy and now rated at 150 H.P. . . . a torque converter which greatly increases the engine's accelerating ability . . . and a simple, smooth, fully automatic shift.

PowerFlite, the industry's newest and finest completely automatic transmission, is standard equipment on all Dodge Royal V-8 models. It gives you three great advantages. First, its simple design and automatic shift (without moving your foot from the accelerator) give you smooth, quiet, easy operation and assure long, trouble-free life; second, it provides the extra acceleration of a torque converter for fast oil-cushioned starts; third, while there is no clutch, simple operation of the selector lever between first and reverse allows you to rock the car to get out of snow or mud.

You'll find new beauty and comfort, too, in the 1954 Dodge Royal V-8 . . . new chrome treatment that produces that longer, lower look . . . beautifully upholstered, colourful two-tone interiors . . . wide, restful, chair-high seats.

Arrange today for a demonstration of this brilliant new Dodge Royal V-8. You'll find that it has all the style, appointments, pick-up and performance that anyone could desire — and it remains in the medium-price class.

150 H.P. Red Ram V-8 Engine

Here's the engine design universally recognized as the ideal! The new Dodge Red Ram V-8 engine packs more power punch per cubic inch displacement . . . delivers a full 150 H.P. on regular grade gasoline.

It is the only engine in the Dodge Royal price class which brings you the triple design advantages of "dome-shaped" combustion chamber . . . short stroke design . . . high lift lateral valves. More fuel energy is converted into useful power, less is wasted in heat and friction.

Colourful Beauty, Inside and Out

There's a real feeling of luxurious comfort in the interior of the Dodge Royal. The design is completely new, using the latest type nylon, rayon and vinyl fabrics, harmonized into colourful and pleasing ensembles. Floors are covered by rich, deep, wool-type carpeting.

Twelve attractive new body colours can be used overall or adapted into 48 two-tone colour combinations to please the most discriminating.

Full Power Steering

You'll be astonished how easily you can steer or park with Dodge Full Power Steering. From the moment you start the Dodge engine, hydraulic power does 4/5ths of the work for you. It's on the job all the time — when parking, driving through traffic, turning corners, over rough roads, on snow and ice — giving you effortless control of your Dodge and much greater safety.

Few Drinkers Get Treatment

TORONTO (CP) — There are nearly 48,700 abnormal drinkers in Ontario but only seven per cent of them are receiving any kind of formal treatment for alcoholism, the Ontario Alcoholism Research Foundation said today.

The foundation released its findings after a survey in an unidentified Ontario county. Of 43,606 persons 20 years and older, 698 abnormal drinkers were found.

Robert J. Gibbins, research associate of the foundation who headed the survey, said the county was chosen because its population was comparable to that of the province as a whole with respect to rural-urban distribution, sex ratio, national and religious composition.

Abnormal drinkers were defined in the categories of problem drinkers; the alcohol addict and the chronic alcoholic.

Deny Arab Legion Moved To Jerusalem

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Jordan today officially denied Israeli charges that large concentrations of the Arab Legion have been moved to the Jerusalem area.

Israel protested to the United Nations truce supervision organization Thursday that Jordan troops had been moved to Jerusalem in an "open and serious violation of the armistice."

Under the 1949 Palestine armistice agreement Israel and Jordan are each allowed two battalions of not more than 800 officers and men in the Jerusalem area.

Reports from Damascus today said Syrian troops have been moved up to the Syrian-Israeli border with orders to inform Jordan the moment there is any sign of Israeli aggression.

New Zealand Decides To Continue Ban

WELLINGTON (CP)—New Zealand has decided to continue through 1954 the ban on importation of Canadian and American automobiles and other non-essentials to conserve dollar reserves, Trade Minister Watts announced today.

The minister said it has been decided to follow the existing policy of testing each application for import licences on the basis of essentiality so New Zealand would draw on the sterling area's dollar pool only to minimum extent consistent with maintenance of essential supplies.

U.S. Army Gives A-Canon Showing

MAINZ, Germany (AP) — The United States Army gave its awesome atomic cannon its first public showing in Germany today. East German Communists immediately accused the Americans of placing the lives of Germans in "utmost danger."

A non-firing demonstration of the 280-millimetre (11-inch) cannon at the army ordnance depot here placed emphasis on the gun's mobility in a seeming answer to critics who contend it is too unwieldy and could be captured easily.

World's Great Clown Dies In France

PARIS (Reuters) — Henrico Sprogiani, the sad little man who made millions laugh as "Rhum," often described as "the greatest clown of all time," died here Wednesday night after a long illness. He was 49.

Rhum, a circus top-liner for 40 years, made his last public appearance in London last month.

Born in Berlin of Italian parentage, he made his first professional appearance at the age of seven.

Particular Russians

GREAT YARMOUTH, England (Reuters) — Six hundred girl fishery workers went out on strike Thursday in a bid for more pay for cleaning fish to Russian tastes. The girls, working on a shipment for export to the Soviet Union, normally get three shillings for each barrel of fish they clean. They complain that gutting fish to Russian specifications takes twice the normal length of time.

Editor Killed

SAN DNEIGO, Calif. (AP)—The San Diego Union was notified officially Thursday that the body of one of 14 victims of Monday's plane crash near Monterey, Mexico, has been identified as that of J. Clifford Safley, 59, the Union's editor. Safley was believed to be the only American on the plane.

Investigate Theft

KINGSTON, Jamaica (Reuters) Police are investigating the theft of $21,500 from a mailbag during a currency shipment. The money was taken without breaking the seal on the bag, which was being transferred from the Bank of Nova Scotia in nearby Christiana Mandeville to Kingston.

Sink Warships

MONGHYR, India (Reuters) — Vinoba Bhave, 58, a disciple of Mahatma Gandhi, proposed here today that nations which are arming for fear of one another should voluntarily sink their own warships on Christmas Day. Bhave, with a small band of followers, has been touring Indian villages on foot for the last two years.

SCATTER DEMONSTRATORS — Protesting Italians scamper for safety in Rome as police in a jeep mount the sidewalk to break up a demonstration over the disputed Free Territory of Trieste. No serious injuries were reported in the demonstrations. Elsewhere in Rome, students by the hundreds paraded under Italian flags, shouting against Yugoslav President Tito's stand on Trieste and demanding that the strategic Adriatic peninsula be returned to Italy.

Report Rejects Miners' Demands

TIMMINS (CP)—The majority report of a conciliation board headed by Judge John B. Robinson Thursday turned down all demands made by the United Steelworkers of American (CIO-CCL) in their dispute with Coniaurum Mines Ltd. here.

One of the major demands was for the voluntary revocable check-off of union dues, main cause of a wave of gold mine strikes in this area.

Said Judge Robinson, board chairman: "To recommend the voluntary revocable check-off after what has occurred in the Porcupine mining camp would be to bow to force or the threats of force."

The union also asked an hourly wage increase of 20 cents. The majority report said the mine "is operating very close to the line" and that wage increases would place it in "a difficult position."

The board also turned down requests for a shorter work-week, more statutory holidays and vacations with pay.

Other union requests concerned seniority classifications, severance pay, reclassification of certain jobs, an insurance and medical plan and retroactivity.

$80,000 Fire Guts Apt., Stores

BRIGHT'S GROVE, Ont. (CP)—Fire early Thursday gutted a two-storey building in the business section of this town 10 miles northeast of Sarnia. Damage was estimated at $80,000.

The building contained hardware and grocery stores, a snack bar and an apartment occupied by Paul Sherwood, the owner.

Mr. Sherwood carried two children out of the building through a back exit. His wife and three other children were away.

Plainer Cattle Hard To Move During Week

TORONTO (CP)—There was a fairly good inquiry for better quality steers and heifers at the Ontario stockyards this week but plainer cattle were hard to move and a good many were in the holdovers. Cattle prices were strong on a small offering and lambs steady, and hogs gained 50 cents. Holdover at the close was 700 cattle.

Cattle receipts of 7,789 head were added to 900 carried from last week. Included in fresh arrivals were 1,500 westerns. Choice light and weighty steers $19-19.50; a few at $20; good steers $18-19; mediums downward to $16; plain steers and heifers $8-15; good heifers $17.50-18; good cows were mostly $11-11.50; a few heifery cows up to $13; good heavy bulls $12-13; plain light bulls $8-11; choice fed yearlings $21.50-22.50; a few early tops $23; mediums downward to $16; plain to medium stockers $13-17.50; good stock calves $18-19.

Calf receipts were 3,525 head including 1,800 westerns. Choice veal calves were firm at $23-25, medium to good $15-22; grassers $8-11.

Hogs totalled 2,945 head. Prices gained 50 cents to $35.50 for grade A; sows were $1 higher at $24 dressed.

Sheep and lambs were 2,344 head. Lambs were unchanged at $20-21 for good ewes and wethers; bucks at the usual $1 discount and heavies $2 discount; culls and feeders $15-17; good light sheep $8-10; culls downward to $4.

Low Calls Senate "Old Man's Home"

VANCOUVER (CP) — The national Social Credit leader, Solon Low, said Thursday the Senate is nothing more than "an old man's home for Liberals."

In a speech before the annual convention of the British Columbia Social Credit League, Mr. Low criticized all major political parties in Canada. He said the Liberal party is dedicated to "the spoils system."

The Senate was a place where "the wicked ceased to worry and the weary are at rest."

He asked what was the use of a Senate that was the same "color" as the Commons? How could hasty legislation be checked?

Reports $25,000 Theft

TORONTO (CP)—D. Steinhouer, suburban North York jewelry salesman, told police Thursday that $25,000 in diamond rings was stolen from his automobile in either Niagara Falls, Ont., or North York township. Steinhouer said the rings, in two sample cases, were missing from the trunk of his car when he arrived in Niagara Falls Thursday from Toronto.

Ottawa's Mayor Gives Gov't Public Tongue Lashing

OTTAWA (CP) — The capital's lady mayor Thursday gave the federal government a public tongue-lashing for refusing to change its decision to move National Film Board headquarters from Ottawa to Montreal.

Charlotte Whitton, the aggressive civic chief, angrily threatened in retaliation to try to spike part of the government's cherished national capital plan unless the disputed transfer is blocked.

The new uproar developed over the cabinet's confirmation Wednesday of a long-standing decision to shift NFB operations to Montreal. This came after consideration of a formal civic appeal accompanied by an offer to provide land for a new board site.

ISSUES STATEMENT

The aroused mayor issued a statement saying the decision should be made by the Commons and that the ministry is making a "parody" of Parliament with a final decision now.

The uprooting of 350 board employees was "ruthless," Miss Whitton said. It was "all too high a price for Canada, the capital and these families to pay for assuring the election, as the member from St. Laurent, of Mr. Guy Rouleau, president of the National Young Liberal Federation."

(The board is to be moved to Ville St. Laurent, a Montreal suburb.)

If the transfer is made, the mayor added, she will urge that the city grant a permit for a $3,000,000 business building opposite Parliament Hill. The modern-type structure has been a subject of dispute because it would not conform to capital planners' ideas that it should follow the grey stone pattern of nearby government buildings.

ACID COMMENT

But, the mayor added acidly, there is this "glimmer of comfort" in the situation:

"Ottawa need not hurry about a city hall and offices. We will be able to bid in on Parliament Hill as a salvage proposition the day the Commons and Senate follow the drift down the river to Montreal and are relocated on the top of Mount Royal."

U.S. Oil Investments Abroad Up Billion

WASHINGTON (CP)—U.S. foreign oil investments grew by an estimated $1,000,000,000 from 1950 to 1952 and about a third of it went into Canada, the department of commerce estimated Thursday.

The department reported that U.S. companies had investments of almost $4,500,000,000 in petroleum enterprises abroad at the end of 1952.

Bob Vollum, librarian and formerly operator with radio station CHEX, is leaving Peterborough to work on sound-engineering with CBC-TV. He starts in his new work on Monday.

RECEIVES MEDAL

V. R. Henry, veteran master of science at the Collegiate and Vocational School, received on Thursday a coronation medal marking the coronation of Queen Elizabeth. Mr. Henry has been a member of the PCI staff since 1914 and was for years a very active member and past president of the Secondary School Teachers Federation.

HOLD WARDEN'S DINNER

The annual warden's outing and dinner will be October 28, with Warden Ernest J. Leeson, of Havelock, the host. Members of county council, their wives, county officials and special guests will meet at 3 p.m. at Havelock park. They will make a tour of the Bethlehem Mines and will return to the town hall for dinner at 6.30 p.m.

MINISTERIAL CANDIDATE

Miss Mary Pogue, whose father, the Rev. Robert Pogue, was for many years minister of St. Paul's Church, Peterborough, has been received and recommended as a United Church ministry candidate. She served with the Women's Division of the Canadian Army and she is now taking the "short course" at Emanuel College.

HYDRO WIRES SPARK

Peterborough utilities workmen were called shortly before 8 p.m. Thursday to Aylmer and Wolfe Sts. where sparks were reported shooting from some hydro wires. The wires, containing 110 volts, were shorting against a tree. A minor repair job was done by the workmen. There was no fire.

NO MORE HORSES

Beginning Thursday, Brown's Bread Ltd. abolished horse and wagon deliveries of bread. The four horses that used to plod around the routes have been replaced by three trucks, making five trucks on local deliveries altogether. The horses were shipped back to Toronto today.

FRED HILLS

Fred Hills To Run Again For Utilities

Fred Hills, this year's chairman of the Peterborough Utilities Commission, has announced that he will seek re-election to the commission in December.

Mr. Hills, who is serving his 12th year as a member of the PUC, was first elected to it in the December election of 1941. He was subsequently re-elected for three more three-year terms, receiving acclamations in 1947 and 1950.

In his 12 years as a member, the present chairman has seen the three-man commission, responsible for administering the city's electricity, water and gas supplies, expand to meet the needs of Peterborough's growing population and industrial plants. The commission now has 75 permanent employees. Of the other two commissioners, Dr. G. R. Langley's term will expire at the end of next year and Richard Raine's in 1955.

During the Second World War, a new trunk water main was laid from the pumping station along Bethune St. to Sherbrooke St. Improvements to the water system this year include installation of extensive new equipment at the filtration plant and extension of the trunk main along Armour Rd. to Downers Corners.

NEW SUBSTATIONS

In the electrical department, new substations were built in Ashburnham, in the south end and on High St. Another will be erected for the Queen Elizabeth subdivision.

Four years ago the city's artificial gas plant was converted from the production of gas from coal and oil to the production of propane gas. Mr. Hills is looking forward to the day when Peterborough can be supplied with natural gas from Western Canada.

A native of Toronto, Mr. Hills served overseas with the Royal Canadian Army Corps in the First World War. After demobilization he came to Peterborough in 1920 and joined the insurance firm of Hill and Weddell, becoming a partner in 1923.

He is married to the former Jean Hill, of Peterborough. They have one daughter, Mrs. Alex Fleming, also of Peterborough.

He is a past president of the YMCA, the Peterborough Club and the Peterborough Golf and Country Club, a member of the Board of Trustees of the YMCA and the Canadian Legion, the advisory board of St. John's Anglican Church and a member of the Peterborough and W. J. Dunlop Lodges, AF and AM.

City Spending On Right Side Of '53 Budget

Tax Collections Keep Pace With Higher Costs

Peterborough's current fiscal situation to the end of September has shown considerable improvement over the same period last year, an interim report to the city council by Treasurer A. S. Couper shows.

Although the city is spending more than it was last year, it is operating well within the budget and collections of both current taxes and arrears are up over what they were a year ago.

Apart from the increase in tax collections, revenues have been buoyed from other sources. Besides the 1952 surplus of $86,052.52 and the pre-school levies of $9,475, the 1953 balance sheet has benefited from an increase in provincial grants to the fire and police departments of almost $4,000 over what was budgeted for. Another factor was receipt of $3,772.41 more than was estimated in the case of payments in lieu of taxes from Ontario Hydro and the Peterborough Utilities Commission. The Board of Works subsidy was increased greatly over last year but not as much as the budget estimate so far.

To the end of September, $2,133,050.07 in 1953 taxes had been collected, compared with $1,996,405.87 in current taxes over the same period last year. In addition this year, $65,277.32 in 1952 taxes, $19,013.95 in 1951 taxes and $7,231.23 in tax arrears had been collected. In the same period last year, $57,839.58 in 1951 taxes, $13,465.79 in 1950 taxes and $6,456.39 in tax arrears had been collected.

Total spending estimated in this year's budget was $2,675,304.36. By the end of September the city had spent $1,985,576.50, compared with $1,780,942.22 during the same period last year.

INCREASES

Principal increases this year over 1952 spending have been in the assessment department, charity, fire department, street lighting, cost of municipal government, police department, property, garbage, Board of Education and the Separate School Board. Notable decreases in expenditures were in the health department, interest charges, reception, treasurer and tax departments.

With a budget of $31,224, the assessment department had spent $25,555.80 to the end of September this year, compared with $15,710.26 over the same period last year. Of a $64,545 budget, there was $43,274.92 spent for charity this year, compared with $38,381.51 last year. This item includes payments to charitable institutions and the city's share of the cost of indigent patients in hospitals.

With a budget of $185,915.59, the fire department spent $140,-217.57, compared with $112,734.61 last year. Of a $68,150.54 budget for street lighting, $42,873.08 was spent, compared with $33,706.93 last year. Rates for street lighting were raised by the Ontario Hydro Commission last year.

Of $41,400 budgeted to cover the cost of municipal government, including salaries and allowances, $32,039.81 was spent, compared with $27,255.12 last year. Of their $187,000 budget, the police department spent $132,318.44, compared with $109,516.32 last year.

Of their $12,000 budget, the property committee spent $11,-243.50, compared with $3,532.35 last year. Alterations carried out at the sanitation department's

Two Women Hurt As Car, Truck Collide

Police Say Driver Failed To See Traffic Lights

Two women were treated at Peterborough hospitals at noon today for injuries they received when a car and truck collided at Monaghan Rd. and Lansdowne St. Neither's condition was considered serious.

Drivers involved were James L. Graves of 595 Erskine Ave., and Roy Ferguson of RR 2, Nestleton. Mrs. Graves was thrown clear of her husband's pick-up truck and sustained head cuts and possible internal injuries while one of Ferguson's passengers, Mrs. Cecil Hill of Blackstaff sustained leg and forearm abrasions.

Both women are being X-rayed in order to determine whether other injuries were sustained.

They were rushed to separate hospitals by Nisbett's ambulance.

Graves was driving south on Monaghan Rd. and Ferguson, east on Lansdowne St. when the accident occurred. According to investigating constable William A. Scott, Ferguson failed to see the light and struck the Graves truck as it came through the intersection.

The truck was spun around and upset by the impact, and ended up in the southeast corner of the intersection. Mrs. Graves was thrown clear. The car had hit the truck near the passenger's door.

Damage was estimated at $300 to the truck and $400 to the car which received extensive frontal damages.

Mrs. Hill was the only one of four passengers in the Ferguson car who required attention.

KINSMEN MEET

Out-of-town Kinsmen, recently arrived in this city, were welcomed to the club at a stag get-together sponsored by the ways and means committee at Young's Point, Thursday evening. A short discussion on good fellowship and increasing membership was followed by a buffet lunch and some local entertainment.

300 Young Folk To Take Part In Convention

The Bay of Quinte Conference United Church Young People's Union 25th annual convention will be held in George St. United Church this weekend. Committee officials expect nearly 300 delegates to register between the opening tonight and the closing service of Sunday evening.

These delegates will be representing some 8,000 active United Church young people in the Bay of Quinte Conference which stretches from Renfrew to Oshawa.

The program begins tonight with a "get-acquainted supper." This will be followed by movies taken at Camp Quin-Mo-Lac last summer. At 8:30 Bridge St. YPU, Belleville will present their winning play, "The Bishop's Candle Sticks". The evening will close with a vesper service by Lindsay Presbytery executive.

The Rev. A. E. MacKenzie, principal of Albert College, Belleville, will be the theme speaker on Saturday, giving two addresses on the theme, "Lord, What Wilt Thou Have Me To Do." This, along with worship services, study groups, election of a new executive and a quick tour of the city will keep delegates busy Saturday morning and afternoon.

Following the Fellowship banquet Saturday evening, which is to be in Trinity United Church, the group will return to George St. Church for a play party followed by closing vespers by Oshawa Presbytery.

Delegates will worship Sunday morning with the George St. congregation at which time Miss Leanore Kettles of Ottawa will give the theme. Miss Kettles was the United Church National delegate to the World Convention of Christian Youth held in Travencore, India, last year.

The convention will continue Sunday afternoon, concluding on Sunday evening with a dedication and candlelight service.

Delegates to the convention are being billeted at homes throughout the city.

Those on the convention planning committee are: Lloyd Starke (chairman), Bill Piercy (president of conference), Marion Brown, Ron Davis, all of Peterborough; Margaret Hillis, Belleville; Dorothy Lean, Cobourg; Harold Pitcher, Frankford. Registrar is Miss Jean Montgomery.

Commission group leaders are the Rev. Lloyd Shorten, the Rev. I. G. Pollock, Grant Hudson, the Rev. A. E. Larke, the Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt and the Rev. K. P. Jull.

TB Association Plans Educational Program

At their October meeting Thursday the executive of the Peterborough County Tuberculosis Association had the help of a provincial official to help them draw up an educational program.

Mrs. May Dale, a New Zealander who was recently engaged by the provincial association to help county associations, met with Lewis Ingram and other members of the educational committee. Mrs. Dale is a trained dietician and is experienced in public health work.

Mrs. Gordon Pammett, secretary of the Christmas seals committee, said that the Mr. and Mrs. Club of George Street United Church will meet Oct. 29 to help in the anti-TB campaign. They will mail 5,000 Christmas seal sheets and letters.

ELECTED DIRECTOR

J. G. Wharry, general manager of the Peterborough plant of Quaker Oats Ltd., was elected one of the directors of the Canadian Exporters' Association which met Thursday in Niagara Falls. S. A. MacKay-Smith of Ottawa was named president.

Whitefish Poor Specie For Kawarthas, Say Experts

The novelty of taking whitefish in the Kawarthas, and the legality of it, came under discussion at the afternoon session Thursday of the second day of the regional meeting of the Department of Lands and Forests. Officials of the Lindsay district office said that whitefish were not desirable types to have in these waters. They have checked on the reported quantities taken, especially off Salmon Island opposite Crowe's Landing, Stony Lake, during the past summer. They felt that Kawartha waters would be better without them. There is not likely to be a numbers limit put on this species here.

The method of issuing special export fur shipments permits to fur buyers and farmer-trappers was discussed. Methods suggested for expiditing the procedure were explained by chief of the fish and wildlife division, Dr. W. J. K. Harkness.

It was found that too many dealers tried to expedite shipments by phoning officials at Queen's Park who turned the matter back to district offices. The procedure is to be corrected in future by advising dealers well in advance to work at a local level.

CHECK ON DEER

Road checks will be set up, as usual, during the coming deer hunting season in the Kawarthas; there will be three of them and will possibly be manned for longer periods than in former seasons.

During the morning, much serious thought was given to proposed methods of patrolling for fires in county forests and, when they did occur, the types of equipment needed to combat them. In such areas that are sandy, and have no near water supply to draw from, it was suggested that chemical fire-fighting apparatus might be the answer. The subject will be referred to the annual meeting at Queen's Park in January.

Both Northumberland County Forest and Durham's Ganaraska will each have a detection fire tower erected within the next short while. Tower observers will be within visible range of each other, when weather is reasonably clear.

DINNER HELD

A dinner finished the two-day meeting in the evening and, though of an informal nature, the Hon. Harold R. Scott, minister without portfolio, made a short speech. He stressed the importance of all staff members present to be most careful in cultivating good public relations. When they were called upon to speak to small groups they should have their material well prepared in advance, Mr. Scott cautioned.

Special head table guests were Mayor Hugh Waddell, Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., County Warden E. J. Leeson, manager of the Chamber of Commerce James Fraser, Hugh Plowman and Campbell Rowatt, both of Zone 5 of the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters, and George Walton. Regional forester W. B. Greenwood was dinner chairman.

ROBERT C. BASTABLE

R. C. Bastable Heads Kiwanis

The Peterborough Kiwanis club Thursday elected Robert C. Bastable its new president to succeed Wilson Gemmell.

New vice-presidents are George Cheatle and Les Reichardt. Directors are John Madden, Arthur Malby, Rufus Payne, Dr. Harry Dunham, Mort Golumbia, J. B. Lillico and Ernest McWilliams.

POLICE WORK EXTRA HOURS

Seventy per cent of the Oshawa police department do additional work to supplement their salaries, an arbitration board in that city has been told. The Oshawa police are asking for a $800 wage increase, a 40-hour work week and other benefits. A fourth class constable now gets $2,650 and a first class constable $3,150.

Graham Store Broken Into, Nothing Taken

Although a break-in didn't net would-be thieves any money, it resulted in compliments to city police officers by the victim, Norman Graham, owner of Graham's Flooring.

Checking doors leading onto an empty back lot early this morning, PC Wilfred Perry discovered a window pane smashed in the Graham store. The door had been opened after someone reached in the broken window and unlocked it.

Checking inside, he found papers strewn about an office in the rear of the store. He contacted Sergeant Harold Mesley, who, in turn, called Mr. Graham.

NOTHING MISSING

The owner hurried down but found nothing missing. The cash register, containing $1.96, was found partially open, the way Mr. Graham had left it. All the other store funds had been taken home by him when he had left the building at about 11 o'clock.

Time of the break-in was estimated at between 11 and 1.15 when Constable Perry discovered the open door.

The ex-alderman was particularly pleased with the prompt manner in which police handled the incident and commended the constable for being alert in discovering the break-in.

PROCLAMATION
UNITED NATIONS DAY

Eighth Anniversary of the founding of the United Nations, Saturday, October 24, 1953.

To the Citizens of Peterborough:

In a world in which distance has ceased to have any significance, one in which events of today affect the world everywhere tomorrow, local or national problems almost immediately become international ones. The Nations must then have available, the means to consider problems and to seek solutions for them. That is just what the United Nations offers —the means, the machinery to work.

The United Nations is yours. It exists only to make a decent and peaceful life possible for you and for peoples everywhere. It is at once its members states and the machinery through which they can operate. Only you, the people, can assure that this machinery is used for the purpose for which its members established it.

I hereby proclaim Saturday, October 24, 1953, as United Nations Day in Peterborough.

H. F. WADDELL, Mayor.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALL

4-H Club Members Received Award at Annual Meeting of Their Junior Farmer Sponsors . . . Rally of Farm Forums Monday, Oct. 26, at Normal School . . . Miss Eleanor Saracuse Visiting Speaker . . . Maple Bred Holsteins Average $376 at Auction.

To the Peterborough 4-H Club boys and girls at Normal School Tuesday night, Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, said they should try to see themselves as associates of the 65,215 rural club members in Canada.

New clubs have been organized in Newfoundland, extending the 4-H Club principles through the ten provinces. Their membership increased by 6,509 during the last year.

Mr. Paterson emphasized to the young people and their parents, the importance of the 4-H spirit, policies and activities as a sound basis of future Canadian citizenship. He also said that the rural communities afforded a bulwark for the nation in its social development, enterprise and source of the many citizens who gravitate to urban life.

The 4-H Club idea now extends into 20 countries, and just incidentally he mentioned the presence of two Japanese 4-H Club members as guests of the recent Pacific National Exhibition in based on these Clubs was a Vancouver. International youth promise of increasing goodwill and understanding in the world.

Michiko Kikase is the eldest daughter of a farm family of seven and is president of a girls' club of 15 members. Kazuyoshi Umatsu, also 19, is a Japanese farm boy, secretary of his 13-member 4-H Club whose projects include an experiment in methods of planting rice.

Mr. Paterson recited the 4-H pledge to the boys and girls: "I pledge my Head to clearer thinking; My Heart to greater loyalty; My hands to larger service; My Health to better living for my club, my community and my country."

Those sentiments and affirmations Mr. Peterson said were close to the heart of true Canadian citizenship, and he strongly recommended them to the parents of the youngsters as little reminders now and then of the inner values of the 4-H Club purpose.

JUNIOR FARMERS' ANNUAL

The Tuesday night assembly of 150 persons with Archie Davidson chairman, was the annual meeting of Peterborough Junior Farmers.

Directors elected for the coming year were: Mr. Davidson, Jack Matchett, Mary Wood, of Otonabee; Doris Jopling, Smith; Marie Kelly, Peterborough; John Waterman and Neil Whitfield, North Monaghan, Margaret Perry, Peterborough.

Don Chambers, Elaine Savigny, Norm Blodgett, Bill Wood, Otonabee; Blanche Quinn and Gerald Bolton, Douro; Lorne Pimmett, Indian River; Gaye Hancock and Marion McMullen, Smith; Gordon Bradfield, Dummer.

Nine of that group are new members. Orland Brown of last year's board is now a director of Norwood Juniors, Keith McIntyre John and Marjorie Edmison, John Stewart and Glenn Stark, requested that they be permitted to retire. They have become veterans in the junior service.

One of the points Mr. Paterson stressed was the need of more leaders to take charge of new clubs that could be organized. He also expressed the hope that the experienced leaders would continue their aid.

Mr. Paterson also urged the boys and girls to recognize the strong interests that are helping promote their position in Canada. They have their own democratic organization which they set up by election; they have the assistance of their provincial and federal governments, sponsorship here of the Junior Farmers, and in the back ground the Canadian Council of 4-H Clubs.

That council included all the governments of this country, and an impressive list of industrial and financial institutions interested in 4-H success. Some of them are: C.N.R., C.P.R.; banks, automobile companies, Canada Packers, farm implement manufacturers, Hudson's Bay Company, Imperial Oil, the T. Eaton Co., Robert Simpson Co., and various others.

The possibilities among the rural young folk exceed the direction that is required, an important supervision which the agricultural office could not fully assume. Mr. Paterson said he thanked the leaders in contacts with the 4-H membership.

The prizes won by the boys and girls in their Achievement Day program were presented by the leaders.

That was the final event of the 1952-53 Club year. The new Junior executive will now take over in planning the sponsorship for 1953-54.

$12,500 Angus Heifer

An Aberdeen-Angus heifer sold for $12,500 at a "fire sale" last Saturday at Edwards brothers farm at Arva. This price is reported highest ever paid for a beef heifer in Canada. The consignor was Douglas Weldon of Prospect Farms, London, Ont., whose barn burned earlier this year. The buyer was L. V. Wright of Streetsville. Forty-five head, three bulls and 42 females averaged $1,450. All the animals except six were bought by U. S. purchasers.

That afternoon at the Western Fair grounds London, a female consigned by Colbeck brothers of Grand Valley sold for $2,000 to an American breeder. Average for 48 cows was $690, and for four bulls $870. Thomas Law received $1,700 for the top bull from D. E. McEween. Both were of the London area.

Dates For Next Week

Two Farm Forum dates next week are the pre-season rally at Normal School Monday night, and the zone meeting Friday morning and afternoon Oct. 30.

Notices have gone out to all the Forum groups in the county, Wellington Sutton reported yesterday. The rally has been arranged to stimuate broader interest in the Peterborough area as the new series of broadcasts begins Monday Nov. 2.

Miss Eleanor Saracuse, the former president of Ontario Junior Farmers, will be the visiting speaker.

The Zone meeting beginning at 10 a.m. Friday in the office of the Department of Agriculture is especially for directors of the Central Ontario counties.

They are Lennox-Addington, Prince Edward, Hastings, Peterborough Durham, Northumberland, Victoria. The chairman will be Don Thompson of Picton.

The annual meeting of Co-Op services Monday night at the Empress Hotel at 8 o'clock will be preceded by dinner at 6.30. The financial statement will show net savings of $7610 for the year ending June 30. The dinner speaker will be Dr. H. L. Patterson, director of the farm economics branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Prior to deciding on the Monday date, so it transpires, enquiry was made about Forum meetings, and the determining information was to the effect that the Forum series did not open until Nov. 2, leaving Oct. 26 open.

Other dates:

Monday night—Jersey Breeders executive.

Wednesday and Thursday—Homemakers training school directed by Miss Jean Noble, Bowmanville.

Wednesday night — Hereford Breeders.

Thursday—Normal School students at the Harry Blewett farm, 1.30 p.m.

Friday—Forum Zone meeting.

The Junior Homemakers' project is "Supper Club": Wednesday at the Department of Agriculture office, morning and afternoon; Thursday at Normal School.

Miss Noble's announcement says: "This is an interesting foods unit in which girls learn much about good food habits and planning supper meals with variety—A leader and preferably an assistant must attend the two full days of the training school. Anyone willing to take time can be a leader."

✦ ✦ ✦

Bought Holsteins

At the All-Candian Holstein sale, Cephas Bolton of Douro bought a bred heifer from Eli B. Gingrich of Wallenstein for $435; Gordon S. Macklin of Cobourg, a bred heifer from Ira M. Good of Blair at $500; Greer brothers of Cobourg, a four year old from C. J. Carswell at $525 and a four year old from G. E. D. Greene, Agincourt, at $500. James T. Brown of Newcastle received $535 from H. L. Guilbert, Vercheres, Que., for a bred heifer.

Three Cattle Sales

The average price was $794 for 56 Holsteins at the Coliseum sale in Toronto Monday. Gross receipts were $44,500. "While lower than the average of $840 obtained a year ago, this year's figure was considered satisfactroy since there were no exceptionally high prices to swell the average." Twenty-one head were sold for export, 18 of them to the U.S. Twelve head brought $1,000 each, and three exceeded $2,000. Four bulls averaged $1,362. George McLaughlin of Oshawa drew $1,650 for a six months calf, Elmcroft R. A. Signor. Joint buyers were Sherman J. Moore and John F. Graham of Lindsay. He also sold a bred heifer for $1,325.

Thirty-seven Holsteins at London averaged $301. Top was $540 paid by J. E. Houck of Brampton. The sale total was $11,155, some of whom felt they were "selling dirt cheap". Three bulls averaged $263; 12 milking females $357; 19 bred heifers, $285; two open yearlings, $227, and one heifer calf, $190.

ANGUS PRICES

Twenty-nine Angus cattle totalled $7,995 at the Grey-Bruce-Huron breeders' sale at Walkerton, averaging $275. Eight bulls averaged $327 for a total of $2,615; and the females sold for $5,380, averaging $327. Best price for a bull was $435, and the top female $400.

"Meat In The Menu"

Rural women who act as homemaking club leaders from one season to another devote a great deal of time and effort for the advantage of young township girls who are aided in a practical introduction to life through these clubs.

Representatives of ten of these junior clubs in Durham attended a training school for the project, "Meat in the Menus," at Bowmanville last week. They visited Allin's meat market and saw the various cuts of meat that are the basis of this project study.

Demonstrations on using the less tender cuts of meat in stews and dumplings, meat loaf and swiss steak, also braised liver casserole were given by Miss Jean Noble, home economist, assisted by Miss Jean Davis of St. Catharines. These dishes were served for the noon lunch. During the eight meetings which will be held at each club, the leader will do practical work and study many subjects.

This is an exercise in behalf of community enterprise, and the future of the young girls of the country that is rarely acknowledged as it deserves.

Those attending the training school were: Bethany: Mrs. M. Finney, Mrs. F. W. Bigelow; Maple Grove: Mrs. E. Stephenson, Mrs. W. Munday; Solina: Mrs. H. Yellowless, Mrs. R. Cryderman; Tyrone: Arlene Rosevear; Welcome: Mrs. E. A. Nicholls, Mary McHolm; Kendal: Mrs. Wm. Jackson, Mrs. M. Luxon; Sixth Line; Mrs. N. Kenpedy, Mrs. J. Stapleton; Millbrook: Mrs. B. Gardiner, Mrs. E. White; Cavan: Mrs. L. Challice, Mrs. D. Guthrie, Mrs. D. Nill; Lifford: Mrs. H. DeGeer, Mrs. L. McKinley and Mrs. C. Smith.

Maple Auction Prices

Holsteiin cows bred of Maple sires averaged $376 at the third assignment sale at Oakville Tuesday. Receipts for the 44 head amounted to $16,564. Some of these cattle are being distributed as far as Alberta, New York, North Carolina and nearer home, Sault Ste. Marie.

Top price was $635 by Sheffield Farms, St. George, Ont. to V. J. Lawrence of Oakville for a four year old heifer, a daughter of Lonelm Texal Pickwick. Second highest was $610 paid by Bailey Bros. of Clover Bar, Alta., to J. P. Kitching, Moffat for a daughter of Bond Haven R. A. Maple.

Bailey Bros., took ten head, ranging from $610 to $335. Twenty milkers averaged $400; 19 heifers $342; three heifer calves $291. James Walker of Lindsay bought two heifers at $355 each.

TWO PETERBOROUGH COUNTY BOYS, Bruce Hill (left) and Joel Redden, won the Orfida trophy in the Ontario inter-county 4-H Club competition at OAC last week. With them, rear, (l. to r.) Ralph Gregg, Lindsay, district fieldman engineer, Frank C. Paterson, Peterborough agricultural representative, holding the trophy, and his assistant Ken Best. The trophy was donated by the Ontario Retail Farm Implement Dealers' Association. The East Peterborough team was sponsored by the Norwood Junior Farmers.

Billions Of Weed Seeds Sifted From Clover By-Product Of Cleaning

Although they rid the land of billions of weed seeds, Dewart Milling Co. are rarely mentioned or even recognized as an ally in the campaign of eradication.

With them, warring on the generic cockle is only part of their business. It isn't a mission such as the dedicated field and roadside observations and directions of county weed inspectors, represented locally by Melville Johnston.

For all its close association with agriculture, the seed cleaning plant appears to be taken for granted as a branch of urban industry, and its contribution to better farming may be generally obscured. No kudos, nor is it expected in the course of the company's job of separating the cockle from the good seed, and advising that it be consigned to a bonfire.

This season's cash crop of red clover seed has turned out in quantity and quality better than was estimated by Ernie McWilliam, seed expert at the Dewart plant. At least there is some improvement in the aspect of cleanness. The comparatively better samples show gain in the size of seed.

A casual reference to the blowing and shuttling of the cleaning mills one day recently prompted the comment in explanation by Mr. McWilliam: "We're helping in weed control far more than we get any credit for."

He happened to mention the immeasurable word "billions" and that led to a demonstration of the facts on which he based his estimate almost in infinity.

PROLIFIC WEEDS

Mr. McWilliam flipped over packages of clover seed, samples from bags as they came from the field combining. These containers are about the size of pay envelopes. They identify the name of producers, and record the weed content. One of them indicated 1344 seeds of rib grass to the ounce. This weed, in appearance like the plaintain, at least, in outline, is listed in the secondary category of noxiousness proscribed by the federal government under the Canada Seeds Act.

"Let's see what that signifies, potentially at any rate," Mr. McWilliam remarked beginning on a little sum in multiplication.

The 1344 seeds of rib grass to the ounce, expanded into 21,504 to the pound. At ten pounds to the acre, that visualizes the sowing of 215,040 seeds of the weed on one acre.

"But, the rib grass plant is credited with yielding 1500 seeds. Multiply the 215,040 seeds by 1500, and the total yield of rib grass seeds on that acre is 322,560,000."

That is the possibility of the rib grass harvest from an acre if the farmer's bag of red clover were not cleaned. Multiply that total by the number of bags piled in the Dewart seed cleaning department and you land in the billions, on paper.

"Of course, a lot of the weed seeds wouldn't yield, and there would be other casualties in the course of the season, but the little sum in multiplication indicates what the seed cleaning plant does," Mr. McWilliam said.

Deliveries to the Simcoe St. mill were trucked from the area, roughly from Bethany to Bowmanville, along the lake front to Brighton, up to Madoc and westerly to Fenlong Falls.

IN SEPARATE LOTS

Each producer's bags of seed are identified by a number. These numbers are in the order of receipt of the deliveries at the plant. If an Asphodel farmer brings seven bags of clover, they are all marked with the same designating number. That is a simple method of indicating ownership of the seed as it arrives. Individual lots are piled up on the floor until they can be cleaned, in their turn.

Each farmer's delivery is cleaned separately, and as such it is bought by the mill after the process of commercial treatment, blowing out chaff, screening out runty immature seed and also weed seeds.

Warrant for these operations is found in the Canada Seed Acts. Regulations specify condemning impurities that forbid sale, or even to have it in possession for sale, as Mr. McWilliam briefly sketched these restrictions.

For instance, No. 1 commercial red clover shall have no primary weed seeds, a mixmum of only five secondaries, and the total weed seed count must be less than 100 per ounce.

VARIATION OF STANDARDS

"In the case of red clover we produce more than we can use. So we must export, and we have to meet the regulations of buying nations," Mr. McWilliam explained.

"New York State prescribes that clover must be 99 per cent pure seed, and not more than ½ of 1 per cent weeds. Iowa and Minnesota will not accept seed unless it is absoluately free of Canada Thistle and rib grass. Other states have their own standards, differing in some particulars."

After the primary cleaning, a lot of clover seed, for instance, or it may be timothy, samples are taken for the next step of examination under a microscope for the weed seed count, and to determine what methods are required for further cleaning to comply with the specifications laid down in the federal acts.

There is no charge for primary cleaning if the grower agrees to the price that is offered on the basis of the microscopic count of weed seeds. That is the stage of the selling and buying transaction. The milling company is the ultimate seller in the seed trade and has to conform with the standards set by federal law. Naturally, it has no interest in weed seeds except to get rid of them, and the cleaner the producer's sample, the better the price to him.

Mr. McWilliam showed the Examiner half a dozen or more of the packeted samples. One of them cited above showed 1344 seeds of rib grass, which is in the secondary list of noxious weeds.

"Here's a sample showing no primary weeds, and only four seeds of foxtail and four of ribgrass. That is a good sample. Here is another one: 14 seeds of bladder campion, a primary weed in the noxious category; 16 of rib grass and 640 of ragweed, both in the secondary class. This one is an Otobabee farmer's sample, 104 seeds of ribgrass to the ounce. This one showed: eight seeds of bladder campion, primary, 32 of ribgrass and 8 of ragweed, secondary. Another, 204 grains of ribgrass."

So, sampling goes and shows, some of the samples "pretty clean" others not so good.

Selling by the producer is his option. The result of the examination or inspection is shown on his packet sample, the price is quoted to him on the basis of the sample test.

"Obviously," Mr. McWilliam said, "we build up a confidence with the farmers through the years. They bring us the seed, we give it a primary cleaning, removing the chaff and other impurities and immature good seed, and we tell them what a lot is worth as disclosed by our examination."

That work assumed knowledge of seeds, red clover, alsike, timothy and so on, immediate identification of them and almost an incredibable list of the weed seeds set out in the Canada Seed Acts.

QUALITY IMPROVING

"We have been noticing an improvement in the seed deliveries for some years," Mr. McWilliams said. "A farmer cannot expect top prices for poor quality. It used to be fairly general that the primary screenings were taken home by the producer. They were his, but our advice has been to dig one hole in the ground and bury them. The immature seed were not worth sowing, and the weeds were just enemies."

For alsike there is no market at home or abroad, and it is a single cut crop, in contrast with red clover. Alfalfa is catchy and very little is grown in Ontario for seed. Timothy is mostly harvested for hay. Red clover is the main small seed cash crop, with some timothy.

Alfalfa seed, Mr. McWilliam said, comes almost exclusively from Saskatchewan, brome grass from the west, too, largely from Alberta; red fescue Alberta; sweet clover, Saskatchewan and Alberta; blue grasses, Manitoba; some from Ontario; bent grass New Zealand; orchard grass from Great Britain, and also perennial rye grass.

"Seed is an international commodity; the home market exerts very little control; and prices are based on the international markets."

Gold Watch To Miss M. Lytle

Of the original 43 entries in the Norwood Fair Hereford Heifer Calf Club, 42 boys and girls brought out their calves to be shown and sold at the fair. Thirty-five placed in the first and second brackets.

Twenty-one of those in the first group received $10 each in prize money, and those in the second $8 each.

President G. A. Brethen said that, considering the recent drastic drop in prices in both the United States and Canada, the prices received at the sale on the day after the Fair could be considered satisfactory for the better finished cattle, far exceeding the best prices paid for similar offerings at the big northern Ontario sales in the week previous.

The final placings were determined on gain in weight (during the period from May 29 when received and weighed in at the fair grounds), finish and showmanship as displayed in the show ring before "that competent judge E. A. Summers of Bowmanville."

Gain made under the management of their young owners was considered important, and was given 400 points for the perfect score, with 300 points for finsh and showmanship together.

420 POUNDS IN 137 DAYS

In the judging ring, Grant Ross of Norwood had the best score with 295 points as compared with the 293 points for Marguerite Lytle, Indian River; but in the gain in weight section Miss Lytle's calf surpassed all competitors with a phenomenal increase of 420 pounds in 137 days, which gave her a total score of 713 points, a high of 53 points over her nearest competitor.

Miss Lytle's awards were $10 for standing first, William Mitchell's special of $10, the Harold Inman special of $5 (for the girl with the highest total score), and the valuable Gruen gold watch, engraved, donated by Dave A. Kerr of Peterborough to the winner over all.

Grant Ross with 660 points was second, winning $20 in cash prizes including the Col. F. E. Birdsall $10 special; another little girl, Colleen Walsh of Hastings was third with 646 points, entitling her to $20 in prizes, including the Charles Fisher $10 special "Coming as it did at a time when there was a recession in the prices of beef cattle generally, this project can be considered a marked success in the results achieved," Mr. Brethen said.

"The lively interest of the boys and girls, and also their parents, was sustained throughout the contest. The young people received a valuable practical experience in the feeding, handling and the management of cattle of this type, which should prove useful in years to come.

Insurance against loss was carried by the participants themselves at no cost as there were no losses. Ray Williams an' Gordon Hancock gave their services for the good of the cause. Norwood fair absorbed advertising and other expenses. Public interest in the calf club was evidenced by ringside attendance during the judging. It was not approached anywhere outside Toronto."

JUDGE'S FINAL REPORT

Final standing of the Hereford calf club members was: Marguerite Lytle 713 points; Keith Ross, 660; Colleen Walsh 646; Bob Strain and Ron Scott, tied, 639; Ed Lytle 625; Bob Rutherford 608; Morris Redden 605; Gail Harnden 599; Terry Harnden 595; John Crowley 591; John Shearer 575; David Cornish 572; Ron Rutherford 571; Denton Payne 565; Fred Gallagher 555; Joel Redden 544; Frank Lynch 540.

Frank Lynch, Ivan Moore and Phil Elmhirst, tied; Gord Chamberlain; Marwood Payne and Carl Drain, tied; Bill Toms, Helen Manley.

Sid Strain and Mel Wilson, tied; Art Gallagher, James English, Wayne Hope; Neil Patterson and Ernest Moore, tied; Mac Dunford, Joan Patterson, Joseph Crowley, Vic Robinson, Hugh Allen, Larry Reid, Ken Humphries, Berta Allen.

Kenner Student Winner Of 4-H Club Honors Sets Ambition In Farming

Winning the Orfida Trophy at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, last Friday, has confirmed Bruce Hill, of Otonabee, in his ambition to be a farmer.

He and Joel Redden, of Norwood, were the Peterborough 4-H Club team that placed first in the Ontario inter-county competition in tractor maintenance. The club they represented was sponsored by the Norwood Junior Farmers.

Bruce Hill, 16, is a student in the 11th Grade at Kenner Collegiate Institute, a tall rangy youth who plays on the school rugby team. His father is George Hill, a tool designer at the Canadian General Electric Company.

Interest in the boy's achievement is enlivened by his family's comparatively recent and planned retreat from urban environment. Bruce was introduced to the practical operation of a tractor a little more than two years ago, an investment in agricultural equipment a year and a half after the family moved from No. 28 Highway, on the west side of Peterborough, to the old Salem Corner on No. 7, a mile east of the Burnham estate.

The youngster's limited but studious experience with the machine explains large measure his surprise and thrill in the award of the trophy, with his Asphodel associate. The boys also received silver trays, the permanent prizes to the highest scoring team. The Orfida Trophy was presented for inter-county competition by the Ontario Retail Farm Implement Dealers' Association.

PREFER COUNTRY LIFE

From the time they came to Peterborough twelve years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Hill wished to live in the country. Their home was in the Carver community, between the west border of the city and the Kawartha Golf Club. Residential encroachment in that direction of recent years proposed moving to larger acreage, and so they acquired the former Johnston farm, a mile beyond the city's limits on its east front.

The two boys of the family, Bruce and his younger brother, Harvey, were as attached to the land and the rural open space as were their parents, a family unity of spirit combined in a variety of interests that have been steadily developing around the 100-acre farm.

Mrs. Hill is the daughter of a farm near Weston. Her brother grew up convinced of the values of farming, partly as a way of life. At 21 he left for the west and established himself near Swift Current, Sack. The attractions of the country evidently run deep in that family as now reflected in the attachment of the young sons of Harbruce Farm in what was once an old Otonabee community locally identified as Salem.

JOINED TRACTOR CLUB

Bruce joined the Peterborough 4-Htractor maintenance club two yars ago. Its leader was Irving McIntosh, and the district agricultural engineer has been Ralph Gregg, of Lindsay, who was as delighted as the Redden-Hill team in their somewhat unexpected success. Robert E. Bell, now agricultural representative at Woodstock, was assistant to Frank Paterson when the first tractor club was organized.

Mrs. Hill has long been convinced of the advantages of country life in bringing up a family. It is close to the land and the influences of nature, and the atmosphere is healthful. The 4-H Clubs are a comparatively new asset which Mrs. Hill ardently advocates.

"I hope that more of them will be formed," she remarked to the Examiner. "They are directed in the first place by the Department of Agriculture, are well supervised, and they are cultivating worthwhile interests among rural young people. I think they should receive the wholehearted support of farmers."

HAS EYES ON O.A.C.

"Not too much publicity for the boys," Mrs. Hill suggested. "We all like to see them win for Peterborough county, and they had an enjoyable visit to OAC, but I feel sure that their first interest is in the purpose of their 4-H Club, learning everything about the maintaining of their tractors."

The trip deepened Bruce's interest in OAC, his immediate goal, but the first barrier is his "senior matric."

Use of the land is another problem, a job in itself, involving a time factor that has to be considered with school studies and club affairs.

Bruce has the tractor, tiller and plow, some calves and so far primary tools of farming. The boys share their father's hobby of purebred beagles, small type of the hunting hound breed.

The second field trials of this year were held in the McManus woods and also at Fife's Bay last Saturday, with 55 dogs entered. Many of them were from western Ontario, as far as London, with a few from across the border, around Buffalo. However, that is only an incidental attraction.

The main aspect of the Peterborough team's win in the provincial competition was the fact that the two boys were not specially groomed for it, and depended mostly on their club training followed by practical work at home. They were better "technicians" than they knew when they set out with the county party for Guelph, the members of the swine and grain teams, Mr. Paterson, Ken Best and Mr. Gregg.

More definitely now, is the hope of a course at OAC, as a further step toward an ambition in agriculture which may survive a boy's dream of his future, set against the lures of urban opportunity. "The thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts."

OLD SALEM COMMUNITY

The Hill farm at the old Salem corner was once owned by Robert Girven, a grand uncle of E. Girven, C.G.E. executive. It was bought by the late Col. W. David Johnston, and was devised his son, the late Col. Dalton Johnston, who farmed there for probably 25 years.

Salem Corner used to be the end of the road past Burham's woods. Travel to the east turned south to the next line and came out at what used to be known as Shearer's cheese factory, just east of the 6th line.

Decision by the Ontario Department of Highways to construct No. 7 was distance and time saving improvement that was taken when Percy Lancaster of Havelock was Member of the Legislature for East Peterborough. The route was projected easterly from Salem through an intervening swamp and over the hill beyond.

Considerable controversy was aroused over the course of the new highway, circumstances of which should be remembered by older citizens of the township, including William A. Anderson. Those are particulars of change that have grown dim with the memory of Salem, now rarely mentioned and remembered only by few persons.

How are your driving attitudes?

Feel you're the best judge of speed at which you should be permitted to drive? Feel it's the other drivers who make the mistakes? Lose your temper in traffic tie-ups? Disregard traffic lights at night when streets are empty?

In November Reader's Digest, Paul W. Kearney says it's the mental viewpoint of the person behind the wheel (not skill, sex or age) that's the important factor in auto-accident totals — offers a simple test to evaluate your driving attitudes.

STUDENTS RIOT AT ROME — Angry students run through the streets of Rome, demonstrating with banners and shouting for the immediate entry of Italian troops into Trieste. Police broke up a violent battle between pro-Fascists and pro-Communists in front of the American and British embassies and the Yugoslav legation. This is the first display of violence in Rome since the Anglo-U.S. decision to hand over zone "A" of Trieste to Italian administration.

700 GM Employees Laid Off 3 Weeks

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Some 700 employees of the General Motors of Canada plant here will be laid off for about three weeks soon while plant inventory is taken, it was announced Thursday.

Plant manager D. K. MacDonald said that about 300 of the usual 1,000 Windsor plant employees will be maintained to carry out the inventory. The others will be rehired later.

Routed By Water Pistol

TORONTO (CP)—A water pistol in the hand of cigar store proprietor John Peffer Thursday night routed two would-be robbers, one of whom fired a warning shot into the floor.

Peffer pointed the water pistol at the men after they told him: "This is a holdup; give us your money quick."

Norm McConkey Judging At Ottawa Fair

Norman McConkey has a big assignmet on his hands at the Ottawa Winter Fair next week in the judging of more than 300 Holstein cattle in the eastern Ontario Black and White championships. This is the eastern counterpart of the regional shows at London and recently at Peterborough. It is held in conjunction with the winter Fair and is one of its features.

Judging of males and dry females is booked for next Wednesday, and the dry females come out on Thursday.

Mr. McConkey is also judging the dairy calves of the Junior Show on Friday. Last report mentioned an expected total of 465. They are disposed of in the first place in groups and not as individual animals. They will perhaps be selected in herds of fifteen together. Mr. McConkey has a large undertaking ahead of him for next week.

Ken Best, assistant agriculture representative, has charge of the examination of Junior Farmers on the Hereford cattle section of their branch of the exhibition. Ottawa attracts a large number of the young people of the farms of eastern Ontario almost to Peterborough's boundary. Hastings county is usually represented.

Boy Runs Into Truck

TORONTO (CP)—Abbey Desprey 7, of suburban North York was killed Thursday when, police said, he ran into the side of a truck. One of the truck's dual rear wheels passed over him as he fell.

Hopkins Trophy Match June 10

TORONTO (CP)—The Hopkins Trophy matches between Canadian and American professional golf teams will be held at the Mississaugua Golf Club at nearby Port Credit June 10-12, it was announced Thursday night.

Each team has six players plus one alternate.

The U.S. team is comprised of the U.S. Open champion and the American Professional Golfers Association titleholder with the five other members selected on their money winning.

The Canadian team will consist of the Canadian PGA champion, three players chosen by the Canadian PGA selection committee based on the players' standing in the Canadian Open and the CPGA championship and the $25,000 Open with the rest of the team left to the discretion of the committee.

The players will play 18 holes the first two days and 36 holes the last day. Four-ball matches will be played one day with the rest of the play singles.

Vote Furillo Scores Greatest Comeback

NEW YORK (AP)—Carl Furillo, who brought his batting average up nearly 100 points to capture the National League batting title, was voted Thursday as having made the greatest comeback of the 1953 National League baseball season.

The Brooklyn Dodger outfielder won the honor in a close battle with teammate Gil Hodges. Of the 179 members of the Baseball Writers Association of America who participated in the Associated Press' annual poll, 66 voted for Furillo and 55 voted for Hodges.

Twenty National Leaguers received mention. Monte Irvin, who had a good year with New York Giants after being sidelined most of last season with a broken ankle, placed third with 21 votes.

Season Opener Monday

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—The high school football season opens here Monday with the locals playing host to Belleville Collegiate.

The team lost 10-2 to Albert College on Monday night and Wednesday took a game from St. Michael's College, Belleville 12-11.

Next Monday's game will be the first home game of the season.

SMYSLOV CHESS WINNER

ZURICH, Switzerland (CP)—Vassily Smyslov of Russia qualified Thursday night to challenge his compatriot, Mikhail Botvinnik, for the world chess championship next year.

Though not engaged in a game himself, the 32-year-old amateur opera singer from Moscow became winner of the elimination tournament to pick a challenger for the world title when David Bronstein of Russia defeated Samuel Reshevsky of the United States in an adjourned game.

It was Bronstein's second victory over Reshevsky in the 28-round tournament which ends today. Defeat of Reshevsky, Smyslov's principal challenger, left him two points behind Smyslov, with one game left to play. The Russian grand master has a score of 17½ points.

Smyslov is to play Tigran Petrosian of Russia today but the result will not affect his position at the top of the classification of 15 chess masters who competed here for two months for the right to challenge Botvinnik, world champion since 1948.

As a result of his victory over Reshevsky, Bronstein drew level with the American in second place, joined also by Paul Keres of Russia who defeated Svetozar Gligoric of Yugoslavia in another adjourned game.

Reshevsky, Bronstein and Keres each have 15½ points, with one game to go.

Smyslov now will meet Botvinnik, a 42-year-old civil engineer, in a 24-round world title tournament in Russia in 1954. He has met Botvinnik six times since 1948, losing to the world champion once and achieving five draws.

SCUDERO QUITS FOOTBALL

TORONTO (CP)—Joe Scudero, speedy little halfback who latched on with Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four after being dropped by Detroit Lions of the National Football League, says this is his last season of football. The 165-pound half, who played college football with the University of San Francisco, wants to take up a stage career.

VON NIDA 8 UNDER PAR

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Norman Von Nida Thursday shot 66—eight under par for the Royal Melbourne golf course here—to lead the first round of the Australian open golf championships by four strokes. In an amazing round of 10 birdies, Von Nida also broke the course record by four strokes and now threatens the record score of 278 with which he won the title last year.

NEW POST FOR MEYER

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Richard A. Meyer, 36, Thursday was named vice-president and general manager of St. Louis Cardinals.

Meyer has been secretary of the ball club since Anheuser-Busch Inc. bought it last March.

August A. Busch, Jr., Cardinal president, said the move will free Bill Walsingham, also a vice-president, "for specific baseball matters in our expanding operations."

OPERATE ON SPAHN

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Warren Spahn, owner of the lowest earned-run average in the National League this year, underwent an operation Thursday for removal of a cartilage from his right knee, Milwaukee Braves general manager John Quinn said. The ace lefthander, who posted a 23-7 mark for the Braves, injured the knee during spring training.

TO COACH COLLEGE TEAM

MONTREAL (CP)—Hal Murphy, former Quebec Hockey League goalie, has been appointed coach of Sir George Williams College Georgians of the Ottawa-St. Lawrence Valley hockey conference, it was announced Thursday. He succeeds Dave McCready who resigned this year to play for Montreal Royals of the QHL.

To Quit Cabinet

LONDON (Reuters)—Lord Cherwell, cabinet member and Prime Minister Churchill's adviser on atomic affairs, has decided to resign from the government, it was learned authoritatively Thursday night.

MISS ARGO — Joanne Besseau, a Toronto high school student, has been chosen Miss Toronto Argonauts and will represent the Big Four football team in the Miss Grey Cup contest at Toronto late in November.

Trucks Voted League's 1953 Comeback Kid

NEW YORK (AP)—Virgil Trucks who was tagged with 19 defeats in 1952 despite hurling two no-hitters, was voted today as American League baseball's comeback kid of 1953.

The 34-year-old righthander, who began the season with the lowly St. Louis Browns but was sold to Chicago White Sox in June, edged out the great Ted Williams for the honor on the strength of his 20 victories, 15 of them compiled with the White Sox.

Trucks received 55 votes to 50 for Williams, with nine others drawing one or more. Mickey Vernon, Washington's brilliant first-baseman and the circuit's batting king, drew 29 votes to place third.

TREMENDOUS TRIBUTE

A total of 179 members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America participated in the Associated Press' annual poll. The 50 ballots cast for Williams was a tremendous tribute to the Red Sox slugger who turned in a spectacular .407 batting mark in 37 games in August and September following his return from Korea. The great hitter actually did not make a comeback, in the sense that he never had experienced a poor season. The 35-year-old Williams' incredible slugging, however, following nearly two years in the services, can truly be regarded as one of the most amazing "comebacks" in the history of baseball.

Stirling High School Ties Marmora 10-10

STIRLING (ENS) — Stirling High School played host to the Marmora rugby team Wednesday afternoon. The game was a 10-10 tie.

Stirling opened the scoring with a touchdown on two fine runs by Bailey and Hadley.

In the second quarter, Marmora scored two majors to lead 10-5.

In the final quarter, Ray intercepted a Marmora lateral and made a major score.

All converts tried by the teams were blocked.

Gaspari Rolls 324

J. Gaspari had high single of 324 and J. Barnes best triple of 799 this week in the men's City Bowling League. Payne's led teams with 3595 and Sunocos' 1247 was leading team single. The 6-0 wins went to Payne's over Edwards', to Novelty against Stopawhile, and to Royal York over Golfers. The 4-2 victories were taken in this order by Sunocos, McGillis, McBride & Anderson and by Ferguson over Monumental, McDonald, McCormick's and Parkhill. Primeau's won 5-1 from Family Credit.

Good scores included: B. McCarrell 731, G. Walton 759, A. Pilling 781, H. Davis 794, J. Gaspari 729, L. English 732, J. Goodson 733, J. Murray Sr. 705, M. Donaldson 716, J. Watson 729, B. Nichols 777 and singles of G. Walton 310 and J. Goodson 322.

Vera Page Leads

Vera Page rolled high single for girls with 260 this week in the Mercantile Bowling League, and a top triple of 704. It is the best threesome yet for girls in the loop this season. Don Penrose had the best triple for men in the circuit so far with 779 and a high single of the night in his 280 effort. Cal Nicholls' team had leading pinnage of 2896.

Glen Baker's Meats took A and P No. 1 by 4-0, as did Nicholls against Neill's. Crowe's and East City Market split 2-2, while Prudential and A and P No. 2 broke even also. Austin's topped the Empress Coffee Shop by 3-1.

MODEL PAIR—Model looks at model as Louise Baker gets a close-up of "Vesta," the world's first transparent dog. Just displayed at the annual Veterinary Symposium at Kankakee, Ill., Vesta will soon tour many leading cities. Developed by the Gaines Dog Research Centre, of New York, Vesta is modelled after a female Great Dane. She was constructed by the Deutsches Gesundheits Museum, Cologne, Germany. She was flown to Cleveland, Ohio, where electronics experts installed an intricate sound system which enables Vesta to "talk" for several minutes. As she outlines interesting facts about herself and dogs in general, each of the various organs mentioned lights up. Every detail of her body, including skeleton, teeth, muscular system and internal organs, is faithfully reproduced in plastic. Vesta is life-sized, being 5½ feet long and 3½ feet high.

BATTING BURNT BISCUIT ASIDE—Montreal Canadiens' starry goalie, Gerry McNeil, is seen here in a typical bit of NHL net action as he steers aside a hot Chicago thrust. Canadiens downed the Hawks 3-2 last night to take over sole possession of second place in the standing, just back of Detroit and just in front of Toronto.

Urge Bargains For Tourists

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Tourists would get bargains in Canada, if a suggestion made today by the Canadian Exporters Association were put into effect.

Under the suggestion, which the association asks the government "to take immediate steps to investigate," tourists could buy goods in Canada free of Canadian duties, sales and excise taxes.

The amount they could thus purchase, however, would be limited to their "travel quotas" and would be for export to their home destinations.

The goods might be of either Canadian or foreign origin, if bought in Canada.

Purpose of the suggestion would be to increase the export of Canadian manufactured goods.

Galbraith's Condition Continues To Improve

PAISLEY, Scotland (CP)—Angus (Gus) Galbraith's condition continues to improve following amputation of his left leg above the knee, an official of Paisley Pirates hockey club said today.

Galbraith, 21-year-old from South Porcupine, Ont., is expected to be up and about with a temporary artificial limb as soon as the wound heals. It's expected that his mother, Mrs. T. Galbraith, who flew to his side from Canada, will be in Scotland for "many weeks yet."

Galbraith's leg was amputated Monday following a freak hockey accident Oct. 2.

Fighters Fly Around Stadium

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—Fighters flew around the Grand Rapids Stadium Thursday night as if propelled from a giant slingshot.

The loose ropes around the fight ring gave and gave when hit solidly by the fighters' backs, then snapped back, flinging them hither and yon.

Two didn't go into them solidly, and both tumbled out of the ring. Chili Bean Prado, 128, of Detroit, injured his back on the apron in his tumble and referee Bobby Rings declared his fight with Dave Moore, 126, Dayton, Ohio, no contest. Bennie Proffitt, 147, Chicago went out twice before Adrian Hefel, 148, Detroit, floored him twice inside and won on a technical knockout.

Attempts to tighten the ropes ended with the whole ring collapsing on the stadium floor. It took half an hour to get it up again and the main show going between Lester Felton, 148, Detroit and Luther Rawlings, 148, Chicago.

Felton won a unanimous 10-round decision.

Royals Humiliate Springfield By 7-0

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Montreal Royals humiliated Springfield Indians 7-0 and Sherbrooke Saints downed Quebec Aces 5-1 for their first win of the season in the only two games played Thursday in the Quebec Hockey League.

Veteran Lulu Denis paced the Royals to victory with two goals. Dick Gamble, Dick Wray, Gary Blaine, Orval Tessier and Gerry Desaulniers added singles. The win enabled the Royals to climb into a third-place tie with the Indians.

Meanwhile at Sherbrooke, the Saints pulled the Aces into the cellar with them. Marcel Bonin, on loan from Detroit, pumped in two goals and counted two assists to spark the home team's victory. Eddie Bruneteau, Jack Irving and Palamar fired the others for Quebec.

ROK FORCES IN KOREA, seldom shod with more than rubber slippers, now struggle with expensive U.S. gear, also get the same PX rations as their American counterparts.

INDO-CHINA NATIVE FORCES fight light—a blouse, a pair of shorts, often bare feet. "Don't spoil good soldiers by overloading them with gadgets," French officers explain.

American Army Wasting Men And Material In Padded War Machine

By FRED SPARKS

HANOI, Indo-China (NEA) — Any Congressman who compared the Korean and Indo-Chinese wars at field level—as I have recently—would agree American forces waste money like Tommy Manville wastes wives.

The French, by necessity, are fighting a poor man's war. We could learn from them without endangering our cause, the lives of our young men, or their creature comforts.

As a spectator at five wars (and assorted revolutions) I am positive that — outside of combat troops—there could have been at any time a 25 per cent cut in personnel and budget in Korea and supporting units in Japan.

It would actually needle morale. It's deadly for young men to spend hours daily studying cowboy stories. Thousands do so in Korea today and did so during violent warfare.

The Great American Debate over defence costs—with new Soviet super-bombs a worry—should consider the rolls of fat on our military hips.

If our Army was a person it would waddle into battle.

A comparison between French penny-pinching and our dollar leakage can not easily climb pyramids of statistics. Herbert Hoover once groaned, after fingering Pentagon receipts: "The budget is calculated confusion."

But the naked eye doesn't need an International Business Machine. Take transport, a high-priced item. Rear Korean roads are dusty with jeeps carrying one passenger and empty trucks. Often these missions are vital—like hauling Major X 60 miles to snapshot a shrine.

The French have strict road control. If two jeeps with two men in each are making the same round trip riders are forced to double up at check point, one jeep is garaged.

The other day I visited a fort with 300 men. Their transport: one jeep. A pool arrangement, which never lets trucks idle, brings supplies. The same U.S. fort would have three jeeps, a fistful of trucks, and supporting petrol pumps.

JUST FLYING

Our Air Force, screeching about recent cuts, always has planes scooting about aimlessly, piloted by men with desk jobs, airborne solely to qualify for flight pay.

With every aircraft tagged for paratrooping supplies or on emergency standby, there is no joy-riding in Indo-China.

I checked one day's arrivals at Seoul City Airport and figured 15 non-essential landings, including fat-cats from Tokyo over on tourist business, and minor cargo easily carried on scheduled trips at one-tenth the cost.

A dozen more helicopters in Indo-China would save the lives of twice that many anti-Communist soldiers each week. Wounded are now manhauled along jungle trails, bounced down hills, lugged across swamps. Hundreds die en route.

The helicopter has become our Army's new toy. It's used repeatedly in Korea as a taxi instead of a jeep, even though the meter clicks 50 times as many tax dollars.

I know of cases where helicopters have flown from Panmunjom to Munsan base camp to pick up extra cigarettes or personal mail.

I'll bet this portable a survey would prove half the Korean helicopter flights "non-essential."

Anyone who served knows how useless rear echelon "empires" shoot up like Radio City elevators. One GHQ in Tagu is known as "the house of the sleeping Colonels."

NOT NECESSARY

Stand on a Tagu street and ask 100 officers and men: "Is your job necessary?" At least a third will surely answer: "Of course not!"

The Korean Military Advisory Group is a top offender. An important office of KMAG, which supports and trains South Koreans, told me: "We'd function better with one half as many U.S. bodies."

And an American sergeant attached to a Korean battalion admitted: "I don't have eight hours work a week. And that could be done by a ROK."

* * *

Such units as Public Information, Troop Information and Education, Special Services and Judge Advocates' offices are padded like Tammany payrolls. In the great north sweep facing Red China, where some 250,000 Allies are engaged, the French and Indo-Chinese have less than 10 men in public information and censorship handling all army, navy, air and marine units.

The U.S. would have assigned, conservatively, more than 50. And the French Army never heard of the PX. Sometimes it's cheaper to be broke.

NATIVE FORCES

A major Korean bill—and one we share in Indo-China—is building native forces. Here the French say: "Do not spoil good soldiers by overloading them with gadgets."

I noted a home-guard hiking in bare feet. The French officer said: "They have never worn shoes—why now?"

But South Korean militia, seldom shod with more than rubber slippers, struggle today with expensive GI combat boots.

An American mission abroad, it seems, judges all allies by air conditioned TV standards.

An old joke in Korea is that any ROK trooper, after six months of American training, refuses to battle without a bottle of coke, a chocolate bar and a comic book.

The French keep loyal Indo-Chinese "light", the better to hasten through tropical foliage. A blouse and a pair of shorts is sufficient wardrobe.

It's possible that by loading the ROKs with too many motors (at a cost of extra millions) we've slowed them for mountain warfare. North Koreans and Chinese often chopped up our side by lugging gear on their backs and avoiding roads.

* * *

MAINTAIN DIET

Nobody is trying to change the Indo-Chinese diet. But ROKs are being exposed to U.S. canned field rations, 20 times as costly and not necessarily one bit more nourishing than the bag of rice tied to the Chinese soldier's belt.

The Army is as careful with supplies as a Panamanian monkey with bananas. A French mess officer is responsible for every pound of lettuce. Korea's black market is packed with U.S. goods "given away" by self-appointed one-man Marshall Plans.

An investigation at Korean ports of entry might raise a few million eyebrows. I understand that—because we take improper precautions—thievery of incoming goods around Inchon Port nears ten per cent.

Free flights from France to Indo-China are harshly rationed. "Tourists"—both in the service and out—are always winging from the shell-craters of Broadway and Pennsylvania Avenue to make "front-line" reports—to be placed in the "file and forget" basket.

A lieutenant-colonel and proper aides were flown over after truce to take a public opinion poll of ROK soldiers attached to U.S. units. Later the project was shelved.

And a famous Manhattan saloon keeper did his Marine reserve stint by putting on uniform for a few weeks and riding U.S. transport to Korea. It would take an expert private eye and a good script writer to show how he served the common cause.

One well known band leader was brought to Korea complete with lady press agent. He was stopped from trying to radio interview American boys just released from Red prisonship at Panmunjom. He did manage to get a photographic splash of two of his girl singers hugging a released PoW in one of the cheapest publicity stunts since the circus midget jumped into J. P. Morgan's lap.

I hope America never has to check its wallet before attacking a foe like the French in Indo-China.

But as an old-time war correspondent my stomach twists when the armed forces weep: "Take any money from us and we won't have enough for guns and tanks and planes."

Don't kid me, brother; I know. I'll respond to those tears when I see the armed forces make a genuine effort to reduce waste and fire useless Charlies snoozing in behind-the-lines berths.

U.S. Soldiers Will Have Easier Winter

By GEORGE McARTHUR

SEOUL (AP)—The freezing winter wind is whipping over Korea and the United States Army is tucking its soldiers in like a fussy mother.

For three winters soldiers died in the snow and ice on Korea's bare hills.

This is the fourth—the warm—winter.

Grizzled veterans would shudder; they're even building heated "hobby shops."

LINE COLD BUT—

Sure, it's going to be cold up on the "line" on the edge of the demilitarized zone, where troops will stand frigid watches in case the Reds decide to break the armistice.

But they can walk back to a tent and warm up by two stoves. One stove already has been issued for each tent and stocks of fuel oil are piled high in dumps.

When the soldier steps out of the tent, he'll look like a combination Eskimo-skier going hunting. Wrapped in ski socks, long underwear, lined pants, a hooded parka, a muffler, heavy mittens and "insulated Mickey Mouse" boots, he's ready to wait for what he hopes won't come.

And if he needs them he can have ice shoes with spiked soles and other arctic gear.

He already has his winter gear, putting it on piece by piece as the winter walks in.

PLUSHY BREAKS

A while on the line, and he'll get a break—a trip back to division. That's even plushier.

There the engineers are building jumbo quonset huts for snack bars, community centres, theatres, recreation halls, chapels and junior-grade gyms.

Smaller huts are going up as libraries and reading rooms and hobby shops.

Billets front and rear have been winterized with wooden floors.

This is winter in Korea—1953 style.

The area of the Antarctic continent is estimated at about 5,000,000 square miles.

English Choir Sings Evensong In Kingston

MARMORA (ENS)—Within 15 minutes of the opening of the doors of St. George's Cathedral, Kingston, on Tuesday, all seating accommodation had been taken up for the service of Evensong, sung by St. Paul's Cathedral choir of London, England.

At the organ was Dr. John Dykes-Bower, organist and master of the choristers. Conducting the choir was Harold Gabb, assistant organist.

Also with the choir for the whole of their first North American tour was the Rev. Canon John Collins, chancellor of St. Paul's and the succentor, the Rev. George Sage. The latter began the service with the responses, to a setting by William Smith, organist of Durham Cathedral from 1588 to 1598. The first lesson was read by Very Rev. A. T. Briarly Browne, DD, Dean of Ontario.

The office hymn, "Blest are the Pure in Heart," to the tune "Franconia," followed, with the choir of St. George's singing descant in the fourth verse. The congregation was requested to join in the hymns.

The Magnificat and Nunc Dimitis were to settings by the contemporary English cathedral organist, Herbert Sumsion. The second lesson was read by Canon Collins.

The choir rose to great heights in the anthem "Achieved Is the Glorious Work" from Haydn's "Creation." During the offertory, choir and congregation were heard in a great outburst of praise in the hymn "Glorious Things of Thee Are Spoken" to the tune of "Austria."

The Right Rev. K. C. Evans, Bishop of Ontario, pronounced the benediction.

The Rev. George Sage, succentor of St. Paul's told the Examiner the choir was thoroughly enjoying its tour.

The choir was heard the same evening in a concert-recital in Grant Hall, Queen's University.

Time Short To Create Prosperity

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Dr. William A. Mackintosh, principal of Queen's University, Thursday night warned that time is running out in the attempt to create a prosperous world.

Addressing the Canadian Exporters' Association, he said the United States, Britain and Canada must work towards freer world trade, and added:

"We probably have two years in which to reconstitute some valuable form of trade in the western world. If we lose it, we will lose it for a long time."

Of the United States, he commented:

"She can live with Europe and other continents and she can increase her standard of living if progressively she drops her tariff protection, whether in the form of prohibitive rates or obstructionist customs procedure, so as to admit goods from overseas together with related services.

NO SUDDEN CHANGE

"We need not expect any sudden or overnight transformation nor need we minimize the historical and political difficulties which the United States Congress will have in making the right decision.

"If the decision is not made, however, the United States and the whole world will suffer for it."

Dr. Mackintosh said that "strategically and economically the United Kingdom and the other sterling countries can achieve their highest standard of living and their greatest security as an integral part of the western world."

In the Studio—cameras pick up perfect image. Diagram represents the television wave pattern as it appears on an engineer's oscilloscope.

But man-made interference—a passing truck, a neighbour's vacuum cleaner—can distort TV waves. Such interference scrambles the wave pattern like this.

Scrambled TV waves ruin reception. Image becomes streaked, distorted, or starts to roll over. Crosley tackled this problem—developed Picture-Sentry.

Crosley Picture-Sentry (an electronic circuit using a transistor-like germanium diode) guards against scrambling. Image stays clear, sharp—as in the studio.

GATHER DEFENCE DATA—T. H. Manning, of Ottawa, 42-year-old veteran explorer, has spent four months gathering sea and air defence data on a lonely but strategic island in the western segment of the Canadian Arctic, accompanied by Capt. M. I. Sparrowe, 25, a British army engineer. Mr. Manning is dressed for the severe weather on Banks Island, about 1,200 miles north of Edmonton.—(CP Photo)

Island In Canadian Arctic Sought As Military Base

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Two explorers, a Canadian and a Briton, turned their backs on civilization for four months to gather sea and air defence data on a lonely but strategic island in the Canadian Arctic.

"It was a bit rough, but we weren't too uncomfortable," said T. H. Manning, 42-year-old veteran Ottawa explorer who made the jaunt along with a British Army engineer, Capt. M. I. Sparrow, 25.

The two scoured the wet, thawing interior and rugged coastline of Banks island, a chunk of rock, snow and icy streams thrust into the western segment of the Arctic.

STRATEGIC POSITION

Inhabited by a few Eskimos, some caribou and other game, the island would be the first an enemy might make for if he moved from Asia over the top of Alaska across Beaufort sea.

Until the two explorers were ordered north by the Canadian Defence Research Board, little was known of the island. Measuring 210 miles in length and 150 miles in width, it lies about 300 miles northeast of the mouth of the Mackenzie river and about 1,200 miles north of Edmonton.

Mr. Manning had started work on the island the previous year. It was Capt. Sparrow's first trip to an area that had not been visited by a white man for about 30 years.

In their jaunt, the two men made navigation history. They were the first to travel through the uncharted Prince of Wales strait in a motor-powered canoe. The strait separates Banks island from the larger Victoria island which lies to the southeast.

COMPLETE SURVEY

The men were ordered to find out all they could about the island: Whether its surface could be used for an air base; whether its coastline could make harbors suitable for ships and submarines; the nature of its terrain and vegetation.

The explorers moved north in May by plane which landed them at the southerly tip of Banks island. While Mr. Manning worked there, friendly Eskimos, using a dog-team, guided Capt. Sparrow to the northern point where Mr. Manning in 1952 had lashed a canoe and cached some supplies.

When Capt. Sparrow returned it was mid-summer and the temperature hovered at about 40 degrees above zero. Carrying their supplies, the men trudged north on foot, wading through a half-dozen icy streams, measuring and charting as they went.

It took them 18 days to travel the 210 miles. They lived on eggs, bacon and chocolate. They ate the meat of some specimens of game they brought back for the national museum and caught a few fish.

FARE PRETTY WELL

"A man can eat pretty well in the north," says Mr. Manning. "Naturally he can't have all the comforts of home, but he can get along pretty well."

At the northern tip, they made their way down 1,000-foot cliffs to the Manning canoe. They moved round the eastern side of the island through Prince of Wales strait to Holman island, on the west coast of Victoria island, about 100 miles south of Banks.

Early in September, at a Hudson Bay trading post there, they were picked up and flown back to civilization.

The two declined to discuss their discoveries. But of one thing Mr. Manning is sure.

"The north cannot supply a large-scale army. Any fighting would have to be done by small numbers of highly-trained men."

Oriental Touch To Anniversary

PETAWAWA, Ont. (CP)—Canadian troops who stood up to some of Korea's bitterest fighting and foulest weather apparently met their match in Korean food.

Today when the 1st battalion, the Royal Canadian Regiment, celebrates the first anniversary here of their biggest battle in Korea, they are to do so in an oriental atmosphere. But Korean chow is not included.

The army says that five cooks were sent to Ottawa recently for a special two-day course in Chinese cooking in preparation for the festivities. They took their "course" at an Ottawa Chinese restaurant.

Describing Korean food as "unpalatable," the army said it was decided to serve the North American version of Chinese food to provide the desired Oriental atmosphere. The menu includes: Chicken noodle soup, sweet and sour spare ribs, egg foo yung, chicken mushroom chop suey, Chinese almond cookies and oolong tea.

Cocos Islands Have Played Valuable Part In Two Wars

COCOS ISLANDS, Indian Ocean (Reuters) — Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, on the way home from their tour of Australia and New Zealand, will pause for a brief visit to the tiny group of Cocos islands, in the Indian ocean April 5, 1954.

There, they will meet John and Daphne Clunies-Ross, "king" and "queen" of Cocos.

The Cocos islands have played a valuable part in two world wars. On North Keeling island lies the wreck of the German cruiser Emden, marking the scene of Australia's first naval victory. That was in the First World War.

Today, it has an airstrip of crushed coral which cost nearly $3,000,000 to build, and it was an air base of importance in the Second World War.

On approaching Cocos, the first the Queen and the Duke will see of the islands will be a great mass of palms, apparently floating on the horizon. A break in the reef allows ships to enter a safe, calm harbor and as the liner Gothic draws into this anchorage, the deep green of the sea gradually becomes lighter and the coral sea bed can be clearly seen through the crystal-clear water.

The natives of the Cocos islands are already excited about the prospective Royal visit. Festivities will go on for days. A highlight will be the dancing, by the natives, of traditional Scottish dances and reels.

NATIVES IMPORTED

The first John Clunies-Ross who settled the islands in 1827 imported from Malaya the ancestors of the present natives to work the coconut plantations.

The Clunies - Ross family has remained ever since. In 1886, the islands were leased to George Clunies-Ross and his successors in perpetuity. Every successive head of the family has become governor—or, more usually, "king."

Of Slain Girl's 4,000 Line Route Funeral Cortege

LEVIS, Que. (CP)—The Roman Catholic funeral service was chanted Thursday for Marie-Anne Carrier, 21-year-old victim of a brutal murder.

Approximately 4,000 persons lined the route while the bier was taken first to St. Antoine church in nearby Bienville and then to the family plot in Lauzon cemetery.

About 50 soldiers from the active army and approximately the same number from the reserve ranks of the Canadian Women's Army Corps walked behind the motor hearse.

Body of Miss Carrier, a sergeant in CWAC reserve, was found a week ago in a ditch near Iroquois, 35 miles west of Cornwall, Ont.

BROTHERS FOLLOW BIER

At the funeral, the victim's seven brothers—Raoul, Eugene, Georges, Michel, Charles, Antoine and Jacques—walked behind the hearse. They were followed by the troops.

In the black-draped church, six sergeants of the women's force mounted guard about the illuminated catafalque.

Rev. Emile Hebert, parish priest, assisted by Abbes Roland Fiset and Armand Lessard, sang the doleful Gregorian chant of the Roman Catholic requiem mass.

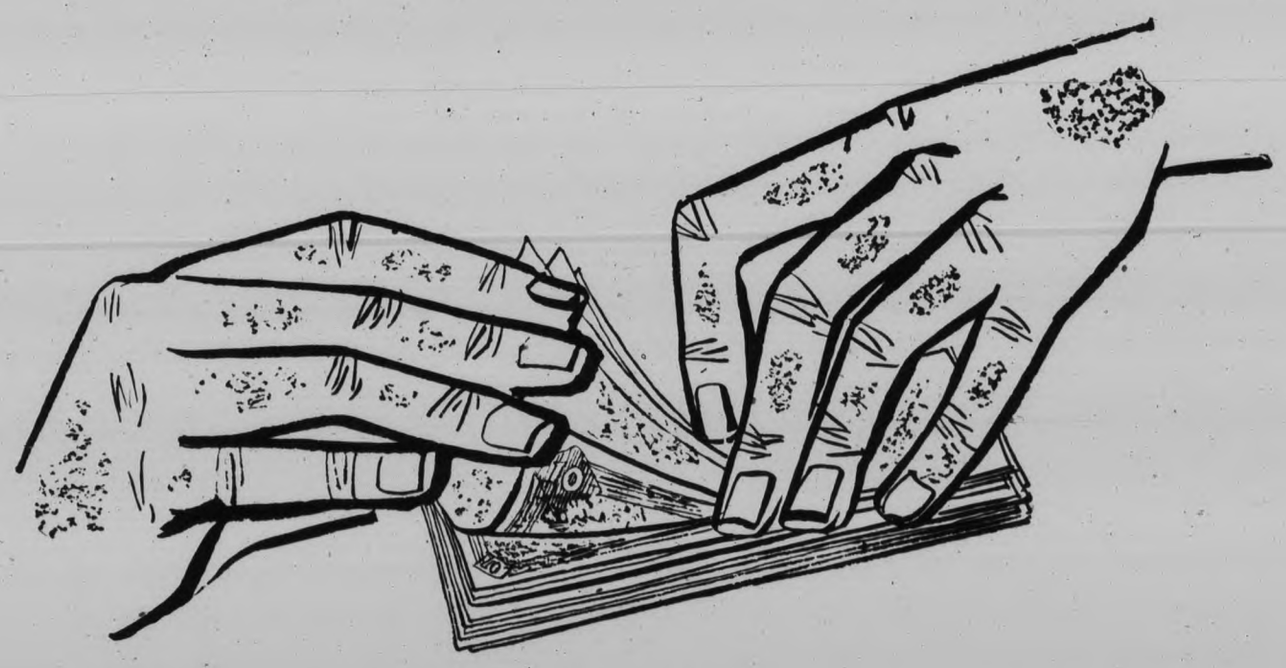
Members of the armed forces, including Brig. Frank Fleury, commanding officer eastern Quebec military district, and Col. J. Gordon Ross, commanding officer of 103 Manning Depot who was instrumental in identifying the girl, walked part of the way to the cemetery.

As Miss Carrier's body was lowered into the grave, the Last Post was sounded.

Mrs. Arthur Carrier, elderly mother of the girl, was unable to attend the funeral. Miss Carrier's six sisters travelled to the cemetery by automobile.

During two days an estimated 16,000 persons visited a local funeral parlor to view the body.

Hungry Sheep



WELLINGTON, N.Z. (CP)—Hungry sheep disrupted telephone traffic between the North and South Islands of New Zealand by eating away the lead covering of aerial leads at the southern terminal. Water seeped in and caused a breakdown in the radio channel carrying telephone calls between the two islands.

THE EXPERTS SAY:

Potato No More Fattening Than One Slice Of Bread

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

That feminine and practical branch of the Ontario department of agriculture, the Women's Institute branch, has brought out a booklet called "Potatoes Every Day." It has good-sized print on glossy paper and some appetizing pictures.

The booklet stresses what nutritionists have been saying for some years without too much success: "Potatoes are not fattening." Most persons on diets still shun potatoes but a potato is not more fattening than one slice of bread, or one large apple, or one large orange. It is about one-third as fattening as one piece of cake, or a slice of pie.

If you wish to preserve food value in potatoes, bake, boil or steam them in their jackets. Prepare them just before mealtime, cook just until done and serve immediately. They lose some of their vitamin content if they stand. Cook in only a small amount of boiling water and keep covered.

TASTY SOUP

Here are two potato recipes:

Cream of potato soup: 2 cups scalded milk; one onion, sliced; 4 tablespoons fat; 2 cups diced potatoes; one half cup diced carrots; one half cup diced celery; 2 cups boiling water; one tablespoon flour and one teaspoon salt.

Brown onion in 2 tablespoons fat. Add potatoes, carrots, celery, boiling water. Cover. Boil until vegetables are tender. Cream flour, salt and remaining 2 tablespoons fat together. Add to milk in double boiler. Cook and stir until smooth. Combine sauce with vegetable mixture. Serves six.

Chantilly potatoes: 3 cups of mashed potatoes; one half cup of heavy cream, stiffly beaten; one half cup grated cheese.

Pile mashed potatoes on baking dish. Spread cream over potatoes, sprinkle with cheese. Bake in slow oven (325 degrees F.) until delicately brown. Serves six.

Missionary Addresses Meet

MILLBROOK (ENS)—Mrs. W. H. Heustin, WMS president of Grace United Church, presided for the autumn thankoffering meeting in the church Wednesday afternoon.

Missionary groups from other churches in the village and from Centreville were invited.

Mrs. J. F. Sauve of Peterborough was special speaker. She told of missionary work with her husband among the natives of the Red Bobo tribe, the third largest tribe in French West Africa. They derived their name from the native word for stupid, since they were considered the most stupid tribe of all.

They were unattractive and dirty and their morals were not high. They needed civilization, education and a change of living conditions, but most of all they needed Jesus Christ.

These pagan fetish worshippers and idolators were much easier to convert than Mohammedans who claimed to worship the one true God, prayed five times a day and spent a month fasting but did not let their religion interfere with their having four wives or lying or stealing, so long as they were not found out.

Although this tribe was credited with being stupid, it was surprising how quickly some of the older people learned to read the scriptures.

WORSHIP SERVICE

In the worship service, Mrs. H. A. Turner of St. Thomas' Anglican church read the scripture and Mrs. Dawson Rutherford of Centreville offered prayer. Mrs. Lawrence Winslow of St. Andrew's United sang a solo. Organist for the afternoon was Miss Estella Hetherington.

Mrs. John Thompson introduced the guest speaker and Mrs. Marshall Larmer thanked her and all others taking part. The offering was received by Mrs. Gerald Armstrong and Mrs. Marshall Larmer.

Refreshments were served in the Sunday school room. Pouring tea at a table centred with bronze mums and lighted candles were Miss Agnes Johnston and Mrs. J. M. Armstrong. Tea attendants were Mrs. Don Pritchard, Mrs. Lorne Farrow, Mrs. M. Larmer, Mrs. G. Armstrong, Ms. Harvey Challice, Mrs. H. A. Kerr, Mrs. S E Eakins and Mrs Lambert Gibson. Mrs. David Lunn moved the vote of thanks from the visiting groups.

Barbara Young Wins Contest

CAVAN (ENS) — On Tuesday evening, the public speaking contest for South Cavan Public School Area was held in the town hall at Millbrook, when 11 contestants spoke before a capacity audience.

Mr. Earnest Brackenridge was chairman. Judges were Miss Estelle Heatherington, the Rev. A. M. Butler, and Mrs. Rae Stewart, Ida.

Barbara Young, of SS 8, Whitfields, who spoke on "Agriculture," was given the prize. She will go to Campbellcroft this evening to compete in the semi-finals.

Other numbers on the program were songs by pupils from SS 14, Fairview, SS 15,, Cork, SS 12, Cedar Valley, SS 13, Zion, and SS 8, Whitfields.

Mrs. Freeman, teacher of SS 14, directed the singing of her own pupils, as did Miss Betty North, of SS 13. Miss D. Hagaboom, musical director for Cavan, directed the other musical numbers.

Two readings were given by Mrs. Alex Miller, teacher at Whitfields school.

Each contestant was the recipient of a one dollar bill from the school board.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Revoy, Donald and Bob visited their daughter, Mrs. K. Campbell and Mr. Campbell, Toronto. Mrs. Campbell is improving after an attack of polio.

MOST END-OF-THE-DAY weariness, we are told, is due to bad posture. So take stock of your stance, particularly if your career is homemaking. Do you hold your back straight when sitting? This housewife (left) irons while sitting on a chair that cradles the small of her back. She'll use it while washing dishes and preparing vegetables, too. Young matron (upper left centre) demonstrates the correct method of getting out of a car. Putting right foot first, she throws the weight of her body on it as she draws her left leg forward. Then (lower left centre) she shows wrong way to get into car. Leaving her left leg dangling, she puts her right leg in and braces her arms on seat and dashboard in an effort to drag her body in. She should have put her left leg in first, sat down and then drawn in right leg. With bundles gripped under her arms (right centre), her weight is thrown off balance. With them at her sides (right) she achieves perfect balance and can stroll along posture-perfect, relaxed, graceful.

A Busy Day Needn't Leave You Weary

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

After lugging groceries, making beds, washing dishes, ironing, scrubbing, answering doorbells and the telephone, driving the youngsters to and from school and preparing meals, a woman has a right to feel downright weary.

Tell yourself that and wallow in your weariness, if you wish. Or, you might look more closely at the neighbor (there is always one) who breezes through an equally taxing day.

Perhaps you will find that you are just as healthy and as cheerful in your approach to homemaking as she is. You may note, however, that there is a difference in the way you carry your loads.

Poor posture, according to the Posture Research Corporation, is responsible for most end-of-the-day weariness. So the establishment of good posture habits not only is important to grooming, but also to your general well-being.

One thing very pleasant about learning proper posture is that it can be done without taking time out from your daily routine. All you have to do is to be conscious of your bodily movements until you have perfected them.

Before starting a posture-improvement program, be certain that you have a very clear picture of what constitutes good posture. Misconceptions have kept many people from achieving proper stance.

Good posture consists of the holding of the parts of the body in positions which lend ease to movement without putting undo stress on any one part.

Keeping this definition in mind, try this old posture formula: Chest out, shoulders back. Not much ease of movement, but plenty of stress around the waist in the back.

What this most famous of misconceptions does is to give you a sway back. And in pulling the shoulders back (in addition to inducing a most uncomfortable feeling) it forces your arms to fall behind your hips in an extremely unflattering line.

Now, hold your chest high and let your shoulders lower naturally. This feel good, looks good, and it's good for you. That's good posture. It is not something to be endured for the sake of health and beauty. It is a means to more relaxed living.

You will note that holding your chest and shoulders correctly helps to flatten your abdomen. When you succeed in tucking the tip of your spine under, your abdomen will fall perfectly in line.

The purpose is to line up the parts of the body so that balance is perfect. Think of the parts as stacked blocks. If one is placed a little out of line it threatens the whole stack. If one part of your body is allowed to wander out of line, the whole body will suffer.

With your body blocks evenly distributed, you will find that late-afternoon backache has disappeared and that your poor, tired feet are not longer so dejected. And you, in turn, will find your housework an easier task.

Wayne Howson Wins Cup

MILLBROOK (ENS)—At the South Monaghan township speaking contest finals in Centreville Presbyterian Church hall Wednesday evening, Wayne Howson won the township cup for first place with his humorous speech "My Experiences Raising Angora Rabbits."

The Fraser trophy for second place went to Marlene Cruse who spoke on "Money," tracing its use from the early days of Indian wampum.

Sylvia Muspratt, who spoke on "Animal Nursery" was awarded the Women's Institute cup for third. Honorable mention was given Sijke Koning for her speech on "My Trip from Holland to My New Home in Canada".

Other speakers, winners in their own schools, were: Doris Reid (The Siamese Twins), Gordon Varcoe (The Hon. Major John Foote), Leona Moffatt (The Taj Mahal), Bernard Derry (The Musk-Ox). Sonja Moncrief (The Eye), Sherry Lewis (Nickel), Norma Willan (Australia).

Between speeches the following choruses were sung: "Blue Flowers" and "Sun and Shade" by the pupils of SS 1, 4 and 5; "Rosy Apple" and "Thanksgiving Day" by S.S. 2 and 3; "Vesper Hymn" and "The Time To Sing" by S.S. 1, and "Santa Lucia" and "The Little Sandman" by S.S. 5. Mrs. Grace Muspratt was accompanist.

Lorne Harris acted as chairman.

Reeve Ray Bothwell spoke briefly and presented the township cup. The Fraser trophy was presented Mr. Mr. Reg. Atchison and the Women's Institute Cup by Mrs. Russell Kidd.

Fashion Note: The princess line has never looked better than in the short formal gowns shown at the fall fashion shows in New York. One in red, was cleverly worked in horizontal bands of ribbon mounted on matching net. The skirt fell in fluted ripples from the simple square neck and fitted bodice.

Readers' Friday Column Conducted By Mary Moore

QUESTION: I need help quickly and badly! I have been asked to decorate my little cousin's christening cake (fruit). While I have done any number of wedding cakes I've honestly never even seen a christening cake. Would you have any ideas or pictures I could follow?—Mrs. D. A. D.

BLACK WORSTED JERSEY has the touch of satin on the collar, three-quarter length sleeves and at the throatline in the simple dress. The middy line artfully conceals two pockets.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I'm a weak reed on this subject. I haven't one reference to a christening cake in my files, but I did see a christening cake, frosted like a large one-tiered wedding cake with basic white frosting, then edged with piping tube in pink. At the corners were pink tiny rosebuds. In the centre a cradle had been piped, using the very narrow tube to build up a "cradle" like you would build up an elongated nest. It was just big enough to accommodate a little 3-inch baby doll which of course was dressed in a diminutive long christening robe. There was a tiny pink rose nestling at the top of the cradle. I imagine you could pipe a pink bow-knot at the bottom of the cradle. I sure hope this helps a little.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: It is certainly grand to be able to approach someone like you with cooking and baking problems. I've been having trouble baking a real light banana cake. The recipe I've enclosed is one I like as it is not too large for a small family. Only once has the cake turned out exceptionally light with dark flecks through. Every other time it looks like a plain white cake when baked with none of the banana flecks and not very very light . . . I use only really ripe bananas.—Mrs. H. S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I read through the recipe, and I think you should be using 2 eggs and more sugar to 1½ cups flour. Let me give you the recipe I like for a small banana cake.

SMALL BANANA CAKE

Measure ¾ cup soft shortening and into it creeam 1⅛ cups sugar until they are fluffy, then beat in 2 eggs (big enough to meeasure ⅓ cup). Sift togetheer 1¾ cups sifted cake flour, ¼ teaspoon baking powder, (this shoud be a scant ¼ teeaspoon), ½ teaspoon baking soda, and ¾ teaspoon salt. Add these dry ingredients alternately with 3 tablespoons buttermilk mixed with ¾ cup mashed very ripe bananas. Just mix these in until batter is smooth. (To insure dark flecks through cake and to give interesting flavor and texture you may add ⅜ cup finely chopped walnuts). Pour into prepared 8-inch layer pans or into greased and paper-lined 9-inch square pan. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 25 to 30 minutes for layers, 35 to 45 mi... for square pan.

✧ ✧ ✧

LETTER: Being a regular reader of your column, I noticed you had recipes for dark fruit cake. I would appreciate a recipe for a real dark fruit cake that is still moist . . . also my white fruit cake seemed dry last year . . . could you advise what to add to make it moist? The following is a topping for fresh fruit pies which has proven very popular wherever I have sent pies:

Fresh Fruit Pie Topping (Contributed by Irene A.): Line a deep pie tin with pastry. Fill about two-thirds full with fresh fruit such as strawberries, raspberries, blueberries, peaches, plums, etc. Sprinkle about four tablespoons sugar over fruit. Sift together 2 cups pastry flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon cream of tartar and add 1½ cups brown sugar. Crumb together with ½-pound butter or margarine. Sprinkle this on top of fresh fruit, just enough for fruit to be well covered. Then place 2 tablespoons of unmelted butter or margarine in centre of pie. Bake until the fruit begins to bubble through the crumbs.—Irene A.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Thank you for this luscious-sounding dessert. The trouble with your white fruit cake recipe is that it requires egg yolks. Could you wait for another month or maybe three weeks, when I will give you my 1953 offerings in the way of rich white and dark fruit cakes for this Christmas season's baking? I will give them to you in plenty of time for them to ripen before Christmas. If you want your dark cake ahead of that write again, right away, and enclose stamped envelope.

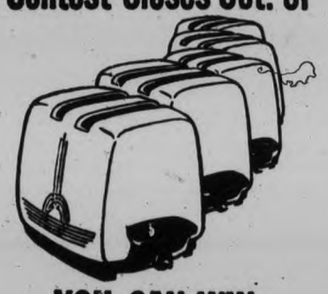
"MONARCH FLOUR always gives me the flakiest pastries...and lighter, more tender cakes!"



"Many of my friends have told me, 'Your cakes and pastries are different—they're always so light and tender they make my mouth water. What does it?' Well, right then and there I recommend Monarch Flour—because Monarch makes all the difference in the world in non-yeast baking.

"I've found out why Monarch Cake and Pastry Flour makes such a difference. You see, it's specially milled from only the softer kinds of wheat, so it's an extra fine flour. This means Monarch Flour is perfectly suited to get the best out of a non-yeast recipe.

"My daughter does all her baking with Monarch Flour—and she has wonderful results, too!"

Mrs. Edith Foster is shown above (at left) with her daughter and granddaughter in her home at 709 Gladstone Ave., Toronto. Mrs. Foster has many recipes for cakes and pastries inherited from her Pennsylvania Dutch ancestors who made fine baking a part of their tradition. She has added to the fame of these recipes by using Monarch Flour—another fine baking tradition. Mrs. Foster recently won first prize in a province-wide contest with her recipe for Meat and Cheese Pastries. (See below)

YOU CAN WIN A SUNBEAM RADIANT CONTROL TOASTER

ENTER NOW!

Here is your chance to win a Sunbeam Radiant Control Toaster. It makes perfect toast every time! All you do is drop in the bread—completely automatic controls do the rest! This month, fifty Sunbeam Radiant Control Toasters will be won by users of Monarch Flour. You could be a winner!

HERE'S ALL YOU DO

Write on plain paper your name and address and the answers to these four questions about Kings and Queens of the English Monarchy:

1 Which English Monarch signed the Magna Carta?
2 For which English Monarch did Sir Walter Raleigh reputedly lay down his cloak?
3 Which English Monarch was crowned in 1838?
4 Which English Monarch was beheaded by order of Oliver Cromwell?

Enclose the lion's head cut from a bag of Monarch Flour with your entry and mail it to "October Contest", Maple Leaf Milling Co., 12 Monarch Road, Toronto. Entries must be postmarked not later than midnight Oct. 31st, 1953. Prizewinners will be the first fifty correct entries drawn, and will be notified by mail within 14 days after closing date. This contest is limited to Canadian residents. Employees of Maple Leaf Milling Company, and its advertising agency are ineligible.

HERE IS Mrs. FOSTER'S WINNING RECIPE

Meat and Cheese Pastries

Oven temp. — hot — 400° F.

Sift, then measure—2½ cups Monarch Flour. Cut into flour and blend to a paste—½ lb. butter or margarine—½ lb. cream cheese. Chill thoroughly. Roll as thin as paper. Cut into 5" squares. Spread with a generous amount of filling. Fold over into a triangle-shaped turn-over, sealing edges well. Place on a greased baking sheet and bake in a pre-heated oven 400° F. for 15-20 minutes or until nicely browned. For Hors D'Oeuvres or Snacks cut pastry into 3" squares. Bake at 400° F. for 12-15 minutes or until nicely browned.

FILLING

Boil until tender—1 lb. bacon ends (Note: Cooked ground ham can be substituted.) Drain, put bacon ends through a food chopper, together with—1 small onion—½ tin (15 oz.) green peas. Season highly to taste with—salt—pepper—Accent—2 drops Tabasco sauce. Mix to a smooth paste and use as a filling for Meat and Cheese Pastries.

Inspiring Meeting

One of the most inspiring meetings of the St. Andrew's United Church WMS was on Thursday evening when Miss Greta Clark, who is home after 34 years as a missionary in China, was the speaker. A member has commented: "Miss Clark makes religion live." She told the ladies that the answer to Communism is "New Testament Christianity." She described in some detail her work among the children, youths and women of China, and at the close was thanked expressively by Miss Verna Burgess. The Elizabeth Bell group arranged this program and served refreshments at the close. Worship service was led by Mrs. F. McNeely who read two Psalms. Mrs. C. Holman led in prayer. The offering was dedicated by Mrs. R. Y. Kenny and Mrs. Henry Cotton was pianist for the hymns. President Mrs. A. A. Munro used as her call to worship "Doing God's Work" and urged the members to do more reading, suggesting a Public Library book titled "House of Earth." Mrs. E. F. Reid made an appeal for children's stockings to be sent to Korea. She is shipping a bale each month. Members are urged to attend the sectional rally at Keene on October 28. A nominating committee was appointed.

Jack King Speaks To Soroptimists On California Trip

Soroptomists found themselves being re-vitalized by the freshness, enthusiasm and energy of youth when they had Jack King, winner of the Key Club Eastern Canada oratorical contest and competitor in the international contest at Los Angeles, California, this summer, as speaker for their dinner meeting Thursday evening.

Mr. King placed fourth in a field of 30 boys in California, most of his competitors being citizens of the United States, as were the judges. Their topic was "Freedom". He has been winning awards in public speaking since 1948 and competed once before in United States, at Miami, Florida.

Across the border Mr. King was the representative of the Ontario-Quebec-Maritmes grouping of the Key Clubs of Canada. There are now 1,037 clubs in Canada, United States and Hawaii, he advised. They were originated in Sacremento, California, High School in the '40's and started in Canada in 1946.

"Keys Clubs are actually a service club to the school", Mr. King explained to the women's service club members. He mentioned some of their work at PCVS—planting a hedge, making bicycle racks, etc. The boys meet every two weeks for dinner. They are not allowed to have more than 30 members, as a large club is considered unwieldly in a school. Members are selected on their character and scholastic standing. "Our motto is 'We Build'," he said.

Just a bit of advise to the Soroptomists from this young man who has progressed from a nervous piano student, turned down by his teacher at 12, to a most capable and entertaining after - dinner speaker, could well be taken by all who may ever face an audience: "Know what you are talking about and you can just spiel it out." He feels the speaker should have notes but they should be such that you can follow them without appearing to read them. He added that it is important for a speaker to have a "fair sense" of grammar.

The trip to California and back, commencing late ast June and ending July 11th, was characteristically described by Mr. King, to the pleasure of his audience. They particularly enjoyed his account of the Hollywood radio quizz program on which he won $55, enabling him to fly home from Chicago.

The young man was introduced by Mrs. Isabel Hughson and thanked by Miss Mignon Mayneord.

Another young Peterborough man, Mr. William Peltz, entertained the ladies with solos. He chose the "Kashmir Song" and "Without A Song" for this occasion, and when requested for another number he gave the Serenade from Student Prince.

Vice president Miss Verna Johnston presided for this meeting.

She called upon Miss Grace Sargent to introduce two other guests, Mrs. James Forbes, coach of the Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club, and the club president Mrs. Isbael Crary.

As the Soroptomists are interested in women's work, though their project is for older women, they wished to recognize the achievement of the swimmers in winning an international championship this summer and a cheque for $50 was presented by past president Miss Gene Clark.

Even. Aux. Guests St. James' Mothers

Members of the Jean Wager Evening Auxiliary were guests of the Baby Band Mothers' group of St. James' United Church at their meeting in Wesley Hall Wednesday evening.

Miss Eleanor Carrol, kindergarten teacher of Confederation school, was guest speaker. Miss Carrol said that a child does more growing during its kindergarten year than in any other one year of school; the kindergarten takes a little boy or girl from an infant to a child.

She listed some things which kindergartens hope to accomplish, as follows: supply a richer fund of ideas, give greater general knowledge, better vocabulary, become attentive, acquire good work habits and follow directions. She told how each of these things can be taught through games, stories and crafts.

The speaker said that kindergarten accustoms the child to group supervision and gives an excellent opportunity for comparison with other children. As far as pre-school education is concerned, the speaker said the best thing a parent can do in this respect is to take him to as many things that he is interested in as possible.

Miss Carrol was introduced and thanked by Mrs. W. Miller, whose group conducted the worship service. Scripture was read by Mrs. R. Stewart, with prayer led by Mrs. J. Dunkerley.

President Mrs. R. Stewart conducted the business, hearing reports from Mrs. W. Roode, supply secretary, Mrs. W. Jordon, treasurer, Mrs. E. Bell, recording secretay. Ms. D. Hess read article on missionary work in Latin America from the WMS study book "Where the Sun." The roll call was answered with clothing for overseas relief, and toys were collected to be sent to Miss Connie Wager in Trinidad.

Group leaders Mrs. W. Miller, Mrs. P. Holmes and Mrs. N. Monks were appointed nominating committee, to present a slate of officers for 1954 at the November meeting. The president requested that all committee reports be prepared for presentation in December. It was decided that a cheque for $5 be forwarded with the clothing for overseas relief to cover cost of postage.

Miss Gladys Langton of the Evening Auxiliary expressed thanks of that group for the invitation to attend. Lunch was then served by Mrs. Miller's group.

Warner-Healey

The marriage was solemnized at the Immaculate Conception Church on Saturday morning of Marie Adel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Healey, to Kenneth Edwin Warner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Warner, all of Peterborough. The Rev. J. O'Sullivan officiated at the ceremony.

Pink and white 'mums decorated the altar table and wedding music was played by Mrs. C. O'Donnell. Mrs. D. Campanaro sang as the bride entered the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white lace and net over taffeta and wore a lace petal page-boy coat fastened with tiny satin buttons. Her halo embroidered with pearls held her train-length veil, and she was carrying a bouquet of tiny red rosettes.

Maid of honor was Miss Hilda Larock, gowned in mauve lace over taffeta with matching halo, and carrying yellow ballerino 'mums. Miss Joyce Foley was bridesmaid, gowned in blue, and also carrying yellow 'mums. Miss Shirley Foster was gowned in yellow and carried blue 'mums, and Miss Sharon Healey, sister of the bride, was flower girl, and wore a frock of Nile green net over taffeta and matching headdress, and carried a basket of 'mums and Sweetheart roses.

Groomsman was Leonard Healey, brother of the bride, and ushers were James Ayotte and Leo Berniff. Serving the mass were Jack and James Ayotte.

The reception was held at St. Mary's hall. The bride's mother received in a grey suit and wore mauve accessories and a corsage of pink rosettes. The groom's mother was in black satin and wore nile green accessories and a corsage of pink rosettes.

The bridal couple left for a short honeymoon, the bride travelling in a green taffeta suit and black accessories and wearing a corsage of pink Demure roses.

They will live at 328 Euclid Ave.

Ryley-White

BETHANY (ENS)—A quiet wedding took place in Lindsay on Wednesday when the Rev. E. W. Honey performed the ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Hazel White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John White and Mr. Harry Ryley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Ryley, all of Bethany.

The bride chose to wear an ankle length gown of white taffeta with fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline, full gathered skirt with net overskirt and a matching brocaded taffeta bolero with batwing sleeves. Her tiny hat was also of white brocade trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a cascade of white carnations and ivy.

She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Haig Bothwell of Peterborough, who wore a gown of coffee tan satin taffeta with matching hat and accessories and she carried bronze 'mums and roses. Mr. Haig Bothwell was groomsman.

A reception was held for the immediate relatives at the home of the bride's parents in Bethany. Mrs. White was wearing navy with matching lace trim and black accessories with corsage of pink and white carnations. The mother of the groom wore a dress of wine crepe with matching wine velvet hat and black accssories and corsage of white carnations.

For their wedding trip through the Algonquin Park district the bride donned a mulberry wool suit with navy hat and accessories, and had a corsage of white carnations.

They will live in Bethany.

LAKEFIELD

LAKEFIELD (ENS) — Speaking on the subject "The Training of Infants and Children", Dr. Lloyd O. Bailey addressed Home and School Association in the public school. He was introduced by Mrs. C. H. Hunter, parent education convener, and thanked by Mrs. A. W. Newson.

The president, Mrs. Stanley Burger, presided. It was decided to purchase cups and saucers for refreshments served following each meeting. Members were asked to contribute 50 cents.

Frank A. Payne, local insurance agent, spoke briefly regarding insurance covering accidents to school children while at school or engaged in school activities. The cost per pupil was set at 45 cents.

The attendance prize was won by Mr. E. G. Sloan's room and refreshments were served by the grade mothers of that room.

The November meeting will be in charge of William Whetung, citizenship convener.

✧ ✧ ✧

MARMORA

MARMORA (ENS) — Marmora Home and School Association held a well-attended meeting in the public school under presidency of Mrs. Roy Frost.

The treasurer's report by Mrs. Leighton McGinnis disclosed a favorable balance on hand.

Attendance of parents and grandparents was taken by principal E. C. Prentice with the banner going to his class.

The feature of the evening was a talk by Miss Gladys Aylsworth, RN, of Madoc, who recently returned from Buffalo Narrows, Northern Saskatchewan, after three years of nursing among the Indians where there is no resident doctor. Colored movies of the people and the territory were shown.

An auction sale of food and clothing was conducted by Fred Johnston.

Refreshments were served.

Trinity BB Mothers To Start A Cradle Class

Trinity Baby Band Mothers had as their guest speaker Wednesday evening Mrs. Phyllis Kingdon, representative of the local branch of the Associated Milk Foundation of Canada. Mrs. Kingdon, who was introduced by Mrs. E. Wellman, spoke on "Nutrition."

"Health is the foundation on which happiness depends, and good nutrition is essential in maintaining health," she said. Mrs. Kingdon stressed the importance of variety and attractiveness in serving meals, and also pointed out that cod liver oil is a necessity into teen-age.

Mrs. Kingdon was thanked by Mrs. K. Gibson.

Mrs. William Taylor presided for the business meeting, and reports of the various committees were given. Mrs. K. Barltrap reported that the rummage sale held in Septmber was a successful project.

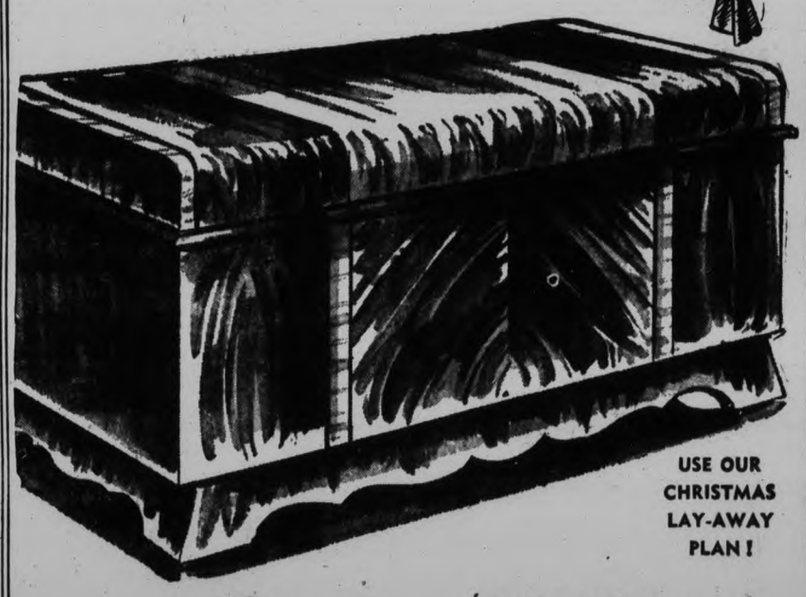
Mrs. R. Huffman and Mrs. William Wildman volunteered to convene the annual Christmas party for the children. Mrs. R. McDonald announced she will be in charge of a cradle class to take care of babies during Sunday morning service, enabling both parents to attend church.

Mrs. R. M. Elliot read an interesting paper on missionary work in Angola, Africa. "Africa is called the land of tomorrow, and if the evolution of Africa is to be peaceful and fruitful, the work of missions is vital to its future," she said. "It will need the combined efforts of governments, industrial concerns and Christian missions to bring about peaceful change in Africa."

Two new members introduced were Mrs. R. A. Blaunt and Mrs. Bert Freeman.

Mrs. E. Wellman's group was in charge of the program, and had decorated the ladies' parlor with colorful autumn leaves, chrysanthemums and a jack-o'-lantern.

Mrs. E. Ritchie read an interesting story entitled "Mother's Apron Strings."



Lunch was served by the group in charge.

Life Memberships To Millbrook Mission Circle

MILLBROOK (ENS) — The Golden Links mission circle of St. Andrew's United Church met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Clarence Ball on the Fallis line for their October meeting.

Mrs. Lawrence Winslow conducted the worship service. She was assisted by Mrs. W. E. Ball, Miss Marjorie Sketch, Miss Jean Burnham, Mrs. David Lunn and Mrs. B. E. Ingham, who read scripture verses to illustrate certain points in her talk.

Life memberships were presented to Mrs. George Sedgewick who is leaving in the near future to make her home in North Bay, and to Mrs. David Lunn for her daughter, Betty, who has left to take up a position in a bank in Malton. Miss Lunn has been the recording secretary of the circle for almost ten years.

Mrs. Alex Gilbert, the treasurer, reported that $180 had been cleared after all expenses of the tea held last month at the home of Mrs. E. J. Powell.

The tea was held as the circle's contribution to the renovation of the church. The money is to be used for the lighting of the chancel and to buy a cross for the altar.

It was reported that the circle bookshelf had arrived, and that the books were to be given out with a list of names in the front so that each member would have the opportunity to read all books.

Mrs. E. J. Powell gave a report on stewardship.

There was a lengthy discussion on the procuring of leaders for C.G.I.T. and Mission band groups, but no final decision was reached.

Mrs. Eric Fallis gave a talk on the Christian Church in Europe. She had prepared a map showing where the work of the different denominations was located. She had a chart also showing what health and welfare centres were at work there. Assisting her in the presentation were Mrs. Johnston Rowland, Mrs. George Sedgewick and Mrs. Alex Gilbert.

Miss Edith Clarke gave a brief report of the Presbyterian rally held in Peterborough earlier this month.

Mrs. M. E. Hobbs, the president announced that the name drawn at the rally of the circle's special missionary for prayer during the coming year was Miss Mabel Brandow of Trinidad. She asked the members to continue to remember Miss Jean Stewart, now doing work among the Japanese in Hamilton, in whom the circle has taken a special interest for some years.

Supper hostesses were Mrs. Cecil Hubbeard, Mrs. G. Sedgewick, and Mrs. Johnston Rowland.

WIDE TUXEDO FRONTS in solid red match the turn-back cuffs of this wonderful tweed coat. Completely reversible, this Canadian fashion is made in a nubby grey and red mixture.

THE SLEEK RAYON CREPE DRESS that can be worn now or under your winter coat later on has returned to fashion importance this year. Narrow dress (left) with three-quarter sleeves and neat collar has leopard buttons as trim. Town dress (centre) is carefully seamed for perfect fit, has long, narrow sleeves. Cardigan neckline and wide cummerbund focus interest on the bodice (right) of this rayon crepe. All three have firm, crisp fabric texture. There are also many soft, fluid crepes this fall.

Omemee W.A. Plans Dinner To Re-open Church

OMEMEE — (ENS) — The October meeting of Trinity United Church W.A. held at the home of Mrs. V. Lang was opened by the president, Mrs. H. Deyell.

After reports and correspondence two items of business were considered—the purchase of a kitchen stove and the holding of a turkey supper in connection with the re-opening of the church.

It was decided to hold the supper and committees were appointed: Table Committee, Mrs. M. Finney, Mrs. W. D. Weir, Mrs. Wm. Fisher, Mrs. V. Gray, and Mrs. T. J. Pogue; Menu committee: Mrs. M. Jones, Mrs. R. E. Brooks, Mrs. E. Mahood, Mrs. R. Rehill and Mrs. A. N. Weir; Fowl committee: Mrs. T. A. McConnell, Mrs. H. Graham, Mrs. H. McKee, and Mrs. V. Lang

Mrs. S. H. Moyer, Mrs. M. Lathangue, Mrs. Mahood and Mrs. A. N. Weir were appointed to get information of types of stories and present recommendations.

Mrs. H. Graham was appointed as delegate to the W.A. Rally at Dunsford on October 27.

Mrs. V. E. R. Zufelt's group was in charge of the worship program. Scripture was read by Mrs. C. R. Vaughan, Mrs. Zufelt commented on the theme verse; "as each one has received a gift, employ it for one another as good stewards of God's varied grace." The topic, Stewardship, was presented by Mrs. M. Lathangue, who stated that since God has a purpose for each of us we must use our time, talents, strength and possessions in the furthering of that purpose if we are to be "good stewards of God's varied grace." And "giving doth not impoverish . . . " she quoted, and as for reward, "God is not a cheap paymaster." Mrs. J. Smith led in prayer, and "Take my life and let it be", was used as a dedication hymn.

The last item on the program was an interesting account by Mrs. Deyell of her recent trip to New York. Following the benediction the groups in charge served lunch.

MRS. G. C. McAULEY
Trustee on the Board of Education in Hamilton, and Convener of Secondary Schools for Ontario Federation of Home and School, who will speak at the Regional Home and School Conference, Queen Mary Auditorium, Saturday, October 31. Her topic will be "Bridging the Gap at the Secondary School Level."

DOROTHY DIX

Young Man Sees Mote In Fiancee's Eye

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a young man of 20, and have been going steady with a girl for three years (she is the same age). Although I love her, I'm afraid some of her faults may cause conflict. She wants her own way all the time, loses her temper at the drop of a hat, and isn't a bit interested in learning cooking or other domestic tasks. I know I'm not a saint—I have a hot temper, am the possessive type, and want a wife who will obey my slightest wish. Do you think the girl will change after marriage and that we will be happy?

DAZED

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your marraige may not be a happy one, but it surely will be interesting—especially to the neighbors who will listen eagerly to the battles. Whether you marry this girl, who at least has a mind of her own, or a nincompoop who'll be silly enough to fall for a conceited follow, you assuredly will not be a happy husband. Happiness cannot exist without consideration of others and that's one quality completely missing from your make-up. Of course you're young, and much more callow than the average 20-year-old. Time may mercifully give you sense, but in the meantime I think you'd better try and acquire some on your own. Subservient women who give in to a man's slightest wish are getting rather rare. You may be an old man by the time you find one.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 27 and married to a widower of 31. Once a year he sends money to his first wife's family for flowers to be placed on her grave. I don't resent the gesture, but my friends say I am foolish and should stop him from buying the flowers.

TERRY

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I think, my dear, that your so-called friends are of the great company of trouble-makers. Your marriage must be a very happy one, otherwise they wouldn't be so eager to spoil it. Your husband would be a sorry specimen of manhood if he didn't still pay tribute to the memory of his first wife. It is a happy sign that he's a person of fidelity—certainly a quality that augurs well for your own happiness.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: At 14, I've been going with a certain boy for over a year. Friends say this is an unusual length of time for two people our age to go together. Our parents get along wonderfully well together and so do we. My problem is, do you think I should get acquainted with other boys? Bill doesn't like the idea and says he's not interested in any other girl.

ELINOR

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It is unusual for two teen-agers to cling to each other so long and it is usually not a recommended procedure. However, if you and Bill are so congenial, and your parents don't object to your dating each other exclusively, certainly it would be foolish to break a pleasant friendship because of a technicality.

VISCOSE FLANNEL is used in this young dress with a button platron front, three quarter length cuffed sleeves and a double collar. A patent belt cinches the waistline with the skirt falling from many unpressed pleats.

6—In Memoriam

BAKER—Mrs. J. C. Baker who passed away Oct. 23, 1952.
One year has passed since that sad day,
When one we loved was called away,
God took her home, it was His will Within our hearts she liveth still.
—Ever remembered by Mr. J. C. Baker and Chris, Connie, Stanley and George.

COOPER— In loving memory of a dear mother, Marguerite Cooper, who passed away one year ago, Oct. 23, 1952.
How dear, how near her memory,
How close, how sweet it stays,
To watch above her loved ones
And guide them through the days.
How perfect too, each thought of her
How comforting to know
Her own dear love is with us still
To bless the way we go.
—Lovingly remembered by son Don and Jewel.

CASEY—In loving memory of John Wesley Casey, who passed away nine years ago, Oct. 25th, 1944.
When all are still and silent
And sleep forsakes my eyes.
My thoughts are in the silent grave
Where my dear husband lies.
—Sadly missed by his loving wife and family.

COOPER—In loving memory of a dear mother, Ida Marguerite Cooper, who passed away suddenly Oct. 23, 1952.
She wished no one a last farewell,
Nor even said good-bye,
She had gone before we knew
And only God knows why.
Asleep in God's beautiful garden,
Away from sorrow and pain,
Someday when life's journey is ended
We shall all be together again.
—Lovingly remembered by Raymore, Iris, Mack and grandchildren.

COOPER—In loving mmory of a dear mother, Ida Marguerite Cooper, who passed away October 23, 1952.
Time speeds on, one year has passed
Since death its gloom, its shadows cast
Within our home, where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light and ever will,
Here vacant place there is none can fill,
Down here we mourn but not in vain,
For up in heaven we will meet again.
—Ever remembered by daughter Ferena, Tony and grandchildren Anthony and Angela.

WAR CLAIMS COMISSION

NOTICE

To Ex-Prisoners of War in Europe (including Merchant Navy Personnel), and to Surviving Dependents of Deceased Prisoners of War:

NOTICE is hereby given that the War Claims Commission, with the approval of the Government of Canada, has to-day adopted an amended interpretation of the War Claims Rules applicable to claims for maltreatment of prisoners of war (including merchant seamen) in Europe during World War II.

Under the amended interpretation there have been established three presumptions of fact, applicable to the majority of cases of this class:

(1) (rebuttable) that some degree of maltreatment was inflicted, though sporadic and intermittent.

(2) that some degree of incapacity to work resulted;

(3) that such incapacity subsisted for some period or time after liberation.

On the basis of these presumptions, it is anticipated that the Commission can now adjudicate the very great majority of claims of this class on the strength of documentary evidence provided by the claimants and of corroboration secured by the Commission, from official records, thus relieving most individual claimants from the burden and expense of attending oral hearings.

It should be noted, however, that in order to avail themselves of the amended interpretation of the Rules, claimants who have not already given notice of their intention to claim, must forward such notice in writing to the War Claims Commission, Ottawa, Canada, on or before December 31, 1953.

Given at Ottawa, this Seventh Day of October, A.D. 1953.

THANE A. CAMPBELL,
Chief War Claims Commissioner.

Notice To Creditors

Notice To Creditors

AND OTHERS.

IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF JOHN STENTON, Late of the Township of Douro, in the County of Peterborough, Retired Farmer, Deceased.

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to Section 51 (1) of The Trustee Act, R.S.O. 1950, Chapter 400, that all Creditors and others having CLAIMS or DEMANDS against the Estate of the said JOHN STENTON, who died on or about the Twenty-fifth Day of May, 1953, are required, on or before the Twenty-sixth Day of November, 1953, to send by post, prepaid or deliver to Stanley Curtis Box 809 Peterborough Ont the Executor of the Last Will and Testament of the said Deceased their Christian names, and surnames addresses and descriptions, the full particulars, in writing of their Claims, a statement of their Accounts, and the nature of the security, if any, held by them.

And Take Notice that after such last mentioned date the said Executor will proceed to distribute the Assets of the said Deceased among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the Claims of which he shall then have notice, and that the said Executor will not be liable for the said Assets or any part thereof to any person or persons of whose Claim notice shall not have been received by him at the time of such distribution.

DATED at Peterborough, this 21st Day of October, 1953.

City Spending

garage on Townsend St. and at the fire hall increased the property committee's spending this year.

GARBAGE BUDGET

A total of $93,312.85 was budgeted for garbage disposal this year. Of this amount, $72,950.97 was spent, compared with $69,703.38 last year.

The Board of Education, with a $762,090 budget, spent $640,000, compared with $595,000 last year, while the Separate School Board, with a budget of $90,101.36, spent $67,575.96, compared with $57,401.82 last year.

The health department, with a $54,000 budget, spent only $29,616.28, compared with $34,014.32. This year's drop was attributable chiefly to a smaller salary outlay due to staff changes.

While $15,000 was budgeted for interest charges, an actual $16,107.98 was spent, although this was less than the $17,195.41 spent last year.

Of the $1,000 budgeted for civic receptions, only $145.90 was spent, compared with $641.55 last year. Of the $18,000 budgeted for the treasurer's and tax departments, only $13,830.60 was spent, compared with $14,715.62 last year.

Additional revenue from sources other than the property tax were chiefly from increased government subsidies and the surplus of $86,052.52 from 1952.

SUBSIDIES

Of $35,000 estimated as the subsidy to the Board of Works, $31,392.29 had been received, compared with $9,811.23 last year.

While subsidies to the fire and and police departments were estimated at only $24,000, actually $26,421.47 was received for the fire department, compared with $24,763.65 last year, and $25,558.14 for the police department, compared with $21,674.45 last year.

While the city budgeted for an estimated payment of $10,000 from Ontario Hydro and the Peterborough Utilities Commission in lieu of taxes, actually $13,772.41 was received, compared with $8,224.32 during the same period last year.

These increases, together with the $86,052.52 surplus from 1952 and the pre-school levy of $9,475 helped to boost revenues other than from taxes to $350,808.58, of an estimated $399,327.52, compared with $225,851.53 received during the same period last year.

40 Cents Per Share

WAUKEEGAN, Ill.— The board of directors of Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Co. at its meeting held today declared a cash dividend of 40 cents per share of the common stock of the company payable December 7 to stockholders of record November 4.

Britain Pledges Keep Close Ties

LONDON (AP)—Britain promised today to develop the closest possible ties with the European Army scheme short of joining it.

The pledge was made by Deputy Foreign Secretary Anthony Nutting during a House of Commons debate on the work of the council of Europe, the 15-country "parliament" striving for closer European unity.

Nutting did not say exactly what Britain was going to do to cement her links with the six-country European Army, formally known as the European Defence Community.

But he specified that once the EDC comes into being "our partnership will be even closer" than this country's present ties with the Western European coal and steel pool.

Although not a member of the pool, Britain now works closely with the body on a technical level and maintains a permanent mission at its headquarters.

Heart-Starter Termed Success

DETROIT (AP)—A newly-developed heart-starter has been termed "a success," although the first patient upon whom it was used died.

Dr. Austin Z. Howard, acting superintendent of receiving hospital, said after the patient's death Thursday night: "The machine operation was a success. Other complications killed him."

The 50-year-old patient's heart was started beating three times Wednesday by the electronic device developed at Wayne University.

The man was suffering from a "heart block" of undetermined cause, and after his heart was shocked into action a third time by the cardiatron he had shown "vast improvement."

Floor Hockey League To Be Started At Y

Floor hockey will commence at the YMCA on Wednesday, November 4 and a meeting has been called for Monday to discuss the setting up of a schedule. There will be four teams in the league and three captains, Pat Belsey, Mick Magee and Red Hill have been selected. The fourth team, a Friday Night Club entry, has not yet selected a leader.

Members of the Y's Men's Club received an address from their district governor, Ted Callen, of Orillia, at their weekly meeting, Thursday night.

Selling Wheat To U.K. In Good Quantities

WINNIPEG (CP)—Canada is selling wheat to Britain in "substantial quantities," getting International Wheat Agreement prices from a nation no longer a partner in the pact.

This was reported Thursday by a Canadian wheat board spokesman in commenting on prospects for selling Canada's bumper grain crop, her third in as many years.

He said Canada's biggest accommodation problem—more grain than storage space—improves with every export shipment and that wheat exports so far are "fairly comparable" with those for the same period last year.

The spokesman would not state the amount of sales to Britain.

Must Have Aim In Life To Succeed So-Ed Told

To take advantage of opportunities, every individual must have an aim. If every individual does have an aim in life, then he will succeed.

Speaking before the YMCA, YWCA, Peterborough Recreation Commission sponsored So-Ed Thursday night, Wilson M. Gemmell, manager of the Royal Bank of Canada, analyzed opportunity in Canada for the large youth group.

After describing the mines, power, oil, agriculture industry, forest and fishery potential in Canada, Mr. Gemmell said that "everything is waiting for you and I to go after it."

He warned, however, that "material things aren't the most important; spiritual things are the ones we should go after."

The catalyst to bring material values into form to lead to a better life is opportunity, the speaker declared. He contended the world has come such a long way because others throughout the age have seized opportunity, just as today.

NEW INVENTIONS

Every day new inventions are brought into the world to better our way of life because someone has had the foresight and seized the opportunity to develop new ideas.

Past discoveries, Mr. Gemmell emphasized, are the foundation of what we are building today and today we are building the superstructure of a new, free way of life.

He urged his audience to have an aim in life and stick to the aim, maintaining that those who stick to the aim and work for and toward it, will attain it.

Mr. Gemmell's address was the first of a series Peterborough So-Eds will hear in the next five weeks. Held at the YWCA, the program has attracted a membership of about 130 so far this year.

Cities Allowed To Run Down People Move To Suburbs

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — A blight threatens many United States cities today. It is the blight of areas being allowed to run down rather than being renewed and repaired as was normal practice in former years.

Merchants are feeling the loss of sales as their middle-income customers take to the flourishing suburbs. Real estate values and income slip as worn - out areas spread around the badly congested central core of many cities. Municipal government costs rise faster than tax revenues.

Many city fathers find that deterioration seems to gain speed at the same time that their metropolitan areas are mushrooming.

Slum clearance and public housing projects have helped, but they haven't halted the tendency in recent years to let property run down. And the middle - income families which once lived just beyond the business districts have largely been ignored in post-war city construction.

The Twentieth Century Fund, a non-profit foundation for scientific research and public education, put Miles L. Colean, a city planning consultant, to work on the problem. His report, Renewing Our Cities, points out many reasons why cities are being blighted.

Traffic congestion is growing steadily worse and strangely enough driving people farther away from the business district. Rings of suburbs around most cities drain resources without reducing the load on downtown services.

SLUMS IGNORED

The post-war housing shortage led to lax enforcement of housing regulations on the theory that a slum dwelling was better than none. Strict enforcement, Colean says, is needed now to end the profitability of slums.

He also cites the low rate of return on money invested in new construction in recent years as having turned away needed capital. Shifting some of the local tax load off real estate could help the investor, he adds.

And he notes that in many cities red tape, long delays in all dealings with local authorities, and the consequent loss of income on tied-up funds harass large investors undertaking housing projects.

The first essential in attacking this problem, Colean holds, is to decide what kind of a city is wanted. Effective city planning then can be tried.

Modern street and throughway systems, control of population density to solve the traffic problem, intelligent zoning of functions between the central core and the dispersed sections, should be taken up on a timed schedule.

Legion Says Gov't Move Very Unfair

Ruling Termed Economy Measure; Call Special Meeting

TORONTO (CP)—The federal government's move to cut off gratuities and rehabilitation benefits to Canadian troops in Korea at the end of October was criticized today as "premature, unfair and discriminatory," by Toronto members of Parliament and Canadian Legion officials.

The ruling, termed an economy measure, was passed by order-in-council Sept. 24. Under the order, servicemen will not receive gratuities for overseas service, rehabilitation grants or clothing allowances.

"Troops have the right to expect the same conditions of service prevailing when they sign up to continue while they are in service," said D. R. Michener, Progressive Conservative member of the Commons for Toronto St. Paul's. "If those terms are reduced, I think that is definitely unfair. The men were sent to Korea under orders, the same as the men who preceded them."

LEGION CALLS MEETING

Canadian Legion officers here will meet Sunday to discuss the move.

"If there is any unfairness involved in this thing, the legion will make itself heard in no uncertain terms," said W. G. Beech, district commander. "We will know where we stand after Sunday's meeting."

Donald Fleming, PC member for Toronto Eglinton, said the move was "premature," and added:

"If hostilities in Korea had definitely ended, that would be one thing, but, in the present state of suspended hostilities the men may be called on to fight again at any moment."

R. H. Small, PC member for Toronto Danforth, commented:

"This isn't in keeping with the government's election campaign statements that they were doing everything possible to benefit servicemen . . . it is not fair to withdraw what was promised to the men without warning them these benefits would be cut off."

Pat Biggs, Ontario secretary of the Legion, said it was the "same old story of the government saving a few paltry dollars at the expense of its servicemen."

Gandhi's Son Freed

PRETORIA, South Africa (Reuters)—Manilal Gandhi, 61, son of the late Indian spiritual leader, Mohandas Gandhi, was released from jail today after serving 38 days of a 50-day sentence for taking part in a defiance campaign against race segregation laws. Gandhi said treatment of non-whites in jail is "far from satisfactory, to put it mildly."

$20,000 Union Embezzlement Inquiry Begins

HAMILTON (CP)—City detectives are today investigating reports of a $20,000 embezzlement in strike relief funds from the International Teamsters' Union (AFL-TLC).

Detective Donald MacFarlane, who has been specially assigned to handle the inquiry said the embezzlement was committed during the recent truckers strike called by Hamilton and Windsor locals in southwestern Ontario.

"We were called into the case Friday following a complaint by a member of the Hamilton local," he stated.

"I have been in touch with a Toronto lawyer who is handling the international union's case, and a full-scale investigation is under way," MacFarlane said.

FICTITIOUS NAMES USED

The officer added that the claim stated that about 25 fictitious names had been signed falsely to the union pay list.

"These men never claimed the money that was due them, but their names were alleged to have been signed anyway. I hope to interview some of these men today."

Meanwhile, James Groat, president and business agent of Local 879 of the General Truck Union, flatly denied that there had been any misuse of union funds here.

"I think this whole investigation has been touched off by officials of the trucking companies," Mr. Groat declared.

Officials of the union in Washington would be the first to know if anything irregular was going on, he concluded.

Soldiers Lose Benefits October 31

Announce New Men Won't Receive Any Special Pay

OTTAWA (CP)— Canadian servicemen who embarked for Korea after the cease fire last July 26 will not be entitled to any special theatre-of-war discharge benefits, a defence department spokesman said today.

Servicemen who reached Korea before July 26 will continue to get the benefits until Oct. 31. After that date no Canadian serviceman will be entitled to these extra compensations which include gratuities, clothing allowances and rehabilitation grants, the spokesman said.

The spokesman said orders have gone out from defence headquarters here to all troops, informing them of the decision reached by the cabinet in an order-in-council passed Sept. 24 and published in the Canada Gazette Oct. 14.

SOME NOT INFORMED

Some of the orders, however, did not leave Ottawa until last week. Troops which shipped to Korea between July 26 and early October went overseas without receiving word of the cabinet decision.

Some 8,000 Canadian servicemen are in the Korean theatre, including members of the 25th Infantry Brigade, naval units and a few members of the RCAF.

The spokesman said the cease-fire marked the end of hostilities in Korea and therefore for all special compensation purposes, Korea was no longer a war theatre. It is to be treated as any normal operational area, providing, of course, fighting does not flare up again. In that case the special compensations will again apply.

These compensations include 50 cents a day gratuities and a rehabilitation grant equivalent to 50 cents a day, giving all troops an extra $1 a day, on top of their regular pay.

In addition, on discharge, Korean veterans got $100 clothing allowance.

Troops Moving Gas And Oil, Maintain Services

LONDON (AP)—Troops moved strikebound gasoline and oil supplies in London today, preventing a complete collapse of essential road transport, food delivery and public health services in the great metropolis. A spokesman for the main distributing companies said "the first phase of the operation has been completely successful." In the face of the use of troops, the 2,600 striking tank truck drivers, who began their wildcat walkout six days ago, remained firm. There were no signs of a back-to-work movement.

Bus drivers in one garage threatened to go out in sympathy if their vehicles were loaded with "black petrol." This threat, causing anxiety to London transport officials, thus far has failed to materialize.

POLICE ESCORT TRUCKS

Because of the strike, London's streets took on almost a Victorian appearance. Motor traffic moved in a thin trickle. Highways leading from the city were almost empty.

In southeast London a police car escorted each tank truck. Some soldier-drivers had trouble finding the stations where they were to make the deliveries.

The troops moved in as every garage within a 40-mile radius of London reported its fuel tanks dry.

The government has clamped on a rigid ration system, giving essential public services first call on available gasoline and oil.

KEEP CABINET HANDY

Prime Minister Churchill ordered all members of his cabinet to remain in London during the week-end, standing by to deal with any possible emergency.

The armed troops—1,600 soldiers and 1,000 RAF men—marched briskly into the city's gasoline depots at dawn today and swung aboard the fleets of idle tank trucks.

The 2,600 drivers quit work Monday, demanding the dismissal of all non-union co-workers, full union recognition by the industry and a 10-shilling weekly pay raise. They have been averaging £7 5s 6d ($20.37) a week.

The strikers announced Friday night they were prepared to modify their demands, but the proposed changes were not disclosed. At a police-guarded meeting later, leaders of the Transport and General Workers' Union refused to accept demands which they termed unconstitutional.

The No. 1 task for the troops is to get food distribution trucks on the road again in order to deliver the huge city's vital food. Thousands of households probably will be without their precious Sunday roast because of the gasoline shortage.

Essential services such as hospitals, ambulances, postal delivery, sewage disposal units and undertakers come next on the list, with some deliveries going to public transport and garages.

Airman Drowns, 7 Others Safe In 2 Accidents

OTTAWA (CP) — An airman was drowned and seven other persons escaped Friday night in two separate Ottawa river accidents near Rockcliffe airport, six miles east of downtown Ottawa.

Drowned was LAC. Louis Rouleau, 24, of Broughton Station, Beauce County, Que. A non-swimmer, he was one of four airmen stationed at Rockcliffe who tipped over in an RCAF boat. The other three swam to a moored aircraft and clung to it until help arrived.

CRUISER BURNS

Four other Ottawa district men were rescued by a boom tug when their cruiser caught fire and burned to the water line. They were Louis Daze and Leo Beaulieu of Hull. The fire started after the cruiser's motor backfired. The men had been swimming more than an hour before they were picked up.

The $6,000 cruiser was destroyed by the blaze.

LAC rouleau's body was recovered today after extensive dragging operations.

Labor Dispute May Cancel Opera Season

NEW YORK (AP)—The Metropolitan Opera and union musicians are at an impasse in wage talks, and the Met management says that it may have to cancel its season unless agreement is reached by Nov. 2.

Rudolf Bing, general manager of the Met, adds that he already has informed foreign artists to delay depature for the United States until the labor dispute is settled.

Local 802 of the American Federation of Musicians (AFL) has notified the Met its members will not report for work unless agreement is reached.

MAY BE CANCELLED

If rehearsals do not start on time, the Met management contends, its preparations for the season due to open Nov. 16 will be disrupted so badly it will have no alternative but to cancel the season.

The opera management says it has settled negotiations with all but two of 13 unions representing the Met's 600 employees. One of the two, representing the stagehands, has agreed to work while talks continue.

A two-per-cent wage increase offer was reported made by the Met to all 13 unions. However, the musicians are said to be holding out for a five-per-cent boost this year and another five per cent next year.

Florida Special Derailed, 11 Hurt

FORT SCOTT, Kan. (AP)—Eleven persons were injured today when 11 cars of the Frisco railroad's Florida Special were derailed three miles south of here.

Most of them suffered minor cuts, bruises and shock as all but two of the 13 cars left the rails.

Railroad officials blamed a broken rail.

Reject Suggestion For Contempt Inquiry

WINDSOR (CP) — Essex County Law Association Friday night rejected a recommendation from its executive that Attorney-General Dana Porter be asked to look into possible contempt charges against a county councillor who this week criticized county judge J. A. Legris.

A statement for the press, drafted by the executive of the association and containing the recommendation, was sent back to the executive for redrafting and will be circulated among all members of the association for further study.

Judge Legris, who has several times spoken from the bench on the needs for a new court house here, was criticized in county council Tuesday by Willard Morris, reeve of Tilbury North.

Sale Of Cheese To Britain Relieves Domestic Surplus

BELLEVILLE (CP)—W. C. Coon, president of the Ontario Cheese Producers Association, said Friday the sale this week of 10,000,000 pounds of cheese to Britain will "materially" relieve what the industry had feared would be a domestic surplus at the opening of the 1954 dairy season.

"Without this export market to handle surplus production, it would be necessary for many factories to close," he said.

Shipments to Britain are expected to start almost at once.

The price believed agreed upon by British buyers is 26½ cents a pound, while the Canadian Government has guaranteed the cheese producers a floor price of 30 cents a pound, effective for all surplus cheese on Nov. 1. The sale at a 3½ cents a pound loss was described as a licking that the board decided to accept in the hope of getting it back in the future.

The industry has been described as passing through chaotic conditions during the past two years, the only time since Confederation in which Ontario cheese has not been exported in quantity to Great Britain.

TRYING FOR YEAR

The official explained that the Canadian cheese industry has been trying for a year to get the British Government to release dollars for the purchase of Canadian cheese. When the money recently was made available, it was decided by the board to accept the offer rather than slam the door on a year's negotiations, despite the immediate financial loss.

"The cheese industry wants to keep its foot in the door of the British market," the unnamed official stated, "by accepting their offer now, we hope to be able to maintain an export market that is vital to the stability of the industry."

He pointed out that it is not safe for the producers to try to produce exactly what the Canadian market can consume. A surplus is necessary to protect the industry against large imports, should the Canadian market expand. And it is also essential that the industry, to maintain its domestic price, should have an export market to drain off surplus production.

"Without the export market to handle surplus production, many factories would close," he said.

"If the board is concerned only with the immediate dollars and cents angle of this deal, they would not have considered it," he said. "But they are thinking years ahead and of the future of the cheese industry."

HAVE STOCKPILE

It also was pointed out that if the government purchases the surplus cheese, the cheese would remain in the country building up a stockpile that would ultimately force down prices.

Factories which have sold cheese to the marketing board for the past five months will be paid at a price equal to that given to factories which sold cheese to the domestic trade, according to Mr. W. C. Coon, president of the association.

Begin Rescue Of 200 Hunters

SHERIDAN, Wyo. (AP)—"Operation Breakthrough," to rescue an estimated 200 snowbound big-game hunters in northern Wyoming's Big Horn mountains, will move into high gear today.

Forest service officials and law officers today will be assisted by national guard equipment and four "weasels" — snowmobiles from Camp Carson, Colo.

The hunters were trapped in the mountain wilds after a storm dumped more than 30 inches of snow and accompanying winds created drifts four feet deep.

Three reconnaissance planes flew from Sheridan over the area Friday and reported sighting six camps where the letter "F" was stamped in the snow. This indicates a need for food. Otherwise the hunters are apparently in good condition.

Spy Mystery In Germany

FRANKFURT (AP) — Mystery deepened today around a Soviet spy suspect held in "special security custody" somewhere in West Germany.

The United States high commission, which made the terse announcement Friday that Georgii Vladimirovich Khorumzhii, alias Georg Mueller of Frankfurt, was being held for investigation of espionage, refused further comment.

Army headquarters at Heidelberg said they knew nothing about the case and it was a matter being handled by the high commission.

But a top American official who declined to be identified said Khorumzhii is being held by the U. S. central intelligence agency, which does not talk for publication.

There were many rumors about Khorumzhii. There was a report that he was a former Soviet army officer who decamped to the West in 1948, and then went to work as an espionage agent for Russia.

There was another rumor that he had once worked as an agent for the West and double-crossed them. Still another said he had been turned in to authorities by a disgruntled woman friend.

Take Up Collection To Assist Strikers

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP)—Striking workers from Noranda and Quemont gold and copper mines stood outside Kirkland Lake's four banks Friday, soliciting money to aid the 6,000 idle miners in the Timmins and Noranda districts.

Jack Murnaghan, a United Steelworkers Union (CIO-CCL) official, said more than $500 was collected.

He said union officers were impressed by the co-operation given them by Teck township council members, local police and bank officials. Arrangements are being made to make similar canvasses at Larder Lake and Virginiatown.

Claxton Inspects Barriefield Camp

KINGSTON (CP) — Defence Minister Claxton today inspected the Royal Canadian Electrical and Mechanical Engineer school at suburban Barriefield military camp. He was accompanied by Brig. M. S. Dunn, officer commanding MD 3.

Mr. Claxton spoke at a luncheon held in conjunction with the eighth annual gathering of the RCEME Corps Association.

Sweeps Ticket Drawn Didn't Even Buy It

PRESTON, Ont. (CP) — Eddie Dardarian is a lucky fellow. He holds an Irish hospital sweepstakes ticket on Marie Therese in Wednesday's Cambridgeshire.

He's lucky because he didn't even buy a ticket. His brother, Sam, bought it in Eddie's name.

If Marie Therese wins, Eddie has promised Sam $32,000 of the $137,500 first prize.

Preston is two miles north of Galt.

Peterborough Orfuns jumped into a 12-0 lead today in the second quarter of their game with the Galloping Ghosts in Cobourg which gives them a 17-11 edge in the two-game playoff in the Central Ontario ORFU Intermediate A. Cobourg won the first game 11-5 to give them a head start.

Hold Mother In Strangling

DETROIT (AP)—A slight, 27-year-old mother accused of strangling her two children to death says the act brought her "peace of mind."

Assistant prosecutor John Mowatt said he will ask a first-degree murder warrant against Mrs. Shirley Boyd of suburban Inkster Monday. In the meantime he ordered her confined to a hospital.

Police chief Charles Deplanche of Inkster said Mrs. Boyd told him she strangled 18-month-old Mark Richard and choked the life out of seven-year-old Terry Robert because "the Bible told me to do it."

Indian Guide Finds Missing Hunter

KENORA, Ont. (CP)—A United States hunter, missing for a day in the Ghost Inlet area, 40 miles south of here, was found Friday by an Indian guide.

Robert C. Stafford of Cincinnati was discovered sitting beside a fire. A. Lornecar, the guide, spotted the fire's smoke billowing above the dense bush.

Stafford said he was only hungry. He was taken by boat to Morrison, Ont. and flown to Sioux Narrows where he had been staying for the hunting season.

Kenora is about 250 miles northwest of Fort William.

Truce Official Prepares Report

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) The United Nations Palestine truce supervisor today drew up a report to the Security Council on threatening Arab-Israeli border incidents as tension continued to rise in the Holy Land area.

Denmark's Maj.-Gen. Vagn Bennike, the supervisor, was scheduled to give the council Tuesday the truce commission's version of recent frontier bloodshed, including an Israeli attack on three Jordan border villages in which 66 Arabs were reported killed.

As Bennike worked on his report, informed sources in London said Britain has informally advised the Arab states and Israel to avoid any military action that might upset Middle East stability.

These sources said the London government emphasized that the Western powers still stand firmly on their 1950 declaration guaranteeing the integrity of frontiers in the area. Britain, the United States and France jointly called for the UN investigation into the border disturbances.

In a meeting at Amman, Jordan's capital, Friday night, two sub-committees of the eight-country Arab League hammered out decisions on several political, economic and military aspects of the Arab-Israeli dispute.

Gain 48 Hours For PoW Persuasion

PANMUNJOM (AP) — The Indian command today gained another 48 hours for its attempt to talk anti-Communist Korean war prisoners into listening to Red efforts to persuade them to return home.

The neutral nations repatriation commission is scheduled to make an announcement Monday that, a reliable source said, will postpone indefinitely the stalled explanations.

Only agreement by the Korean PoWs to hear the Red "explainers" can break the deadlock, and it appears unlikely that the Indians can persuade the Koreans to agree before the commission announcement is made.

The announcement was to have come today, but was put off until Monday, giving the Indian command two more days to talk with the stubborn leaders of the anti-Red Korean PoWs.

Maple Leafs Release Manager B. Grimes

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs of the International Baseball League said today they have released manager Burleigh Grimes.

Leaf owner Jack Kent Cooke announced the release. It is said Luke Sewell, former big-league manager with Cincinnati and St. Louis is a leading candidate for the post.

Leafs finished fifth this season.

New Flash Floods In Italy Halting Rescue Efforts

OLIVETO, Italy (AP)—Heavy new rains sent wildly-raging torrents boiling anew today through at least half a dozen flood-stricken villages in this mountain area above Reggio Calabria.

The storm added to the vast devastation caused the last two days when flash floods inundated a thousand-square-mile area.

Officials of Reggio Calabria province said the death toll figure might pass 100.

Today's floods halted attempts of rescue workers to get food and other emergency supplies to an estimated 3,000 hungry, grief-stricken villagers trapped in flooded mountain communities.

A ministry of works official in charge of rescue operations said Friday authorities were watching closely for an outbreak of epidemics.

The violent downpour began early this morning, on the heels of a night-long light rain.

The new flood ripped out emergency roads built along river beds since the flash floods two days ago and tumbled more mud and rock into villages inhabitants and soldiers had cleared.

In Rome, Premier Giuseppe Pella announced he would leave tonight to inspect the ravaged region.

39 Men Trapped In Mine Explosion

SERAING, Belgium (Reuters)—An underground explosion rumbled through a coal mine here today trapping 39 men in the tunnels.

Rescue teams descended immediately to locate the missing men.

Anxious relatives gathered quickly at the minehead awaiting word from underground.

The first elevator cars up from the scene brought out 15 men. Ten of them were seriously injured and were rushed to hospital in waiting ambulances.

As dusk fell on the surface, rescue men still labored underground to reach the remaining 24.

New Trade Pact

Will Slash Tariffs On Japanese Goods

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada will slash tariffs on Japanese goods in the next few months when a "fair trade" pact between the two countries will be ready for signing, well-informed sources disclosed Friday.

Customs duties in some cases will be halved, widening the potential Canadian market for Japanese goods and possibly reducing prices to Canadian buyers of such items as Japanese textiles, china, cameras, novelties and toys.

This disclosure followed announcement from Geneva that Japan has been elected as an associate member of the world tariff-cutting body, the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

REJECT FULL MEMBERSHIP

Her application for full membership was rejected.

As an associate member she will be able to sit in on GATT meetings and negotiate with each country bi-laterally for lower tariffs. But these country-to-country negotiations will not be binding on the entire GATT membership.

Informants here said Canada voted for Japan's associate membership along with 25 other member countries, including the U.S.

A number of GATT members are expected shortly to grant Japan most-favored-nation treatment, which calls for a rate of duty sharply below the current "general" tariff rate against Japanese goods.

TO FOLLOW PACT

Canada will grant her the lower rates following signing of the "fair trade" pact. The pact is to be submitted for approval of the Canadian Parliament and the Japanese Diet.

The customs duty on Japanese cotton clothing likely will be cut to 25 per cent of the import price from the current 35 per cent and more.

The entire Canadian tariff will be lowered to Japanese good

Seamen's Strike Ended After 25 Days

OTTAWA (CP)—The storm that has hit Canada's ocean shipping eased Friday.

The 25-day seamen's strike ended with an agreement for a basic $6-a-month wage increase and a shorter working week.

And, with the strike out of the way, the cabinet will feel free to get on with making a decision whether to grant a federal subsidy to keep the fleet sailing.

The strike, called by the Seafarer's International Union (AFL-TLC) among the 1,000 men in the 33 ships of Canada's ocean fleet, tied up about a third of the ships which happened to be in port. Those at sea were not affected.

SETTLED BY COMPROMISE

The union compromised on its original demands—a $50-a-month boost for non-officer personnel and a 40-hour week at sea—and the owners promised not to discriminate against strikers.

The agreement, signed at Montreal to run for a year, gives the $6-a-month increase across the board, where the average basic pay now is about $196 a month.

The work week at sea will be cut by eight hours to 48 hours, but there will be no change in overtime rates.

Deck and engine room personnel, who do only day work, will have two hours knocked off their work week at sea, making a 40-hour week, and get a rise of $16 a month.

Some smaller points are still not settled, but it is certain that the operators will not have recourse to tying up the ships and using them for grain storage. They had indicated that it might be necessary.

The settlement is based on the proposals made in mediation by federal labor department officials.

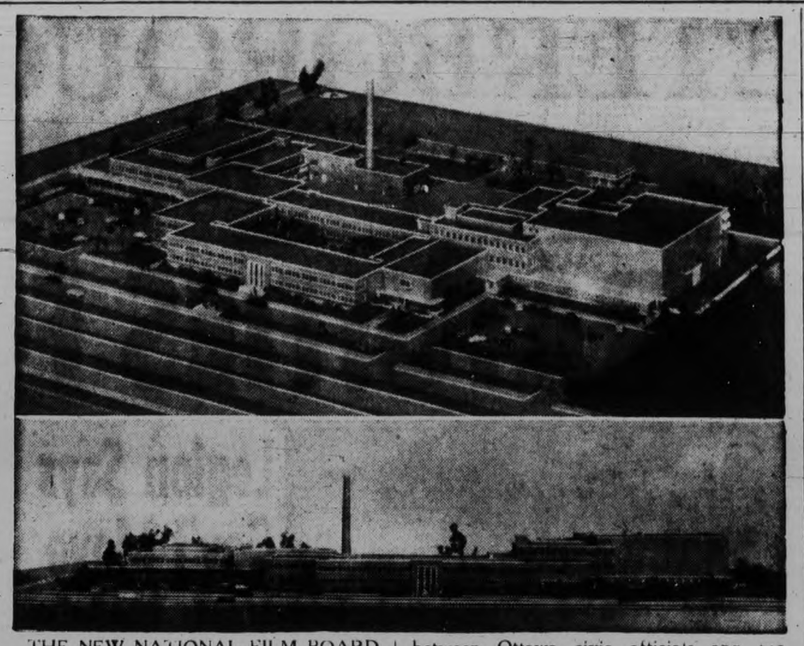
LARGEST JAP SHIP to dock in Montreal this year and the largest freighter in Japan's merchant fleet, the Wako Maru left the port bound for her home country after stopping at several ports around the coast of North America for cargo. The ship is owned by the Osaka Shoshn Kaisha Line, operator of 34 ships.

Albion Overruns Chelsea In 5-2 Game

LONDON (Reuters)—West Bromwich Albion overran London's Chelsea 5-2 today to gain a secure four-point lead at the head of English Soccer League First Division.

Wolverhampton Wanderers were held to a 1-1 draw by Bolton and now share second place with Huddersfield, 2-0 victor over Newcastle. Both teams have 22 points.

London's Arsenal continued its climb up the table after lagging behind, swamping Charlton 5-1.



In the Second Division, Leicester's narrow 1-0 victory over Oldham put the team at the head of the table with 22 points. Rotherham, last week's leader, lost 2-1 to Everton and now shares second place with Doncaster Rovers, 2-1 winner over Fulham.

Ipswich beat Swindon 2-1 and now leads all rivals by five points in the Southern section of Division Three. Brighton and Southampton share second place with 24 points each.

THREE-POINT LEAD

In the Northern section, Port Vale defeated Halifax 1-0 to reach 29 points, eight ahead of the opposition. Gateshead, 1-0 victor over Rochdale, by-passed Barnsley and Crewe to take second spot.

Queen of the South, which tied 1-1 with Airdrieonians, still leads Scottish League Division A with 13 points, three more than Raith Rovers, 3-1 winners against Stirling. In Division B leader Stenhousemuir tied 2-2 with Dunfermline but with 12 points still is two ahead of Dumbarton, held to a goalless draw by Alloa Athletic.

THE NEW NATIONAL FILM BOARD headquarters to be built soon in Montreal will look like this when completed. The $6,000,000 building, subject of a hot debate between Ottawa civic officials and the government over its removal to this city, will house the most modern film studios on the continent.

Minor Changes In N. Ireland Election Results

BELFAST (Reuters) — Only minor changes among splinter groups have resulted from Thursday's general election in Northern Ireland.

The pro-British Unionist Party government of Lord Brookeborough was returned with 35 seats in the 52-seat House of Commons. If the mail ballot next week gives the party its two traditional university seats, it will have the same 37 it held before the election.

The Unionists have been in power ever since 1921 when these six Northrn Irish counties were granted home rule.

WIN SAME SEATS

The major Opposition, the Nationalists, who seek to unite Northern Ireland with the Republic of Ireland, won the same nine seats they had held previously.

Four university seats have yet to be filled and besides the two that are expected to go to the Unionists, two are likely to go to independents.

Final results of the election: Unionists 35, Nationalists 7, Abstentionist Nationalists 2, Independent Unionists 1, Independent Labor 1, Socialist Republican 1, unofficial Eire Labor 1.

In the last House the standings were: Unionists 37, Independent Unionists 1, Nationalist 9, Independents 3, Northern Ireland Labor 1, vacant 1.

Tax Exemption Predicted On Pension Funds

HAMILTON (CP) — Income tax exemption on money set aside by the individual for his pension was predicted this morning by Mrs. Margery Pewtress, Cobourg, Ontario president, Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, addressing the eighth annual provincial conference of that body here this morning.

She based her prediction on the action being taken in that respect by the bar association, the medical association and other prominent groups to bring about this exemption. The Business and Professional Women's Clubs had taken steps to arouse interest in the problem among these groups.

During the session, reports were submitted by Miss Madeline Rooney, Cobourg, secretary; Miss Lila Trout, Brampton, treasurer; Miss Laura Hyatt, Niagara Falls, chairman, rules committee. Miss Marion Phillips, Brantford, called the roll of clubs.

University Body Hopes Halt Reds

TORONTO (CP) — CAPUT met today in an attempt to write "kaput" to a recent episode of "panty raids" at the University of Toronto.

CAPUT is the university's top administrative body. Meeting in secret, the group is expected to censure students involved in the raids last week-end.

Margaret Prand, head girl at Annesley Hall, called the raids "juvenile." She said some $50 worth of women's underwear was taken.

The raid on Annesley Hall, girl's residence, came after a football pep rally last Friday.

High-Water Damage Still Blamed On Dam

UTICA, N. Y. (AP)—Gut dam, which was torn down early this year after complaints from property owners, still is being blamed for high-water damage in the St. Lawrence river.

A Florida couple says the ruins of the dam have resulted in flood damage to their property on Longue Vue island and wants Canada to pay $25,000 for it.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Prices firmed up slightly in late trading Friday on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange after an irregular opening. Some upturns on U.S. markets prompted the better tone here.

Highlight of the trade was the outside report that Japan had bought about 15 cargoes of Canadian barley, representing about 6,200,000 bushels. Japan also picked up 2,600,000 bushels of Canadian wheat.

Class 2 wheat durums remained unchanged from Thursday. All other Classes 2, IWA and domestic prices, top grades, were down one-eighth cent.

Man, Woman Held For Illegal Entry

FORT ERIE (CP) — A Toronto man and woman arrested Thursday at Buffalo will be charged with illegal entry into the United States, immigration officials said today.

They said Louis Molnar, 30, and Miss Alice Brooks, 30, both gave false information in gaining entrance to the States.

Ottawa Goes Into Red For September

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government went into the red by $83,092,000 in September's budgetary operations as spending rose for defence, payments to provinces and interest on the national debt.

Second monthly deficit in the first six months of the 1953-54 fiscal year, it pared the half-year treasury surplus to $200,161,000 from $290,967,000 a year ago, the finance department reported Friday.

September's deficit was almost double the $47,701,000 deficit last year.

PREDICT SURPLUS

Officials predicted, however, the government will end the year with a small over-all surplus, not far from the target of $11,000,000 set by Finance Minister Abbott last spring.

September's revenues edged ahead to $324,712,000 from $316,859,000 last year, boosting the half-year total to $2,088,617,000 from $2,000,101,000.

But expenditures jumped sharply during the month to $407,804,000 from $362,560,000, increasing the half-year's spending to $1,888,456,000 from $1,709,134,000.

Collects Stones For His Hobby

TORONTO (CP)—George Steel collects stones for a hobby.

Mr. Steel, a retired civil engineer, has collected them for 50 years and is recognized as one of the pioneers of the lapidary art in Canada.

For 20 years he has rock-hunted in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes, and his collection includes moonstones found near Kingston, Ont.; rock srystal formation from Lyndhurst, Ont.; quartz, feldspar and porphyry from east of Kirkland Lake, Ont.; blue agate and jasper from Nova Scotia, rose quartz from Ontario's Renfrew county and sodalite—recognized as Canada's national stone—from Bancroft, Ont.

He cuts and polishes the stones and between trips his wife, Marjorie, sets them.

TIMMINS, Ont. (CP)—Fears of one councillor that ragweed, bane of hayfever sufferers, was invading the north were allayed when Timmins town council received a letter from an Ontario agricultural department official at Matheson. He reported no evidence of common ragweed in areas north of North Bay.

Dewey's Career Threatened In Harness Raceway Scandal

By ARTHUR EVERETT

NEW YORK (AP)—Thomas F. Lewis was just 21 steps away from the door of his fifth-floor Bronx apartment last Aug. 28 when a killer let him have it.

On that August day New York was in the grip of its worst heat wave in history. But nature's heat was as nothing to the political heat the murder generated.

For Lewis' murder touched off New York's great harness raceway scandal. With it was exposed the spectacle of an imprisoned labor racketeer, Joey Fay, holding court in Sing Sing prison for some of the biggest political names in two states.

As a result, Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York is faced with the most serious crisis of his career, a career that made him three times governor and twice his party's candidate for the United States presidency. That political career could be ended.

One of Fay's visitors was acting Lt.-Gov. Arthur H. Wicks. Dewey suggested Wicks resign. Wicks refused and carried his case to the people in a radio and television plea. Dewey can not afford to lose this test of his state party control. He called a special showdown session of the state legislature for Nov. 17.

In New Jersey, Paul L. Troast is the Republican candidate for governor in the Nov. 3 state election. Two weeks ago it was disclosed that Troast wrote Dewey in a vain attempt to get Fay paroled.

SUDDEN GROWTH

Harness racing in New York today is a $250,000,000-a-year business. Only 12 years ago, it was a more or less rural pastime, the high spot of many a country fair.

But big money moved in, city dwellers were enticed to the tracks and the sport shook the hayseed out of its hair. Today, New York harness tracks clear $21,000,000 a year, 30 times what they took in in 1941.

In Dewey's words:

"That's a lot of gambling money for gangsters to move in on."

And move in they did, the racketeers, gamblers; some crooked labor leaders and greedy politicians. Lewis' murder ripped the lid off.

Lewis, 35, was president of Bronx local 32-E, AFL Building Service Employees. Normally, he spoke for about 5,000 office and apartment house workers. But Lewis won a union battle three years ago and gained control of about 800 employees at Yonkers Raceway.

Lewis was shot by a hired killer, who died a few minutes later from a policeman's bullets. In the search for the brains behind the slaying, the trail led at once to Yonkers Raceway, a brightly lighted little oval of night harness racing just outside New York City in wealthy, and Republican, Westchester county.

The day after Lewis' murder, ex-convict Lawrence (Lala) Lynch was brought in for questioning. He turned out to be one of five so-called labor "trouble shooters." Yonkers Raceway paid them nearly $200,000 in less than four years "to maintain good relations with unions at the track."

NEWSPAPERS HELP

Meanwhile, Newsday, a big, bustling Long Island tabloid daily newspaper with a circulation of nearly 200,000, for three years has been doggedly nosing into the affairs of Roosevelt Raceway in Nassau county, Long Island.

As New York City newspapers joined the hue and cry a Nassau grand jury opened an investigation into a purported $350,000-a-year shakedown of 1,200 Roosevelt Raceway employees. Subpoenaed was William C. Dekoning, head of AFL construction unions on Long Island and labor czar of Nassau county.

Roosevelt was the track that once paid racketeer Frank Costello $60,000 to keep bookies off its premises. Costello told the Kefauver Senate crime committee in 1951 that all he did to earn the money was spread the word around that bookies better make themselves scarce at Roosevelt. They did.

By now the newspapers thought they detected a familiar presence behind the scenes. What of Joey Fay, the AFL labor extortionist doing 7½ to 15 years in Sing Sing, only a few miles up the Hudson river from New York? Did Fay's once potent labor and political influence reach beyond the prison walls?

On Oct. 2, the state department of correction finally was forced to release a list of more than 80 persons who visited Fay at Sing Sing. Among the visitors was Wicks. Others who visited Fay included persons high in operation of the trotting meets.

Cardinal Scolds Critics Of McCathyism

BRUSSELS (AP)—Francis Cardinall Spellman of New York today rebuked European critics of "McCarthyism," saying Americans would not be dissuaded from their determination to root out Communist subversion.

The New York archbishop, in a speech prepared for a Roman Catholic group sponsoring lectures by eminent personalities, defended the procedure of congressional committees investigating communism. The Cardinal is visiting in Europe after attending the dedication of the North American Pontifical college in Rome.

Referring to what he termed the "hysterical tone" of criticism of committee procedure, Cardinal Spellman asserted:

"No American uncontaminated by communism has lost his good name because of congressional hearings on un-American activities. However, there are individuals who have seriously compromised themselves by a flat refusal to state whether they are now or have been Communists. It is impossible for me to understand why any American should refuse to declare himself free of Communist affiliation, unless he has something to hide."

Business Women Back Recommendation

HAMILTON (CP) — The Ontario body of the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs this morning pledged support to its provincial board in its support of recommendations for improving the lot of female criminals.

A special board of representatives from women's organizations had recommended an increase in the number of female probation officers, and special training for these officers; and a new institution on the cottage system for female offenders capable of early reform. The unsuitability of the Mercer reformatory for encouraging the early reform of inmates was pointed out.

Assailants Beat Up Soldier On Duty

CAIRO (Reuters) — Unknown assailants Friday night beat up and severely injured a British soldier on duty near Ismailia, in the Suez canal zone, the British embassy here said today.

The soldier was rescued by comrades who heard his shouts from a nearby military post. He was injured in the head. He was not robbed.

It is expected that the price adjustment which will be paid in full on the basis of the guaranteed 30 cents per pound price for No. 1 grade, effective November 1, will be met by funds from the cheese producers three-cents-a-pound levy to the trade during the past year.

Bishop's Candlesticks Presented At YPU Meeting

The Bay of Quinte Conference Young People's Union 25th annual convention got under way Friday evening with a program of fellowship and entertainment. The evening was highlighted with the Belleville, Bridge St., YPU's presentation of the bishop's candle Sticks."

Ken Graham, president of the Belleville YPU, portrayed all the necessary qualities of the kindly, slowly infuriating the not so charitable sister, Betty Woodley, as the sister, balanced the play between herself and the bishop, well.

With the entry of Sidney Allcorn as the sinister thief, the players responded with horror, but not tny more realisticly than did the audience. The dishevelled head, ragged clothing and knife brandishing of the escaped galley slave was sufficient to awe the onlookers, and strike fear into their hearts for the guileless bishop.

The play is a one-act extraction taken from Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables," and deals with the nocturnal visit of Jean Valjean, an escaped slave, to the home of a kindly old bishop who spends his time helping and giving to the needy.

The thief, as Valjean is called in the play, pays little heed to the bishop's friendship, and after being fed and given a bed for the night, plots treachery.

When the rest of the household is asleep the thief arises and searches the house for valuables. However the philanthropical tendencies of the bishop have resulted in the house being almost bare of valuables articles; only a pair of silver candle sticks remain and these because of the sentimental rather than material value.

The thief takes them and departs into the night but before he can escape, two policeman arrest him and return him to the bishop's house expecting the necessary identification and complaint.

The bishop admits knowing the man, but claims that he gave the candle sticks to him, with the result that the slave is freed.

The charity of the old bishop is never forgotten by Valjean, and the rest of his life is dedicated to helping his fellow man.

Other characters in the Belleville production are Betty Jose as the maid and Edgar Bell and Don Dalrymple as the two policemen. Mrs. William Jardine, directed.

60 Years Ago Fish Net Would Cost $6 Now By Time Ready For Water Costs $50

HALIFAX (CP) — When Arthur Gorham of nearby Eastern Passage started fishing, a new net cost $6. That was nearly 60 years ago.

"Today," says Mr. Gorham, "by the time you get one ready for the water it's apt to run close to $50."

"The nets are cruel, something cruel on the poor fisherman, in their cost," says the fisherman, who next February will celebrate his 70th birthday.

Another difficulty is the lack of bait. Unable often to catch enough himself, the fisherman has to purchase bait and this provides an added drain on his earnings.

Arthur Gorham was only a barefoot boy when his father, one of the pioneer fishermen of Eastern Passage, first took him out for a day's run.

"In those times there were plenty of fish, you could get all you wanted. Now you are lucky to bring in enough to make the trip worthwhile."

It's easier now though in some way: The power boat saves time and effort. In his younger days he had to row to the fishing grounds, the same ones he visits today, then into Halifax to market the day's catch and home again at night.

Mr. Gorham and his son Leo roll out of bed at 5:30 a.m. to go to the fishing grounds several miles offshore. At that, they get more sleep than during the summer, when they get up not later than 4 o'clock.

Soon they will haul their boat ashore for the winter and take up their annual off-season jobs, cutting and sawing wood and mending nets.

DEPARTING CRUSADER — About 500 relatives and friends of crew members of the Esquimalt-based destroyer, HMCS Crusader, waved farewell from the jetty as the ship left on her second tour of duty in the Far East. Commanded by Lieut.-Commander W. H. Wilson, DSC, CD, RCN, of Calgary and Victoria, the ship will relieve HMCS Athabaskan, now nearing the end of her third tour in Korean waters. Athabaskan will return to her Esquimalt base in mid-December. The destroyer made a name for itself in gunnery during this year in the Korea war zone as a member of the exclusive "Trainbusters' Club." When she left the area she led all other ships of the United Nations fleet in the number of enemy trains destroyed or damaged.

Word Left Out Of Information, Case Dismissed

COBOURG (ENS) — Because the word "forthwith" had accidentally been left out of the information, Magistrate R. B. Baxter Friday dismissed a charge against Harold Strong of Port Hope of failing to report an accident to the police.

Stanley Bird of Toronto testified that in the early morning of September 26 he was driving into Cobourg when he was sideswiped by a car driven by Strong. He went back to talk to Strong and it was agreed that Strong would wait while he turned his car off the road. When he went back Strong had disappeared, Bird testified.

Constable Homer Seale said he advised Port Hope of the matter and Constable J. O'Brien picked up Strong in Port Hope, about half a block past the police station.

Strong testified that Bird hit him on the wrong side of the road and after talking over the accident with him, Bird said he was insured and drove off.

"When the Port Hope police picked you up you were past the police station and you hadn't stopped to report the accident," said Crown Attorney Harry Deyman.

In view of the omission of the word "forthwith" from the information, there was no specified time limit in which Strong was to have reported the accident, the magistrate decided, dismissing the charge.

FOR SHOWMANSHIP—George Shepherd (centre), manager of the Peterborough Odeon Theatre, Friday was presented with two cheques for $100 and $15 by Mayor Hugh Waddell (right) on behalf of the J. Arthur Rank Organization for placing fourth in the International Showmanship Competition for Canada and the leading Ontario division. The competition was held in conjunction with the showing of the film "A Queen Is Crowned" which was shown in Peterborough in June shortly after the coronation of Queen Elizabeth. Also shown in photo (left) is R. C. Harvey, Odeon supervisor of the Central Ontario division. (Advt.)

United Nations Celebrates Its Eighth Birthday Today

By STANLEY JOHNSON

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) The United Nations celebrated its eighth birthday today. Its 60 members held globe-girdling observances, and top figures here took a look at the record.

The UN was conceived in an atmosphere of East-West alliance and dedicated to the proposition that all nations had an equal interest in world peace and co-operation.

Actions of the Soviet Union since then, Western delegates say, have clouded over this rosy view.

"Yet," United States delegate Henry Cabot Lodge said in an anniversary statement, "it not only survives, but functions helpfully, although imperfectly, despite the fact that the Communist bloc is fighting a cold war with the rest of the world both within and outside its chambers.

DISPELLED FIVE CRISES

"During its eight years of life, it has successfully dealt with five crises that threatened to explode into general warfare—in Iran, Greece, Palestine, Indonesia and Kashmir.

"In Korea it has organized part of the free world successfully to repel open and bloody aggression which threatened the peace and security of the entire free world. This is the first time in history that an attempt to repel aggression by collective military measures under the auspices of a world-wide international organization has been successful."

Celebrations marking the day—Oct. 24, 1945—when the UN charter went into force were planned at the UN headquarters and in many countries.

Churches throughout the world will observe "UN Sunday."

Kiwanis Approve Resolutions From Convention

A list of resolutions drawn up at the Kiwanis Convention held at Bigwin Inn this summer was presented for approval of the local club on Thursday. Of the 11 resolutions listed, six were approved and five were deferred for discussion.

The following resolutions were approved:

(1) To urge the youth service committees of clubs in this district of Kiwanis International to protest the exhibition of obscene newstand publications and movie advertisement vigorously. And also, to provide desirable leisure time programs to attract the interest and absorb the energies of our young people.

(2) That all Kiwanis in this district encourage the employment of physically handicapped persons who are competent to fill available positions.

(3) To actively promote traffic safety in the community by all practical means including (a) advanced driver training for youth and adults; (b) adoption of uniform traffic laws; (c) prompt enforcement of traffic laws including mandatory jail sentences for chronic offenders and revocation of driver's licence for reasonable periods; (d) co-operation with traffic safety agencies; (e) adoption of Kiwanis' careful driving pledge.

PROMOTE SAFETY

(4) To maintain club meetings and club projects on a level in full accord with the ideals and character of the organization.

(5) That a commencement be made soon by the Kiwanis Clubs in this district concerning preparation for the Kiwanis International 40th anniversary, January, 1955.

(6) That the conservation of Canada's natural resources, especially its forests and arable land, requires the close co-operation of national and provincial governments with the farm and industry. This joint effort is essential to successful conservation.

Mail Theft

KINGSTON, Jamaica (Reuters) Police have arrested three post office employees and charged them with the theft of $22,000 in cash from a mailbag. The money has not yet been recovered. It was taken from a sealed mailbag during a currency transfer by the Bank of Nova Scotia.

Nixon Visit

SINGAPORE (AP) — United States vice-president Richard Nixon, on an official tour of the Far East, flew here today from Jakarta, Indonesia. He is scheduled to confer with commissioner-general Malcolm Macdonald and other officials. He leaves next Tuesday for Bangkok, Thailand.

Soviet Honors

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Academy of Sciences at a general meeting Friday elected 51 new academicians and 148 corresponding members from among more than 700 candidates. Among the new members are A. N. Tupoliev, aviation designer; P. F. Yudin, party theoretician; and P. N. Pospelov, high-ranking party historian-theoretician.

County MOH Speaks To Fenella WI Group

FENELLA (ENS)—The October meeting of the Fenella Women's Institute was held Wednesday in the Community Hall with Miss Ruby Herrington as hostess. There were 22 members and 14 visitors in attendance.

The correspondence included a letter of thanks from the Salvation Army for a quilt received and one in regard to the legislative grant of $3. Mrs. Percy Macklin and Mrs. Gordon Jewell were named delegates to the Belleville area convention.

It was decided each family of the Institute make a cotton luncheon cloth for the hall and bring to the next meeting; and that our Institute buy six new card tables.

The executive was put in to set the date and make arrangements for a card party and dance to be held in the hall, in the near future.

Mrs. M. Lonsberry introduced guest speaker, Dr. Charlotte Horner, medical officer of health from the Northumberland and Durham Health Unit, Cobourg.

Dr. Horner gave a very interesting talk on "Communicable Diseases", also showing a film on the "Common Cold."

Mrs. A. Fanning thanked Dr. Horner.

Mrs. Gordon Jewell was convener of the program. Miss Margaret Duncan sang a solo accompanied by Mrs. Frank Down. Contests by Mrs. McNaught and Mrs. Jewell.

The November meeting will be on the 5th at the home of Mrs. Carl McNaught.

Lunch was served.

Arab Nations Reject Joint Power Project

AMMAN, Jordan (Reuters) — Arab nations have rejected a plan presented here by President Eisenhower's special envoy for a joint irrigation and power project with Israel, Lebanese Premier Abdullah el Yafi said Friday night.

"No Arab state will agree to such a project designed mainly for the benefit of Israel," the premier told a reporter.

Eric Johnston, Eisenhower's envoy to the Middle East, disclosed the plan after his arrival here Thursday night. It proposes that Jordan, Syria and Lebanon cooperate with Israel in an American-financed scheme for harnessing the waters of the Yarmuk and Jordan rivers. The project would provide irrigation waters for large areas of Jordan and electric power for the other countries involved.

Pedestrian Suffers Burns And Shock

A pedestrian suffered brush burns and shock Friday when she was struck by a truck at Water and Simcoe Sts. She is Ruth Graham, 21, of 506 Stewart St.

Driver of the truck was Walter Dunford, 63, of Regent St., Lakefield. Dunford, northbound on Water St., turned left to go west on Simcoe St. when the accident occurred. Miss Graham was walking south across Simcoe, and had nearly reached the south curb when hit.

She was taken to St. Joheph's Hospital by Dr. Warren Gamble. The brush burns were on the left side of her legs and body. Constable Arthur Beardsmore investigated.

Demonstrate Work Of Young Adults Club

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—The Young Adults Club of St. John's United Church travelled to Warkworth on Thursday night to acquaint the people of St. Paul's United Church there with the function and procedure of a similar club contemplated for their parish.

The Warkworth pastor, the Rev. A. L. Sisco welcomed the visitors. A singsong was led by Earl Nelson with Bruce Barnum at the piano. The devotional service was in charge of Pearl McComb, assisted by Ruth Thompson.

It was decided to hold an auction sale as a money-raising project for the Campbellford Club.

The program consisted of a duet by Isobel Wallace and Anne Nicholls with piano accompaniment by Bruce Barnum, reading by Anne Palliser, vocal solo by Ron Pierce with accompaniment by Mr. Barnum, and a piano solo by the latter.

The feature of the evening was showing of color slides by the Rev. D. Mansel Smith of St. John's Church, Campbellford, taken during the Smith family's trip to the west coast this summer.

Games were conducted by Mort Sayers, Mel McKeown and Wayne Gunter.

A vote of thanks to the Campbellford visitors for their help was moved by Allan Buchanan of Warkworth. The Warkworth ladies served lunch.

Takes Over Lead In Middle Of Show

NEW YORK (AP) — Burgess Meredith, director of the Broadway comedy play, "The Frogs of Spring," dashed from his Spring Valley, N. Y., home Friday night to take over a leading role in the middle of the evening performance.

A telephone call brought Meredith about 25 miles to relieve Anthony Ross, who suffered an attack of laryngitis.

Ross managed to play the first act while Meredith was en route. Meredith, who had learned all the parts in the play during rehearsals, appeared in the second and third acts.

Harry Adlam

Funeral service for Harry Adlam, 42, of 508 Wolsley St., who died Wednesday was held Friday at the Belleghem funeral home. The Rev. J. F. Sauve of Park St. Alliance Church officiated.

Pallbearers were Keith Gordon, Harold Summersford, Robert Simpson, Reg. Willis, Fred Welsh, and Hymie Viner. Burial was in Little Lake Cemetery.

Coronation Present

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — President Juan Peron of Argentina is sending two polo ponies to Queen Elizabeth as a delayed Coronation gift. The Queen herself was reported to have suggested the gift because of the Duke of Edinburgh's interest in polo.

Heart Attack

NAPLES (AP) — King Tribuhavana of Nepal in the Himalayas suffered a heart attack and was rushed to a hospital here Friday night. Doctors said it was not serious but advised the 47-year-old monarch to have a prolonged rest before going on with his tour of Europe.

Animal Blood Introduced As Evidence

L'ORIGNAL, Ont. (CP)—A veterinarian has introduced, for the first time in Canadian legal history, an animal blood test as evidence in a court hearing a charge against a farmer of trying falsely to register calves as pedigree livestock.

Dr. Donald G. Ingram of the haematology laboratory of the Ontario Veterinary College at Guelph gave the testimony Thursday at the trial of Gerald Rowe of Riceville in magistrate's court here. The blood test was used as evidence in hearing one of five charges laid against Rowe by the RCMP under the Livestock Pedigree Act.

The charges allege Rowe knowingly made false statements over a 10-year period in applications to register calves as pedigree animals with the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada.

CASE ADJOURNED

The case, adjourned to Oct. 28 after four of nine crown witnesses testified, was complicated further by the fact that the calf in question, Mary Bess Supreme, was claimed as the progeny by artificial insemination of the bull Penvale Supreme and Rowe's cow, Lady Bess Rena Echo.

Dr. Ingram testified that blood tests performed by him showed that the blood of Mary Bess Supreme contained certain components not present in the blood of Penvale Supreme or Lady Bess Rena Echo. Samples of the bull's blood were obtained from an artificial insemination unit at Kemptville and samples of the cow and calf's bloods from Rowe's farm by the RCMP.

Lectured In Law

TORONTO (CP)—John Johnston, 52, senior assistant city solicitor and for 30 years a member of the legal department at City hall, died Friday. Born in Morrisburg, he was a lecturer on municipal law at Osgoode Hall.

A Woman Scorned

Mayor Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa has expressed herself forcibly on the subject of the removal of the National Film Board from the capital city to Montreal. In effect, what she says to the Government is "You'll rue the day you thwarted me!" She threatens to make a hash of the National Capital Plan by granting permission for the erection of a large business building opposite Capital Hill. We don't imagine that Mayor Whitton will do any such foolish thing; the day that the municipality of Ottawa does anything to spite the Dominion Government there will be two moons in the sky. Ottawa hangs piteously upon the favour of the Dominion Government and Mayor Whitton, in her calmer moments, knows it as well as anyone. Without the Government, Ottawa would be a good thriving town about the size of Pembroke.

* * *

Mayor Whitton is a good Canadian—one of the best—and we know that she would not do anything to spoil the plan to improve the national capital. For after all, it is the capital of Canada and every Canadian has a share in it, and great pride in it; and it might also be mentioned that every Canadian pays taxes to beautify Ottawa. A Mayor of Ottawa who sets out to check a plan to beautify that city is spiting the whole of Canada, and we doubt if Canada would be sympathetic in such a case. We would not wish to see a statue erected to Mayor Whitton as the woman who wrecked a town-planning scheme out of personal pique.

* * *

The movement of the Film Board is simply part of the de-centralizing of Government which we may expect during the next ten years. It is already common knowledge that the Mint is to be moved to Peterborough in 1955, as the stirpitation-quotient of our Otonabee water is just what is needed for the grandjon-ficulation of ester-BJ3 which is vital to all modern coinage reticulation. We hope that Mayor Whitton will not hold this against us. Peterborough and Montreal just can't help being attractive to Governments.

Canadian Education Coldly Appraised

Criticism of Canadian education is common enough. In newspaper editorials, magazine articles, and speeches by interested people attacks are made upon certain aspects of our provincial systems, or upon the results which are attributed to these systems. But the first systematic, full-scale attack upon modern Canadian education as a whole that we have seen takes the form of a book by Dr. Hilda Neatby, professor of history at the University of Saskatchewan and a member of the Massey Commission, called So Little For The Mind. It has just been published and we foresee that it will cause a stir.

* * *

The subtitle of the book is "An Indictment of Canadian Education", and that is precisely what it is; Dr. Neatby thinks that our provincial systems have lost their way in a maze of "progressive" schemes, and that they are not giving Canadian children the kind of education which they need and which they are quite capable of absorbing. She is opposed to the current opinions that vocational training is a substitute for some measure of academic training; that examinations, and failure to pass examinations, are undesirable because they acquaint a child with failure; that the technique of teaching is more important than a knowledge of the subject taught. She produces evidence from many sources, including statements issued by provincial educational authorities, which support her charges and which are deeply disturbing. The nub of her indictment is that not enough is being asked of Canadian children by the schools, that there is not enough realism in the attitude toward life which modern Canadian education encourages, and that children are not being equipped with enough facts and enough practice in using facts.

* * *

This is a hard-hitting book, and it will require an answer. But the answer can only be given by those who have studied the book and given careful and objective consideration to the charges it makes. There will not be many people who will agree whole-heartedly with Dr. Neatby; it must be plain to everybody that there are certain respects in which our modern school system is a great improvement on that which existed 25 or 50 years ago. Nor do we refer only to better school buildings and such recent developments as teaching by the use of films; we honestly think that modern teaching is more humane and more considerate of the real nature of children than it used to be. We should oppose a return to the rigidity of the old curriculum and the very real anguish which often preceded a round of Matriculation examinations. Progressive education is decidedly not wrong in every move it has made. The improvement which Dr. Neatby desires will, we think, be built on progressive foundations rather than by any return to earlier techniques.

* * *

It is rather the basic ideals of education which need restatement and revival. Why have we embarked on the experiment of educating every child, and what do we expect education to do for him? How much longer are we to continue our plan of putting exceptional children, average children, and sub-average children together in one classroom, with one teacher and one course of study for the lot? Is it fair to a child of less than average capacity to conceal from him that progress in later life will not be automatic, like progress in school?

* * *

What Dr. Neatby has to say is less critical of teachers than of the provincial departments of education. These bodies, she believes, are at present too sharply divorced from the world of scholarship, and too much under the influence of American ideals of education which stem from the theories of the late Dr. John Dewey. Reform of government departments is not easy, but nothing is more vital to our national well-being than education, and Dr. Neatby's book will stir up a great many citizens to demand a reckoning from their provincial departments. Education is not a realm utterly closed to the intelligent layman, as is medicine; its moving spirit is that of humanism, rather than that of science. It is a revival of humanism in our schools, from the earliest grades to matriculation, that Dr. Neatby calls for. Her book deserves the careful consideration of every intelligent Canadian citizen.

Churchill Ends His Great War

When Sir Winston Churchill was named Nobel prize winner this month, the award rightly took into account his great memoirs of four wars. Among his most distinguished writing and certainly most important historically and politically, is his record of the Second World War, whose successive volumes have stirred the interest of readers throughout the world as no other series of books has in our generation. They are the very stuff of history, lively and grand as only Churchill's pen can re-create it.

The sixth and final volume in this monumental work is about to be published. The Examiner is pleased to have the honour to bring Triumph and Tragedy to its readers in pre-publication instalments, beginning with our Weekend issue today. It is Churchill's own story of the tide of victory from the landings in Normandy on D-Day to the liberation of western Europe and the unconditional surrenders to the Grand Alliance.

Here, in today's Examiner in the Weekend section, and on subsequent week-days in the regular edition, is the text of the tremendous events which struck the civilized world in the fourteen months from June 6th to the opening of the atomic age and the tragedy that followed the victory which "has failed so far to bring general peace to our anxious world", as Churchill says in his preface. Triumph and Tragedy is the concluding volume (the sixth) in his great personal narrative. Through special arrangements which the Examiner has made, we present it directly to our readers. The form is somewhat abbreviated, but with the sanction of the author; it is in Churchill's words only.

Some Impressions Of Churchill

By ROBERT MILLER

LET ME GIVE some of my impressions of the speech that Britain's Premier, Sir Winston Churchill, made recently—the first since his illness. The occasion was so obviously important that it surely deserves a second look. Does it show that Sir Winston is now a spent man and will soon retire? Or does it suggest that he may remain at No. 10 Downing street for some little time?

✧ ✧ ✧

THE SCENE took place on October 10 at the close of the annual conference of the Conservative (Government) Party at Margate. From the moment the delegates met that day there had been wild and conflicting rumours about Sir Winston's health. People who claimed to be in the know sidled up to one in the street and hinted that we must expect the worst. Others, going to the opposite extreme, said that the Prime Minister had never looked so fit.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE WAS a great rush to hear him. Even an hour before he was due to arrive, indignant pressmen were milling around the empty platform, trying to find a place. By the grace of God a friendly steward brought out a deck chair for me and put it down in the central aisle. And there, for the next fifty minutes, I lolled as if under a burning sun in the South of France.

✧ ✧ ✧

NEVER have I felt less rested. What if the great man collapsed? For one remembered during these moments the alarmist stories that one heard earlier in the week. What if he lost the drift of his argument? And if these disasters happened, what would one say? These were the thoughts that haunted one's mind as the afternoon wore on and the photographers crowded in front of the platform. By the time Sir Winston appeared they were so thick that one could hardly see him.

✧ ✧ ✧

ONE OFTEN forgets that Sir Winston is, among many other things, a really funny man. Even on this vital occasion, when he must have known what was in everybody's mind, he could not resist the impish glance and the occasional joke. The best moment came about half way through the speech when he paused and asked for a glass of water. Slowly he waited while willing hands stretched across the table for glass and water. Slowly, in dead silence, he drank. Then, impishly peering over his half-moon spectacles and surveying the audience, he said: "It's not often I drink this." And when the roars of appreciation had died down he added: "I mean when I'm making a speech."

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE ARE some wonderful stories told about him and his illness. It is fairly well-known by now that he had a stroke, and it is said that at one time his left side was affected and that he had to bring across his right hand to help the other. To a friend who came to see him, he is reported as saying, in those rich guttural tones we all know so well: "I little thought to see the day when the right would have to come to the help of the left."

To another he is reported to have said: "I have looked death in the face twice already. I am not afraid to meet the old gentleman again."

✧ ✧ ✧

JUST how well does he look? It is not an easy question to answer. When Sir Winston used to hesitate over a word in the old days, one knew that he was only having his little joke. This time, how could one be sure? It might be just his fun; or it might be something serious.

That day at Margate, the beginning of the speech was not promising. He sat down abruptly as soon as he was on the platform, and his voice was certainly weaker than I can remember it being. But he did not use a stick, and as he went on some of the old fire and vigour returned. He seemed to walk more slowy than in the past, but, apart from that, his illness has left no mark on him.

✧ ✧ ✧

HIS FACE was as cherubic and expressive as ever—sometimes mischievous and sometimes sternly defiant—and he appeared to have no difficulty in getting out his words. On this showing there is nothing very much the matter with him; although we must always remember that we have yet to see how he will stand up to the added burden of his Parliamentary duties.

About his mental agility there can be no doubt. Whatever his physical condition may be, Sir Winston still has more political flair and imagination than anyone else in the Conservative Party. Indeed, one might go further the Government Front-bench will look curiously bare when he chooses to retire.

✧ ✧ ✧

AND WHEN will he retire? His colleagues say he will go within six months from now, but I am not so sure. Certainly he gave no hint of it in his speech. He had long ago promised, he said, that there would not be an election this year; now he added that there might not be one next year either. Does this not rather suggest that he is thinking of carrying on a good deal longer than some of his colleagues imagine?

✧ ✧ ✧

IN HIS EARLY YEARS Sir Winston wrote a book—a very boyish naive book—which is really a dream of what he hoped would happen to him. It has all come true. He wanted a wildly romantic love—and is there anybody who has had a happier marriage than Sir Winston? His wife is a charming lady, and as I watched her during the speech I felt that I had never seen a more beautiful one.

He longed to have adventures, and dare all, and be one of the great—and has it not all come true? Sir Winston has had his failures, and between the wars it seemed that he had hopelessly misjudged events and would finish up in a deadend of obscurity. But the war established his greatness and now, as he looks back, he can surely feel that every dream in that early book has been fulfilled.

There is no doubt that he has been greatly touched by the award of the Nobel Prize (which he accepted on October 15). That is one laurel he never expected to get when he was a boy.

Stirring Times Ahead

(VANCOUVER PROVINCE)

THE news that before the century is out we will be flying at 2000 miles an hour will be received with high interest, or a sinking heart, depending on one's temperament.

The prospect of the sky darkened with private helicopters, and the air becoming the crowded habitat of human beings in a desperate hurry, evokes at best a watery enthusiasm among those not too keen about the blessings of machine civilization.

But whether or not the result will be total bedlam, it is on the way, according to Alex de Seversky, airplane designer, pilot, inventor, and prophet. Mr. de Seversky is a man to pay attention to, if for no other reason than that he is frequently right.

He sees most of long-distance freight and travel becoming airborne in the next 50 years. Mail and freight will be shot around the world—we hope with precision—in pilotless guided missiles.

There is a ray of hope for those who like to keep their feet on the ground. Buses, trucks high-speed cars, will largely disappear, for travel of any distance, at any rate. The speed demons will imperil the skyways, and the only way they can hit a citizen minding his own business on the ground will be by falling on him—buzz-bomb style—in which event neither party will likely press recriminations.

What about travel to the moon?

De Seversky says that will depend on what's there. If the moon, and other planets have something we want we'll probably be shuttling back and forth like a ferry service.

The problem of interplanetary travel, he thinks, will be solved by atom-powered craft—something in which the pilot can control the speed. He refuses to buy the rocket as an interplanetary vehicle. "Has to start too fast, and can't slow down to stop," he says.

But atom-powered jobs, although they will proceed through the earth's atmosphere slow enough to keep from burning off their paint jobs, will speed up to something like 130,000 miles per hour when they hit their stride in outer space.

Will there be huge craft with luxury diningrooms and swimming pools?

"Naw," says de Seversky, "they'll get there too fast. You can take a bath at home, or at destination, more conveniently."

As far as food is concerned, our own feeling is that it may be more of a problem keeping it down than getting it in.

Science In Aid Of The Law

(OTTAWA CITIZEN)

SINCE the days of the versatile Sherlock Holmes, the detection of crime has become so specialized that frequently many scientists have to be called on for aid in solving mysteries or settling court cases. This development has raised points of ethics and procedure, of standards and qualifications, that are of concern to the public as well as to professional people. It is to deal with these matters that the Forensic Society of Canada was recently formed at a meeting of scientists and high-ranking police officers in Ottawa. Like the American Academy of Forensic Science, the new organization will try to promote the use in legal processes of a wide variety of expert knowledge.

The name "Forensic Society" suggests a relation to law and the courts—in this instance, a concern with the application of science to legal problems. The society's scope is indicated by the work being done by its officers. The president, Prof. L. J. Rogers, is a Toronto medico-legal expert. Vice-presidents are Dr. Rosario Fontaine of Montreal, well known for his shrewd findings in murder cases, and Dr. Charles G. Farmilo of Ottawa, head of the federal narcotics laboratory. On the executive are Supt. James A. Churchman of the RCMP, and an RCMP criminologist, Supt. A. Peacock, both of Ottawa.

To such men the police and the courts must turn for the answers to many questions. What caused the fire? Whose are the finger prints? Why did a bridge collapse? Is a key document authentic? Has food been dangerously adulterated? Which gun was used? Why did sudden death occur? Is the accused sane enough to stand trial? On guard for the public, ready to help convict the guilty and protect the innocent, are the ballistics experts, chemists, physicists, pathologists, psychiatrists, and other professional workers.

But are such witnesses always well qualified? What code of ethics should govern their testimony? What are their views on legal procedure as it affects them, and on the ways in which the law can make the best use of their services?

To deal with these questions, the scientists needed a clearing house, a research bureau, a central forum. Hence the newly-formed Forensic Society of Canada, which will devote itself to the role of science in ensuring that "crime does not pay" and that justice is done in the courts.

Our contact with teen-age crowd informs us that this year's fad is for a girl to wear a little leather dog collar strapped around one ankle on top of her bobby sock—another fad of unusual endurance. Dog collars, we learn, are worn by everyone—"but if you're going steady they're worn on the right ankle and, if not, on the left." Well....we'll be dog-gonned, so to speak....but then we never could understand. At that, perhaps there are other even more incongruous things that COULD be worn....But no. We're afraid to pursue the possibilities. Instead we'll stick to amazed reporting, with a wary eye on our terrier's ankle.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Behold, I shew you a mystery; we shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed, in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trump: for the trumpet shall sound, and the dead shall be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed. For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality.

So when this corruptible shall have put on incorruption, and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written, Death is swallowed up in victory . . . . Therefore, by beloved brethern, be ye steadfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord. (1 Cor. 15: 51-54, 58).

✧ ✧ ✧

Brethern, I count not myself to have apprehended: but this one think I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus. Let us therefore: and if in any thing be ye otherwise minded, God shall reveal even this unto you. (Phil. 3: 13-15.)

✧ ✧ ✧

He that is our God is the God of salvation; and unto God the Lord belong the issues from death. (Ps. 68:20.)

Unconsidered Trifles

.. A very small man married a widow who was unusually large and tall. A few weeks later after the wedding one of his friends came upon him looking very glum.

"What's the matter?" asked the friend, "Isn't your new wife agreeable?"

"She's kindness itself," said the small one sadly.

"Isn't she a good cook?"

"None better in the world."

"Then what's the matter?"

"I'd be perfectly happy," blurted the little man, "if people didn't call me 'the widow's mite'!"

A man had his new dog out for a walk when he came to a river. He threw in a stick for the animal to fetch. To his astonishment, instead of plunging in, the dog walked out on the surface of the water and retrieved the stick. Not believing his eyes, the man threw the stick again. Again the dog fetched it.

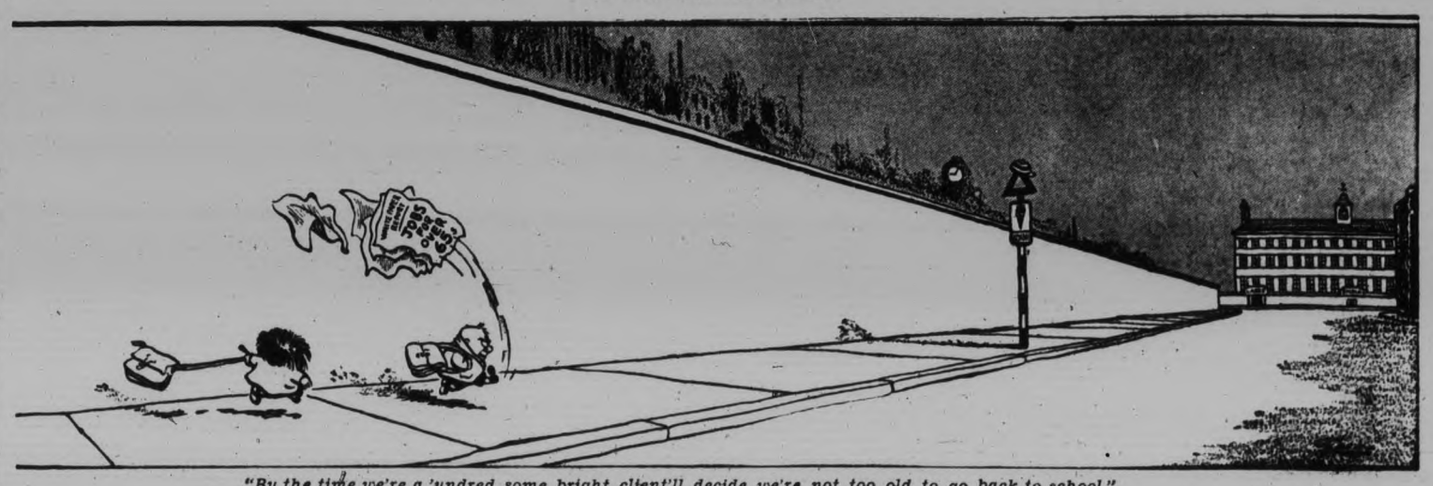
"Where did you get that dog?" asked a passer-by.

"I bought him for a fiver," said its owner, proudly.

"Well, you'd better get your money back," said the stranger. "You've been taken in. That dog can't even swim."

Officialdom Gone Crazy

(St. Thomas Times-Journal).



Janet Gray is a five-year-old child in Pasadena, Calif., and being a rather attractive little girl she was used as a model by the art class in one of the schools. For this she was voted an emolument of $3, which must have seemed a fortune to such an infant who perhaps had visions of buying immense quantities of candy and ice-cream cones.

But Janet is not allowed to collect the $3. The Pasadena School Board has a loyalty oath, and requires every teacher, janitor or other person earning money from the board to sign an oath as follows: "Within the five years immediately preceding the taking of this oath I have not been a member of any party or organization, political or otherwise, that advocated the overthrow of the government of the United States or the State of California."

As Jane is not old enough to read or write, the board decided that she cannot get the money because she does not sign the oath declaring, in effect, that she is not a Communist. And on principle, her parents will not sign for her.

Such stubborn adherence to the regulations is ridiculous. Her tender age is proof itself that she could not belong to a traitorous organization. We trust some sensible member of the board will give Janet the $3 she has earned, and let her have a good time.

BRIDGE STREET, South, in 1900. Royal Hotel built 1883; Ashfield House 1861.

Old Buildings In Hastings In Five Years After 1851 Village Took Present Face

BY MRS. GERALD MARRYAT

In 1847, the only building west of Bridge St. on Front St. was the store and residence of Timothy Coughlan, on lots 3 and 4, west of the Royal Bank and now park land. For this property Mr. Coughlan paid Twelve Pounds and ten shillings to the Hon. James Crooks. Afterwards this site was marked by the brick Coughlan House, destroyed by fire on April 14th 1907, when all the business section east of Bridge street fell a prey to an early morning fire.

Across Front St. was the old Crook's grist mill. The mill race was then a mere trickle of water led by a shallow ditch, and below the grist mill, on the southeast corner was a saw mill.

SURVIVOR

East of Bridge St. on Front St. was a frame building that has survived most of its contemporaries—if not all of them. The end of the original shoemaker's shop of Gerry Grady is now L. E. Kelley's office. Built in 1850-51 it was one of the sales of land made by the Hon. James Crooks, who had known Mr. Grady for years, from the time when he had a small Inn at the Asphodel end of the first Trent Bridge—a mile above the present County Bridge at Hastings. James Crooks had first got the mill privilege at the Rapids in 1825 and the bridge was built in 1826 and Jerry Grady's was a well known landmark to every traveller into the newly surveyed Indian territory north of Rice Lake and the Trent River.

Another resident of Crooke's Rapids before 1851 was a family named Kenney one of whom, Edward, was the first keeper of the Toll-Gate, a mile south of the village where the old red house still stands. There tolls were taken to pay for the Gravel Road to Warkworth under the Municipal Loan Fund Act. Kenneys built another frame dwelling on Front St. east. And a man named Reynolds had a lot where Baker's store now stands.

SOLD TO FOWLDS

James Crooks sold his entire holdings at Crook's Rapids in 1851 to Henry Fowlds, then of Westwood, and his three sons, James, Henry Martin and William, and the settlement, which had shown such signs of promise in 1837, only to suffer from the upheaval of the Rebellion, now took a second lease on life and houses sprang up overnight.

West of Bridge street there grew a fringe of blacksmith shops. For all kinds of iron work was demanded. Farm machinery, mill and boat castings of all descriptions — waggon wheels, horseshoes, and the farthest west of these was that of Hugh Rose, who was also a gunsmith. The stone building at the rear of the brick house built by John Murry and the Spooner Bakery of recent years was his shop. He made all the iron work for the first steamboat built at Hastings for Henry Fowlds, the Forest City, built on the riverside near the site of Henry Scriver's Boat factory. James Rellis, Adam Cook, John Insley the Sweets' carriage works all moved in to serve the rapidly growing settlement.

HOME-MADE BARRELS

Once the grist mill was in operation Coopers were ready with home made barrels and Samuel Londerville had his shop on the river side near the outlet of the creek that flows under the west end of Front St. until the extending wharf of the Fowlds' lumbering business moved him across the road.

Another old building west of Bridge St. is the old Jackson house, built by George Jackson and his brothers in 1854 for their widowed mother, and for many years the home of Mrs. Grover Kerr. It is now restored and the property of Mrs. Margaret Dunham.

On Trent St. where the McWilliams lived was a fine three storey stone building owned by John Driscoll; it served as a Separate school for early days and was pulled down at the turn of the century as a ruin.

Front St. was just a snake-trail when Division St. was the main road from the bridge above the village to the road north to Dummer and Whitefish Lake, and Keeler's Mills. Most of the old houses there and on Victoria St. North, one of them Jerry Grady's, were built between 1851 and 1860.

The first school, Crooks' Rapids Division, was the upper storey of the house now owned by Joseph Mulholland. Miss Beech, after wards Mrs. Fred Werden, taught there for the year 1853-4. Then the new brick public school was finished and Catherine Walsh, Mrs. C. Sweet was the teacher. The second storey was added about 1870. James Fowlds and Timothy Coughlan were the first trustees of the union school.

RAPID CHANGE

Front street soon changed from a cedar swamp after 1851 and in the next five years it had assumed pretty much the shape it has now—in length, at least. Robert Huston was a shoemaker, Hiram Sedgwick, a saddler; Alex Wilson, senior, Barney Ford and Peter Davis were tailors. John Sharpe built the store now occupied by Stanley Stevenson about 1857. John M. Wilson lived where the Co-Op store is now till he built the fine brick house on Albert St. now owned by Thomas Lynch.

The first building on the northwest corner of Front and Bridge Sts. was the store and post office opened in November, 1852, in the name of Hastings. Fowlds Brothers ran a general store and had their own Advertisement on the back page of Ayer's American Almanack, good business in days when the almanac was a family doctor, weather bureau and compendium of useful knowledge.

Dry goods and groceries, hardware, crockery, glass, flour, nails, the old style you can find in old houses, salt, fish, pork, oils, paints, ready-made clothing, cassimers, vestings, hats, caps, boots and shoes, hosiery, gloves and cravattes, bonnets, ribbons, dress goods, laces, edgings, embroideries, drugs and medicines, books and stationery. The drugs would shock a druggist of to-day who would not dream of handing out laudanum and opium pills for the toothache—rideen; quinine was still a must along the river.

The store building was destroyed by fire in the spring of 1864. On the site of the present Royal Bank another frame store building lasted till 1884, when a third-built house Pat Brennan's hotel —lasted till the fire of 1907. It may be seen in the photos of Bridge and Front streets taken in 1900.

BUSY PLACE

Bridge St., north, was a busy place until the fire of May 11th. 1882. On the corner of Front St. Henry Trout, the Hon. James Crooks' Agent, built a building that was used as an office and later as a boarding place for the men working on the first dam in 1837. Then again in 1840-42 the lock was built. In 1851, James Crooks took it for his own house and office and brought his family down from Westwood. He lived there till 1861 when Ashfield House was ready across the river. After that the building was turned round and John Teviotdale had a hardware and Patrick Barrigan a bakery and confectionery store.

The late Charles Huycke remembered seeing a whole barrel of white resin in Teviotdale's. Pat Brennan also ran a hotel there till 1882. Then he was burned out when the fire leaped across Bridge St. and destroyed Phillips' photographic studio, and the blacksmith shops of the Baileys and McNicholls.

Bridge St., north of the Royal Bank was never re-built after 1882 when Alec Wilson, Sr. left his tailor shop and Alec Wilson, Jr. (his nephew), a harness shop. On the corner losers were the Fowlds, Dr. Bogart, Henry Morton, George Jackson, Timothy Hurley, and James Fife.

THOMS' TANNERY

Issac Thoms had the first Tannery and the foundation is still visible near the northwest corner of Front and Wellington Sts. The water in that swamp is possibly the reason why Welsh and Quigley built their tannery there in 1882.

The first foundry was near the present railway track—nearer to the river on Water St. and David Brownlie lived in the "double-brick" house near by.

Doxsee Bros. built their planing mill on the south side of the river in "the eighties" but the first planing mill was on the site of Thompson's grocery. Later on Messrs. Wills and Prest built that store for William Stewart, father of Mrs. John E. Taylor. Van Camp bulit a hardware store to the west; it burned down and he moved away.

Another early general store was that of Henry and Dick Johnston, who were landowners west of the village. Peter Clark worked for them and lived in the old log house on the river bank below the present pavillion. Thomas and David Learmonth, Philip Kennedy, John T. Slater, Timothy Bailey, Peter C. Davis, John Howard, who owned the Hastings Star, and built the Howard block on west Front St., lost in 1907. E. A. Hayter, who published the first paper, the Messenger, on lower Victoria St. in 1864. John Peters, who bulit the store on the southeast corner of Front and Bridge—The Montreal House—and the house now "Bridgeview Tourist home"; all were here between 1865-1870.

The first Town Hall (built about 1881) was burned down on July 5th. 1897. The architect, Thomas Hanley of Belleville had drawn the plans; and the brick and stone work begun on Sept. 1st by Mr. Sheehey of Peterborough, was completed by Sept. 29th. The carpenters were John Wills and John Prest; the contractors were Doxsee Bros.; the floors were laid by Oct. 27th.; and the Methodist Concert was held, as usual, on Christmas night. The contract was $4,088.

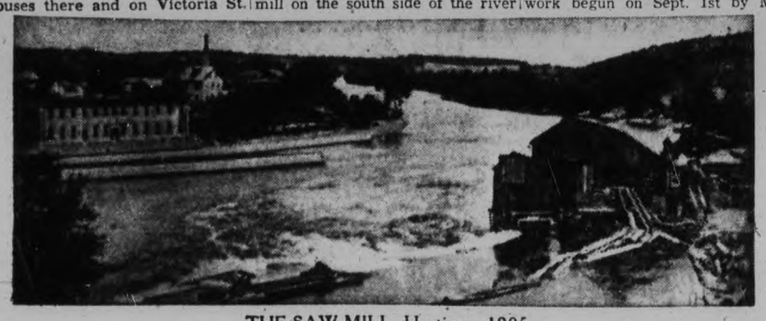
OTHER BUILDINGS

Baker's store was built by J. J. English in 1896 and the Union Bank is still remembered by the doorstone of Johnston's Drug Store—1896, built for the first bank in the village by Timothy Coughlan. The old building on the northwest corner Front and Victoria—Cruden's Bakery—was an early hotel.

The Lock House was built about 1845 and served a variety of uses —a house, where the earliest Roman Catholic services were held; a store run by the Werdens and a Lock Master's house.

The brick building on the site of the first grist mill—on the west side of Bridge St. north of the Lock House, was built for Fowlds Bros. office and Post Office after the fire of May, 1882. W. T. Tate's shop was built across the road after the fire of 1897. The Fleming block was rebuilt by the Howards after 1907.

The old Queen's Hotel was another landmark dating back to the 'Crooks Rapids' days when John Driscoll bought the lot from the Hon. James Crooks.



Other old houses are Vernon Phillips, built by Sam Londerville. Mrs. Crowley's built by an early boat builder, W. Hazzard, and all the Fowlds houses built of brick from a clay pit back of John E. Taylor's house. The John Howard House on New St. was another brick structure built about 1870.

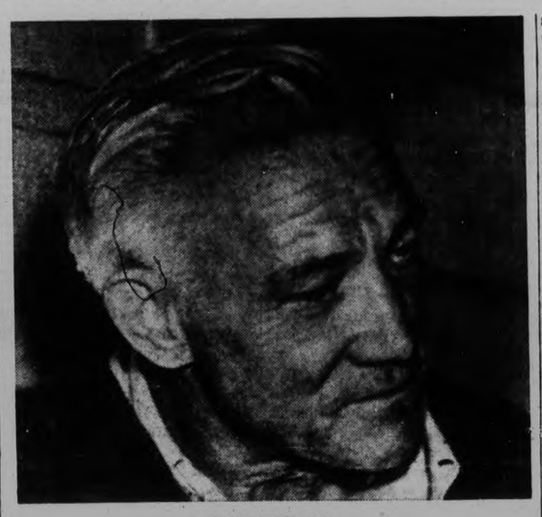
Speaks Six Oriental Tongues, Blown Up In Two Wars, World Traveller Now Nurses Plants In Peterborough

By DAVE WHITE



Robert (Bob) Botley is a short stocky Englishman, with a character-lined face and a full thatch of grey hair. His conversation is livened by a good-natured grin, and he has a mannerism—as when he tells you that he's only 64 years of age—that frankly gets across the idea you shouldn't believe everything you hear.

Being stuck too long in one place is anathema to Mr. Botley. He's been to all but one of the major continents in the course of an active life. And there are still a few blank chapters to be filled before he's ready to call it a day.

An ex-athlete, ex-Indian civil servant, ex-soldier, he packed up and headed for the United States after the Southern Railway were going to retire him in 1948.

"When you're no longer willing to work, you're through," he said, indicating a life of chimney-corner and garden-bench ease were not for him. So he headed for the so-called New World—to a daughter's home in the western United States.

In July, 1952, his son Ron—now a toolmaker working in Cleveland but then employed at CGE—suggested he cross the border and come to live in Peterborough. Why not? he said. And he came.

BOB BOTLEY

YEN TO TRAVEL

With refreshing candor he does not claim that now he's seen the Liftlock City (population 38,000) he's willing to end his travels and settle on the banks of the not-always-polluted Otonabee River. No. Distant lands still beckon.

"I want to see Australia and New Zealand," he said. "When I've done that I can say I've pretty well seen the world."

But this last venture requires a bit of thought, and it'll require a quid or two to carry it out. Meanwhile Mr. Botley isn't fretting over the encroaching years or the situation in Panmunjom.

Like Voltaire's Candide, he cultivates his garden. Or to be more exact, the garden at Johnston's Nursery on Concession Road. He's been there a couple of months now, earning his living and indulging his favorite hobby, horticulture, both at the same time.

He comes by this horticultural urge almost through heredity.

"My maternal grandfather, William Phillips, was with the Sutton's seeds people, Reading," he said. "And my father, Charles Botley, combined bootmaking ("made the whole thing, not just repaired boots") with horticulture. My mother is 94. She really has what you call a green thumb. Lives at Biggin Hill in Kent (where they had the big fighter 'drome in the Second World War) near my brother Ambrose who has a nursery in Westerham."

As a young civil servant in India he sent specimens of Indian plants back to the famous Kew botanical gardens. This hobby led to his being introduced to the Nizam of Hyberabad, reportedly the richest man in the world. None of the Nizam's wealth rubbed off on Mr. Botley, however.

The family name of Botley is believed to have come from the nearby village of Botley. As a young man he was a broad-chested athlete of only medium height but he played county soccer, rugger and cricket. Later, as a lightweight boxer, he was amateur champion of the East, the area including India, Ceylon and Burma.

"I think I could still strip off and show some of these young fellows a thing or two," he said challengingly. To this his interviewer, an undernourished flyweight, made no fighting reply.

Only a youth of 19 years when he went out to India as a civil servant, Mr. Botley didn't take a Poona colonel's contemptuous attitude toward the people and country. While there he learned five Hindustani dialects. He also mastered several other Indian dialects and became reasonably fluent with Arabic.

He still enjoys stumping some of his acquaintances, when in a playful mood, by switching into Hindustani.

During his seven-year stay in India he moved around to various civil service stations, and he continued to interest himself in the native flora of the country. In 1913 he returned to England and the next year was caught up in the First World War.

GREAT WAR

Typical of the carefree young men who joined the colors during those exciting days in the summer of 1914, he enlisted in the British Army and went to France with the Expeditionary Force as a dispatch rider. In October he was blown up by a shell—receiving the first of three wounds that leave him today with a pronounced limp and sore muscles. His left shoulder was shattered.

"Knocked it into 13 pieces," he said. "But look at it now: almost as good as new. They did a good job."

In 1915 he joined the City of London Yeomanry, did a spell of interpreting for those famous fighting men, the Ghurkas and Sihks, and was a member of the ill-starred expedition that set out to force the Dardanelles.

He witnessed the heavy naval bombardment of the Turkish forts at the entrance to the strait in February, 1915, and later he landed at Suvla Bay—a name synonymous with vain gallantry and slaughter for thousands of Anzac and British troops who took part.

"We weren't the first to go in so we didn't cut up too much," said Mr. Botley. "The biggest trouble was trying to get to the beach for water. There was constant sniping from the enemy and enfilading shell fire."

SECOND WOUND

Here he picked up his second wound. A piece of shrapnel went through his left foot, and, with some other soldiers, he was temporarily buried in the sand by a shell that exploded nearby. He lay wounded and imprisoned in the sand for 14 hours before being freed.

He recalled that as the Anzac and British troops battled to try and enlarge their bridgehead the brush and papyrus grass, highly inflammable, was set on fire by the furious shelling. Luckily, in the beach area, where he was wounded there was a bare patch of sand and the flames didn't reach him.

"The fellows all around were trapped in the brush and grass and they were blowing their brains out because they couldn't escape the flames. The men were using their rifles and the officers were using their own revolvers."

Back in England once more,

RAILWAYMAN

having been evacuated from the Dardanelles, he worked for a time at Woolich Arsenal. Then he joined the Southern Railway where he had the heavy responsibility of being a special class signalman.

The Second World War gave him another dose of enemy action. He was in the ARP and at Beckenham he had his narrowest brush with death.

"One of those VIs came over and hit a big cafe and a fish shop," he said. "I was the only one of 86 people to get out. I had just stepped outside onto the pavement when it came down. I threw myself flat to avoid the full force of the explosion.

"Talk about a kidney punch. That blow seemed to split my heart, back and leg muscles. That's why I walk like this now," he said, indicating his limp.

After the war, as he said, he went to the United States to live and 16 months ago he came to Peterborough.

Through most of last winter and spring he was clerking at the Queen's Hotel and when his obviously English accent was heard from time to time over the public address system, he took a lot of kidding. Most of the patrons knew him simply as "Pop" and enjoyed his good-humored service and his willingness to yarn.

Like most men from the Old Country, he doesn't believe in letting a glass of ale go to waste.

"Helps wash down the dust," he says after coming from his work at the southend nursery.

Then the talk turns to Australia.

Your Garden:

Bulbs For Bloom In House How And What To Pot

By HENRY PREE

Everyone who loves plants should pot a few bulbs for bloom in the window during the winter, or grow a few paper-white narcissus to liven the dull, snowy months.

While bulbs are potted, it is important to put a few pieces of broken pots in the bottom for drainage, with a little moss over them and two or three pieces of charcoal embedded in the moss.

The pots can then be filled to within a third of the top. A good potting soil from the nearest seedsman or florist may be used, or you can make your own rich garden loam and one part sand.

Hyacinths and daffodils should be planted so the nose just protudes when the pot has been filled to within a half inch of the top. Other kinds should be entirely covered, the tops being just below the surface. Bulbs may be stored away in a cold, dark place until roots are made. When this is done, it is well to heap sand over the pots.

If you have a cold frame, that is also a good place to store potted bulbs, the pots being sunken in the ground and the sand thrown over them. It is even possible to dig a trench out of doors in which the pots are buried; hay or manure may be used to keep the ground from freezing.

The trenches should be two feet deep, with a layer of cinders or sand in the bottom. Cinders or sand may be sifted between the pots and also used to cover them. An extra covering of hay or manure will be needed when very cold weather comes, to prevent freezing.

The pots should be given a thorough soaking before being stored away. The time required for the making of roots depends upon the character of the bulbs.

The following table may be used as a guide:

Paper - white narcissus: Four weeks (in pebbles or bulb moss).

Roman hyacinths: Eight weeks.

Tulips: Ten weeks.

Daffodils, jonquils and narcissi: Ten weeks.

Crocus: Eight weeks.

Snowdrops: Six weeks.

Scilla: Six weeks.

Before forcing is begun it is a good idea to dig up the pots and allow the pot of earth to fall out of the pot into the hand. Then, if a heavy growth of roots is found, the bulbs may be taken into the house. Forcing is best started in a temperature of about 50, without any direct sunlight. The temperature can be increased gradually. It is important to avoid drafts and they must not be set too close to a radiator. Crocus can be grown in pebbles and water about as easily as paper-white narcissus. Often complaints are made that bulbs being forced in bowls of pebbles and water decay. This trouble usually arises because the bulbs are placed too deeply in the water. For best results the water should just touch the base of the bulbs, more being added as evaporation takes place.

Not infrequently it happens that bulbs begin to flower too low in the stem and are almost hidden by the leaves as thy develop. This difficulty can usually be overcome by making a cone of stiff paper and placing it over the plant.

It'll be easy to have growing bulbs if you follow correct procedure.

Gardening Questions

Q—We have had trouble with our Boston fern. What are its requirements.

A—This old house plant needs a rich, humusy soil, kept constantly moist, but not soggy wet, and good light, not bright sun in summer. Once a week give the fronds a good syringing to cleanse them of dust.

Q—I understand that fuchsias should be rested during the winter. How should they be handled?

A—Keep in a cool room and water a little, enough to prevent drying. In the spring, cut them back, water more freely, fertilize and report, using a humusy soil, if necessary.

Q—How should outdoor chrysanthemums be handled after blooming?

A—Some varieties will survive the winter with no protection, especially in the warmer parts of the country. Nevertheless, evergreen branches or a little straw thrown over them tends to reduce heaving. Where winters are severe the plants are best taken up and wintered in a cold frame. In the spring only the most vigorous shoots should be used to start new plants.

Q—We are considering a small greenhouse, chiefly to start annuals and perennials for the garden. What location is best?

A—In general it is desirable to place it in the sunniest location, facing south or east, with a maximum degree of protection from winter wind.

A·F·I·E·L·D with NICK NICKELS

A published survey of the tourist situation in Canada this year, which was termed "terrific", shows that by the year's end visitors will have dropped $225 million in our cash registers, better than 1952 by three million. Half the visitors were sightseers, a fifth of them headed for our fishing waters.

That is where the Kawarthas come into the picture. Fishing. We can be assured of sharing a fifth, or little more, of this big piece of cake each year, for fish are just about all we have to sell. We are too slow to develop our historical points of interest as tourist revenue makers.

How many visitors, or local people, for that matter, know anything about the Serpent Mounds on Rice Lake?

The Fife homestead in Otonabee Township where hard Western wheat was developed?

The caves and Pot Hole on the Indian River north of Warsaw?

The burial plot of the Rev. Joseph Scriven at Rice Lake? (Not the cairn to him on Highway 28 south of Bewdley.)

The cabin homestead site of authoress Susan Moodie?

Though most tourists are reasonably happy about our Kawartha county there are a few dissatisfied visitors each year that have no use whatsoever for our "bright lands and shining waters". From Akron comes the following letter:

QUOTE: Purchased a lot on Stony Lake . . . have never actually seen the land but tried to find it . . . original taxes $13, now $18, plus special assessment of $3 more . .. How do you expect Americans to build on Canadian land with property taxes of $7 per hundred? Made three trips to the Kawarthas this year . . . brought friends . . . long trip . . . fishing not so hot . . . a bunch of cheap chisellers to combat along with the blackflies . . . speeding boats without lights cutting fishing lines . . . A lot of talk (around Akron) indicate Americans will not return another season. UNQUOTE.

To this tirade we say "nuts". Visitors of your type we don't need. After attending a two-day Lands and Forests conference, whose whole theme was lack of land for our own people to play on, let us remind you that our country suits us, if we could only buy a piece of it or even get near some of the public waterways.

Must Canadians lean over backwards on this tourist business? I don't think so. Let us keep our fences in good repair and stand solidly beside them.

* * * *

One or two things of special district interest that came out of the regional meeting of the Lands and Forests in Peterborough this week was the discussion of whitefish in our waters. Officials were of the opinion that there should be no limits on catches during fishing season as they were not desirable types for our waters. It looks as though we can go ahead and take them to our heart's content.

* * * *

District fur dealers and farmer-trappers will be able to expedite special export shipments to reach the fast fur markets by dealing through district offices for the necessary permits. Delays have been caused, and often considerable losses in returns, through trying to deal with Queen's Park direct. This will affect about six fur dealers in this area, it is believed.

* * * *

A 'lunge fingerling rearing pond is to be established in the vicinity of Harwood, the result of action by the Rice Lake Tourist Operators' Association. It has the blessing of Queen's Park. The association are to get a suitable pond ready and the department will deliver 'lunge fingerlings from Deer Lake Hatchery to it. There the fish will be fed on local sucker and minnow fry and be released after four or five months into the lake. The department will supervise the operation at all times and, according to division chief Dr. W. J K. Harkness, the department is very happy about the situation. Public interest in these problems is being steadily encouraged.

* * * *

The fine mural wall map in the Empress Hotel coffee shop must be of interest to many traveller-eaters who come to that establishment: they learn where Peterborough and region is in relation to their own home towns, that is, until they try to find the Kawarthas that have been deftly covered by a large clothing rack . . . Chris Graham, our favourite outdoorsman who gets about on crutches, shot two nice geese from his hide on Pigeon Lake recently . . . Resort operators annual conference will be held Nov. 18 at the Empress . . . Directors of revamped Skyboro Airstrip will meet there on Sunday and perhaps have a demonstration of twin-engine craft flying; another similar private job is supposed to have landed there today, relatives of Charlie Levine's from Chicago . . . Zone 5 of Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters meet here tonight and Sunday.

You can't please everyone with this wonderful weather, especially deer hunters who are already worrying that if it doesn't cool down within the next eight days, their sport is going to suffer.

They had better start worrying about the amount of deer that are going to be in the district this season; last year was pretty poor picking, not because animals were scarce, they just didn't frequent the old haunts in their usual numbers. The small wandering elk herd came through safely last season, too; hard to find.

Lacrosse Popular In Britain With Students A' Girls' Schools

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — They're still playing lacrosse in England, although chances are slim that Canada's great summer game will ever pack Wembley Stadium. If the old Indian game achieves that hallmark of popularity, the teams could be female.

Speaking for the male side of the sport, publicity man Gordon Forster of the South of England Men's Lacrosse League agrees "we're down at the bottom of the sports list." But he and his small group of devotees are confident the game is holding its own.

About 28 lacrosse clubs are clustered in the London and Manchester areas, fielding some 60 teams exclusive of squads at Cambridge, Oxford, Manchester and Nottingham Universities. Boys' schools in the north are more prone to include lacrosse on their sports courses, but their number is far exceeded by girls' schools where the popularity of lacrosse is topped only by field hockey.

The English game is field lacrosse and it's played through the winter, winding up with a north-south final for the Iroquois Cup. The universities, of which Oxford can call on Canadian Rhodes scholars, also have a trophy and award a half blue to team members.

PLAYED AT LORD'S

Few would consider it cricket and lacrosse have much in common. In most things they don't, but the north-south lacrosse classic and an all-star team vs The Rest are played at Lord's, London's historic home of first-class cricket.

Lord's has figured in English lacrosse ever since Dr. W. G. Beers of Montreal sold the Canadian sport in this country by bringing Canadian teams over in 1876 and 1883. There had been a tour in 1867 as well.

Previous to that, the game was copied by British soldiers from the French or Indians or introduced at a few English schools by Canadian school boys.

Lacrosse clubs here would like to see another Canadian tour. They haven't played against Canada since the 1928 Olympics when the United Kingdom lost, although United States teams have been over twice since the Second World War.

One of the Canadian touches still evident in the English game, which operates under the rules of the English Lacrosse Union, is a number of Canadian-made lacrosse sticks from an Indian reservation at Cornwall Island, Ont. Some of these are purchased every year.

Youville Boosts Earnings To $50,000

By JOHN PATERSON

TORONTO (CP)—One of the oldest campaigners in North America racing, 14-year-old Youville Friday finally boosted his lifetime earnings to more than $50,000. And he was piloted by a veteran jockey, 43-year-old Eric Barber.

The veteran western-bred turned on his usual late-stretch run at suburban Long Branch track to finish fourth in a field of $1,500 claimers. He earned $75 to give him a total of $50,056 and a place in the top five money winning Canadian-breds.

The fashionably-bred Kingarvie, winner of the 1946 King's Plate, leads with $97,200. Cut out to be one of the better class by the former Parkwood Stable of Oshawa, Kingarvie now runs in $1,750 claiming races. He is owned by Arthur Brent of Toronto.

AMBLES ALONG

The flashy Canadiana, queen of the Canadian turf and winner of the 1953 Queen's Plate, has earned $93,386 in two years to place second among Canadian-breds and is likely to go over the top since she is racing for big purses in the United States.

But old Youville continues to amble along, coasting the early part of his races, up to 10 or 15 lengths behind the rest of the field until he hits the 3-8 pole. Then he usually turns in his stretch kick.

Youville was bred by James Speers of Winnipeg and is by Token out of the mare Craigella. He raced as a two-year-old in Western Canada before coming to Ontario tracks. He has had about 280 starts and for the last seven years has been in the Wee Willie Russell stable.

SHUN TAYLOR CASE

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Rugby Union executive Friday began a two-day business session and refused to intervene further in the case of Blake Taylor, fullback who wants to play for Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen although the property of Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

Two officials of the Dutchmen, Roy Youngston and Don Woodrow, appealed to the CRU to intervene again in the case but were told the original decision must stand.

The officials said they are determined to recommend to the club's executive that Kitchener withdraw from the Ontario Rugby Football Union at the end of the season. Such action might leave only a two-team circuit since it has been rumored the winless Brantford Redskins might withdraw also.

The CRU previously ruled that Blake's transfer could be accomplished if the ORFU teams voted permission since he hadn't been signed by the Dutchmen by the Oct. 1 deadline.

The ORFU teams voted 4-2 against it, led by Sarnia Imperials and Toronto Balmy Beach who feared the addition of Taylor would harm their playoff chances.

TWO K-W TEAMS VICTORS

KITCHENER (CP) — Kitchener-Waterloo Collegiate seniors Friday rang up their fifth straight victory in Interscholastic Rugby League play by downing Brantford Collegiate 8-0. Kitchener - Waterloo juniors completed the sweep with a 8-1 win over Brantford.

NO 1954 ICE CARNIVAL

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto Skating Club's ice carnival, which has presented Barbara Ann Scott and Sonja Henie, has been cancelled for 1954. Officials said the club, which has sponsored 41 shows since the 1890s, may never put on another. Competition from other ice shows was blamed.

START FINALS AT HOME

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos will break precedent and play the first game of the WIFU finals at home.

Walter Sprague of Edmonton, WIFU president, announces the first game of the best-of-three finals will be played in Edmonton Nov. 7, the second Nov. 11 on the home field of the winner of the semi-finals playoff and the third, if necessary, in Edmonton Nov. 14.

FREE-FOR-ALL ON ICE

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A free-for-all in which five players from each team were ejected enlivened the final two minutes of an International League hockey game Friday night in which Troy edged Milwaukee 6-5.

The Bruins scored three times in the first period but Milwaukee zipped to the front with four goals in the second. The Chiefs fell to their third straight defeat as Troy outscored them, 3-1, in the hectic last period.

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

By the time this sheet hits the street, the grid game in Cobourg should be just about over. It starts at two and should end ere four. If our Orfuns can overcome a six-point deficit from the first playoff game they'll be ORFU intermediate "A" group champions. If the Ghosts can hold a lead, the Gallopers will assume the group crown presently held by Orfuns. In any case, local fans should see at least one more game as Orfuns, if they lose today, will drop back and go into the intermediate "B" finals against Oakville or Hamilton. But if the Kotowski crew wins the set, it'll be Ontario "A" finals next Saturday. Oakville and Hamilton settle their group final next Tuesday night.

Petes' puck season opens this e'en in Bowmanville when Eddie Redmond's dudes pry off the OHA senior "B" lid with Oshawa Truckmen. Orillia Pontiacs come here next Friday night to start the season in Peterborough. Manager Jim Ellis has been signing up various members of the Petes and the regular team will be known from the lineup used Saturday, with possibly an addition or two later. Some of the newcomers include Drummond, Doc Prentice, Goalie Jack Donlevy and Ron Belisle. Of course Bill McMaster, Jim Munroe, Denny Peterson and a few more have been working out regularly, too, while Don Bark has been busy on football. But hockey fans will know the regular lineup shortly.

About Ray and PMHA

Sports' enthusiast Ray Tanner advised us yesterday that the annual meeting of the Peterborough Minor Hockey Association will be held tomorrow eve at eight in the King George Hotel. He asks all men interested in this setup to attend, including last year's officers, coaches, etc. They'll name the new executive, have reports and outline plans for the coming PMHA campaign. Entries will be taken at the next meeting. This is an excellent minor organization, properly recognized by the Recreation Commission and the arena board. After all, kids playing hockey aren't ganging up on street corners at nights to break laws. Shamrocks of the PMHA won the provincial bantam "A" title last year, showing that local lads compare with the best of 'em.

* * * * * *

Credit should go to Cobourg Comets, rinkless since the fire in August, for returning to OHA intermediate "A" action. They'll use Port Hope's artificial ice—compliments of the late Pete Campbell—for "home" games until about Christmas, when the new Cobourg arena should be built. Cliff Maundrell will succeed Jim Munroe as Cobourg coach, while Ross Drew is secretary-manager under Prexy Stan Williams. A good executive is ready, including our talkative friend Scotty Black. The latter and Fred Dufton weep bitterly any time the Orfuns manage to take their beloved Ghosts in football. The Cobourg puckists will have most of last year's team back in the group which embraces Lindsay, Lakefield, Orono, Bowmanville and Port Hope.

Fans Getting Fidgety

A brisk demand reported at Tem for reserve seat ducats for senior 'B" hockey games here. Though the prices are up a bit this season they're still the lowest in the league. First local boost in about 10 years, and it brings the scale more in line with that for senior lacrosse in Peterborough. All around the group arenas are reporting an early demand for seating accommodation, with Kingston by far and away in front. They expect to have 2,500 seats sold before they start their 40-game campaign a week hence, thus assuring 'em of a successful financial season from the start. Of course they have a grand arena and Goodyears took the Ontario title last spring.

* * * * * *

All quiet around here today on the football front, only local team in action being Orfuns at Cobourg. Proposed senior exhibition betwixt PCVS and SPS was called off as a lot of the players wanted to view the Red Feather tournament this weekend in Toronto. Alliston represented the lakeshore or Central Ontario section as Oshawa was banned for having players in the lineup from two Motor City schools. PCVS and Oshawa seniors clash here next Saturday aft in the return playoff to see which squad hits into COSSA playdowns, Oshawa being up 10 points from the first fray. SPS juniors and seniors conclude their schedules on Nov. 4 with Cobourg teams playing here. Lindsay will be the junior "A" group representative in COSSA play.

Dedicate Rooms For Children

TORONTO (CP) — Dressing rooms to be used by crippled boys and girls in their swimming classes were dedicated and officially opened Friday night at the Lakeshore Swimming Club's pool in suburban New Toronto.

The dressing rooms, one for boys and one for girls, cost $10,000. They were made possible largely through a $6,500 grant from the Ontario Society for Crippled Children. The money was part of the $12,700 raised by the Ontario Sport Writers and Sportcasters Association at its annual sports celebrities' dinner last spring and turned over to the society.

R. W. Hewitson, past president of the association, and Jim Vipond, a member of the executive, were among the speakers at the opening ceremonies, which included a water show by about 50 handicapped swimmers.

Plan Benefit Fund For Horse Owners

TORONTO (CP) — The United Harnessmen's Association of Canada, Friday night passed a resolution to set up a benefit fund for owners and drivers who suffered losses in the Richelieu Park fire in Montreal Oct. 14.

The fire caused $800,000 damage including the loss of 25 standard bred horses. Edward H. Dewart, president of the UHAC, said that although complete plans have not yet been formulated for raising the funds, numerous subscriptions have been promised.

Shoemaker Chalks Up Triple Victory

ALBANY, Calif. (AP) — Little Willie Shoemaker, the silent Texan who is making turf history, passed the magic figure of 400 wins Friday with a triple victory at Golden Gate Fields.

Shoemaker's win aboard second-choice Berseem in the featured Concord Purse was his third of the afternoon and his 401st of 1953.

He brought Mercenary, the even-money favorite, home in front in the fifth race to become the only jockey in history to ride 400 winners in a single season. He also won with Crystal Top in the fourth.

Dot Martin Leads

Dot Martin took high three of 799 and top single of 291 this week in the YMCA senior girls' bowling circuit. Both counts are high for the season so far in this league. Betty Castle had 651, L. Bonney 620 and L. Martin 613. Good singles included D. Martin 274, B. Castle 260, L. Bonney 238, D. Wood 233 and A. Dixon 232.

Aces and Lucky Strikes had clean sweeps in their games during the evening, the former whitewashing Corvettes, and the L.S. lasses blanking Glens. Tigers took four points from Commandos, and Hurricanes took four against the Bombers.

Big Opening

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—Ernest Hoban and Ernest MacDonald started the deer hunting season near here with quite a bag. They returned with a big buck deer weighing 300 pounds and two smaller ones, all totalling about 700 pounds.

Indians Edge Chatham In 4-3 Triumph

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Stratford Indians moved into sole possession of first place in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series Friday night by edging the second-place Chatham St. Clair Maroons 4-3.

Herve Dejordy scored the tie-breaker with only 39 seconds left to play in the game at Chatham.

Stratford went ahead in the first period on George Aiken's goal. Mickey Roth and Tommy Walker added to the margin in the second period, with Jim Campbell tallying for Chatham.

TIE IT UP

The Maroons tied it up in the final frame with goals by Bill Lee and Bill Cupolo before Dejordy's clincher.

Seven of the 10 penalties went to Stratford.

Eight teams are in action tonight with Windsor at Niagara Falls, Sarnia at Owen Sound, Chatham at Hamilton and Stratford at Kitchener.

Mathews Wins League Honors

NEW YORK (AP)—Eddie Mathews, baseball's new home-run king, couldn't keep pace last season with Babe Ruth's great record but he did well enough to win the National League sophomore-of-the-year honors in a breeze.

The 22-year-old Milwaukee slugger, who poled 47 home runs to end Ralph Kiner's seven-year reign, was named on all but five of the 179 ballots cast by members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America in the annual Associated Press poll.

Only three other second-year men were named in the National. Outfielder Frank Thomas of Pittsburgh, who batted only .255 but smashed 30 home runs and drove in 102 runs, received three votes. The other two went to Jimmy Greengrass, Cincinnati outfielder, and Hoyt Wilhelm, New York Giants' relief hurler.

Montreal Injuries Reunite Lach, Richard On Line

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The crippled Montreal Canadiens will try the old, tried-and-true remedy against Detroit Red Wings tonight. Together again, by force of circumstances rather than popular demand, will be high-scoring Maurice Richard and crafty Elmer Lach, the 35-year-old centre who has fed passes to the Rocket through most of his illustrious National Hockey League career. Lach and Richard have played on different lines this season for the first time since the sharp-shooting right-winger joined the Habitants 11 years ago. Rookie Jean Beliveau moved into Elmer's spot between the Rocket and Bert Olmstead while Lach welded Bernie Geoffrion and Eddie Mazur into a potent second line.

day night's tussle against Chicago Black Hawks with an injured ankle, joining Dickie Moore on the sidelines and leaving Lach and Ken Mosdell as the only healthy centres in camp.

MAY CALL MASNICK

So manager Dick Irvin reunited the Lach-Richard-Olmstead threesome and cast about for a suitable second-line centre. Former Canadien Paul Masnick, sent down to Montreal Royals of the Quebec likely to get the call.

Tied for first place, Montreal and Detroit have taken lop-sided decisions from each other in their first two clashes of the NHL campaign. The Canadiens won 4-1 at the Forum, but took a 4-0 lacing in Detroit.

Boston Bruins, demoted to fifth Hockey League this season, is place when they lost in New York Thursday night, visit the third-place Toronto Maple Leafs in tonight's second fixture.

The Rangers, who face Montreal at Madison Square Garden Sunday, are grooming a new defensive line for the task of handling Richard and his mates. Left-winger Eddie Kullman, an old Richard nemesis, will be teamed with rookie Bob Chrystal and sophomore Aldo Guidolin.

All three are leech-like checkers and the new combination is calculated to provide rookie goaltender Johnny Bower with better protection against the top attacking threesoms of rival clubs.

The Leafs spend Sunday night at Detroit while the Bruins travel to Chicago for a date with the winless Black Hawks.

London Blanks St. Kitts 19-0 In Tournament

By DON PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—In the words of the jazz fan: "Dig that craazzee football!" Now they're playing it for the golden rule award.

The fifth annual Red Feather tournament opened Friday night with as polite a brand of the rough-and-tumble game as can be found anywhere, but it was just as fast and bruising as any other brand.

Playing under rules that include a "code" for both coaches and players, London Central politely but firmly, white-washed St. Catharines Collegiate 19-0 in the first game of the two-game program and Hamilton Westdale gave Toronto Danforth Tech a sportsmanlike 35-6 beating in the second.

The tournament of Ontario secondary schools, with the teams selected for their sportsmanship as well as playing ability, winds up tonight with Alliston Banting Memorial High facing Ottawa Fisher Park and Etobicoke Collegiate playing Sudbury Mining and Tech.

Some 15,500 fans watched this new kind of football sponsored by the Ontario Federation of School Athletic Associations to help raise funds for the Community Chest of Toronto and Ontario—and to promote higher standards of fair play in school sport.

HOW WINNER CHOSEN

The winner of the golden rule award will be chosen during the two nights' play on the basis of:

1. Fifty per cent for statistics of play—yards gained and lost, etc.
2. Twenty-five per cent for field generalship general play and coaching.
3. Twenty-five per cent for sportsmanship, behaviour and attitude.

Harry McBrien, secretary of the Canadian Rugby Union; Warren Stevens, University of Toronto athletic director, and Norm Perry, president of the CRU, will select the champion on that basis.

The tournament is being played with a golden rule code—10 points for players and 10 for coaches—for the first time this year.

Hamilton Downs Irish With 5-3 Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It's too soon to write off anybody as a playoff contender in the young Ontario Hockey Association Junior A race but Quebec Citadelles seem to have jumped from the frying pan into the fire when they left the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association—even if they had no choice.

The Citadelles, cast-outs of the Quebec Association after they sided with the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association in a player dispute last season, were welcomed by the OHA.

But in seven starts so far this season, the Cits have won only once and are on the bottom of the nine-team group. Their last setback was handed them Friday night by St. Catharines Teepees who strengthened their first-place standing with a 5-3 victory.

Other games included a 7-5 home-ice victory for Guelph Biltmores over Galt Black Hawks, a 5-3 decision by Hamilton Tigers over St. Michael's College Majors in Toronto and Toronto Marlboros' 6-1 verdict over the defending, Memorial Cup champions, Barrie Flyers, also in Toronto. Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen were the only idle team.

CITS FALL AGAIN

The Citadelles, whose only victory this season was over Kitchener, at one time in the first stanza held a 2-1 edge. But three successive goals by St. Catharines in the last session wrapped it up.

Brian Cullen scored two goals and assisted on the winning marker to spark St. Catharines. Hank Ciesla also fired two for the winners with Wimpy Roberts notching the other. Ray Cyr, Stan Parker and George Faulkner counted for Quebec.

Bob Attersley fired three goals and assisted on another to lead Guelph to victory. Ed Schack, John Gillis, Bob Forhan and Bill McCreary shared the others. Carl Montemurro, defenceman for the Hawks, suffered a broken collar bone in the second period when he fell to the ice. Ron Halstead struck twice for Galt and Minnie Menard, Frank Bettiol and Rick Collin rounded out the total.

TWO FOR GLOVER

Marlboros had little trouble with Barrie.

Howie Glover paced Toronto, chalking up two goals. Singles went to Sonny Larose, Bob Gardner, Dave Reid and captain Wally Maxwell. Jim Robertson broke he goose egg for Barrie.

Marlin McAlendin netted two markers for Hamilton in the second game of the doubleheader at at Toronto. Ted Reid, Lou Dietrick and Larry Hillman added one each. Paul Knox, Ken Linesman and Marc Reaume, all veterans of last year, bagged the total for the Irish.

Galt plays host to St. Catharines in tonight's only action.

Remember When—

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Joe DiMaggio, whose bat helped New York Yankees to a fourth straight world series tilt, was voted the most valuable player in the American League 14 years ago today. That Yankee string ending in 1939 was eclipsed this month when Casey Stengel led the Yankees to their fifth straight world series title.

Durando KO's Humez In 6th Round

PARIS (AP)—Ernie Durando of Bayonne, N.J., Friday night knocked out Charles Humez of France in the sixth round of their scheduled 10-round middleweight boxing match. At the finish Humez was on his knees and apparently fully conscious but he failed to get up as the referee counted 10.

Durando floored Humez at 2:30 of the round with a hard left and a right to the head. As Humez tumbled backward, he almost pulled Durando with him.

Referee Rene Schneman waved Durando to the neutral corner as Humez sat on his haunches. After Durando reached the designated corner, Schneman started his count.

As Schneman tolled eight, nine and ten, Humez seemed eager to get back into the fight but he did not rise. As soon as Schneman designated Durando the winner, Humez got to his feet in great consternation and seemed completely befuddled.

Humez, third ranking world middleweight before the fight, weighed 161½. Durando weighed 159¾.

Jesus' Bitterest Words Were Against Hypocrites

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

"By their fruits ye shall know them," said Jesus (Matthew7: 20).

The illustration was of trees, but Jesus was speaking of people.

This statement is true not only of the fruits of good. The fruit-corrupt. It is true of ourselves and of all men.

And it is true, also, not only of the fruits of evil, but of the lack of the fruits of good .The fruitlessness of good is only one step removed from being fruitful of evil.

Jesus pronounced His bitterest words against the hypocrites who made a profession of religion but exploited and wronged their fellowmen. He did not condone the victims of temptation and sinful passions, though He treated them with compassion and forgiveness.

He was almost scornful of those whose lives were neither good nor evil, like a barren fig tree, with a show of life, but no fruit.

What does it mean to have a fruitful life? The source of all goodness, the New Testament makes plain, is love, the love of God the example for man. "Beloved, if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another" (I John 5: 7-11).

In love, Paul declared, was the fulfilling of the law. "For all the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this: 'Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself' " (Galatians 5: 14.)

In the very chapter in which Paul made this declaration, he proceeded to analyze and set forth in detail the meaning of such love.

Over against the fruits of evil living, all too manifest in the excesses and licentiousness of a pagan world by which the Christians were surrounded, Paul set forth the fruit, or fruits, of the Spirit; that is, of the Spirit of Christ. These fruits he detailed with great precision.

"The fruit of the Spirit," Paul wrote, "is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faint, meekness, temperance," Against these things, he says, there is no law.

It is interesting to consider that list. Why did Paul specify love as one of the fruits. And why did he particularly mention "goodness," when it might be thought of as the sum total of all?

I cannot answer, unless it be that what we call "a loving disposition" is a grace and beauty of character, even if it be less than a divine and strongly motivating passion! And it might be possible for a life to display much of these fruits and yet be lacking in deep, effective goodness.

In any case it is not one, or some, of the truths of the Spirit that mark the well-ordered, well-rounded Christian life. It is the manifestation of all, and in so far as any one is lacking, to that extent one's life is unfruitful.

An irascible, ill-tempered person may be honest, sincere and righteous, but he will be like a tree with a stretch of bare branches where fruit ought to be.

What branches in your tree are bare?

SPACE HEATER FLOODS

Firemen answered a call Friday afternoon to the home of J. W. Morrison, 480 Donegal St., where a space heater had flooded. No equipment was used, and damage negligible.

HAZARD STILL HIGH

Heavy shedding of dry leaves during the current fine spell of weather is causing a high fire hazard throughout the Kawartha region, forestry officials warn. There have been two small fires, one each in cottage areas in Lindsay and Tweed districts. Overnight showers did little to dampen the danger.

IMPRESSIVE WASHROOMS

"Among the other things that particularly impressed us," writes Vincent Elder, Creighton Mines, "was the immaculate condition of your public washrooms. Your caretakers deserve high praise for an exceptionally well done job." The letter was addressed to the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce.

WINS SECOND $1,000

Jim Hawthorne, formerly of Peterborough and now a singer on Broadway, Friday night won his second $1,000 on Chance of a Lifetime, a New York TV show. His first win was a week ago Friday night. He will continue to appear on the program until he is defeated by another contestant. Jim is the son of Mrs. Jessie Hawthorne, 172½ Hunter St.

RETIRES ON TUESDAY

Albert E. Carpenter, 646 Downie St., an employee of the CGE in the wire and cable department will retire on Tuesday. Born and raised in this community, he has worked in many places in Canada, particularly in the far west. He came to the CGE in 1941 but had previously worked for the company for one year back in 1905.

PLAY FOR THE DEAF

A dozen of Peterborough deaf people are going by bus to Toronto this afternoon to attend a play staged by deaf actors. Sign language will be used throughout, and the gestures will be interpreted for the audience by the Rev. Willis A. Ethridge, minister of the Toronto Evangeleical Church of the Deaf. The play will be at Northern Vocational School.

INJURED IN CHICAGO

Les Ashton, former advertising manager of the Examiner and now with Canadian Business Magazine, was seriously injured in an automobile acident recently in Chicago, having been struck by a hit-and-run driver. He was hospitalized in Chicago with scalp wounds, a broken knee and a severed tendon. It is expected that he will be able to come home to Toronto in the near future, but it will be some time before he is able to return to work.

275 Attend YPU Convention

Will Find Position In Life Through God Young People Told

The Rev. A. E. MacKenzie principal of Albert College, Belleville, addressed members of the Bay of Quinte Conference Young People's Union at George St. United church today. His theme was "Lord, what wilt Thou have me to do."

About 275 YPU members are attending the conference, representing some 8,000 active United Church young people in the Bay of Quinte area which stretches from Renfrew to Oshawa. The 25th annual convention is being held in Peterborough over the weekend and opened Friday night with a "get-acquainted" supper.

There were about 200 present today to hear the guest speaker's address.

Mr. MacKenzie pointed out that although vocational guidance agents were of great value to the young man or woman when the time came for them to decide what they would do with their lives, he stressed the fact, that a direct contact between man and God has existed since the creation and is the best way of finding one's position in life.

To establish that contact, and so find out for certain our place in life, we must pray diligently and with patience, he said. "Sooner or later, you will feel the contact and experience direct guidance from Jesus Christ."

In answer to the question of "how do I know what I can do?" Mr. MacKenzie explained that wherever a need is recognized, it is the responsibility of the observer to do something about it.

Today the church is in need of more ministers. Its greatest need and problem is the acquiring of candidates to the ministry. It is a peculiar thing to note, said the speaker, that some communities produce a number of ministers, while others are so barren. The immediate cause, he said, is the attitude in the home. The call of God is heard there clearly, and once that call is issued, no happiness can be had except in serving Him.

"Woe is me if I do not preach the gospel."

Too much emphasis is placed on the material aspect of security today, he concluded. "We must rebuild the spirit of risk, thrill and adventure that goes with a complete faith in God and which is so lacking today."

We are all debtors, he said, to our homes, parents, schools, college professors and church, but especially to Christ. We owe Him our lives and if we pray and listen to Him, He will tell us what to do.

A Scene Of Life In The City

The children's library isn't just a place for boys and girls to find books to read in their leisure time. In fact they can spend a whole day there taking in the various activities. For instance they're taught to appreciate books, for their age group, in school classes where librarians such as Marian McTeague (upper left photo) gives advice. The library also offers the children art classes (top right photo) where they draw book characters and pictures for various holidays such as Hallowe'en and Christmas. Instead of reading books there, the children can also hear their favorite books read by librarians (lower photo) in story-telling periods. After a day of book-appreciation classes, art, story-telling, puppet shows and other library features for children, the youngsters select a few books (bottom photo) to take home.

"Death" Car May Be Sold, Lack Evidence

Peterborough's mystery car, the 1947 green Oldsmobile which police think figured in the hit and run death of Henry Corbin, has been moved from city police property and stored at a Water St. garage.

Officers of the RCMP have assumed control of the vehicle and tie it in with an international car-smuggling ring operating between Canada and the United States.

The driver of the car which struck down Corbin last Christmas Eve in an accident which caused the death of the 36-year-old father of three children, is also presumed to have been a member of the ring.

Police hint they know his identity but have been unable to bring him to trial for lack of evidence.

Corbin's death went nearly forgotten in the ensuing months and it wasn't until late spring the car was picked up in a Toronto garage. It bore all the marks of being involved in an accident and according to experts, showed the impact of a body.

NO IDENTIFICATION

Leading criminal investigators inspected the car with a fine tooth comb for more than a week but failed to find any signs of fingerprints which might point out the identity of its driver.

The car's description tallied with that given by witnesses who reported a car speeding in the vicinity of the Corbin accident and police brought it to Peterborough. Noted during its trip home was that the engine was in very bad shape and showed signs of being driven very hard during its career.

This, too, was taken as a sign of its connection with the underworld.

The car had a very spotty history, police say. It had been purchased in California by its last registered owner and the company which handled its sale was left holding the bag financially.

The vehicle is now being stored by the Mounties pending its sale. It is expected at least part of the proceeds will be returned to the California finance company.

Two Will Share $275 Consolation On Lucky Ticket

Two Peterborough ticket-holders in the Irish Sweepstakes have drawn horses in the October 28 Cambridgeshire handicap at Newmarket, England, and two others will share a $275.75 consolation prize.

The two who have drawn horses are identified in the cable received at Montreal from Dublin, Ireland, only by a nom de plume in each case. The consolation prize-winners are Jack O'Leary of 597 McCannan St. and Mrs. Earl Grose of 531 O'Connell Rd. Both are clerks in the Harry G. Silver shoe store on George St.

The holder of ticket number QP19714, with the nom de plume Rubuff, drew a ticket on Lord of Verona and the holder of ticket number LP39983, with the nom de plum Harpo, drew a ticket on The Scarab. Neither horse was classed as a favorite.

OLD ADDRESS

Mr. O'Leary received the lucky news that he would share a $275.75 consolation prize with Mrs. Grose this morning. The news was cabled from Dublin Friday but was addressed to 310 Mason St., where he lived until a month ago when he moved to his present address. A native of Toronto, he moved to Peterborough a year ago. He is married and has a two-year-old son Jimmie.

The number of the lucky ticket was NT36164.

Both Mr. O'Leary and Mrs. Grose said they had never won a prize before when interviewed at work. Neither has decided what to do with the money.

"I'll decide what to do with it when I get it," Mrs. Grose said.

Royal Conservatory Singers Present Opera With Success

The Rotary Club earns the thanks of the city once again for its enterprise in bringing the Royal Conservatory Opera Company to St. Peter's Auditorium. The performance of Menotti's "The Old Maid and the Thief" which is the company's principal offering on this visit is well sung, and is acted with a light-hearted charm which is most engaging.

The story is briefly that of a maiden lady who becomes so convinced that a chance male visitor loves her that she enters on a career of petty crime in order to hold him. The piece was written for broadcasting in 1939, and it is made up of a great many short scenes, linked by the remarks of a compere; the Toronto company overcame the problems of many settings ingeniously, and as the compere, Mr. Herman Geiger-Torel, was quite the best actor on the stage, and strongly reminiscent of the late Nikita Balief.

This opera is one of Menotti's earliest ventures into the style which he has now made familiar; the stir and bustle of the music, relieved by fine passages of melody, and the repeated phrases ("Isn't the weather AWFUL!") are in the rich vein which he knows so well how to exploit. This is modern music of which even the most timid listener need have no fear.

NOTABLE SKILL

The principal part of the old maid, Miss Todd, was sung and acted with notable skill by Joanne Ivey; she is one of those happy persons whose acting and singing spring from the same creative source, and are never separated. Miss Todd was a complete and delightful comic creation. As her maid, Jean Edwards sang charmingly but acts less well, forcing her comic effects as she would never dream of forcing her voice. Joan Hall was amusing as Miss Pinkerton, the nosey neighbor. As Bob, the thief, Andrew MacMillan acted with the ease which we are accustomed to from him, but was not in good voice; too many notes in his lower register were, in fact, one note and that a bad one. But the conception of the opera was excellent and the total effect of it was first-rate. This is something that you should not miss.

Because the Royal Conservatory Company is very important, and must be treated as a fully-grown, professional venture, it would be wrong to gloss over the defects of the performance of "La Serva Padrona" which was given before the Menotti piece. Musically it was delightful, but the acting was rough and vehement and out of key with Pergolesi's delightful conception. We can forgive the defects of the physical production, for it would be very costly to carry furniture and scenery for such a piece, but a more imaginative and witty approach to its performance is needed before this can rank with the fine things this company has done in the past. The music is all wit and beauty; it is possible to act in this convention also, without any sacrifice of strength or comedy, and we suggest that a good model for Canadian opera singers is our own Montreal company of Les Compagnons, rather than the Metropolitan on a night when Salvatore Baccaloni is let loose upon the public. To be frank, the Conservatory company is not a company of great individual voices; therefore it must concentrate more upon a coherent ensemble of singing and acting. If it will do that, it will give us a Canadian style in opera for which we shall all be grateful and which, in time, the world will be glad to notice. By such individuality and attention to detail the Sadler's Wells Ballet reached its present eminence.

The company gave us a good evening, and the Rotary Club is again to be congrautlated. Not the least of the pleasures was the fine approximation of the orchestral accompaniment which Nicholas Goldschmidt, the conductor, and Mario Bernardi gave us on two pianos. Tonight's performance deserves a full house.

Traffic Ticket Or Letter For Offenders?

Break a traffic bylaw in Kitchener and chances are good you will get away with it. This isn't because the police are asleep, however. Instead of issuing summonses, the police department sends out letters to the violators called courtesy letters.

These letters are found to be of great public relations value and result in a flood of mail, thanking Kitchener officials for their consideration.

Asked if he thought Peterborough might follow Kitchener's example, Mayor Hugh Waddell pondered, then commented he believed the matter could be taken up by a responsible body, whether it be the police commission, traffic committee or city council.

At present, he said, courtesy cards replace parking tickets on the windshields of visitors cars when one is found parked overtime. These, the mayor said, have been found to be of real value.

COMPLIMENT CITY

Many letters are received by his office commenting on the satisfactory traffic conditions here and complimenting the city for its facilities. Some of these letters are received as a result of the courtesy cards.

Methods of handling traffic bylaw violators are periodically reviewed, Mayor Waddell said, in order to keep on top of new developments such as the Ktichener idea.

Deputy Chief of Police John Naples said that summonses are issued to all violators at present and argued every driver is in a position to observe signs with instructions what, and what not, to do.

When driving in unfamiliar cities a driver should be especially vigilant for such signs and there should be even less excuse for failing to observe regulations. This is the view shared by Toronto and other major cities, the deputy chief pointed out.

$720,000 In Bonds Subscribed By CGE Workers

A total of $1,160,150 in eighth series Canada Savings Bonds have been purchased by employees of industries in Peterborough since the current series began. The total is distributed among 14 city industries under the payroll savings plan.

Top sales have been made at Canadian General Electric where purchases have totalled $720,000. Outboard Marine employees have bonds valued at $119,00 while Western Clock Co. sales totalled $97,500.

Other sales include $45,150 at Canada Packers, $42,250 at Dominion Woollens $35,650 at the Peterborough Canoe Co., $29,400 purchased by city employees, $23,400 at Canadian Sealright, $14,700 at Bell Telephone, $13,950 at Peterborough Lumber, $8,450 at Timber Structures, $6,350 at the Examiner, $3,400 at the Great West Saddlery Co. Ltd., and $400 at the J. J Turner Co.

Employees Reject Union In Vote

Plant workers at H. B. McGinness Ltd. Friday rejected the International Union of Machinists (AFL) as their bargaining agent.

Results of the vote were: 28 against the union, 13 for.

The vote followed about 10 weeks of intensive campaigning by the union representatives, which culminated in an open meeting Monday night, at which union organizers and H. B. McGinness, company president, spoke.

An official of the Ontario Labor Relations Board supervised the vote.

Police Stop Brawl At Curve Lake

Two Men Arrested As Ringleaders After Donnybrook

Provincial police broke up a brawling mob outside the Curve Lake dance hall Friday night, and arrested two men they said were ringleaders of the donnybrook.

Charged in magistrate's court today with creating a disturbance were Isaac Taylor and Grant Shilling, of Curve Lake. They were remanded to Monday on $500 bail by James Fleming, JP.

Officers who took part in breaking up the fight said there were between 20 and 30 outside the dance hall.

THOUGHT AGAIN

When the first carload of OPP officers appeared, the battlers seemed ready to turn on them and forget their personal differences. Arrival of three more officers in a second patrol car caused the group to disperse.

Only two—Taylor and Shilling—were arrested.

Police said they did not know the cause of the fight. They had been informed by telephone merely that a fight was going on.

In the first carload were Corporal Jack Munro, Constables Don Lacombe and Jack Gray, and in the second car, Constables Gordon Gray, Harold Armstrong, and Jim Healey.

2 Men Charged With Stealing Quarter Of Beef

Two city youths picked out of a police lineup today were charged with theft of a quarter of beef from Canada Packers.

Robert Fontaine 20, 146 Aylmer St., and Charles Viner 21, 180½ Simcoe St., were remanded to Monday by James Fleming, JP, on bail of $1,000 each. Bail was arranged for both.

The two were arrested on a warrant Friday night by Det. Dennis Traynor, with Sergeant Andre Dalton and Constable Sherman Keliele. The beef has been recovered.

HIGH NOON

The theft occurred shortly after noon Friday when beef was being loaded into trucks at the CPC loading platform. Two CPR employees noticed two men carrying a large parcel behind the unused freight sheds on the south side of the tracks.

Eleven persons were in the lineup, held in the guard room of the police wing of city hall.

VINEWOOD—This is an excellent plan for a small suburban home. A centre hall gives access from the front vestibule to the kitchen. An ell shaped living room combines an adequate dining room and the kitchen provides good table space. A cottage roof keeps the lines low. Exterior material is wide siding or shingles. The front door is recessed for protection. This is another in the series on Practical Home Planning by Harold C. Beckett, architect, 52 Chatham St. W., Windsor.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

By CHARLES H. SPEARIN

To the Cubs, Scouts, Rovers and Group Committee men for their splendid co-operation, to the great many friends of Scouting in Peterborough and district for their generous support in making Boy Scout Apple Day the unqualified success it was, the president and executive of the Local Boy Scouts Association wish to express their very sincere thanks. The fine weather made it possible for the Cubs and Scouts to appear at their best, properly dressed in uniform. This, we think, was an important factor in the success of Apple Day.

1ST ST. JOHN'S TROOP

Thirteen Scouts under the leadership of Scout Ford and Mr. E. Trueman spent an enjoyble weekend of Scouting Friday, October 2nd, to Sunday, the 4th, at a hunting lodge near Bobcaygeon. On the Saturday nature hike several of the boys passed outdoor Scout tests. During Sunday morning showers church service was held indoors.

The following Scouts passed tests on the weekend outing: James Parker, cooking and Kim's Game; Malcolm Ray, knots and camp bed; Leslie Crump and Thomas Gunn, axmanship; Ken Collins and Warren Sargent, camp bed; Bob Wagester, woodcraft signs.

2ND ST. LUKE'S CUBS

New chum Freddie James was admitted to the Pack and presented with his white Zulu-boy neckerchief. Teddy Fulbrook, having passed his law, promise and salute, was invested with the St. Luke's yellow and green Scout neckerchief and regulation Cub cap.

The meeting was rounded out by the story of Mowgli and Shere Kan, told by Akela and closed with the Grand Howl led by Bob McDonald.

Community Chest Drive In Lindsay

LINDSAY (ENS) — Lindsay's community chest campaign has almost reached the 25 per cent mark after one week of campaigning, according to chairman Jasper Forman. More than $2,000 has been collected to date. One Lindsay firm, Sylvester Steel Products, duplicated last year's record, when, within a few days of the opening of canvassing, a 100 per cent employee contribution record was established and the 29 workers went 131 per cent over their quota. President of the chest campaign this year in Lindsay is Alf Maslen. The objective is $12,400.

Vapor Barriers Effective Way To Cut Moisture Harm

Adequate, well-installed vapor barriers are an effective means of preventing damaging deposits of frost or water in walls and attics exposed to low temperatures. The vapor barrier should form a tight envelope near the warm side of the building element in which it is installed.

Many materials used as interior surfaces of outside walls, ceilings, and roofs will permit water vapor to pass through them slowly when the relative humidity or vapor pressure is different on opposite sides unless a vapor barrier is provided. Low temperatures of the sheathing, building paper, or siding on the outside of the wall often condense water vapor from the cavities of a frame wall and induce low humidities or vapor pressures. When this vapor pressure within the house at the wall surface is greater than that within the wall, water vapor will migrate in the absence of an effective vapor barrier through the plaster or other finish into the wall cavity and will condense if it comes in contact with surfaces below its dew point.

Water vapor is generated from a number of sources. It is given off by the occupants through respiration, and by cooking, bathing, washing and by humidifiers, and may amount to from 5 to 10 pounds of water for ordinary daily activities. Washing and drying clothes indoors may release about 30 pounds of water.

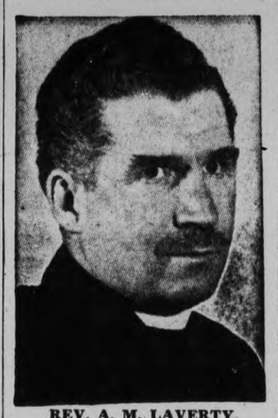
RESISTANT MATERIALS

Materials of high vapor resistance should be placed in or on the warm side of the exterior walls to retard this damaging movement of water vapor into the wall cavities. Such barriers should be efficient, carefully installed, and make a complete envelope to keep the water vapor from passing into zones where subsequent damage would result.

A number of satisfactory materials or combination of materials are available that restrict the movement of water vapor. These include asphalt impregnated and coated papers having a glossy or bright finish. This feature is important since thin, dull-surfaced papers are not generally so effective as is the glossy finish. Duplex papers composed of two sheets of 30-pound kraft paper with a 60-pound per 3,000 square feet asphalt layer between them; aluminum foil mounted on one or two sides of a paper support, or attached to the plaster base; or aluminum paint, oil paint, or rubber base paint in sufficient coats to result in a smooth glossy finish are types of material that may be expected to give satisfactory service.

Papers used to support insulating materials using narrow strips of asphalt as an adhesive to joint the paper and insulating materials are not usually good vapor barriers and their value for this purpose should be accurately confirmed before purchasing. In fact, this procedure should be applied to any material used as a vapor barrier.

In contrast to the vapor-tight properties of the warm side of a wall, those on the cold side are just the opposite in that a construction capable of losing moisture that might gain entrance to the wall is highly desirable. On the other hand, the exterior surface must also provide protection from the weather; that is, resistance to rain and strong winds. Because of these external conditions it is necessary to keep the outside of a building relatively tight. Paint on the exterior surface helps retard the movement of moisture outward. Sheathing paper, sometimes called breathing paper, between the sheathing and the finish siding has been customarily used to reduce infiltration of cold air and to prevent the penetration of wind-driven rain. In order that as little restriction as possible to the release of moisture be built into a wall, it is recommended that the sheathing paper and the sheathing be of types that will readily transmit water vapor.



Rev. A. Laverty To Speak To UN Assoc.

The Rev. A. Marshall Laverty, Chaplain of Queen's University, Kingston, will address a public meeting in the Public Library auditorium Monday at 8:00 p.m. in connection with United Nations Day, which is being celebrated today.

A familiar figure in Peterborough, Mr. Laverty was Protestant chaplain of the army's basic training centre here in the early part of the Second World War. He is past president of the Kingston branch of the United Nations Association and a member of the national executive.

Mr. Laverty recently completed a tour in the United States for the United Nations.

A native of Toronto, he was awarded the E. J. Sanford gold medal in philosophy while attending Victoria College at the University of Toronto. He graduated with honors in theology from Emmanuel College in 1937.

REV. A. M. LAVERTY

From 1935 to 1937 he served as student assistant at Timothy Eaton Memorial Church, Toronto, and was minister at Manitowaning, Manitoulin Island, from 1937 to 1940. From 1940 to 1942 and again from 1945 to 1946, he was minister of St. Paul's United Church, Stirling.

ARMY CHAPLAIN

Mr. Laverty served as an army chaplain from 1942 to 1945. He served overseas with the 2nd Canadian Corps Signals and the 4th Field Regiment, Royal Canadian Artillery, in the United Kingdom, France, Belgium, Holland and Germany.

On January 1, 1947, Mr. Laverty was appointed chaplain of Queen's University. Queen's was the first university in Canada to have a chaplain.

He is an office holder in the Kingston community council and a director of the Kingston branch of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. He is also a trustee of the Kingston Board of Education.

Although United Nations Day is being celebrated Saturday, Mr. Laverty's address will be given here Monday evening for the convenience of the general public.

$220 For Blind

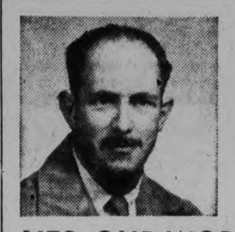
STIRLING —(ENS)—The campaign for funds for the Canadian National Institute for the blind held in Stirling from October 12 to 17 resulted in net proceeds of $220.

YOU EARN IT—and these three explain why it is taken away. Hon. D. C. Abbott, Minister of Finance; G. C. Marler, MLA, and Councillor Gordon MacL. Pitts explain at a Board of Trade meeting in Montreal why federal, provincial and municipal governments need your tax dollar(s).

Pontypool Pupil Wins Speaking Contest

BETHANY (ENS)—On Wednesday evening pupils from Manvers township schools who had been first prize winners in the preliminary public speaking contests in each of the schools, competed for township honors.

Winner of first prize was Betty Lou Mitchell of Pontypool, pupil of Edwin Challice. Betty Lou took as her topic "The World of Books". Second prize went to Murray Smith of Bethany, pupil of Mrs. Mary Wright. Murray spoke on "The Story of Old Ontario".



Others with honorable mention were Doris Timms, pupil of Miss Dorothy Mann at Lifford school, speaking on "A Trip Across Ontario," and Ann Gilbank of Ballyduff with the topic "My Holidays."

Emory Smith of the trustee board was chairman. Judges were Mrs. Earl Argue and Miss Jeanne Coulter, both of Pontypool. Each contestant received a book as a prize.

The first and second prize winners will appear at Solina to compete in the county semi-finals.

Control Prostitution

TOKYO (Reuters)—The Japanese welfare department stated today that a prostitution control bill will be submitted to the next session of Parliament. A spokesman said "a public morality council" will be established within the cabinet shortly to deal with proposed legislation.

Weatherstrip Saves Heating Dollars

By MR. FIX

Hurry, before it's too late, to weatherstrip your doors and windows. Hurry, if you value your heating dollars, because as many as a fourth of them can sneak away—whether your back is turned or not—right through the crevices you've left open.

Let's look at it this way. According to the Weatherstrip Research Institute, the clearance window is equal to a hole four inches square. In older homes it could be, and often is, even greater.

Count your windows and count your dollars. And if your windows are already weatherproofed, count your blessings.

There are three types of weatherstripping. The metal variety, the fabric kind, and another that is a combination of metal and fabric. The first is perhaps best installed professionally, but some say it is more effective than the others.

The metal type of weatherstripping is made up of two surfaces that interlock when door or window is closed. Achieving the proper fit sometimes involves considerable cutting and channeling of windows, doors and frames.

An easy-to-install metal weatherstrip for doors is the T-strip mounted on the door, coupled with a strip mounted on the door frame to receive the leg of the T, thus forming an interlocking union. Both strips are simply tacked in place.

Fabric and metal-fabric weather strips are even simpler. They are butted against the inside of doors and window sashes and tacked to the frames.

When you've finished weatherstripping your home, or if it is already protected in this way, here are several suggestions to help you realize its maximum benefits:

1. Never paint weatherstrips, or windows may stick and bind. If paint accidentally gets on them, remove it with fine steel wool, then rub on paraffin to restore the smooth surface.

2. Lubricate weatherstripping with paraffin to insure smooth-operating windows even in wet weather, when they are inclined to swell.

3. Keep windows locked during cold weather to increase the sealing efficiency of weatherstripping.

4. Keep all groves and joints around weatherstripping and window free of dirt, for a clean, tight fit.

5. Readjust interlocking weatherstripping if it gets out of alignment due to structural settling, undue shrinking or swelling of wood. Use a flat instrument, such as a putty knife, or a flat block of wood and a hammer to move the strip into meshing position.

6. Close cracks between window frames and masonry walls with caulking compound in case of leakage. Leakage doesn't necessarily mean that weatherstripping is out of adjustment.

Finally, remember that windows completely sealed against cold air leakage are also protection against infiltrating dirt, soot and smoke.

FIX-IT FORUM

Q—What causes water leaks around windows and doors?

A—Often they can be traced to improperly applied or deteriorated flashing, or to poorly fitted boards in the area of the trim. Flashing, preferably of nonferous metal, should extend from the sheathing, under the building paper, out to and over the drip tap at top of doors and windows.

A LITTLE WEATHERSTRIPPING and caulking in the right places will go a long way toward weather-conditioning your home.

New Oil Find Sparks Drilling In Manitoba

VIRDEN, Man. (CP)—A new oilfield with Manitoba's first flowing wells is blossoming on the outskirts of this farming town, 19 miles west of Winnipeg.

First oil in the area was discovered in August on the old McIvor estate farm, two miles northwest of the town [illegible] drilling followed, and Th[illegible]perial Oil Limited announced it had brought in another flowing well with an initial flow rated at 336 barrels of light crude daily—possibly the biggest producer yet in Manitoba.

Most Manitoba oil activity is centred in the Daly field, 10 miles southwest of Virden, where 56 "pumpers" produced 51,760 barrels of crude in August.

OTHERS BUT SMALL

Small discoveries have been made at other scattered points in the southwestern corner of the province, but none has led to a major field.

Oilmen at first by-passed the once-famous farm at Virden where Scot pioneer Kenny McIvor developed Western Rye grass for the parched ranges of North and South America. But old Kenny's grandson Harley, whose drilling company did much of the work at Daly, persuaded the rest of the family who still have a joint interest in the estate to let him drill on the home ground.

In August, he and brother George brought in the province's first flowing well, McIvor-Roselea No. 1. Two more likely producers were drilled on the farm before Imperial Oil, which pioneered Alberta's Leduc and Redwater fields, brought in the big well across the road on the W. C. Skinner farm.

Production is from the Mississippian formation, source of production at other Williston basin fields like Daly and Tioga, N.D.

DRILL TWO MORE

Two more wells are being drilled and three more are planned.

The discovery well which yielded 3,438 barrels in its first month now is reported flowing at about 130 barrels daily.

The new Imperial well is being operated through a one-quarter inch choke which restricts flow for efficient production. Officials said the high quality crude—35 gravity on the American Petroleum Institure—is free from water which has doused high hopes at some other Manitoba wildcat discoveries.

The initial flow of 336 barrels a day is expected to drop somewhat under constant flow.

Mr. Skinner owns the mineral rights on his farm and retained a 12½-per-cent royalty interest when he leased the rights to Imperial Oil. Some Virden business men, who enjoyed a minor boom after discovery of the Daly field, formed a syndicate to buy an interest in the royalty.

Cat-Burning Worst Crime In Village

LION'S HEAD, Ont. (CP)—Cat-burning is the "worst crime" ever to hit this sleepy fishing village. Police listed it as such Friday after five juveniles, all about 12, were accused of pouring gasoline over a cat and burning it to death. [illegible] were charged with cruelty to animals and will be tried Tuesday.

Policeman William Morrow [illegible] Lion's Head, 30 miles north of Owen Sound, has [illegible] murder, never had a bank robbery. This is the worst crime we've had."

10 Days for Vagrancy

LINDSAY (ENS)—A Lindsay man who Crown Atorney Jordan said had been in court eight times in the past year, mostly for drunkenness or vagrancy, was sentenced to ten days in jail when he appeared again charged as a vagrant. Police Constable John Henley told the court he had observed Garfield Sproule, the accused, on the street receiving money from another man.

Sproule claimed the money was owed him, but the officer declined to accept his story. Magistrate Gee counselled the accused to find work out of town when he was released from jail preferably in the bush where he would be employed for the winter.

Visitors Are Written Courtesy Letter For Traffic Rule Infraction In Kitchener

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP)—Visiting motorists who break minor traffic rules in Kitchener get a courtesy letter from police instead of a summons, and merchants and civic officials are convinced the idea is paying off.

Police chief John Patrick, who signs the letters, follows the theory that the city loses more than it gains in the small fine imposed on a visitor who parks illegally or violates a no-turn rule.

The chief, who has a stack of appreciative letters from motorists, calls it a practical method of solving a problem which can cost a city goodwill and ultimately business.

The courtesy letter, printed on police stationery, sets forth the time, place and nature of the motorist's offence.

PLUG FOR KITCHENER

Then it gets in a plug for Kitchener as "the largest industrial and most progressive city in Ontario."

"We realize the difficulty visitors experience in conforming to different traffic rules and regulations in the various cities so therefore, as a welcome visitor, you are excused," the letter says.

"We hope your stay in our friendly city was pleasant. We want to help you so don't hesitate to make inquiries from our police officers."

Chief Patrick had some misgivings when the plan was started three years ago. But no one has tried to take advantage of the gesture and some motorists have dropped into the police station to say thanks in person.

Mayor Bruce Weber calls the scheme "one of the finest public-relations jobs any corporation can undertake. It's certain to have results."

Although it's hard to relate the plan to actual dollars and cents, merchants feel it is paying off in goodwill for the city.

SURPRISE FOR MOTORIST

One concrete case is that of the Stratford, Ont., man who found a parking tag on his car after he had placed an order with a Kitchener firm for $935 worth of goods.

He promptly cancelled the order but when he returned to Stratford he received a courtesy letter instead of the expected summons. He reinstated the order.

To the Chamber of Commerce the most gratifying results are the appreciative letters. Some typical excerpts:

Detroit—"A complete demonstration of courtesy."

Port Dalhousie, Ont.—"About the nicest thing that's happened to me in 30 years of driving."

Oshawa, Ont.—"The next time I'm in your city I'll certainly stay longer."

Toronto—"I have shown your letter to several people as I was impressed by it. I can assure you it has been good advertising for your city."

POLICE CHIEF—John Patrick, chief of police of Kitchener, is head of a courtesy campaign aimed at visiting motorists which is paying off in good public relations for the city. A letter — instead of a summons—goes out to visitors who have broken minor traffic regulations. (CP PHOTO)

The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. George Dyson of Warsaw. Burial was in St. Mark's cemetery, Warsaw.

Royal Visit To Ceylon

100 Elephants Will Participate In Show

By E. C. WIJEYESINGHE

COLOMBO (Reuters) — The people of Ceylon are glad that the liner Gothic bringing Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh is due to arrive in Colombo during the morning.

Only in the morning may one catch a glimpse from Colombo harbor of Adam's Peak, a mountain sacred to Buddhists, Hindus and Moslems, silhouetted against the sky.

Dominating the landscape it is symbolic of the tolerance and friendship of the religious faiths in this tropical island, 25,000 square miles in area.

Once ashore, the Queen will see the impress of three European nations on Ceylon—the Portuguese, the Dutch and the British.

For four days starting April 10, the Queen and Duke will be in Colombo, staying at Queen's House in Queen street, the residence of the governor-general named after Queen Victoria.

MIGHTY CITY

The Queen and Duke will visit the once mighty city of Polonnaruwa, built by perhaps the greatest of Ceylon's kings, Parakrama Bahu the Great. The next day the Royal guests will drive 35 miles to Sigiriya, a city built on a rock rising 400 feet from the jungle.

On Good Friday, the Royal party will leave the sultry languor of the plains by train to spend three quiet days in Nuwara Eliya, the "sanatorium" of Ceylon, 6,240 feet above sea level, where they can enjoy golf on one of the finest courses in the East, trout fishing, hiking and elk hunting.

The Queen will attend divine service on Good Friday and Easter Sunday at Nuwara Eliya.

On Easter Monday, the Queen and the Duke will drive to Kandy, the capital of the last King of Ceylon. There a reception has been arranged for them at the audience hall of the old palace, where Ceylon, in 1815, was ceded to Britain.

The highlight of the Royal visit to Ceylon will be the great "perahera," in which 100 elephants participate. Taking their places in the octagon of the world-famous Buddhist temple which contains the sacred tooth relic of the Buddha, the visitors will watch an unrivalled Oriental pageant featuring gaily-caparisoned elephants, tom-tom beaters, Kandyan chieftains arrayed in jewelled costumes, dancers, torch-bearers and whip crackers.

ROYAL VISIT — This is a typical street scene in Kandy, former Ceylon capital, which will be visited by the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh next April during their round-the-world Commonwealth tour. Predominantly Buddhist, the population of Kandy is more than 51,000.—(CP Photo.)

Dr. Perry Again President At Scouts' Annual Dinner

Dr. J. N. Perry was elected to his second term as president of the Peterborough Boy Scouts Association Friday night at the group's annual dinner and election of officers.

Vice-president is E. J. Wolffe, secretary W. G. Shiner, and treasurer E. J. MacDonald.

Ed. Cotton is the new commissioner, replacing Dr. G. R. Langley.

Guest speaker for the evening was R. D. F. Bourne of Hamilton, assistant regional commissioner for Rover Scouts. Mr. Bourne is a member of the dominion training committee and the Canadian general council.

Mr. Bourne spoke on the development of the Scout—physically, mentally, socially and spiritually. He said that a scout's growth should be a parallel to the maturing of the young Christ.

PREPARATION

He used natural phenomena as parallels as well to illustrate the different aspects of a scout's work and stressed that it was the teamwork that so well prepared the scout for life as a useful citizen of his community.

Two presentations of Gilwell certificates were made to Ruth Boorman and Stan Purser, who had successfully passed their first Gilwell examinations in the training course for scout leaders. Chairman for the evening was Dr. Perry, and Mr. Bourne was introduced by Dr. Langley and thanked by Mr. Wolffe.

MAYOR'S GREETINGS

Mayor Hugh Waddell brought civic greetings to the meeting, and spoke of the value of the association's work to the community.

Executive members of the association are: J. Houghton, H. J. Allen, Cyril Barnes, Cliff Boate, Reg. Perks, Bert Bailey, Jim MacGovarin, and Don Perks. Auditors are A. L. Malby, and E. Malcolm.

Honorary executive members are Dr. G. R. Langley, George Groombridge, and Judge John deN. Kennedy. Past presidents are Barry Ottewell, Frank Buckland, and Peter Moore. Representatives to the provincial conference are Earl Westman and E. J. Wolffe.

Kingston Given Permission For TV Station

Federal Transport Minister Chevrier Friday authorized the licencing of a television station in Kingston to be operated by the Brookland Co. Ltd. and a radio station to be operated by the St. Lawrence Broadcasting Co. Ltd., also of Kingston.

The action was taken on the recommendation of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's board of governors, who last month deferred until their next meeting consideration of an application by the Brookland Co. for a licence to operate a television station in Peterborough.

The date of the next meeting of the CBC board has not been set. When they meet they will also consider a rival joint application being prepared by Herb May, the radio announcer, and W. D. Byles, an advertising man, both of Toronto. The Brookland company is composed of Senator W. Rupert Davies, Roy Thomson and associates.

FOUR OTHERS

Mr. Chevrier also approved the issuance of licences to four other privately-owned television stations and five new radio stations. One of the television licences authorized was to Central Ontario Television Ltd. of Kitchener. None of the other applications were from Ontario.

The new radio stations authorized include three in Ontario. They will be operated by E. F. Job of Brampton, Eastview Broadcasting Co. Ltd. of Eastview and the St. Lawrence Broadcasting Co. Ltd. of Kingston.

See 5 Per Cent Business Drop

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—The long-feared "business letdown" of 1954 will be a dip averaging not more than five per cent under this year's "abnormal" business boom, in the opinion of 13 leading American industrialists.

The forecast by members of the United States commerce department's business advisory council was described today as "very heartening" to members of President Eisenhower's cabinet who have sat in on the council's closed meeting here.

The council's economic survey indicated that steel production may drop to 85 per cent of capacity next year. Automobiles are getting harder to sell, farm machinery is down but the industry is "not worried," and furniture sales will depend on new home building, which is declining.

But retail food sales should be strong and the oil and power industries still plan expansions.

N.B. Newspaperman Arthur Covey Dies

SAINT JOHN, N. B. (CP)—J. Arthur Covey, eastern zone director of the Model Aeronautics' Association of Canada for six years and a well-known newspaper man, died today. He was 37.

A lifelong resident of Saint John, Mr. Covey was a member of the editorial staff of the Saint John Telegraph-Journal during the early years of the Second World War and had been a correspondent for The Telegraph-Journal and Evening Times-Globe for many years.

Chatham Woman Has Her 101st Birthday

CHATHAM (CP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Marentette was 101 today.

Chatham's oldest resident, she recalls many changes in her home town. She is a sports fan who rarely misses a Saturday night National Hockey League broadcast.

Today, she recalled the days when Chatham's streets were lined with stately maples and the Thames river was busy with shipping. A popular outing was the regular Monday steamer excursion to Detroit.

Friends have scheduled a party for her late today. It will be complete with a 101-candle birthday cake.

Gas Chamber Tonic To St. Louis Dog

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A gas chamber, death to most dogs, was a tonic to Fluffy Friday.

Fluffy ate some rat poison and was writhing in pain. James Cox, the dog's owner, called the Humane Society.

Cox and Humane Society officer Richard Jones agreed Fluffy should be put out of his misery.

Jones put the dog in the society's gas chamber, which he said was operating properly.

The officer opened the chamber 35 minutes later and there was Fluffy, barking happily and wagging his tail. He went home with Cox.

"The whole thing's impossible, but it happened anyhow," Jones commented.

Liquor Laws May Be Changed

WINNIPEG (CP)—An indication that there may be some changes in Manitoba's liquor laws next year was given in an address Friday night by Premier D. L. Campbell.

Extending government greetings to 150 delegates to the dinner meeting of the Manitoba Young Liberal Association, he said:

"Important resolutions are to come before this meeting. Perhaps if one of them is carefully enough considered, thoroughly debated, and convincingly presented, a year hence we may not have to drink the toast to Her Majesty with the same beverage we used tonight."

His reference was to an expected resolution presented at a seminar session Friday night in support of mixed beverage parlors and cocktail lounges.

CGE Appoints 10 Supervisors Of Accounting

Ten accounting supervisors for the three production divisions in the Peterborough works of CGE have been named this week. Their appointments become effective on January 1.

Three have been named for each of motor and control division, and switchgear and industry control division.

Four have been appointed in the motor and generator division.

Appointments were announced by the accounting managers of the three divisions.

For the switchgear-industry control division, they are: John Skitch (product costs), born and educated in the city, a CGE employee since 1934; Gerald Routley (general accounting), Peterborough native and conductor of the Salvation Army band, a CGE employee for 29 years; and Lloyd A. Rowland (controls and procedures), a native of Port Perry who has worked in the CGE for 16 years.

Motor-control division will have these three as new accounting supervisors: William A. Thomson (general accounting), Campbellford-born and a CGE employee since 1943; Ross Pulkinghorn (controls and procedure) born and educated here, a CGE employee for 17 years; and C. Ronald Payne (product costs), Peterborough-born and 28 years a CGE employee.

New accounting supervisors for the motor-generator division are: Edward H. Jones (general accounting), born in England, educated here, and 27 years a CGE employee; F. Arnold O'Heron (controls and procedure), born and educated here, a CGE employee since 1948; Douglas C. Barringer (accounting services), an employee since 1937, and a Peterborough boy; Murray H. Belch, Millbrook-born and an employee for 16 years.

Ridgway Sees Peril Continuing

EASTON, Pa. (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, urging a continued build-up of North Atlantic Treaty Organization military power in Europe, today said "we may be gambling . . . with all that is precious."

The United States Army chief of staff, who himself was NATO commander in Europe until this summer, said in a speech prepared for delivery at Lafayette College: "I believe we still stand in great peril."

He disclaimed intention of getting into the discussion of "radical new weapons" as an immediate substitute for conventional arms. But he suggested the world might reject use of such super-weapons, or both sides in a war might use up their stocks of these without decisive result.

NATO "still has major deficiencies in manpower, support units, arms and equipment, logistical establishments, stockages of ammunition, and above all in air power," he said.

Honorary Consul Withdraws Statement

BEIRUT, Lenanon (AP)—Jean Khalil Fattal, Sweden's honorary consul here, withdrew today his statement of Friday that Israeli fighter planes had shot down a Swedish passenger plane in Syria Thursday, killing 35 persons.

Gustaf Weidel, the Swedish minister of Egypt, Lebanon and Syria, told reporters the erroneous story started when Scandinavian Airlines in Damascus received a telephone call that a Swedish plane had been seen crashing in flames near the Syrian-Israeli border. This was communicated to Fattal who got the idea it was a passenger plane, Weidel continued.

The minister said Fattal's charge that Israeli fighters had shot the plane down was mere speculation.

Lt.-Col. Grober Heads Signals Association

KINGSTON (CP)—Lt. Col. B. W. Grober of London, Ont., today was elected president of the Canadian Signals Association at its annual meeting at nearby Vimy.

Lt. Col. I. H. McDowell of Ottawa was named secretary-treasurer and Lt. Col. A. M. Clark of Point Claire, Que., a vice-president.

Yellowknife Has All Comforts Of Home For Edinburgh's Visit

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—The Duke of Edinburgh was given an Englishman's eyeview today of what he may expect to find when he visits Canada's frozen north next year.

A British columnist, writing of the land of the midnight sun and the country of Dangerous Dan McGrew, predicted, "There'll be a hot time in the town of Yellowknife, N. W. T., when word of the duke's projected visit gets through."

MacDonald Hastings, who visited Yellowknife 18 months ago, said in the Daily Express that the duke will probably stay in Ingraham's Hotel—"the last place with a bath before you hit the north pole."

"Yellowknife to me was the surprise of a lifetime," added Hastings. "I went there dressed like a hairy caterpillar, ready to dig myself an igloo. Yet (soon) I was sitting in a centrally-heated hotel suite."

The fact is, Hastings confessed, the arrival of women has caused civilization to come to the country Britons know chiefly through the works of Robert W. Service.

Meanwhile the duke, back from a holiday in Scotland with the Queen, is big news. Almost everything he does causes a flutter. The other day he spoke of the need for an improved road system in Britain, and shares of road-making companies promptly experienced a stock exchange boom. About £250,000 was added to the market value of six firms.

Historian Roger Fulford, in a pen portrait published this week, called the duke a man "of outstanding vitality who is in step with the march of the modern world."

The duke goes to Canada next summer.

IT'S GOLDEN SLIPPERS TODAY for two Peterborough shoe store clerks, Jack O'Leary, of 597 McCannan St., and Mrs. Earl Grose, of 531 O'Connell Rd. They received a cable from Dublin this morning that they are split winners of a £100 sterling consolation prize in a ticket drawn on the running of the October 28 handicap race in Newmarket, England. Two other city people drew tickets on horses, neither favorites; they are unidentified, as yet, but their counterfoil numbers are QP19714 (Rupbuff), Lord of Verona (horse), and LP39983 (Harpo), The Scarab (horse).

Recent Gale Ruling Cited In Careless Driving Case

COBOURG (ENS)—Mr. Justice G. A. Gale's recent ruling that the standard careless driving charge is defective because the wording constitutes a double information was cited in court here Friday.

It was unnecessary to invoke the decision, however, because the constable who laid the charge had used the wrong date and the charge against William R. Lockhart, of Toronto, was dismissed for that reason.

Mr. Justice Gale gave his ruling Tuesday in upholding the acquittal of Max Weinburg, of Toronto, who had been charged with "unlawfully driving without due care and attention or without reasonable consideration for other persons using the highway."

Mr. Justice Gale ruled that driving without due care and attention was one charge and driving without consideration for others was another.

TO BE APPEALED

W. B. Common, director of prosecutions for the Attorney-General's department, said Wednesday the department would apply for leave to appeal the ruling to the Ontario Court of Appeal.

In Peterborough police court Thursday, two careless driving charges were adjourned because of Mr. Justice Gale's ruling. Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, QC, said he had received no official notice on the matter and suggested the charges be adjourned until such notice is given.

When the charge against Lockhart was read in Cobourg police court Friday, his counsel, a Toronto lawyer, pointed out that the charge was the standard double one and this duplication of wording was exactly what Mr. Justice Gale had ruled against in his judgment.

"Are you quoting from the listed case or what was in the Globe and Mail?" asked Magistrate R. B. Baxter.

"It was in the other papers, too," replied defence counsel. "The fact is that it was a ruling from a superior court and until it is upset by an appeal it must be binding."

"I think it is within my right to amend the charge to read solely that he did drive without due care and attention," said Crown Attorney Harry Deyman.

Subject to the objection registered by defence counsel, the court decided to proceed with the evidence. But they didn't get very far.

MISTAKE IN TIME

OPP Constable Frank Clough, of Cobourg, testified that he was called to the scene of an accident around 1.15 a.m. on October 2, and found that the accused had left a curve near Grafton and rolled over in the ditch.

Lockhart testified that it had happened on October 3.

Constable Clough replied that he had October 2 in his note book. Robert Allen, of Toronto, who had been with Lockhart at the time, told the court that it happened early on the morning of October 3.

In view of the evidence as to the date, the magistrate dismissed the charge.

"I don't know why we were worrying about Mr. Justice Gale," said the magistrate.

BOSTON BRIDGE COLLAPSES — Twisted steel girders lie across the New Haven Railroad tracks on the outskirts of Boston, Mass., following sudden flames which caused the bridge to collapse and create a major traffic headache for the busy city. Known as the Dover street span, the bridge is one of the main line links between the populous South Shore area and down - town Boston. Wrecking crews, and a crane, right, work to clear the tracks as firemen, their hoses still snaking across the rail lines, wet down the smouldering debris.

Squirrels Claw Each Other As Tails Left Braided

SARNIA (CP)—Police and humane society officials Friday tried to find out why six black squirrels were left clawing and squirming on an archdeacon's front lawn with their bushy tails braided.

The squirrels were found last Saturday, a hopeless, tangled mass. They had clawed and bitten one another almost to pieces in frenzied efforts to free themselves. They were ordered drowned.

The Humane Society has called a special meeting to consider posting a $25 reward for information leading to identity of the culprit.

The squirrels were found on the front lawn of Archdeacon F. G. Hardy, their braided tails holding them like spokes in a wheel with the knot of meshed hair as the hub.

WORST CRUELTY

Heavily-gloved firemen worked for more than an hour in an effort to untangle the clawing animals.

The society called it the worst case of "cruelty to animals in Sarnia's history."

Veterinarians and firemen said it was the work of a gang of sadistic pranksters.

However, Dr. A. M. Borrowman, a gynecologist and obstetrician, says it may have been a "freak of nature." He said he once witnessed a similar case involving five squirrels. In that situation, the doctor said, the tails were amputated.

In Toronto, Dr. J. E. B. Grant, who operates a small animal hospital, said:

"Certainly squirrels couldn't braid their tails together themselves. A couple might get them stuck together with burs, but this sounds like the work of kids."

A. Helmsley, a biologist with the Ontario department of lands and forests, said:

"Two children could manage it."

Child 4, Killed While On Visit

DETROIT (CP)—Hilary Mason, 4, St. Catharines, Ont., who came to suburban Highland Park with her family several days ago to join her grandmother in a flying trip to Scotland, was killed Thursday night when struck by a car.

The accident occurred in front of the home of Mrs. Hilary McLaughlin, the grandmother.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Mason, were to have left for their native Scotland Tuesday for a visit.

The family moved to St. Catharines from Scotland last year.

Driver of the car, Richard Crane, told police the little girl darted from between two parked cars and into the path of his vehicle.

Claxton Asks More Mail For Forces

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Claxton said Friday Canada's soldiers, sailors and airmen overseas should get more mail from home.

"The time has arrived," he said in a written statement, "when people should remember relatives and friends serving in the armed forces abroad. What our troops want more than anything else are letters and news from home, particularly at this time of year."

He issued a reminder that three Canadian warships are still patrolling Korean waters, the 25th Brigade men are still at their posts in Korea, RCAF fighter pilots continue to fly with the U.S. Air Force over Korea and its transport squadrons still shuttles back and forth across the Pacific—and that Christmas is coming.

In Europe, he recalled, the 27th Brigade stands watch in Germany, 12 RCAF jet squadrons fly with NATO forces and other groups of all three services perform various duties in the United Kingdom, the United States and other countries.

Plenty Of Hard Work For First Offenders

TORONTO (CP) — Short sentences with plenty of hard work were recommended Friday for Ontario's first offenders by Rev. Martin Pinker of London, an expert on the after-care of prisoners in England and secretary of the International Prisoners' Aid Societies.

But Mr. Pinker agreed with the legislature's committee on reform institutions that consideration should be given to expunging a single conviction from a person's record.

After hearing the complaints of jailers from Hastings, Prince Edward and Lennox and Addington counties in Belleville Thursday, the committee called the wages paid employees in Ontario county jails "scandalous."

2 Passenger Steamers Collide In Fog

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two west coast passenger steamers collided bow-on in dense fog Friday at the entrance to Vancouver harbor.

The impact tore a 35-foot hole in the port bow of Union Steamships' SS Cardena. Two of her crew received minor injuries. The 5,251-ton Princess Elizabeth, owned by Canadian Pacific Steamships, escaped almost unscathed.

THREAT TO CHILDREN—Underground huts or bunkers are a new threat to lives of children in Windsor, Ont., fire inspectors say. This youngster, Gregory Pare, 1½, is in the tunnel entrance of one of the diggings, holding a box of matches. Fire inspectors said they discovered dozens of such bunkers dug by school boys. The inspectors warned that boys might light fires in their underground playrooms and suffocate before they could escape through the tunnels, some of which are 20 feet long.

Eight Canadians Have Tickets On 2 Favorites

MONTREAL (CP)—Eight Canadians—five from Toronto — hold Irish hospital's sweepstakes on the two co-favorites for the Cambridgeshire Handicap, to be run Oct. 28 at Newmarket, England.

The others are from Montreal, Victoria and Windsor, Ont.

In all, 174 Canadians drew tickets, as cabled Friday, most of them using a nom de plume.

The co-favorites are Kithyra and Jupiter, and the sweepstake ticket on the winner will be worth about $137,500; for second place $55,000, and for third $27,500. There are smaller "participating" prizes.

Those with tickets on the co-favorites from Ontario:

Kithyra—Jack Berlin, MQ 18465; Flyaway, LT 23620; Emma, PP 25011, all of Toronto.

Jupiter—Hilandale, PS 27196; Luck 8, AM 11972, both of Toronto Sweepit, PN 13288, Windsor, Ont.

Rule Validity Of Ownership

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The court of appeals Friday affirmed a lower court order that awarded a 40-percent interest in the multi-million dollar Bata shoe empire to the widow and son of the founder.

The decision was a 5-to-1 vote, with Associate Justice John Van Voorhis taking no part.

The decision in effect declared Mrs. Mary Bata, widow of Thomas Bata, founder of the Czechoslovakian firm, and her son, Thomas Bata Jr., owners of a disputed 826 shares of stock.

Jan Bata, a Brazilian national and half brother of Thomas, is opposing them in a family litigation for control of the firm.

Mrs. Bata and her son are Canadian citizens.

Charges Canadians Wasteful People

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Lionel A. Forsyth, president of the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation Ltd., said Friday Canadians are a "wasteful, unthrifty people in the main."

In an address to the Canadian Exporters' Association, Mr. Forsyth said Canadians practise a "degree of thoughtless extravagance which would surprise and dismay us if it could be expressed in dollar and cents or some other measurement."

He said the mining industry of northern Ontario is paralyzed by a strike which will "undoubtedly" entail a severe economic loss to all directly concerned with it "and will adversely and most seriously affect thousands whose interest is indirect."

Holds Ticket On Horse

OTTAWA (CP)—James Cassidy, private secretary to Progressive Conservative leader George Drew, stands to win up to $140,000 in the Irish sweepstakes in the Cambridgeshire next Wednesday. Mr. Cassidy has a ticket on Brunetto, a 40-1 shot in the race. He wins $1,055 for drawing the horse and will receive the $140,000 jackpot if Brunetto wins.

Most Prices Closed Higher On Toronto Stock Market

By BOB JOHNSTONE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Most prices closed higher on the Toronto stock market this week.

Base metals made the biggest gain, followed closely by industrials. Golds moved up, although not so much, and western oils, with the biggest price change, lost.

The industrial rise reflected the general industrial optimism in both Canada and the U.S. Daily for several weeks companies have been issuing annual reports showing record profits. Talk of recession, depression and slump has been stayed—for the immediate future at least—by the profit-dividing process.

Ralph J. Cordiner, president of General Electric Co., of New York, in reporting the highest sales for the first nine months of 1953 of company's history, said: "We see nothing to justify the fears of a recession which are being expressed in so many quarters today."

Apparently Mr. Cordiner's optimism is contagious. Local traders favored industrials all week.

Base metals advanced steadily with gains in both seniors and juniors. All price changes were conservative and volume was only moderate until Friday, when Eastern Metals jumped more than 10 cents as 50,000 shares traded in a minute. The total volume for the issue for the session was little more than 250,000 shares and the net price increase was slight.

Golds made the most spectacular jump Tuesday as they suddenly gained 3¼ points on the exchange's index in the final 40 minutes. The Wall Street Journal traced the matter to Washington, where, according to rumors, the U.S. treasury department was considering issuing certificates for the $1,000,000,000 in gold it gained by devaluating the metal in 1934.

GOLD RUSH ENDS

That was the end of the gold rush. The U.S. government has not said it will issue the certificates, nor did it deny that it would, but the rush is over and the index figures have been shrinking slowly since.

Western oils were still on the downward path as their rise of the previous week was wiped out.

The Toronto market from Friday to Friday showed industrials up 2.32 at 308.74, golds up 1.40 at 69.71, base metals up 2.77 at 147.27 and western oils down 5.46 at 92.08.

On the bond market a $700,000,000 government of Canada issue was snapped up Monday in less than 30 minutes and the market prepared to absorb what is expected to be the biggest Canada saving bond issue. Observers think this issue will exceed $400,000,000.

In New York, the Associated Press average of 60 stocks remained firm this week. Industrials gained 20 cents but railroads and utilities each lost 10 cents.

In Montreal, banks were unchanged at 33.77, utilities were up 1.40 at 94.90, industrials were up .60 at 182.20, combined was up .90 at 153.10, papers were up 9.86 at 721.95 and golds were up .45 at 50.82.

Third Of U.S. Motorists Driving Pre-War Cars

By DAVID J. WILKIE

DETROIT (AP) — Nearly a dozen years after Pearl Harbor approximately one-third of all motorists in the United States are driving pre-war automobiles.

If registrations statistics are about correct that means more than 14,000,000 cars now in use are over-age. It also means the auto industry has a huge replacement market.

The industry, of course, counts heavily upon its replacement market for new car business. Most recent research indicates something like 3,500,000 cars are scrapped annually in the United States. Some of these are replaced by more recent model used cars.

The auto industry's sales experts say retail deliveries of 5,250,000 new cars next year may be expected.

BIG BACKLOG

When production was resumed after the war the car makers had a backlog of unfilled orders that in some quarters was estimated as totalling up to 17,000,000 units. This was based on the fact no passenger cars were built from early 1942 to mid-1945.

At the same time the estimated backlog looked somewhat exaggerated. Yet production got under way slowly and it is more than possible the figure was not too high. In any event the industry has built approximately 34,000,000 cars since the war. It will wind up this year with field stocks of about 500,000 cars.

All industry sources agree there is no backlog of unfilled orders now. There is unsatisfied demand, but a substantial part of it is based on the desire to own something better than last year's car. Actual need is fairly well represented in the vehicles overdue at the scrap pile.

Aside from the replacement of obsolete vehicles the industry also counts upon a further increase in the number of families owning more than one auto. Its spokesmen point out that 89 per cent of the car-owning families in the United States own only one automobile.

Interesting also are figures designed to show that 17,000,000 American families don't own a car, and that nearly 30 per cent of the people between 30 and 40 years of age still don't drive.

These are just a few of the facts the industry cites to show there still is a large market for new cars aside from replacement needs alone.

Record Cargoes For Vessels

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—Canadian ships carried a record 1,659 cargoes of grain out of the Lakehead ports of Fort William and Port Arthur, the board of grain commissioners for Canada announced Friday.

Altogether, Canadian, United States and foreign vessels loaded 1,850 cargoes holding 493,190,437 bushels during the 1952,53 crop year.

Grain was unloaded at 16 Canadian ports, 10 American ports, and 500,000 bushels went direct to Europe. Grain went to the following Canadian ports: Collingwood, Midland, Owen Sound, Port McNicoll, Goderich, Sarnia, Walkerville, Port Colborne, Humberstone, Toronto, Kingston, Prescott, Montreal, Sorel Trois-Rivieres and Quebec.

More Instruction On Canada Urged By IODE

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Use of Canadian textbooks and a greater instruction on Canada in Ontario's rural schools was recommended Friday by the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire.

The Ontario provincial chapter, at its semi-annual meeting, also urged that Canadian flags be flown at all rural schools.

Mrs. H. B. MacMahon of London, assistant educational secretary of the provincial chapter, said every needy school in Ontario should be adopted by a chapter. Mrs. R. C. Bennett of Hamilton, provincial educational secretary, stressed the importance of fighting the teacher shortage. Worthy secondary-school graduates should be assisted if they are following a teaching career.

BETTER UNDERSTANDING

Publicity convenor Mrs. A. H. McIntosh of Hamilton urged better understanding of the press and radio.

"If you want to get publicity for your chapter go to the newspaper office, ask for advice and listen to it," she said.

Mrs. Lorrie McLaughlin of Hamilton won the $150 first prize in the sixth annual short story contest of the chapter. Her story, "A Far Off Light" was adjudged best of 65, it was announced at the meeting.

Church Club Sees "Trip To Europe"

The Mr. and Mrs. Club of St. James United Church held their regular meeting Friday night in Knox church because of alterations being made at St. James.

"A trip to Europe" was presented by Mr. Peter Astle who showed colored slides and spoke the commentary. Vocal solos were sung by Mrs. Hazel McLaren with Ashton Fife accompanist. Mr. Fife also played several selections.

The committee in charge of the program consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Sawyer White, Mr. and Mrs. Ab [illegible]unders, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Knox, Mr. and Mrs. Cec. Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. Jim McGovarin and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Howarth. Mr. Howarth was chairman for the program. The next meeting will be Nov. 27.

Blind Persons Urged To Bowl

The Louis Braille Society held a meeting with 45 present Wednesday in the Dixon House.

President Frank Simmons urged the members to take part in bowling each Saturday at 3 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus hall.

The Peterborough society may enter a team in the anual blind persons' bowling tournament to be held in Hamilton next Feburary in which 19 clubs are expected to participate.

It was decided that each meeting during the winter a quiz, Know Your Canada, will be held to help prepare the members for the quiz held each year at camp.

Eentertainment was provided by Mrs. M. McBride on the piano, Art Marshall soloist and Ernie McMillan on the violin. A singsong was followed by lunch.

Hairdressers' Coiffure Ball

This year's Coiffure Ball, which took place Friday evening at the Club Aragon, was outstanding for the lovely gowns as well as the fascinating hair stylings for this occasion. The ladies' charms were possibly seen to greater advantage on a dance floor less crowded than usual.

Significant of this annual affair of the Peterborough Branch of the Ontario Hairdressers' Association is the crest, which was displayed on the bandstand, and large size silhouettes of beautifully groomed heads used to decorate the ballroom.

President Wilfred Lehman welcomed the guests and called upon an executive member, Mr. Jack Donoghue to draw for the door prizes. The first went to Mrs. Mike Caccavella, the second to Mr. Bill Dower.

A variety of creams for hair care and facial packs were given to each guest as door favors. Several couples won nice prizes in spot dances.

Rosborough presented the study book "Where'er the Sun" and Miss E. Brock, Miss E. Taylor and Mrs. M. Kempt took the devotional period with "The Church" as the theme, Miss E. Clysdale was at the piano for hymns. Mrs. C. McKenzie added much to the meeting with two lovely soloss, accompanied by Mrs. D. Munro. Members were reminded to bring articles for the bale for overseas relief to room 6 of the Sunday school and also of the sectional rally in Keene Oct. 28th. A delicious lunch was served by the group in charge under leadership of Mrs. C. Munro.

Changing Furniture Tastes

ALISON SETTLE

British householders, who have until now been strongly conservative in their purchase of furniture, have been persuaded by the housing shortage to look more favorably on modern designs.

Those who have resolutely preferred a three-piece suite of more than generous bulk for the sitting room, a dining room suite, and yet another suite for the bedroom, have now turned to the purchase of double-purpose furnishings. The divan is no longer only a bed: it forms a settee by day. The dining table is no longer extended with extra leaves when there are visitors, but folds out of a cupboard wall for regular family use. And the cabinet which has the best sale is equally adaptable as a sideboard, or a desk-and-dressing-table for a student.

The change is due not only to cramped houseroom but to a changed outlook among retailers. Since the sellers' market became a buyers' market, shops are increasingly willing to send furniture salesmen to the residential courses run by the Council of Industrial Design (housed in Attingham Park, home of the last Lord Berwick) where they study the basic elements of design in furniture, as well as the reactions of the public to modern design as shown in market survey.

Screens, long a drag on the market, are now in demand to shield the enthusiastic televiewer from the rest of the family who would rather study, read or sew. "Viewing chairs" which stack away are also good sellers and are produced in contemporary design: pseudo-antique designs do not lend themselves to the needs of the television age.

Less massive furniture makes the housewife's cleaning tasks easier, but the British householder remains unwilling, says the trade, to accept pieces with seemingly unsubstantial legs allied to bulky tops. Soundly-built as they may be, the men of the nation appear unable to believe in their trustworthiness.

Shown at a recent furniture show were revolving dining chairs, similar to those used in offices but of greater comfort, and designed to enable diners to turn to their television sets during a meal. They do not seem to have reached the shops: "We have had no demand for them," is a general report—although how the public can be expected to ask for something which only a few traders have as yet seen remains unexplained.

Fixing the heights of working surfaces in kitchens seems an insoluble problem. The study committee of the British Standards Institution, with a woman chairman and an advisory committee of women to consult, has decided that it is humanly impossible to satisfy the requirements of women of greatly varying heights, and the adoption of a mean would satisfy neither the tall nor the short.

It was put to the committee by manufacturers that only fitments with legs which could be retracted or lengthened could answer all requirements; but the price of these made their production impracticable. Furniture makers have pointed to the use of kitchen stools and chairs as an aid to short and tall women alike, but there appears to be a puritan strain in British housewives which refuses to accept such comforts in working hours.

On the other hand, organisations at work for the improvement of furniture design believe that in a few years the entire national taste will have changed. Already the outlook of children attending modern public schools, many of them magnificently equipped by local education authorities, has completely altered. The best of these schools only started to come into being in 1948; it will be when their pupils become house-owners—even if they own only a couple of rooms—that the influence of up-to-date furnishings and fitments on the growing mind will make itself felt.

By now three hundred and fifty schools have model flats for the teaching of homecraft, and in some the furnishing industry supplies regular changes of contemporary furnishings. The girls have free choice of styles and colorings, a choice which later they will exercise as wives. It is a step forward for married couples to have had practice in choosing furniture: so far wives have had the opportunity to buy only once in a lifetime, at the time of their marriage. And it is this lack of choice, says the furniture nidustry, which has so far held back progress in contemporary design. (Copyright.)

DOROTHY DIX

Octogenarian, Causes Of Mother-In-Law Trouble

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I own our own home, and since our marriage a year ago, my 80-year-old mother-in-law has lived with us. Until recently things went very well, but in the last months she began telling me how to run the house. My husband told me not to give in to her, yet when I argue with her, he's worried because we don't get along together.

EVA

DO THINGS YOUR OWN WAY

ANSWER: Octogenarians are often difficult to handle because they don't remember, or they confuse time. Your mother-in-law seems to be living in the past when she was mistress of her own home. Try listening to her patiently, then go ahead and do things in your own way. She'll probably never notice the difference.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm 14 and like a boy of the same age. The only thing that bothers me is that he smokes. Do you think I should drop him because of this?

LINDA O.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: There's nothing as silly as seeing teen-agers ape the habits of their elders. Youngsters at the show-off stage love to act big, but if they only realized how foolish they appear to their contemporaries, they'd soon stop. Try to point this out to your young man and perhaps he'll save the adult privilege of smoking until he is a little older.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm 28 years old and have been teaching school for some time. A 17-year-old pupil claims that she is madly in love with me. I'd like to date her, but realize that under the circumstances it would be impossible. What can I do?

D. L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I hope you realize that catering to the young lady's infatuation may lose you your job, and even your teaching license. Wouldn't that be rather a high price to pay for gratifying the girl? You certainly must have encountered other teachers who have experienced the crushes of teen-agers for male instructors. It's one teacher this term and another next semester. Forget the whole thing.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My problem is not along the lines of those usually presented you, but I hope you can help me. A few months ago I bought a lovely home, and rented out the upper two floors. The occopants have been in the house several years. My problem is that they always use the front entrance, and have their children running in and out of the part of the house on which I spent most money for improvement. I haven't mentioned the fact to them, because I realize they have the right to use any entrance they choose, but I do think out of consideration for us they should use the back stairway most of the time.

A. M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If it's at all feasible, the best thing to do would be to close the front entrance to them, and cut the back stairway off from your part of the house. This is the procedure almost always used when a small house is occupied by two or more families. Their entrance could be prettied up a bit. Otherwise, there's no reason why you can't ask them to use the back entrance most of the time. Almost all householders do use a side or back entry for children, service calls, etc.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been happy for two years of my marriage except for the fact that my husband won't work. He says he has worked hard enough all his life and deserves a rest now. I am his second wife.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If you can afford the luxury of keeping a husband, and can afford another nervous breakdown from overwork, hang on to him by all means. He certainly won't get a job as long as there's someone else to work for him.

Stirling Friends Honor Newlyweds

STIRLING (ENS)—A large number of friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Volney Richardson on Wednesday evening to extend good wishes and congratulations to their daughter and her husband on their recent marriage.

The Rev. A. E. Baker was chairman for the evening's entertainment, consisting of readings by Mrs. John McInroy, solos by Mrs. Foster Wilson and Mrs. A. E. Baker and piano selections by Mrs. Vernon Matthews and Miss Ruth Mundy.

Mr. Phil Carr read the address and the couple were presented with a well-filled purse. Marion and her husband, Mr. Jack Prest, made suitable replies.

So we have the good-looking but weak hunter trying to win by other than "strong man" stuff. Picking up some wet clay, we presume our primitive Lothario happened on the right kind of clay. He found he could mould into any form, by the play of his hands. Moulding a cup-like vessel, he left it half forgotten. Returning to the scene many moons later, he finds the sun had thoroughly baked his "bit of crockery." And that is how an "Irishman" invented pottery before the Russians claimed the credit.

Readers' Saturday Column By Mary Moore

QUESTION: It was quite a rush to get my house clean and prepare dinner and look after my family of eight and still get to your cooking school early enough every day to get a good seat . . . It was worth it and so nice to see you personally. . . you may remember me when I tell you I was the tall streak wearing a yellow beret and scarf with a grey coat. You mentioned you lost your pickle file. . . and about having a lot of faith. . . we Catholics (superstitious bunch that we are) have a special saint, St. Anthony, the patron of lost things. . . My sister-in-law, after 15 years when her faith was wearing a little thin said. . . "My wedding ring is the only thing St. Anthony never helped me find". . . One week later they found the ring with some old washers. . . I'll keep praying to St. Anthony to help you find your pickle file. . . LES.

ANSWER: Your prayers worked Les. On the morning of the day you wrote your letter I found the file in some cartons that were being readied for a paper drive! Your letter was wonderful and I remember you perfectly. I can't thank you enough for turning up my file, and your kind letter. Do let me know if and when I can help you.

QUESTION: Would you please send me the recipe of the white cake that won first prize at the cooking school? . . . MRS. R. P.

ANSWER: See letter below.

LETTER: Just writing to thank you for the enjoyable afternoon and for the wonderful recipes you gave us at the cooking school. I am sending the recipe for which I was given first prize. . . This being the second time I was given a first for it in a few months. . .MRS. R. S.

ANSWER: That was very generous of you. . . I wanted it myself and you can see the request above from another reader who asked for it.

PRIZE WHITE CAKE

(Contributed by Mrs. R. S.)

Sift cake flour and measure 2¼ cups. Put this in the sifter with 3 tablespoon double acting baking powder (or 5 teaspons single acting,) 1 teaspoon salt and 1½ cups sugar. In a large bowl stir ½ cup room temperature shortening until it is soft and pliable, then sift the dry ingredients over this. Now measure 1 cup milk. Add ¾ cup of this milks and 1 teaspoon vanilla and mix until flour is dampened and then beat it 300 strokes by hand or for 2 minutes at low speed if electric beater is used. Now add 2 unbeaten eggs and the remaining milk, beat 150 strokes if by hand or 1 minute at low speed on electirc beater. Scrape down the bowl with rubber scraper occassionally but do not count those strokes or time. Line bottoms of 2 9-inch layer tins with wax paper and butter it. Turn batter into pans evenly and bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for about 25 minutes then loosen sides with knife and turn out on rack, remove paper, turn right side up to cool.

NOTE: If using butter, margarine or lard only 7-8 cup milk is needed; with vegetable or other shortening use 1 cup milk .

QUESTION: Will you kindly let me have a recipe for Marrow Jam . . . Thank you for the red pickle cabbage and others which have been a great help. MRS. J. B. S.

ANSWER: You nearly stumped me. My Marrow recipe is more of a marmalade.

MARROW JAM OR MARMALADE

Four cups chopped pared and seeded marrow, 4 apples, 2 oranges, 3 lemons, 4 cups sugar, 2½ cups water. Pare and chop apples and add to marrow. Chop seeded oranges peel and all. Add them and the lemon juice only, and the sugar and water. Boil 2½ hours over low heat or until thick and of consistency you desire. Pour into sterile jars and seal.

YPU Meeting Held In Roseneath

ROSENEATH (ENS)—Hallowe'en was the theme of the YPU meeting at the home of Miss Donna Pringle.

The house was gaily decorated with jack-o-lanterns, bats, black cats and witches. The program and roll call were in keeping with the Hallowe'en spirit, including a Hallowe'en spelling contest, a monologue and a sing-song of Hallowe'en songs.

"The Miracles that Jesus Wrought" was the subject of the devotional period in charge of George Moore.

The president, Adele Varcoe presided over the business period.

Plans were made to attend the Cobourg Presbytery YPU rally at Welcome on November 3. It is hoped that two cars of delegates will attend from Roseneath.

The November meeting will be held at the home of Billy Murphy, with George Linton and Barbara Skuce as program committee.

The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction. A Hallowe'en lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Doris Robins.

W.A. Planning Decorate Church

MOUNT PLEASANT — The Woman's Association met at Springville when the members were the guests of Mrs. A. E. Larke at the parsonage.

Mrs. Gordon McLean, president, opened the meeting. Mrs. Harry Jamieson led the devotional period with Mrs. Don Hayes reading the scripture lesson.

The allocation for the United Church Training School in Toronto was voted paid. Mrs. N. Fee and Mrs. H. Jamieson were appointed to provide suitable floral decoration for the church for anniversary services Nov. 1 when the Rev. H. C. Wolfraim of Lakefield will be guest preacher. The men's choir will lead the singing.

Mrs. T. Graham and Mrs. L. Handley gave readings. Mrs. Dave Lawson and Mrs. S. Tully conducted biblical quizzes.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Jim Fee, Mrs. Eric McLean and Mrs. Harry Jamieson served lunch.

Cavan W.I. Visits Two City Plants

CAVAN (ENS)—Cavan Women's Institute went in three carloads to visit the Colonial Weaving factory and the Dominion Woollens and Worsteds in Peterborough Tuesday afternoon.

There were 16 members present and the managers of the two factories conducted the group through the plants explaining the various machines and their different uses.

The women held a short meeting and decided to sponsor a girls' club this year. Mrs. Don. Guthrie will be the leader.

CHOSEN MISS SARNIA

SARNIA (CP)—Dianne Poulton, 16-year-old vivacious, hazel-eyed high school senior, was chosen Friday night to represent Sarnia Imperials at the annual Grey Cup parade.

At a Jaycee-sponsored pep rally in Athletic Park, Miss Poulton was chosen over seven other contestants.

Lakefield W.A. Plans Sale, Tea

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—Mrs. H. J. Brown was program convener for the Women's Association of the United Church in the Sunday school rooms.

Mrs. Ivan Madill gave the scripture reading. The lesson thoughts on Christian stewardship were given by Mrs. Brown. Mrs. J. R. Hull sang a solo.

Mrs. P. H. Darling, president, was in charge of the business period. It was decided to hold a bake sale and afternoon tea in the church on Friday, November 13.

Mrs. Wilbert Frankish and Mrs. Madill were named a nominating committee for the coming year.

The November meeting will be held at the manse.

6—In Memoriam

BUGG — In loving memory of Mrs. Agnes Bugg, who passed away Oct. 26, 1948.
No one knows how much we miss you,
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered, since we lost you
Life has never been the same.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true,
There is not a day dear mother
That we do not think of you.
—Sadly missed by Margaret, Ronald, and Norman.

CLARK— In loving memory of Dr. David Wesley Clark, who passed away Oct. 25, 1952.
—Lovingly remembered by his wife and family.

CURRIE—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Ross C. Curry, who passed away Oct. 24, 1952.
You're not forgotten father dear
Nor ever shall you be
As long as life and memory last
We shall remember thee.
—Ever remembered by his wife and family.

JOHNSON—To the memory of Mrs. Mary Lavina Pimmett Johnson, who passed away Oct 24, two years ago.
Away in the beautiful hills of God,
By the valley of rest so fair,
Some day, some time, we know not when,
We will meet our loved one there.
—Always remembered by sisters and brothers.

McINTYRE—In loving memory of my dad, Albert D. McIntyre, who passed away Oct. 24, 1952.
Gone from us, but leaving memories
Death can never take away.
—Ever remembered, Dot and family.

WATSON—In loving memory of my dear wife, Mrs. J. Watson, who passed away two years ago.
Her loving face I hope to see again,
Though the days have passed away
Sleep on, dear wife, and take your rest,
They miss you most who loved you best.
—Ever remembered by husband and family.

SCHIARIZZA—In loving memory of my dear mother, Concetta Schiarizza, who passed away Oct. 24, 1952.
O Paradise! O Paradise
Who doth not crave for rest
Who would not seek the happy land,
Where they that loved are blest.
Where loyal hearts, and true,
All rapture through and through
In God's most holy sight.
—Ever remembered by daughter Theresa, and Edwin and grandchildren Gloria, Paul and Peter Ridley.

7—Card of Thanks

Aviation Plant Strike Still Spreading

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A strike spread today to North American Aviation Co.'s third plant, at Fresno, Calif., increasing the total idle to an estimated 33,000 in what a union official called the start of an industry-wide struggle for higher wages.

The company said "about 99 per cent" of the night shift at Fresno walked out as the United Automobile Workers (CIO) contract expired at midnight. The shift joined strikers whose contract ran out 24 hours earlier at larger plants in Los Angeles and Columbus, Ohio.

With production of jet fighters and interceptors halted and with a union leader predicting a long strike, North American board chairman J. H. Kindelberger declared:

DELIBERATE MOVE

"The strike called by UAW-CIO leaders against our plants is a deliberate attempt to force unreasonable costs upon production of F-86 Sabre jets and the national defence budget."

WANT 23.4 CENTS MORE

In Detroit, John W. Livingston of the UAW's aircraft department said:

"The basic issue arises out of North American's refusal to meet the wage and contract standards already established in comparable industries which also do aircraft work."

The CIO union demands a wage increase of 23.4 cents an hour. The company offers a four-per-cent general raise. Rates now range from $1.42 to $2.32 an hour.

French Troops Fight Battle

HANOI, Indo-China (AP) — French Union armored troops and infantry clashed today with strong Communist-led Vietminh forces south of Phu Nho Quan, killing 150 rebels and capturing 17 others.

The French high command announced that the Vietminh attacked French columns as they moved southward along the route called the "Road of Forests," about 10 miles south of Phy Nho Quan.

A battle raged for more than five hours with the Vietminh using some 2,000 men from their crack 320th Division.

The Vietminh swarmed out of the forest-covered limestone hills to attack tanks, armored cars and infantry moving southward from their raid on which they had destroyed all Vietminh military installations in Phy Nho Quan, 55 miles southwest of Hanoi.

There was hand-to-hand fighting between the Vietminh and the Franco-Vietnamese infantry.

Two Swedes Die In Crash

LONDON (AP)—Two flying enthusiasts from Sweden were killed Thursday in the crash of their small sports plane in Syria, near the troubled border area of the Arab states and Israel.

This gave rise to an unsubstantiated report from Beirut Friday that Israeli fighter planes had shot down a Swedish airliner.

The report immediately was denounced by Israeli officials as untrue. Further checks showed there was no substantiation at the Swedish foreign office in Stockholm, from Swedish diplomatic officials in Cairo, or elsewhere in the Middle East.

Jean Khalil Fattal, honorary Swedish consul in Beirut since 1951, originally was quoted with saying the Israeli had shot down an airliner, killing 35 passengers and crew and killing two others.

Honorary consuls are appointed by Sweden in cities where there is not enough business to occupy a regular Swedish consul.

$200,000 Fire Sweeps 3 Lumber Yards

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) —A general-alarm fire swept through buildings and yards of three lumber companies today, causing damage estimated at more than $200,000.

The fire raged out of control for for more than an hour. Three buildings were demolished. Three trucks were destroyed and an undetermined amount of lumber turned to ashes.

No one was injured.

Destroyed were large amounts of sugar pine, ponderosa lumber, cedar panelling and maple flooring.

For Parents Only

Tell Your Children About United Nations

BY NANCY CLEAVER

"The U. N. is not a group of foreigners, but one family struggling for peace and security" commented Shirley Hornseth, one of the four Saskatchewan representatives on the U. N. Youth Pilgrimage Tour which recently were escorted through the U. N. Headquarters. To visit New York must be thrilling—but to be one of a group of 31 young people from the Western area of Canada and United States to see the U. N. at work must have been a wonderful experience.

LITERATURE ON U. N.

We cannot all go on a trip to the centre of U. N activities but we can all become better informed about just what the United Nations is doing. For interesting facts we can ask the librarian at the Public Library to show us the books or pamphlets on the U. N. One of the best books on international co-operation is "World in the Making" by James Avery Joyce (Thomas Neilson and Sons) which parents and Collegiate students could read and discuss. Among the new books, "A Fair World for All," by Dorothy Canfield Fisher, on the Declaration of Human Rights, published by McGraw-Hill is also well worth buying. Mention these two books as good additions for a school or public library.

Children are naturally interested in other chidren throughout the world and the United Nations has a fine record in the practical help it has given to sixty million needy youngsters through the U. N. International Children's Emergency Fund. (UNICEF). For more than six years both governments and individuals have voluntarily contributed more than one hundred and fifty five millions of dollars to aid children in over seventy countries. These hungry, ill-clad children were scattered over Africa, Asia, Europe, the Eastern Mediteranean and Latin America.

FEEDING PROJECTS

Large scale feeding projects, distributing essential commodities such as milk and rice, have been carried out. Cotton, wool and leather have been sent to clothe and shoe five million European little waifs. Pencillin and DDT have saved thousands of children from disease. All the profits from UNICEF Christmas greeting and note cards go directly towards assisting needy children. The UN greeting cards this year depict the World's Children At Play—Blindman's Bluff, (Greece); Hopscotch, (Pakistan); Kit Flying, (Peru); Greased Pole, (Philippines); Hide-and-Seek (Middle East).

Why not show your interest by ordering these cards from the UN Association in Canada (340 McLeod St., Ottawa)? At the same time, ask for free pamphlets and information on individual, poster of the flags of the member family and group membership in this organization which is doing so much to arouse public support of the UN. A copy of the blue UN flag poster, showing the white polar world surrounded by white laurel leaves and also the color nations of the UN may be obtained from this office too.

A librarian in Boys and Girls House, (the library for children in Toronto) recently said, "Children certainly are keen about flags! Our books on them are out all the time!" Every Canadian child should know the United Nations flag as well as the Red Ensign and the Union Jack. A most attractive volume, "The Book of Flags" by Campbell and Evans (Oxford University Press) with its fine color plates would make a splendid Birthday or Christmas gift for a school age son or daughter.

October 24, United Nations Day, should be celebrated in your home. It falls this year on a Saturday. At meal time, why not discuss the UN with your children?

It is so foolish to look for perfection and criticise the UN for the amount of debate which takes place and the slowness of political action. Do remember that questions are being discussed in five languages by delegates from 60 different countries familiar with varying parliamentary procedure! For better or for worse, the hope of the peace, progress and prosperity of our world to a very great extent lies with the United Nations.

As fathers and mothers let's become better informed about all the vast amount of work the UN committees are quietly accomplishing from year to year! Let's back the UN whole-heartedly. It is our United Nations! If we don't hang together we will most certainly hang separately! Surely a sobering thought!

DOES YOUR CHILD know the blue flag of the United Nations with its white polar world surrounded by a wreath of olive leaves?

Judge Releases Four Prisoners

BROCKTON, Mass. (AP)—Superior judge Felix Forte Friday released four more prisoners he said were committed illegally as many as 33 years ago.

The court's action brought to 14 the number freed in four days.

The men, inmates of the Bridgewater state farm operated by the Massachusetts correction department, were committed years ago as defective delinquents—feebleminded with delinquent tendencies.

The cleanout operation was sparked by a new law signed in July which permits prisoners committed as defective delinquents to petition for a superior court review of their detention.

In addition to the 14 granted freedom this week, one was admitted to parole and 49 others recommitted for 35-day mental examinations. The new law empowers the court to order such tests when they seem advisable.

Released Frday were: Melvin Horsley, 59, committed from Fitchburg district court in 1920; Charles L. Lynch, 47, of Dover, N. H., committed in 1926; Eugene Preskins, 28, committed in 1932; and Clyde Groves, 28, committed in 1943.

Mabel Gillen Prexy Girls' Cage League

Mabel Gillen was elected president of the Peterborough Girls Basketball League at the re-organized meeting held last night in the YWCA. Rita Naylor was named secretary for the 1953-54 season, and Bev. Dawe the league treasurer.

From four to six teams are expected in this coming cage season, including several of last year's clubs. Entries will be accepted at another meeting to be held at eight o'clock next Thursday night in the YWCA, when various pre-season details will be discussed and plans made for the coming campaign. All teams interested in entering the circuit are asked to have representatvies on hand at the Thursday night meeting.

Chrysler To Buy Briggs Company

DETROIT (AP)—Chrysler Corp. announced Friday it has agreed to purchase the Briggs Manufacturing Co., a major auto body supplier, for $35,000,000.

Briggs normally employs about 35,000 workers.

The purchase plan includes all principal Briggs plants, machinery and equipment, except the plumbing fixtures division.

Briggs makes most Chrysler Corp. bodies and also supplies Packard.

2 Officers Receive Military Cross

KINGSTON (CP)—Two army officers Friday received the Military Cross for action in the Korean war.

Governor-General Vincent Massey presented the awards to Lieut. A. M. King of Sorel, Que., attached to the 1st battalion Royal Canadian Regiment, and Lieut. D. G. Loomis, of London, Ont., platoon commander of the RCR's 1st battalion.

Two Killed In Holdup

CHICAGO (AP) — A customer and a robber were shot and killed and a tavern owner was wounded in a gunfight early today in a south side saloon. The slain robber's companion escaped.

Paul Wood, 45, was the only customer in Corktown Lounge when two gunmen entered and announced a hold-up to the owner, John Fahey, 64.

They ordered Wood and Fahey to the rear of the saloon but Fahey told police as he neared the end of the bar he seized a pistol and fired at one robber behind the bar. He had rifled two cash registers and when Fahey started shooting he jumped over the bar and fled into the street.

Fahey said he then got another revolver and shot the second robber who was grappling with Wood. Police said Wood apparently was fatally wounded in the exchange between Fahey and the robber. Fahey is in hospital with a bullet wound in the chest.

133,828 Indian Girls Widowed Before 14

NEW DELHI (AP)—Census figures showed today that 133,828 Indian girls between five and 14 are either widows or divorcees.

An official summary just published of the 1950 census also showed that 14 per cent of the girls in the same age group are married—despite a 1929 ban on marriages before the age of 14.

Teen-Agers Marry Head For Vancouver

LEICESTER, England (CP) — Two English 'teen-agers were married today—the groom is 16 and the bride 17—and plan to fly to Vancouver soon to live.

The wedding climaxed a two-year school sweethearts' romance between tall, dark-haired Bill Wright and Pat Duggan.

Bill hopes to work with his father, a refrigeration engineer, who has been in Canada 18 months.

Discuss Fishing In Kawarthas

HASTINGS (ENS)—The Hastings and District Chamber of Commerce held a dinner meeting in the Royal Hotel on Thursday with president Bruce Scalt chairman. Forty-six sat down to dinner.

Dr. W. J. K. Harkness, chief of fish and wild life division, department of lands and forests was guest speaker.

A question and answer period concerning the local angling problem was held. Assisting Dr. Harkness in this were Dr. McKay, supervisor of game and fish hatchery, C. Weir of the Lindsay office, R. Warner, supervisor of commercial fishing, K. Irizawa, J. Brubacker and D. Roseborough of head office.

The discussion centred around the propagation of fish in the Trent river and surrounding waters. It was explained by the members of the department that the reason pickerel are not being placed in the Kawartha system is that they will reproduce naturally in sufficient quantities.

Maskinonge and bass are being introduced from the government hatcheries so that the waters will not become solely one-game fish waters.

The guests were thanked by A. J. Soper, vice president of the local chamber.

OBITUARIES

HYLTON COXWELL

CAMPBELLFORD — (ENS) — Hylton Coxwell, well-known Campbellford resident, died in the Memorial Hospital, Friday after and illness of several months.

He is survived by his wife, the former Violet Plummer, two daughters, Mrs. Donald Meyers (Helen) of Campbellford, Mrs. J. E. Bythell (Mary) of Toronto, and a son, John of Campbellford.

The body is resting at the Bennett funeral home in Campbellford for service Monday at 2 p.m. Burial will be in Mount Pleasant cemetery, Campbellford.

DONALD TURLEY

A district farmer from Wooler before moving to Peterborough 23 years ago, Donald Turley of 364 Rogers St., died today at his residence following a prolonged illness. He was born in Trenton, son of the late Patrick Turley and Katherine McColl. He leaves no relatives. While living in the city Mr. Turley was a member of Immaculate Conception Church.

Funeral will be held on Monday from the Anglesy funeral home to St. Alphonsus Church, Wooler, where requiem mass will be held at 10 a.m. Burial will be at St. Alphonsus Cemetery.

Geologist Dies

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP)—Prof. Maurice Lugeon, one of the world's foremost geologists, died last night. He was 83.

Grant Question Big Issue Hospital Meet

When the Ontario Hospital Association holds its 29th annual convention in Toronto's Royal York Hotel Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, a large delegation from Civic Hospital will be on hand for all or part of the sessions, including Board Chairman Max Swanston and Superintendent John Hornal who is a member of the association's board of directors and chairman of the resolutions committee.

While the packed agenda includes discussions and addresses on topics ranging from "The Malabsorption Syndrome" to "The Use of Plastic Dishes," chief interest will undoubtedly centre around the association's efforts to have the hospital grants from the province and from municipalities increased.

TWO TYPES OF GRANTS

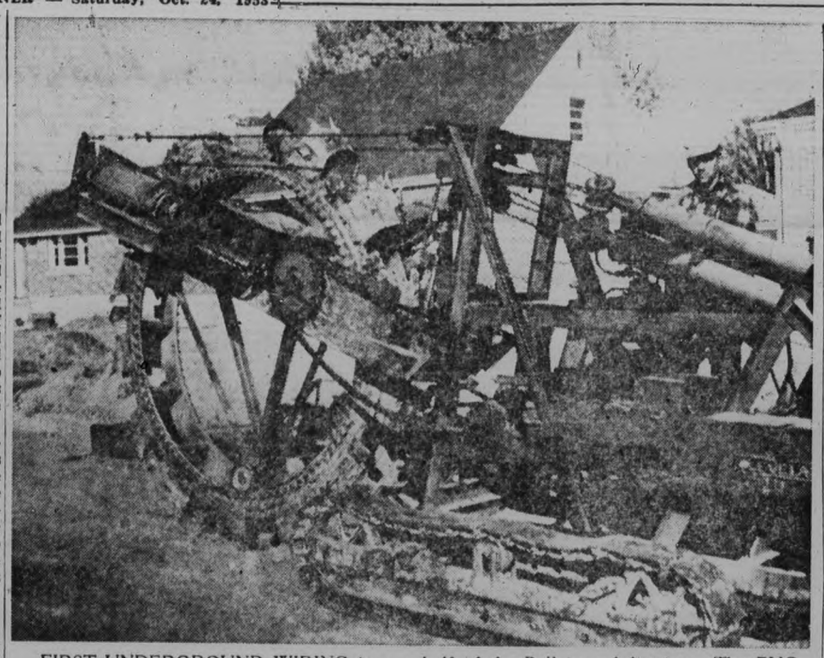
There are two types of provincial grants, one for indigent patients and a public ward grant. The former, which is supplementary to the statutory municipal grant, is based on the number of indigent patient days' stay for the province's fiscal year prior to the calendar year in which it is paid. The 1953 grant, for example, is based on the number of indigent patient days' stay during the fiscal year from March 31, 1951, to April 1, 1952, or a year and a quarter prior to payment.

In the case of Class "B" hospitals, of which Civic Hospital is one, this grant amounts to $1.82 a day.

The public ward grant varies from hospital to hospital, depending chiefly on the amount of public ward accommodation available, and in the case of Civic Hospital is $1.61 a day.

The municipal grant, which is set by an act of the provincial legislature, is $3.50 a day for each indigent patient in the case of Class "B" hospitals.

RENEW EFFORTS



The association took steps at last year's convention to have all these grants increased and are expected to renew their efforts this year. As Treasurer T. T. Rodger pointed out at the most recent meeting of the Civic Hospital Board of Governors, "the provincial government needs a more intelligent approach to the whole problem.

"The hospital faces a deficit immediately it admits an indigent patient," he said. "We have had no trouble collecting the municipal grant but many municipalities will not admit their responsibility at all."

Mr. Hornal will attend all the sessions of the three-day convention. Mr. Swanston expects to attend the Tuesday session.

Others from Civic Hospital who will attend the convention for short periods are Misses Evelyn Robson, director of nursing, Ruth Muldoon, record librarian, Aileen Morgan, dietician, Margaret McIntyre, housekeeper, Ethel Smedmore, pharmacist, and Messrs. E. G. Shiner, accountant, F. G. Temple, purchasing agent, and W. F. Thompson, credit manager.

Numerous topics concerning hospital administration and service of interest to all department heads will be discussed.

FIRST UNDERGROUND WIRING in a residential section of Peterborough will be an experimental project in the southwest. This large trenching machine is doing the excavating. The underground power line will run from a pole on Cameron St., and service houses on Shirley St. and the western half of the Bellaire subdivision. The PUC are experimenting to find out a few facts and figures, particularly relating to costs, when the power lines are buried. Regular underground installations are going ahead in the main shopping district.

Prairie Merchants Wrestling With Growing Retail Credit Problem

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

EDMONTON (CP) — Prairie merchants are wrestling with a growing problem of retail credit, which they say has been stretched to the danger point because of wheat storage difficulties.

The Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta branches of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada have placed briefs before the Canadian wheat board, making suggestions to remedy the situation, and have called on merchants for a "hold-the-line" stand on credit.

M. M. Wocks, secretary-manager of the Manitoba group, said "this is really getting to be dynamite."

Meanwhile, a Bank of Canada survey shows that Canadians from coast to coast plunged deeper into debt in the first six months of 1953, the total consumer credit bill rising to a new high of $1,732,000,000, a jump of more than $500,000,000 in a 12-month period.

MIXED BLESSINGS

But the crux of the difficulty on the prairies is that farmers are not receiving enough cash to pay their bills. The 1952 record wheat crop and this year's heavy yield came as mixed blessings in that elevators are plugged and the farmers must store grain on their land.

In its brief to the wheat board, the Alberta retail merchants' organization suggested the government guarantee bank loans of up to $1,000 on grain in farm storage "to alleviate cases of particular distress, and thereby make it possible for the farm trade to be in a position to pay their retail accounts."

The brief also recommended that all merchants "adopt a rigidly-controlled credit policy, and in all cases advise the farm trade to secure a loan from the banks to pay its commitments."

The earlier Manitoba brief said the 1,700 association members in that province "view with alarm" the situation where "more and more of our towns and villages are being forced into doing business strictly on a cash basis."

The interprovincial farm union council, representing the farm unions of the prairie provinces recommended a schedule of cash advances to distressed farmers.

Prime Minister Supports UN

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent and two of his cabinet ministers spoke out strongly Friday in support of the United Nations. Today marks the eighth anniversary of the coming into force of the UN charter.

"This eighth anniversary of that momentous event has perhaps a deeper significance than any earlier milestone on what we profoundly hope will prove the path to peace," the prime minister said in a statement.

External Affairs Minister Pearson said in a statement released by his office here: "There are many these days who are discouraged and downhearted about the United Nations. They should be discouraged instead about the state of the world in which the United Natiops has to operate."

In a speech before the Toronto branch of the UN Association in Canada, Health Minister Martin said the UN must survive, if for no other reason than that it is the only remaining point of contact between east and west.

Must Conserve More Of Natural Resources

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—Dr. O.M. McConkey of Guelph said Friday that unless more effort is put into conserving natural resources than now is made, Canada and the United States can become as barren and denuded as the older countries of the world.

Dr. McConkey, field husbandry professor at the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, said in an address to the Canadian Club that 10 years of plowing can be more destructive to the soil than 4,000 years' natural erosion.

Bandits Get $300

TORONTO (CP)—Two men, one armed with an old sawed-off shotgun, Friday night looted an open safe in a Lake Simcoe Ice and Fuel branch plant of the day's receipts of $300. Clerk Albert Sambrook said the men entered a door at the rear of the office, pointed the gun at him and said:

"This is a holdup. Lie down on the floor."

College Honors 4 Educationists

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Four Canadian educationists were honored Friday by the University of Western Ontario at fall convocation, the university's 161st.

Dr. Harold R. Kingston, retired principal of university college and dean of the faculty of arts and science, received an honorary degree of doctor of laws.

Similar degrees were conferred on Dr. Perry S. Dobson, former principal of Alma College, St. Thomas, and William S. Turner, principal of Brantford Collegiate and Vocational schools.

The honorary degree of doctor of letters was conferred on Rev. Georges Henri Levesque, dean of the faculty of social sciences at Laval University.

Hold Cooking School

STIRLING (ENS)—The cooking school in the community hall Wednesday and Thursday drew a large crowd. The event was under the auspices of St. John's Church Ladies' League.

Weakness In Act Causing Hardship

TORONTO (CP)—Many deserted wives are not receiving their mothers' allowance cheques because of a weakness in an amendment to the Deserted Wives and Children's Protection Act, the Ontario legislature's reform institutions committee was told Friday.

W. J. Grummett, CCF house leader, said that by the amendment Ontario Provincial Police were authorized to assist local authorities in locating deserting husbands. But when the husband was found, no matter where he was, the department of welfare cut off the mothers' allowance to the deserted wife.

Although police do not have to bring back the husband, the mother must wait a year before she can get back on the mothers' allowance roll.

Pakistan Chief Due

OTTAWA (CP) — The commander-in-chief of Pakistan's army General Mohammed Ayub Khan, is coming to Ottawa Monday to confer with senior Canadian defence officials. The army said Friday the general's itinerary calls for visits to the Royal Military College and the Canadian Army Staff College at Kingston.

Army Band Flying To Far East Soon

OTTAWA (CP)—Another Canadian Army band is going to Korea.

The army announced Thursday that the Royal Canadian Signals Band, 40-strong, will fly to the Far East in mid-November. It will replace the artillery band now in Korea, but returning to Canada soon on rotation leave.

The signals band is directed by Lt. B. J. Lyons of Kingston. It has been based at Barriefield, Ont.

Governor-General Lauds Work Of Signals Corps

KINGSTON (CP) — The Royal Canadian Corps of Signals has made significant contributions to Canada in both war and peace, Governor-General Vincent Massey said Friday night.

The governor-general was addressing the Canadian Signals Association, marking the 50th anniversary of formation of the corps. It was the first independently organized signal corps in the British Empire.

Mr. Massey said that it was in the early 1920s that the corps began "its great and continuing contribution" to development of the Canadian north. The corps began operating stations at Mayo Landing and Dawson City in the Yukon Oct. 23, 1923. This small network expanded into the "vital" Northwest Territories and Yukon radio system.

SEVERE TEST

The year 1939 had been the beginning of the most severe test the corps had encountered: "You met it successfully, you emerged with added laurels." Twenty-four officers and 367 men of the corps were killed during the Second World War.

"Confronted, as you are, with the increasing tempo and vast complexities of science, it is amazing for me as a layman to recall that the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals have always kept up to, and even anticipated, the effects of new weapons and the development of new techniques of war."

The Malloch Trophy for general proficiency, the Genet Trophy for officers' proficiency and the Canadian Signals Association Trophy for warrant officers and non-commissioned officers were presented to the 3rd Division Signals Regiment of Ottawa.

ON THE COB—This feline gourmet wouldn't trade one of his whiskers for cat food, but you'd better not pass him up when corn on the cob is on the menu. With some aid from his mistress, Mrs. Frederick Woltman, of New York, the Siamese cat gnaws the cob clean and meows for seconds.

4 Men Appear In Court On 37 Charges

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Four men arrested after the Sten-gun terrorizing of an Embro farmer appeared Friday in district courts to face 37 charges ranging from break, enter and theft to intent to do grievous bodily harm and armed assault.

At Walkerton, Thomas William Boyd of London was sentenced to two years in Kingston penitentiary on 12 charges of breaking, entering and theft and one year for theft of a truck at Teeswater. He pleaded guilty to all 13 charges.

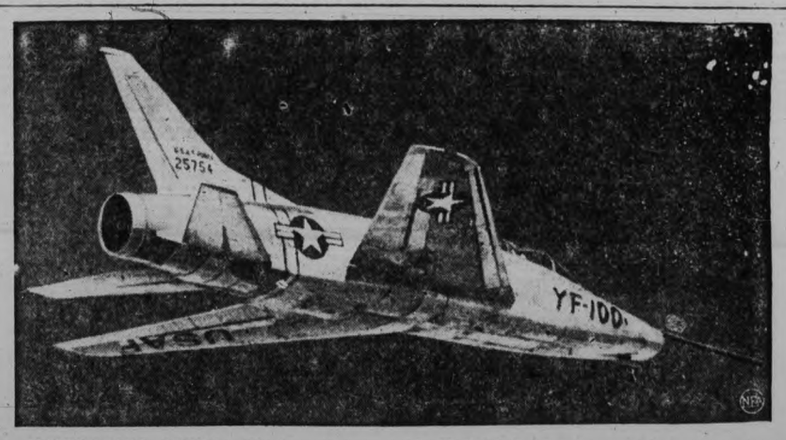
At Woodstock, Henry Elliott, 24, of RR 5, Lucknow pleaded guilty to an additional seven charges of breaking, entering and theft. He was remanded in custody one week on all counts by magistrate R. G. Groom at county police court.

OTHER CHARGES

He has yet to plead on charges of shooting a gun and armed assault and was remanded until later for a hearing of these charges.

Elliott was apprehended after 15 Sten-gun bullets were fired through the farm house door of George McBurney, of RR 2, Embro. He was charged with shooting with intent to do grievous bodily harm and with armed assault with intent to rob Harry Birtch of RR 2, Embro.

Robert Longchamps, 17, of Wolseley barracks, London, was sentenced by Magistrate Groom to two months in jail on charges of breaking and entering and one of theft, the sentences to run concurrently. He had pleaded guilty previously.



William George Sproule, no permanent address, an alleged companion of Longchamps, Elliott and Boyd, was remanded one week for hearing on the two Embro breakins.

RCAF Pipe Band To Play For Queen

LONDON (AP)—The RCAF overseas pipe band, currently tootling its way into British affections, got another call Friday for a "command" performance—to appear before the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh.

The 16-piece band has been invited to play lilting Scots tunes as a background to the annual royal film performance Monday at London's Odeon Theatre.

The royal performance film will be Walt Disney's Highland story, "Rob Roy," a choice that could hardly have been more appropriate. Band members will be right at home with their RCAF kilt and their color scheme of azure and navy blue and cardinal red.

SUPERSONIC SPEED—Sleek successor to the F-86 Sabrejet is the F-100 Super Sabre, the Air Force's first jet fighter to exceed the speed of sound in level flight. Now in production in Los Angeles, Calif., the F-100 is believed capable of approaching a speed of 800 miles an hour and has a combat radius of more than 500 miles. The new aircraft were considered by air officials to give the U.S. a commanding lead in the global race for jet supremacy.

Judge's Ideas Called Shocking

TORONTO (CP) — Miller Stewart, union nominee on a gold mine conciliation board, has termed "shocking and scandalous" the comments and recommendations of the chairman, Judge J. B. Robinson.

Mr. Stewart, nominee of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO) on the board inquiring into the dispute between the union and Coniaurum mines at Timmins, in a statement accused the board majority of exceeding its duties under the labor act.

The majority report refused to recommend the check-off of dues on the ground of union irresponsibility in the mining community. It mentioned strike violece last July at the Broulan Reef mine in support of its position.

Mr. Stewart said there was no evidence before the board of any of the incidents mentioned. The Coniaurum board had concluded its sessions before the incidents occurred.

Seek Salary Boost

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Representatives of 2,000 Ontario civil servants in western Ontario decided here Friday to press for across-the-board increases in salaries and a 40-hour week. Thirty officers representing six branches of the Civil Service Association of Ontario attended the annual district meeting. Any change would affect provincial civil servants in Windsor, Chatham, Woodstock, St. Thomas and London.

Canadian Goods May Get Better Chance In U.K.

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Canadian goods may get a better shot at the British market before long, Richard P. Bower, commercial counsellor at Canada House in London, indicated Friday.

He spoke to the Canadian Exporters' Association, dealing particularly with the question of whether Britain may make her currency increasingly convertible into dollars—one of the prerequisites to normal buying and selling. He said:

"The United Kingdom's economy for the first time is headed in the right direction. If this continues we may reach the objective (increased convertibility) sooner than we think. I am optimistic.

"Britain is doing a good job, but others have a part to play, including the United States and Canada."

POUND WAS OVERVALUED

The pound sterling was overvalued in earlier years and this had resulted in heavy buying of goods from the United States and Canada, Mr. Bower said.

"Today the pound is not overvalued. In my opinion it now is undervalued. If it were freed, Britain might be surprised."

He thought experience with decontrolled commodities indicates that good results may be expected from progressive removal of restrictions.

The exporters, ending a two-day annual convention, asked in a resolution that the government "immediately explore the possibility of providing incentives" to Canadian companies to increase their exports.

The resolution did not define "incentives" but discussion indicated that it didn't envisage subsidies, but rather something like tax concessions.

Alex Gray of Toronto suggested the government might put a lower tax on profits made on export business than it obtains on profits from domestic business.

Morale In Korea Excellent MP Says

OTTAWA (CP)—A globe-circling member of Parliament says Canadian Army morale in Korea is excellent.

The army Friday quoted Philippe Picard, Liberal member from Bellechasse, Quebec, as saying the men of the 25h Canadian Infantry Brigade are a credit to their country. He recently visited the unit during his round-the-world tour.

40-Foot Fall Fatal

ORILLIA (CP)—Fred Mercer of nearby Coldwater died in hospital Friday from injuries received Thursday when he fell 40 feet from a barn while repairing the eaves.

Quash Convictions

KITCHENER (CP)—Convictions of besetting were quashed Friday against four truck drivers charged during last summer's strike. George Schmidt, Robert Hope, Stewart Carter and James Elliot had been sentenced to a week in jail.

Oh, WHERE is my wandering ad tonight?

That's a fair question and deserves a factual answer. When you buy newspaper advertising you have an investment in every copy of the paper that carries your sales message because the circulation of the newspaper is also the circulation of your advertising. So, what you get in return for your advertising dollars depends on the newspaper's circulation. In order that you may buy space in this newspaper as you would make any sound business investment, we hold membership in the Audit Bureau of Circulations,* well known to advertisers and publishers as A.B.C. Only publications with paid circulation—evidence that people want the paper—are eligible for membership.

At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors comes to our office to make a thorough audit of our circulation records. The FACTS that he obtains as a result of the audit are published in A.B.C. reports which tell you: How much circulation we have; Where it goes; How obtained; How much people pay for our paper, and many other FACTS that you need in order to KNOW what you get for your advertising money.

It's never necessary for our advertisers to ask, "Oh, where is my wandering ad?" They get the FACTS from our A.B.C. report and KNOW. Ask for a copy today.

*The Audit Bureau of Circulations is a cooperative, nonprofit association of 3,450 advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers. Organized in 1914, A.B.C. established a definition for paid circulation, rules and standards for measuring circulations and methods for auditing and reporting circulation FACTS.

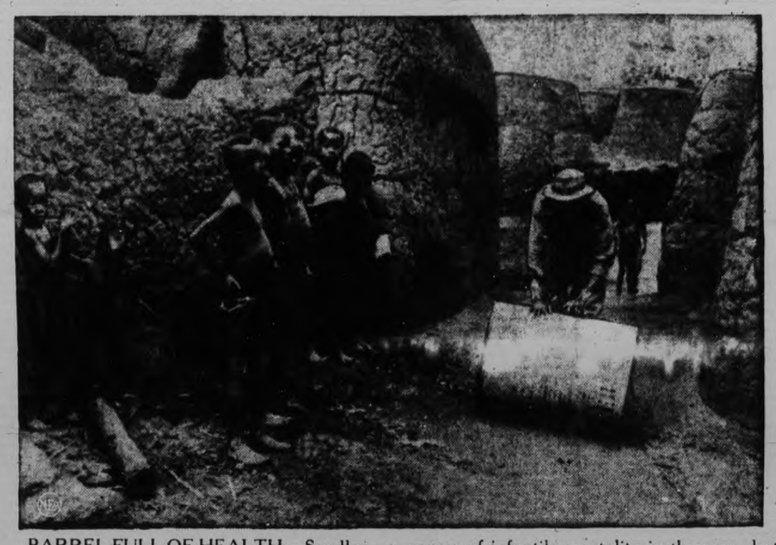
FBI Agents Take Cabbie For Questioning

ST. LOUIS (AP)—FBI agents routed John Hager out of bed at his home here early today in a surprise development in the Bobby Greenlease kidnap-slaying case.

Hager was the cab driver who gave police the tip that led to the arrest of Carl Austin Hall, now held with Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady in Kansas City under federal kidnapping charges in the case.

Hager was questioned recently by police officials here who are conducting a closed-door inquiry into reported discrepancies in officers' accounts of the arrests.

The FBI refused to comment on today's developments.



Hager's wife told reporters that two men who identified themselves as FBI agents told Hager they were taking him to their office.

At virtually the same time, FBI agents and police seized an unidentified man and woman from a downtown hotel, along with two suitcases and an overnight bag.

The FBI refused comment on whether there was any connection between the pair and the Greenlease case.

FBI and police have been conducting an intensive hunt for the missing half of the $600,000 ransom money paid by Robert C. Greenlease of Kansas City in an effort to secure the freedom of his six-year-old son, who was found slain after the Hall-Heady arrests.

Hall contends he does not know what happened to the missing $300,000.

BARREL FULL OF HEALTH—Swollen-bellied chilren in Haute Volta, West Africa, watch a DDT barrel being rolled into their village by members of the French Territorial Health Service. U.S. Considering Further Cuts In Economic Aid

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States administration officials are considering further cuts in foreign economic aid on the theory that, because of Europe's improving economic health, they would not weaken its defence effort.

This administration reasoning is expected to be reflected in budget proposals to Congress next year for appropriations for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Economic improvements in Europe are measured, for example, by the expected achievement of a $9,000,000,000 total of gold and dollar reserves behind European currencies. Such gains are attributed not only to the prolonged U. S. assistance programs, but also to renewed confidence by the Europeans in themselves and to the cumulative effects of recovery from wartime destruction.

REVIEW PROSPECTS

The economic prospects and outlook will be reviewed in Paris next week by the Organization for European Economic Cooperation, which includes 17 countries. Harold E. Stassen, President Eisenhower's chief of foreign operations, will attend in the role of observer. He is expected to tell the Europeans that they can count on a relatively stable American economy for a long time in the future.

Stassen and his advisers estimate that the next round of congressional appropriations will show:

1. A further gradual decline in economic assistance for Europe.

2. An increase in assistance and development programs in the Middle East and Far East and an unchanged continuation of U. S. aid to Latin America.

NO FIGURES YET

These estimates have not yet been reduced to publicly known figures. However, funds appropriated for aid to Europe in the fiscal year ending next June 30, including help to France to carry on the war in Indo-China, total $790,000,000. This compares with a total of $1,282,000,000 made available for the same general purposes in the previous fiscal year.

The total money available this year stands at $6,652,000,000.

Officials here feel Italy and France still have some tough problems to overcome, but their efforts will be made easier with the general European economy relatively healthy.

Junior Farmers To Return For Bonspiel

Junior Farmers of Ontario are returning to Peterborough for their annual curling bonspiel on March 1. Fourteen counties were represented by 28 rinks last winter, and it is expected that Juniors from another six counties will send in their entries by closing date, February 1.

Keith McIntyre, of Otonabee, presided here Friday afternoon, and with him were: Don Carruthers, of Northumberland, George McFadyen, of Victoria, and Ross McMillan, of Beaverton in Ontario county. Dick Hilliard, of Toronto, secretary of the Junior Farmers of Ontario, F. C. Paterson and K. E. Best also took part in the planning.

Rinks last winter were here from both extremities of the province, Carleton, Lanark, Grey and Bruce. Assistance of $10 a rink is provided for those travelling more than 100 miles.

Peterborough Curling Club is turning over their ices to the Juniors for the entire day, permitting three draws, morning, afternoon and evening. Canada Packers will be the dinner hosts, and Quaker Oats Co. pay for the first prizes to the four curlers of the winning rink.

THREE RINKS

In counties like Peterborough with three curling rinks, Keene, Lakefield and the city, it is proposed that preliminary rounds will declare winners to compete in the finals. First entries are expected in January. If the complement of 28 is not indicated by single rinks from each county, second rinks available from some of the counties will be accepted. That is the tentative arrangement which will likely be put into effect.

Some of the rinks from western Ontario last winter were here two nights. Peterborough was favored for this curling tournament of Junior Farmers for its central location.

Boy 5, Will Get Pony But Won't Live To Ride It

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Tommy will get his pony, but unless the prayers of countless Knoxvillians are answered, he won't live to ride it.

The blonde five-year-old lad is in a hospital suffering from leukaemia, dread blood disease with no known cure. Tommy, who already has conquered two attacks of pneumonia, wants a pony "more than anything in the world."

And he'll get it. AFL workers at the plant of the Robertshaw-Fulton Controls Co. here are raising money for the animal in a plant-wide appeal.

Ministers of all faiths have asked "every Chrstian to remember Tommy either by silent or public prayer at Sunday morning services."

STILL HOPE

Doctors have told Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Bolton that their son cannot live. But they refuse to abandon hope.

"We believe that as long as Tommy's alive there's hope," the father said, "and we would like to ask people everywhere to join us in our prayers for his recovery."

At the plant, this notice was posted on bulletin boards:

". . . This boy is asking for a pony. We know that this is the height of every boy's desire, and knowing that he owns one might give him strength to pull through. The money is already coming in. And the parents ask for your prayers."

The Bolton's, who have four other children, maintain a constant watch at the boy's bedside.

"We just don't know how to thank these kind people for what they have done and are doing," Bolton said. "They're wonderful."

CCF Government Seeking To Boost Representation

By WILFRED CHISLETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

REGINA (CP)—Saskatchewan's CCF government seeks to boost its representation in the 53-seat provincial legislature to a blanketing 44 members in by-elections to be held Wednesday next in the ridings of Rosthern and Souris-Estevan.

The by-elections, made necessary when the provincial Liberal party lost two of its top leaders, also may produce the only Progressive Conservative voice in the assembly. Present standing is: CCF 42, Liberals nine and two vacant.

The by-election in Rosthern was called after Liberal leader Walter Tucker resigned to contest successfully a federal seat in the Aug. 10 general election. Souris-Estevan has been without representation since Liberal whip J. E. McCormack was killed in a traffic accident last spring.

FIVE RUNNING

Five candidates have filed papers. The CCF entered two, Liberals one and Social Credit one. A fifth candidate is backed jointly by the Liberal and Progressive Conservative parties, although he is a Progressive Conservative.

John Thiessen, 47-year-old Aberdeen farmer, carries the government banner in Rosthern, opposing Liberal Samuel Carr, 46, rural municipal secretary for Warman, and the Social Credit candidate, Martin Kelln, 34-year-old farmer and first vice-president of the Saskatchewan party organization.

The CCF candidate in Souris-Estevan is William Schieman, 30, Oxbow teacher. His opponent is Robert Kohaly, 32, Estevan lawyer who has the support of Liberals and Progressive Conservatives.

Victory for Mr. Kohaly would give the legislature its second Progressive Conservative member since 1934, when the Anderson co-operative government was swept out of power. The first was A. H. McDonald; elected member for Moosomin in the 1948 provincial election.

LIBERAL STRONGHOLD

There hasn't been a Social Credit member in the legislature since 1944. The party elected two members when it first appeared in Saskatchewan in 1938.

Rosthern has never strayed from the Liberal fold since Gerhard Ens captured it in the first provincial election after Saskatchewan became a province in 1905.

Souris-Estevan, combined from two ridings when representation was cut from 55 seats in 1938, was lost to the CCF in its sweep to power nine years ago. Mr. McCormack recaptured it in 1948, defeating C. D. Cummings.

CCF ORGANIZER—Donald C. MacDonald, 39, national organizer and treasurer of the CCF, has announced he will be a candidate for the Ontario leadership of the party at its provincial convention Nov. 20-21 in Toronto. The former newspaperman, a member of the Ontario provincial CCF council since 1946, will seek the post left vacant in August by the resignation of E. B. Jolliffe.

Millbrook High Holds Salesmanship Week

MILLBROOK (ENS)—Students of Millbrook High School will launch their own salesmanship week within the next few days throughout the Millbrook district. This activity iss ponsored by the Student Council under the supervision of its president, Don Kent.

This plan, presented by a publishing company and sponsored by the school, has proven successful in schools throughout Canada. It enables the school to obtain money for many extra-curricular activities not always provided for in the annual school budget. Hundreds of schools across Canada have earned much needed money to buy athletic equipment, movie projectors, band equipment, and to finance educational tours through this program.

To Command Haida

OTTAWA (CP) — Commander John A. Charles, 35, of Victoria has been appointed commander of the destroyer Haida, the navy announces. The ship is refitting at Halifax.

Cmdr. Charles, a graduate of the Royal Military College at Kingston, took part in many naval campaigns of the Second World War.

Drove Through Cemetery

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C. (CP)—Trucker Ernest Chartrand told the court he was just taking a shortcut home when he drove his truck across graveyard plots and tombstones in Fraser cemetery.

Magistrate George Cassady's rejoinder was also short: "$200 and costs."

Godfrey, Singer Parting "Good Friends"

By ED CREAGH

WASHINGTON (AP) — All appears sweetness and light again between Arthur Godfrey and Julius La Rosa, the Brooklyn boy he hoisted to stardom and then booted out of the Godfrey TV-radio empire in full view of a nation-wide audience.

Godfrey said Friday night on a CBS coast-to-coast show that he's really proud of the lad—"A charming rascal," he called him—and that he bounced the singing ex-sailor to give him a chance to make more money on his own.

Furthermore, he said, he would not have announced La Rosa's departure to the public—and to La Rosa—so abruptly on a radio-TV show last Monday if the program had only run a little longer.

WHAT ABOUT HUMILITY?

Not all of this gibed with Godfrey's earlier explanation that La Rosa had to go because he had lost his "humility."

But it seemed to satisfy La Rosa.

The 23-year-old baritone donned his old blue sailor suit, went out and launched his Godfrey-less career with a non-fee variety performance for the navy relief benefit ball.

He cut out of the show several mild cracks at Godfrey which had turned up in the dress rehearsal only a few hours before and in the finale, assured his 1,000 listeners that Godfrey and only Godfrey "gave me my chance."

La Rosa now stands to make almost three times the $1,000 a week or so Godfrey was paying him when he switches to the Ed Sullivan "Toast of the Town" TV show starting Sunday night.

Agenda Split Threatens Peace Talks

Red Delegates Insist On Admission Of Neutral Nations

PANMUNJOM —(AP)— The Communists today raised an immediate threat to the success of preliminary Korean peace talks at their opening session by demanding the admission of neutral nations to the big talks—a proposal opposed by the United States.

Despite the ominous first day of the preliminary talks, Arthur Dean, U. S. ambassador representing the United Nations, expressed hope that an agreement could be hammered out and "a political conference will be held."

Dean and the Communists ran together headon over an agenda for the preliminary talks. The Reds insisted on discussing composition of the political conference first.

Dean has no authority to negotiate the make-up of the political conference. He can discuss only administrative matters, time and place.

PoW TALKS MAY END

Meanwhile, the strife-torn Communist efforts to persuade 22,400 ex-Red soldiers to go home appeared near an end, stymied by an open split in the prisoner repatriation commission over whether to force the PoWs to listen to the Red persuasion.

Lt.-Gen. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the commission, said the commission's chances of success in its mission are "very small."

"The situation now is very serious," Thimayya told reporters after a two-hour, eight minute commission meeting debate on a letter stating the rival Communist and non-Communist views.

Thimayya said the letter would not be made public for several days.

MAY SEEK OUT

Observers have speculated that the communists may be seeking a way out of the explanations, since two days of talks with 931 Chinese won only 21 prisoners back to the Red fold.

The commission is split over whether to force the prisoners to listen to the Red interviews.

Thimayya effectively has sided against the Reds, ruling that force can not be used unless the com-

Men Return To Jobs Without Raise

London Gas Supplies Back To Normal With Aid of Troops

LONDON (CP)—Oil truck drivers, who began an unauthorized strike a week ago, decided today to resume work Tuesday. Their decision to end the wildcat strike came as London's oil and gas supplies returned to normal with the aid of 6,000 soldiers and airmen who manned trucks around the clock. Some of the strikers had begun trickling back to their jobs today.

A mass meeting of the strikers accepted a back-to-work resolution drafted earlier by 150 leaders.

The vote meant the return of 2,600 drivers without the 10-shilling-a-week pay increase they had demanded.

Even before they made their decision, the effects of the strike had dwindled sharply.

"From the standpoint of the ordinary motorist, the crisis is over," said a spokesman for the automobile association. "Traffic on the roads leading into London this morning is nearly back to normal."

But while the return movement gained momentum, some 470 London bus drivers and conductors walked off the job in sympathy with the truckers.

PROTEST "BLACK PETROL"

The sympathy strike cut into some bus services, but the over-all effect on the sprawling nationalized transport system was negligible.

The bus walkout came as a protest over use by the transport system of troop-delivered gasoline, labelled by bus union men as "black petrol."

The truckers began returning to their jobs after a meeting in the western part of the city Sunday, although an east-end meeting voted to continue the walkout.

The Transport and General Workers Union, to which the truckers belong, refused to support the strike, called by the men to press demands for the closed shop and a 10-shilling weekly raise.

Use Canadian Firm

TORONTO —(CP)— The metropolitan co-ordinating committee of the lakeshore expressway decided today to employ a Canadian engineering firm to draw up traffic plans for the expressway, provided they employ a top United States consulting firm. The committee accepted a motion to this effect from Fred Gardiner, chairman of the metropolitan council, as a way out of disagreement on whether a U.S. or Canadian firm should be employed.

Costs Hospitals $100,000,000 Year For Sick

TORONTO (CP)—It costs private hospitals in Ontario almost $100,000,000 a year to take care of the province's sick, C. N. Weber of Kitchener said today.

The president of the Ontario Hospital Association said in an address at the opening of the association's 29th annual convention here that during 1953 about 750,000 persons, one in every seven in the province, will have been treated in Ontario hospitals.

In 1952 about 115,850 babies, more than 80 per cent of all those born in the province, were born in hospitals.

SQUEEZED BY COSTS

"One of our chief problems is higher costs without corresponding increases in rates and grants for indigent patients," Mr. Weber said.

"It now costs our hospitals about 15 per cent more to care for patients than in 1951. Last year it cost general hospitals an average of $12.58 a day per patient. This included accommodation, meals, operating room, X-rays and other services."

Mr. Weber said the supply of hospital personnel, particularly nurses and technical staff, was still as short as ever.

This is mainly because more and more persons are needed to staff our hospitals with all their expanding programs."

U.S. Export Quota For Wheat Cut By Council

LONDON (Reuters)—The Madrid meeting of the International Wheat Council has solved its major problem: how to adjust export quotas in the light of Britain's withdrawal from the agreement without giving the United States an outright majority. The solution has been to reduce the U.S. export quota to just under 50 per cent of the total export quotas —209,500,000 bushels out of 421,000,000. This compromise must have been easy to reach. The world wheat price is below the maximum of $2.05 under the International wheat agreement and well above the minimum of $1.55. It is only at the maximum that exporters must sell and at the minimum that importers must buy.

The July council meeting in London left a gap of 174,000,000 bushels between aggregate export quotas of 595,000,000 and aggregate import quotas of 421,000,000. This resulted from the withdrawal of Britain who had an import quota of 177,000,000. After its Washington meeting in April, the council announced unsatisfied requests for increases of about 1,000,000 tons (37,000,000 bushels) in the import quotas and if these requests had stayed put part of the gap would have closed.

But most countries decided they did not want bigger imports. Under the old agreement, wheat inside it was much cheaper than wheat outside and exporting countries had to subsidize their exports to keep the price at the agreed maximum. But times have changed and importing countries know it.

VOLUNTARILY CUT IT

Australia covered 27,000,000 bushels at the gap. Her export quota had already been cut from 88,500,000 bushels to 75,000,000. She voluntarily cut it again to 48,000,000.

That left a gap of 147,000,000 to be covered by the United States and Canada. The rub, then, was that last season the U. S. share of Britain's quota was only 22 per cent of Canada's. If the gap had been shared between the two countries in those proportions, the U.S. would have been cut by only 26,000,000 bushels to 244,000,000 while Canada would have been slashed by 121,000,000 to only 129,000,000.

The U. S. would then have had 58 per cent of the total export quotas and so of the total export votes. Most council decisions require a two-thirds majority of the exporters and importers separately, but the U. S. preponderance would have looked bad, especially since no importing country has has more than 13 per cent of the total import quotas and so of the total import votes.

CANADA WOULD REFUSE

Moreover Canada, a larger wheat exporter than the U. S. and far more dependent on wheat exports, would never have consented to having only half as large an export quota.

Indians Open Pow Wow With Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—Nineteen Canadian Indians brought the problems of the Indian brotherhood to the Great White Father at a three-day pow wow which opened today on Parliament Hill.

And after welcoming them, Citizenship Minister Harris indicated that some changes in Indian administration may be forthcoming at the session of Parliament starting Nov. 12.

Mr. Harris said the meeting with the Indians was called because the Great White Father feels Parliament should consider changes to the Indian Act.

He said he wants the views of the Indian brotherhood although the act appears to meet the requirements of the Indians.

NOT IN EFFECT YET

Andy Paul of Vancouver, president of the North American Brotherhood of Indians, said one problem which should be discussed during the meeting is why the Great White Father hasn't implemented more of the recommendations of the last Indian affairs committee five years ago.

VOTING RIGHTS

His views were supported by James Powless of Brantford, Ont., chief of the Six Nations Indians.

One subject on the agenda is the question of votes for Indians in general elections. The 1948 joint committee on Indian affairs of the Commons and Senate recommended that the government extend the franchise to Indians to give them equal status with urban voters.

Another subject is the provision in federal laws that the provinces may request that Indians be permitted to buy liquor in public beverage rooms. Only Nova Scotia and British Columbia have obtained this right for Indians.

Reds Launching Manhunt For Guerrillas

BERLIN (AP) — West Berlin newspapers say police of the Soviet East zone have launched a new big manhunt for fighters of the anti-Communist underground and have clashed with them in several gun battles.

An estimated 28 police have been killed or wounded and 16 partisans arrested in the last two weeks as a result of the sweep, centering in wooded areas southeast of here, according to the reports.

West Berlin's Socialist-edited newspaper Telegraf Sunday said the latest outbreaks are reported to have taken place in the Cottbus district, near Poland. Der Tag, another West Berlin daily, said 2,500 police converged on the area, 60 miles southeast of here, a week ago.

The papers admitted their reports were unconfirmed.

Western intelligence sources said such clashes as have been officially confirmed "do not indicate that East Germany is on the verge of another June 17 revolt."

Der Tag reported that 8,000 police and Soviet troops formed a cordon around E. Berlin to block possible escape routes into the Allied sectors.

Rumors were that the underground fighters included partisan gangs which had slipped out of Poland and Czechoslovakia and were making their way through the East zone to political asylum in West Berlin.

Open House At Skyboro Attracts 1,000 Flying Fans

Open house at the Skyboro landing strip was held Sunday and more than 1,000 inspected the strip and buildings, and watched city and out-of-town pilots stage an impromptu air show. Pilots brought aircraft from Hamilton, Toronto, Oshawa and other nearby centres.

Commenting on the show, Peterborough Pilot Club president Doug Robertson said the members and stockholders in Skyboro were more than satisfied with the open house. He added that an air show would be staged at the strip in the spring, in conjunction with the formal opening.

Out-of-town pilots said they were pleased with the condition of the landing strip and with the facilities offered there. In the past few weeks, gas, oil and telephone service have been made available to aircraft using the field.

LANDED ON POND

One of the features of the show came when several club members landed on floats on a pond near the strip, than changed over to wheels and took off from the strip. The club president pointed out that this would not be a regular procedure at the field, but that it showed the capabilities of the craft that would use it.

Club members and visiting pilots put on a brief aerobatic show, which was highlighted by a demonstration of the country's smallest production aircraft—the Wee Scotsman.

A twin-engined craft expected from Chicago was grounded there and could not make the show. It is expected to be at the field for the opening air show in the spring.

Charlie Kingan of Peterborough, long an advocate of the field, said that three companies had reserved space on the strip for their aircraft, and others were expected to sign up for parking space in the near future.

Application had been made, he said, for the strip's licence and work on the field had brought it

Wilgress Elected GATT Chairman

GENEVA (Reuters)—Ten countries now have signed the recent declaration of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade indicating their readiness to enter into tariff negotiations with Japan.

Signers are the United States, Belgium, Denmark, Finland, Western Germany, India, Italy, Holland, Turkey and Austria.

The declaration was opened for signature Saturday after Japan's election to GATT as an associate member.

Britain, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and Souther Rhodesia have stated that they will not sign.

L. Dan Wilgress, Canada's undersecretary of state for external affairs, Saturday was elected chairman of the GATT member states.

GATT Saturday authorized Britain to extend its system of Commonwealth tariff preferences on certain agricultural products.

Rifle Shot Fired At 15 Children

TORONTO (CP)—Louis Almassy 20, was charged Sunday with shooting with intent after 15 youngsters were scattered by a rifle shot which police say came from Almassy's gun.

The children told police they spotted Almassy pointing a rifle at them from his upstairs window. Some took cover while others ran home.

Almassy told officers the youngsters were throwing stones at his car and he shot "just to scare them."

OAC Sends Team To Judging

BOSTON (AP)—Sixty-nine students, three-man teams from 22 colleges in the U. S. and one in Canada, today began judging—by tasting—milk, butter, cheese and ice cream products in the 19th collegiate students international contest.

Winners will be announced at a dinner Tuesday night and the first three will be eligible for graduate research fellowships for a year's study in dairy industrial problems.

The contestants will be judged on a team basis and the individuals awarded the fellowships will be selected by the dairy technology faculty of the respective colleges.

Competing colleges include the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, Ont.

Good Turnout For By-Election

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Voting was heavy throughout Niagara Falls riding today in the first provincial by-election since the 1951 general vote.

An early-morning fog gave way to overcast skies, but there was no rain. Showers were forecast this evening.

The seat became vacant upon the resignation last summer of William L. Houck, a Liberal. Mr. Houck won the newly-created federal seat of Niagara in the Aug. 10 general election.

The four-way by-election fight fight has been quiet. Candidates are Grant Donald, railway man and Niagara Falls city councillor, Liberal; Arthur Jolley, Niagara Falls building contractor, Progressive Conservative; Pat Spain, Fort Erie machinist, CCF; and Mary Price, Welland secretary, Labor-Progressive Party.

OFFICIAL PROTEST

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—An official protest to the Canadian government and to the Polish embassy in Ottawa over the imprisonment of his eminence, Cardinal Wynyzski, Primate of Poland, was passed here Sunday at a meeting of 160 separate school trustees from southwestern Ontario.

Motel Clinic Held At London

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The many problems facing motel and tourist cabin operators were emphasized here today by heavy attendance at the first clinic held in Canada —more than double the 100 expected.

Operators began a two-day clinic sponsored by the Ontario department of travel and publicity, which will study accounting, landscaping, architecture, housekeeping and decorating.

Today's talks were on accounting by Prof. Robert W. McIntosh, of the tourist and resort extension service, Michigan State College, Lansing, Mich., and J. B. Liddell, superintendent, school of gardening, Niagara Parks commission, Niagara Falls, on landscaping.

In welcoming the operators, mayor Rush of London mentioned his city's efforts in attracting tourists. London is one of Ontario's biggest motel centres. London Chamber of Commerce reports 14 motels in and around the city, with 355 rooms.

Launch Mexico Flights

MEXICO CITY (CP)—A Trans-Canada Air Lines North Star airliner arrived here Saturday night on a pre-inaugural flight of TCA's new scheduled Montreal-to-Mexico run. Aboard were Health Minister Martin and a party of prominent Canadians who will pay a brief visit to Mexico City before returning home. The new run is expected to boost tourist trade between Canada and Mexico and aid in facilitating trade relations.

Report 2 Survivors In Serious Condition

WELLAND (CP)—Condition of two survivors of a head-on automobile crash which claimed the lives of three persons Sunday on highway 20 was described this morning as serious.

In critical condition is Mrs. Olga Reid of detroit, who is being x-rayed today to determine the extent of skull, pelvis and back injuries. Her husband, Clifton Reid, 53, was killed in the crash.

The Reid car collided with a machine travelling east on the highway on the outskirts of Fonthill. Two of three women in the latter car, Mrs. Elsie Back, 55, and her mother, Mrs. Kate Fessenden, 83, of Delhi, were killed.

Elizabeth Back, 26, who was also in this car, is in Welland county General Hospital with a broken arm, knee and head injuries.

Closing In On Treasure

7 Farmers Believe Gold Of Jesse James Located

PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP)—Seven farmers turned treasure-hunters believe they are only five feet from a suitcase full of gold supposedly flung in the Black river near here by Jesse James.

George Emerson of Popular Bluff, Mo., said his divining rod—a forked stick believed to have power to locate water and gold—indicated the treasure lay 30 feet under the sandy river bank, some three miles east of Corning, Ark.

The diggers, who reached 25 feet Sunday, are charging $1 a person to sightseers who want to watch the operation.

Floyd Sells, whose 68-year-old father L. C. Sells earlier attempted to remove the fabled treasure, believes the suitcase will be uncovered Wednesday.

Sells says James and his gang tossed the loot from a Missouri bank robbery into the river while fleeing from a posse—some time before the turn of the century. The weighted bag disappeared into quicksand.

BACK INTO SAND

Then, 27 years ago, the elder Sells and 12 other farmers—after consulting fortune tellers—began digging at a spot 30 feet from the river bank. They explained that the river had changed course.

They claim that after two months of digging they found the suitcase, but when they attempted to recover it, the bag fell into quicksand at the bottom of the pit.

Sells said they decided to postpone further search after a "fortune teller told us that two of the 13 men had planed to kill the remaining 11."

5 Billion Investment Stake In Canada

WASHINGTON (AP)—Private U.S. capital has a $5,000,000,000 investment stake in Canadian industry, the department of commerce reported Sunday.

No other sihgle country has received as much private U.S. capital going directly into development of natural resources and industries, the department said in releasing the results of a survey on foreign investments of the United States.

The favor in which Canada is held by American investors is reflected in the rate of investment growth of more than $500,000,000 a year since 1950, the survey showed.

In 1950, the latest year for a complete census by the department's office of business economics, the private American investment stake in Canada was $3,600,000,000. It is about $5,000,000,000 now.

Canadian Law Irks Immigrant

LONDON (CP)—A Canadian immigration official said today that a chair-heaving Manchester decorator must be one of those persons "who is irked because Canada has a few immigration laws of her own."

The official was commenting on the case of 41-year-old Albert Hartwell, who had been set to sail Saturday for Canada. Hartwell chucked a chair through the Canadian immigration office window when he had to miss the boat because of failure to comply with regulations.

Canadian authorities four days earlier had asked him to have his wife medically examined. He declined, saying she wasn't going to Canada.

The Canadian official explained today that emigrants with families always are asked to have their dependents medically examined whether they are going along or not. The aim, he said, is to avoid as far as possible cases where sickness might not allow the families to be rejoined in Canada.

Hartwell was fined £2 for breaking the window.

50 Houses Damaged As Jet Plane Crashes

IPSWICH, England (Reuters)—A jet fighter crashed into a crowded residential area here today and exploded.

Fifty houses were damaged. Twenty persons were injured and the pilot was killed.

The plane, an RAF Meteor twin jet, just missed a school and an old people's home.

'Tiger Hunt' Revived

Chinese Reds Renewing Terror Drive For Money

By FRED HAMPSON

HONG KONG (AP)—The Chinese Communists are reviving the dread "Wu Fan" economic terror campaign of last year.

Arrests already have been made and so-called "people's" trials started.

In 1952 there was a national movement to eliminate the Wu Fan (five evils) from private owners—such as tax evasion, bribery and fudging on contracts. In practice it turned out to be a terror campaign to collect extra money for Peiping through fines.

It was called a "tiger hunt" and became so violent in the spring of 1952 that the Reds had to call it off because it was stopping production in private industry—still about half of all China's industry.

Recently stories in Peiping propaganda have hinted that a new "tiger hunt" was about to start against backsliding private owners. The commonest charge was tax evasion. Later in a story covering Manchurian production, the Reds added charges of excess profits.

In one of the first trials, a private factory manager in Mukden was charged with having bought raw materials too low and sold the finished product too high. He was given eight years' imprisonment.

The cry is on: "Get the criminal capitalists who are harming the people."

Why are the Communists reviving this most-feared of all their so-called reforms? Nobody on the outside knows, but one guess is that the yield on farm taxes has fallen off and must be made up some place.

There was some opinion by observers here that the Communists intend to use their new crackdown as an excuse to take over additional private industries.

Boy Scout, 12 Fells Attacker

FRENCHMAN'S BAY, Ont. (CP) A scoutmaster was clubbed with a rifle Sunday and his attacker was felled by a 12-year-old Boy Scout when three armed hunters tangled with some scouts near here, police said.

Two of the hunters fought 20-year-old James Hern of Frenchman's Bay and the third held off 10 scouts with a shotgun.

Jim McQuinn of nearby Dunbarton hit one of the hunters on the neck with the handle of his scout knife, knocking him out. The two other hunters picked up their companion and fled into the bush.

Police searched the district but failed to find the trio.

Harry Cook, another scoutmaster, said he and Hern had gone to see the hunters when his scouts complained about bullets whizzing through the trees at their Sunshine Valley camp.

Frenchman's Bay is 15 miles east of Toronto.

Three Hungry Bears End Up As Floor Rugs

SMITHS FALLS (CP) — Three bears, in quest of honey, likely will end up as floor rugs.

The 225-pound mother bear and her two 65-pound youngsters were shot and killed Friday night as they returned to plunder a number of beehives on the grounds of a florist, two miles north of this eastern Ontario community.

They had been there the night before, knocking over five of 25 beehives.

Dan Row of Augoro brought down the mother bear with three shots. His companion, Moyd Nichol Smiths Falls Taxidermist, bagged the cubs with another three.

The bears were taken to Mr. Nichol's home where they likely will be tuned into rugs.

Say 5th Column Putting Tito Under Pressure

By STAN SWINTON

ROME (AP) — President Tito may be talking tough to the West over Trieste because of pressure from a pro-Soviet fifth column inside Yugoslavia.

That possibility is being considered seriously by Western diplomats it was learned on reliable authority today.

Two separate informants said pro-Moscow organizers have been linked with recent Belgrade demonstrations in which British and U.S. establishments were attacked. These excesses were intended to embarrass Tito, it was said.

ABOUT FACE

Pro-Soviet pressure is described as the most logical explanation for Tito's about-face on the Trieste issue since he visited England last spring. At that time Tito led Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden to believe that the present Trieste solution—zone A to Italy and zone B to Yugoslavia — would be accepted by Yugoslavia after only a token protest, informants say.

Western diplomats, especially British, were shocked by Tito's action after Oct. 8. They had expected a few speeches of protest and then tacit consent. Instead, the Yugoslav dictator said he would start fighting if Italian troops entered zone A.

Diplomatic quarters of more than one country believe that a large pro-Soviet fifth column likely has existed in Yugoslavia ever since Tito's 1948 break with Moscow.

Used Invisible Ink To List Dead PoWs

WASHINGTON (AP).— An army sergeant says he wrote in visible ink in a Communist propaganda book the names of 461 American PoW's who died in North Korea imprisonment and brought the list to freedom with him.

The Washington Star, which told the story, said the army considered the list authentic enough to remove the 461 from its "missing in action" files, declare them dead and permit payment on their insurance policies.

How are your driving attitudes?

Feel you're the best judge of speed at which you should be permitted to drive? Feel it's the other drivers who make the mistakes? Lose your temper in traffic tie-ups? Disregard traffic lights at night when streets are empty?

In November Reader's Digest, Paul W. Kearney says it's the mental viewpoint of the person behind the wheel (not skill, sex or age) that's the important factor in auto-accident totals — offers a simple test to evaluate your driving attitudes.

Try To Solve Reason Why Earth Magnetic

LONDON (CP) — Backed by Canadian dollars, a Siberia-born scientist sets sail this week to spend the next seven years looking at oceans to find out why the earth is magnetic.

Versatile Dr. Bohdan Medusa Cwilong, formerly associate professor of physics at the University of British Columbia, once paddled 200 miles through Poland in a washtub. This time he plans to use a conventional 74-foot yawl, replaced later by a smaller craft now under construction in Vancouver.

Dr. Cwlong, whose accomplishments include prize-winning plays in blank verse and a runner-up spot in a New Zealand national chess championship, weighs anchor from Hamble in Hampshire Tuesday or Wednesday. With him will be his English wife, Marie, and five assorted crew members, including a chef from a luxury liner and a 16-year-old ships' boy, Roy Nash.

SEVEN-YEAR SCHEDULE

Here is Dr. Cwilong's salt-wash schedule:

Three years in the Pacific, covering as much as possible of an area of 15,000,000 square miles;

Two years in the Indian ocean, 6,000,000 square miles;

Two years in the Atlantic, 3,000,000 square miles.

"We want to find out why the earth is magnetic," said the 44-year-old scientist, reached by telephone at his Hampshire headquarters. "The ocean is the best place to do it because there we are free from the interference caused by land masses."

The first stop will likely be Lisbon, then Madeira and the Bahamas. Dr. Cwilong, whose resources include a $600 grant from Dr. Norman MacKenzie, president of UBC, hopes to be in Vancouver in about a year to pick up his second boat, a 34-foot demagnetized yawl which will be called Non-Magnetic III.

STUDY STORMS

The party plans to spend several months in the doldrums, studying tropical storms and taking films of waterspouts.

"It sounds dangerous," said Dr. Cwilong, "but actually you can get quite close, they move so slowly."

The seven-year search of the seas, if successful, should add much to current thinking about terrestial magnetism. As things stand, magnetic lines of force can be measured and neutralized, but little is known about how or why they came into existence. One recent theory attributes regional magnetic changes to "flow movements" in the earth's molten core.

The last magnetic survey ship, the Carnegie, burned out off Samoa in 1929. A British-built craft was recently scrapped for financial reasons. Air survey is considered expensive and the present expedition is a shoestring compromise.

BORN IN SIBERIA

Dr. Cwilong was born in Irkutsk, Siberia, son of a Polish judge deported in the days of the Czars. As a 14-year-old schoolboy, he won a bet by paddling down two Polish rivers to Warsaw in a washtub, making the trip in five days.

An accomplished yachtsman, author of technical books, painter sculptor and expert on spectroscopy, Dr. Cwilong made his first round-the-world voyage in 1936. He spent the Second World War at Oxford, where his investigations into freezing of aircraft at high altitudes provided a basis for production of artificial rainfall and brought him the Johnson Memorial Prize, awarded every four years for outstanding work in meteorology or astronomy.

Before going to Vancouver, he spent three years in New Zealand.

Jordan Charges Short Battle

JERUSALEM (AP)—Jordanian officials said Sunday troops of the Arab Legion fought a 20-minute battle Saturday with Israeli soldiers within Jordan-held territory north of Tulkarm.

The announcement said an eight-man Israeli patrol crossed the Jordan-Israel armistice line and that Arab troops opened fire wounding one Israeli. The Israelis retreated with their wounded man, the Jordan officials said.

(An Israeli military spokesman in the Jewish-held New City of Jerusalem said: "No Arab-Israeli engagement whatsoever has been reported from this area.") mission agrees to it unanimously.

The preliminary peace talks lasted one hour and 15 minutes. The negotiators meet again tomorrow at 11 a. m. (9 p. m. Monday EST).

The Reds were represented by Huang Hua, counsellor of the Chinese Communist foreign affairs ministry, and Ki Sok Bok, who holds the same position in North Korea.

PREPARED STATEMENT

The North Korean hastily opened the meeting with a prepared statement demanding the admission of neutrals—particularly Asian—to the political conference. The Chinese representative immediately echoed the arguments.

Dean merely noted the Red statement and in answer proposed that the conference get started Nov. 23. He proposed an agenda listing time and place as the first order of business in the preliminary talks.

The UN agenda left the door open for later discussion of who should attend the conference talks.

Reporters were allowed to watch much of the first session and the impression was voiced that although the North Koreans were doing most of the talking, the Chin-

Strike Halts Milk Supplies

NEW YORK (AP)—Milk industry drivers and plant workers struck at 4 p.m. Sunday, cutting off milk supplies to about 12,000,000 persons in the New York metropolitan area.

The walkout, involving 13,000 employees and 200 companies in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, was announced by representatives of both the AFL International Brotherhood of Teamsters and by the employer group.

The announcement came after a practically continuous negotiating session which started Friday night.

The strike, originally scheduled for 4 p.m. Saturday, was postponed for 24 hours, in hope that a settlement could be reached.

The union demands a 35-hour week, $15 a week wage increase and 11 paid holidays per year, in addition to several welfare clauses. Plant workers now average $82 a week and drivers $115, including commissions.

No counter-offer was made by the employers during the long negotiations.

The affected area includes New York City, Long Island, Westchester and Rockland Counties in New York, New Jersey north of Trenton and a part of Fairfield County, Conn.

City officials said arrangements have been made to ensure milk deliveries during the strike to hospitals, schools, child-care centres and other essential institutions.

up to the specifications demanded by the Department of Transport. Grading and removal of stones from the landing area is practically completed and colored sheet metal cones delineate the borders of the strip.

Opening of the field will be the culmination of seven years of work and planning by city pilots and their backers.

FOR LIGHT AIRCRAFT

The Department of Transport has made it clear it is willing to licence the strip for light aircraft and daytime use only. A more suitabe site for a commercial field will have to be found before Peterborough can hope to attract any quantity of commercial aircraft.

Some exploratory work toward a commercial field has gone on, with the city providing moral support. Department of Transport officials say that a survey cannot be made of potential sites this year, but that one will be made in the near future. It is understood that there are three sites near the city that could be considered for such a field.

MUNICIPAL BOARD HERE

The Ontario Municipal Board will hold two sittings in the city hall Tuesday. At 11:30 a.m. they will study the city's proposal to annex the portion of Otonabee township purchased by H. B. McGuinness Ltd. for construction of a new trailer manufacturing plant. At 1:30 p.m. they will hear a petition from a group of residents opposing construction of pavements, curbs and gutters on Albertus Ave.

26 Head Angus Average $273 In Auction Sale

At the first auction of the Eastern Ontario Aberdeen-Angus Association, Saturday at Exhibition Park, 26 head sold for $7,115, an average of $273.65. Some of the bred heifers were with calf at foot. The first ten lots averaged $337.50, and from there on prices dropped below the $300 mark for most of the offerings.

"Considering everything, our first sale has been quite satisfactory," said L. C. Powell, Todmorden, president of the Association. It was organized only a few months ago for the purpose of trying to increase breeder interest in the black cattle east of Toronto.

Buyers were present from as far as Kingston and Owen Sound. The best price was $460 paid by G. B. Beatty of Drynoch Farms, Richmond Hill, to A. E. De Nure of North Monaghan for Bonnie Lass of Doddie Brae, born March 31, 1949, sold with calf and rebred.

FARM NEAR CITY

Doddie Brae Farm is the name of the De Nure place, immediately west of the Kawartha Golf Club. Their other cow in the sale, with calf, sold for $290 to Gordon Berry of Glanford Station.

The second top price $440 was received by Malcolm Bailey of Uxbridge for Barbara McHenry 12th in calf to the new Bailey her sire, Black Prince of Woodslea 3rd. Buyer was E. C. McDowell, Millbrook.

Doug Ketcheson of Foxboro in Hasting county took five lots for a total of $1,105. They included two bred heifers and a bull consigned by N. A. Robinson, Norval; and two bred heifers, one with calf at foot, from the herd of A. H. Fraser, Agincourt. Mr. Ketcheson has the ultimate prospect of ten animals for his $1,105. One of them is a bull calf born last February in the herd of N. A. Robinson.

Ambrose Heffernan of Douro picked up four, one of them a year old bull consigned by Don Head Farms, Richmond Hill, and sired by the 1952 grand champion at the Royal Winter Fair. Counting prospective calves, Mr. Heffernan may look forward to seven head from his purchase. Presumably he is on the way to becoming a breeder of Angus cattle in his township.

Frank Pawley of Norwood paid $200 for a yearling bull, Barbarian of Bonnie Deen 2nd consigned by J. H. Beelby of Stroud.

T. V. O'Toole, Peterborough, R.R. 6, bought from Malcolm Bailey for $210 a bull sired by the champion at the 1951 Ontario bull sale. It was born in Jan. 1952.

$315 HEIFER

Carman Bell of Smith picked out a bred heifer for $315 from the consignment of N. A. Robinson, Normal. Barry Smith of Cavan paid $265 for a bred heifer, the only one in the sale from the herd of W. C. Hall, Millbrook. N. Dora of Bowmanville took home a heifer consigned by Ron Marquis of Sunderland. He paid $250 for it.

Those appeared to be the successful bidders of this section of Central Ontario. Auctioneer was Duncan Brown of Shedden.

Directors of the association present were: L. C. Powell, president, M. Bailey, Uxbridge; Ron Marquis, Sunderland; E. C. McDowell, Millbrook, and Cameron McTaggart, Aurora.

Mr. Powell remarked that some of the buyers collected bargains in this first sale of the Eastern Ontario breeders. "On the other hand we got some farmers in this section interested in the Aberdeen-Angus cattle, and that was partly the idea of holding the auction in Peterborough."

Theatre Receives 4th Canadian Award

Winner of the 4th prize in Canada and first in Ontario is the honor which has come to George Shepherd, manager of the Peterborough Odeon Theatre in a contest conducted by the J. Arthur Rank Organization.

The contest developed out of the showing of the picture "The Queen is Crowned' which when it was presented in Peterborough ran daily from early morning to midnight. Thousands of citizens saw the picture and practically all the boys and girls in the Peterborough and district.

There were 846 theatres in Canada in the contest whose main idea was to award the manager of the theatre who revealed the most showmanship during the presentation of the picture. To Mr. Shepherd went fourth place honors in Canada and a cheque for $100 and $15 for the top zone prize of first in Canada.

Mr. Shepherd in receiving the cheque from Mayor Hugh Wenddell on Saturday said he was delighted with the honor which came to his theatre. He thanked the staff, the merchants and paid tribute to the Examiner for its photographs and stories during the showing of the picture.

U.S. Export

The solution has been to cut the U. S. quota by about 6,000,000 bushels to 209,500,000 and Canada's by about 87,000,000 to 163,000,000.

Whether this compromise is a concession by the United States or a concession to it remains to be seen.

Meanwhile business under the agreement continues at a slow pace.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP) — The U.S. dollar was at a discount of 1 27-32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds at noon today. This was unchanged from Friday's noon rate. Pound sterling $2.76 1-16, against $2.75¾.

Six Arrested In Guiana

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (Reuters)—Six leaders of the leftist Peoples Progressive party, arrested while, police said, they were trying to ferment trouble among suguarr plantation workers, remained in custody today as this colony's legal experts considered what charges to bring against them.

The six had been held 24 hours at Blairmont, a sugar estate village where they were seized by police after trying to persuade sugar workers to join a PPP-called strike. They were transferred Sunday to the large police station at New Amsterdam, 75 miles southeast of here.

Three of the men are major leaders in the party, recently ousted from the colony's government. They are Sidney King, former communications minister, Rory Westmaas, organizer of the Guiana (Communist) peace committee, and Martin Carter. The others are lesser-ranking members.

The arrests were the first evidence of an official "get tough" policy toward the allegedly pro-Communist party.

Eden Indicate Row With Iran Near End

LONDON (Reuters) — Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden indicated today that Britain's dispute with Iran over the nationalization of the oil industry there may be drawing to an end.

He told the House of Commons that information he has received since last week "encourages me to think that the Iranian government and people understand the the sincerity of our desire to see friendly relations restored between our two countries."

Iran broke off diplomatic relations with Britain when Mohammed Mossadegh was prime minister. Since he was ousted by the new regime of Gen. Fazlollah Zahedi, hopes of a settlement have risen.

Most Hunters Rescued In Wyoming

SHERIDAN, Wyo. (AP) — Rescues of snowbound big-game hunters neared an end in the Big Horn mountains west of here today.

Speedy aid also was promised for other groups of hunters marooned in western Colorado.

Winding up a six-day rescue operation in northern Wyoming, a bulldozer was expected to reach the last five camps of hunters cut off by drifts which piled up as 30 inches of snow fell.

Officials here said the five camps, all withing eight miles of Medicine Wheel, Wyo., in the heart of the Big Horns, contained no more than 20 men. They were the last of an estimated 300 who were snowed in.

NEARLY FINISHED

Weasels — speedy little snow tractors—and bulldozers finished reaching most of the hunters in Wyoming Sunday, and only a bulldozer breakdown kept rescuers from breaking trail to the remaining five camps. Two food drops were made during the day.

Officials said many of the hunters decided to take advantage of the snow and continued their quest for game.

Stock Prices Mixed In Moderate Trading

TORONTO (CP) — Prices were mixed in moderate early afternoon stock market trading.

Industrials were higher with utilities still the leaders. Steels, down slightly in the forenoon, were about even in light trading. Refining oils showed some strength.

Base metals were lower as Steep Rock and International Nickel lost slight amounts in the seniors, and Cassiar and a few minor issues dropped in the juniors. Dominion Asbestos was up pennies.

Uraniums continued to be heavy traders. Parbec traded more than 270,000 shares with a gain of more than five cents. New Bidlamaque and New Mylamaque were also active with little change.

Western oils were down about a quarter-point with most principal issues losing small amounts. Anglo-Canadian countered the trend with a 15-cent gain.

Golds were mostly quiet with a few senior gains accounting for the quarter-point index rise.

Joint Business Leaders Oppose Tariff Barriers

OTTAWA (CP)—Top business leaders of the United States have joined with those of Canada in opposing new tariff barriers between the two countries. Canadian exporters have been alarmed at the barriers already set up by the Eisenhower administration and at the agitation in the U.S. for more protection.

U.S. business confirmed its support for freer trade at a meeting of the Canada-U.S. committee jointly maintained by the Chambers of Commerce of each country. A statement released Sunday on the meeting, held Friday and Saturday at the Seigniory Club, Quebec, says:

"At previous meetings, this group of business men from Canada and the United States has stated its belief in a policy of freer and expanding world trade, the removal of trading restrictions between nations, and the development and promotion of international investment.

HAVE BEEN ACCEPTED

"These policies . . . have been accepted by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce of the United States and are now part of the approved policy statements of both bodies. . . . .

"The joint committee also discussed some recent tendencies to resort to trade restrictions when economic difficulties developed and extended its previously stated views by declaring its belief that the solution . . . did not lie in creating new tarriff barriers, increased protection and new obstacles to international trade."

Carried Rifle To Protect Herd Farmer Fined

COBOURG (ENS)—Neil Corkery of Hamilton township paid a $10 fine in police court here and was far from satisfied with it.

Game Overseer Vic Harris found him with a loaded rifle on a township road on Sunday, Oct. 11, and charged him under the section which makes it a breech of the game regulations to carry a loaded rifle on Sunday, except on one's own property.

"Ferguson and I pasture our cattle together and there are wolves up there," Corkery said. "They'd clean out a small flock of sheep in a night.

"I went up there that Sunday and took the rifle along in case I saw a wolf skulking around. Just when you don't have a gun with you is when you get a chance for a shot. It was my understanding that you can have a loaded gun on your own property on Sunday to protect your stock."

Game Overseer Harris interjected that the gun was not on his own property but on a public road.

ONLY ROUTE

"To get to where we pasture the cattle we have to use the road; there is no other way to get there," said Corkery.

Magistrate R. B. Baxter explained that if the accused had unloaded his rifle before returning to the road where he had left his car, there would have been no breach of the regulations.

"It was dark when I came out of the field and I intended to unload the gun when I got back to the car and turned on the lights but Harris was there waiting for me," Corkery replied. "It doesn't seem right that we should be penalized because we protect our own property. I thought I was quite within my rights."

"The law is there and it has to be obeyed. Where there is an infraction, a penalty follows," said the magistrate.

Corkery's gun was also confiscated.

Woman Jailed 7 Days For Drunk Driving

COBOURG (ENS)—Mrs. George Tapscott of Hamilton township was sentenced to seven days in jail for being under the influence of liquor while in control of a car.

She was fined an additional $10 and costs or 10 days for illegal possession of liquor. A charge of supplying liquor to a person on the interdicted list was adjourned.

Her husband was fined $50 and costs or 30 days for being drunk. A charge of illegal possession against him was dismissed.

Stanley Hadman of Brighton was fined $25 and costs for assaulting Orville Peever of Colborne. The row followed a collision of their two cars.

Choose Hat To Fit Occasion To Be In Style

Can you picture a diplomat at an embassy garden party wearing pin-stripe trousers, a cutaway coat and a straw hat?

Incongrous isn't it—and more than slightly ridiculous. There's a proper style of hat to be worn on every occasion. Here are a few simple rules to follow when deciding what to wear:

The snap-brim felt is for sports and purely informal goings about.

The welt-edge felt gets by for business and can be worn with fitted coats, always with the brim up.

With dark sack suits and the dark fitted overcoat, usually known as the Chesterfield, the right hat is a Homburg.

For dinner clothes, a soft black hat or an opera hat may be worn, but never a derby or colored felt.

And of course with tails a man needs a topper.

Time Flies

The so-called "new" castle at Newcastle, England, was built in the 11th century.

Should Choose Hat For Looks Not Coverage

Ladies, watch your husband the next time he puts on his hat.

A hundred chances to one he instinctively pops it on the top of his head, then turns around and says "let's go."

But worse than that, most men don't know what style of hat suits them best. The relation between the hat and the features, or the hat and the rest of the anatomy, is something they don't talk about, even in the locker room.

But even though hats are the last thing to be put on and the first thing taken off, they are conspicuous—the first part of you to come in sight over the horizon, followed by the face.

So, gentlemen, when you buy a hat look first at how the crown and your face get along together. If they are both approximately the same width, they'll get along together like strawberries and cream.

Next look at the brim. Keep it on the narrow side if your face is small or thin, wider if you're full-faced.

Remember: the farther back you begin to snap the brim of a felt, the wider the brim appears. So begin by snapping it down just in front of the ears and work backwards or forwards from there.

Lastly, walk over to the full-length mirror and see how the hat checks with your whole figure. Then put your hands up to the back of it and give it a pull downwards in the back and a bit of a tilt to one side. Wear your hat with a dash!

Hat Lasts Longer If Cared For

Most men are pretty good about taking care of their clothes but, when it comes to hats, they seem to think a nail is the right parking place and a hat box is something to file old papers in.

The result is that in a couple of weeks a new hat looks like something left in a will. So here are some hints about the care of a hat:

Use of a hat box for storing hats. That's what it's for.

If a felt hat is gone over carefully with a soft brush before it is put away, it remains clean longer and wears better.

If the hat is kept in a box, it is protected from dust and dampness and retains both its shape and freshness over a longer preiod.

The folding silk opera hat should never be shut down when put away because the silk will crack and break.

Rare Metal

OSLO (CP) —The first shipment of Norwegian Niobium concentrate was sent to the United States recently. The rare metal is used in making heat-resistant alloys for jet engines and estimates 6,000,000 tons of limestone rich in this metal has been found in central Norway.

Champion Horse

SIDNEY, Australia (CP)—The six-year-old horse Carioca emerged as Australia's champion handicap racer when jockey Billy Cook booted him home first by a head in the Metropolitan Handicap. Carioca earlier won the Sydney Cup, making a famous double with the Metropolitan Handicap, and his double triumph was a heavy blow to bookmakers.

Doctors Use Mechanical "Angle Worm"

By FRANK CAREY
Associate Press Science Reporter

ATLANTA (AP)—A mechanical "trained angle worm" offers a new and improved aid in relieving dangerous obstructions of the intestine the Southern Medical Association was told today.

Two Lynchburg, Va., doctors said the new device appears to be the answer to the difficulties — and sometimes failures—marking previous methods for getting a rubber tube down through the food passageway into the intestine to remove obstructing gas and fluids by suction.

MANY CURVES

Dr. John W. Devine, Jr., and his doctor-father said the problems have resulted from the fact that there are several devious curves and one outright loop in the passageway leading from the gullet down through the stomach into the duodenum, first part of the intestine.

The new "angle worm" is a hollow piece of curved hard rubber, attached by an ingenious "swivel joint" to the fore end of a rubber suction tube which is inserted into the patient's nose and guided down through the meandering pathway into the duodenum.

USE REMOTE CONTROL

The "swivel joint" is remotely controlled by a miniature speedometer cable inserted in the tube so that the doctor can swing the "angle worm" in any direction he desires.

Thus, the doctors said, the entire tube can be guided, much like a crawling worm, along the tricky pathway.

The procedure is observed by an x-ray fluoroscope. The device has been employed successfully in a number of cases and an extremely small model has been developed for use in babies.

Missing Five Days

GORE BAY (CP)—Thomas Simon, 77-year-old resident of a Manitoulin island reserve, has been missing since last Wednesday, police said Saturday. Mr. Simon lived alone on the Shesegwaning reserve, about 25 miles west of here, and was last seen taking a walk into the bush.

$85,000 Fire Damages Rink

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—A three-alarm fire early today destroyed a main street roller skating rink, causing an estimated $85,000 damage.

Several firemen were treated for minor injuries while fighting the blaze. The cause was not immediately determined.

About 100 patrons in an adjacent restaurant and residents of neighboring apartments were evacuated when flames threatened to spread to the buildings.

Six Canadian Records Broken By Weightlifters

MONTREAL (CP) — Six Canadian records and one British Empire mark were broken Saturday as weightlifters from the United States and Canada competed in the North American weightlifting championship here.

Dave Bailey of Noranda, Que., came up with an impressive performance. He cleaned and jerked 365½ pounds to beat the old Canadian heavyweight mark of 364 pounds held by Doug Hepburn of Vancouver.

Light-heavyweight Gerry Gratton of Verdun, Que., a member of Canada's 1952 Olympic team in Helsinki, snatched 283 pounds for a new Canadian and British Empire record. Gratton also won the North American light-heavyweight championship, lifting a total of 880 pounds.

Jules Sylvain of Quebec won the featherweight class, lifting a total of 685 pounds, and beat two Canadian records. He pressed for a new total of 217½ pounds and snatched 211½.

NEW OPEN RECORD

The other two Canadian records, both open, were smashed by middle-heavyweight Gerome Schmansky of Detroit, who also topped his class with a total lift of 830 pounds. Schmansky broke the open record in the press, lifting 251½ pounds, and in the snatch, lifting 262¾.

A brother, heavyweight Robert Schmansky, holder of the world record in the clean and jerk, tried hard to beat his mark of 412½. He and Paul Anderson of York, Pa., each came to within one pound of tying the record.

Anderson came first in the heavyweight class, lifting a total of 1,015 pounds. He pressed 330, shatched 275 and cleaned and jerked 410.

Give Serial Numbers Of Kidnapping Money

WASHINGTON (AP)—The FBI today began distribution throughout the United States of the serial numbers of the unrecovered portion of the $600,000 Greenlease kidnapping ransom.

When Carl Austin Hall, confessed kidnapper and killer of the child, was arrested in St. Louis, only $296,280 was recovered.

The list being distributed today contains the serial numbers of the currency making up the remainder of $303,720.

All of the money is in $10 and $20 bills.

Society Goes Broke

TOKYO (Reuters)—One of the biggest financial sensations since the war rocked Japan today when an investment association with 150,000 members anounced it was suspending business because of a $1,500,000 deficit. The Keizui Dozen Kai Investment Association announced that its liabilities amounted to about $12,000,000 and its assets to $10,500,000.

HANOI, Indo-China (AP) — A French army spokesman announced today that French Union troops have killed 37 Communist-led Vietminh soldiers and captured 32 others in minor mop-up actions in the Red river delta.

Sure Way To Improve Looks Is To Wear A Dapper Hat

Canadian hatmakers have set aside the week of October 26 to November 1 as National Hat Week, a week in which they devote their not inconsiderable resources to urging the Canadian male to outfit himself with a new hat.

They are after the man who doesn't wear a hat, the man who always wear one, and the man who sometimes wears one.

Why wear a hat? That question will be asked often enough.

There are a number of reasons: Some wear hats to hide bald spots, others wear them in winter to keep their heads warm, others wear them in summer to keep the sun out of their eyes, and nervous swains hold them in their hands to twist them and appear bashful.

IMPROVES APPEARANCE

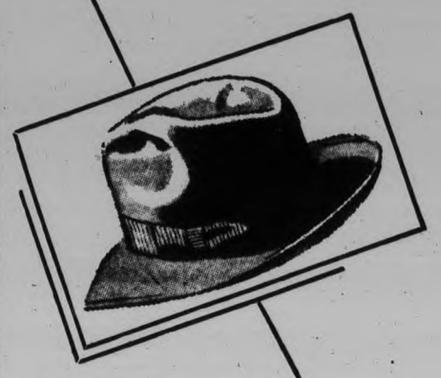
One of the paramount reasons advanced by hatters is an appeal to man's vanity: A good-looking hat is a fashionable article, and no well-dressed man should be without one.

This appeal to vanity is often successful; the appeal which includes warmth and comfort aids and abets it, and the result is that most Canadian males, by the time they are able to vote, own hats.

There is one characteristic of Canadian hats that stands out: They are never giddy or gaudy, while they may be gay in a restrained fashion. Unlike their counterparts which perch, cling and droop on female heads, men's hats are most conservative.

TEN-GALLON

Western Canada is perhaps the scene of the gayest hat in the Dominion—the modified ten-gallon. This is the mark of the prosperous businessman, whether he be in oil, real estate, grain, or men's wear.



These prosperous looking hats in shades running from rich cream to white have made their forays into the east on the heads of football fans and financiers proud of their heritage on visits to Toronto's Bay Street and Montreal's St. James' Street.

For the rest of the land, the fedora (snap brim type) is the most popular. A hat whose basic style was set not long past the turn of the century, the fedora continues to command the admiration of more men than any other style of hat.

The christie has gone by the board, and the straw hat is losing its place in the sun. The homburg decks fewer and fewer heads but the fedora, like Tennyson's brook, gos on forever.

Hatmakers insist that a man is not losing a friend by relegating the tattered headpiece he owns to the status of fishing hat. He is gaining a new personality, they say.

HINTS ON HATS

If you "don't like hats," undoubtedly you've never tried the right one on. For it has never been truer than now, that there's a right hat for every man. Our selections are fuller than ever and our specially trained sales staff is always happy to help you make the right choice.

A FEW POINTERS

WRONG RIGHT

A man with a rounded face should wear a hat with a blunted top to balance his large physiog and square off that rounded chin. A Homburg with a blunt crown and a fair-sized width will help the full face and jaw.

A man with sloping shoulders and lines around his mouth should not have a hat with a turned down brim to emphasize these characteristics but should sport a hat with a turned-up brim to help eliminate these features.

Please, no pointed hat crowns with a square chin.
- Also a short man should not wear a heavy hat to hold him down. But — a hat with light appearances will give him the perspective of added height.

Unshackling The Professions

One item of praiseworthy significance came out of the recent convention of the Canadian Dental Association in Montreal. The Association has replaced the Dental Council of Canada with a National Dental Examining Board of Canada. The importance of this change, from our point of view, is this: one of the functions of the new 12-man Board will be to set up "all-inclusive" examinations for graduating dental students, which will be held following examinations in the different provincial dental colleges. The president of the new Board said: "This will allow successful students to practise in any Canadian province without first taking provincial examinations—although they may still do so if they wish." In other words, upon graduation a dental student may qualify through one set of examinations to practise his profession anywhere in Canada, without regard to Provincial boundaries or restrictive regulations.

* * *

This is a loosening of the shackles which bind profession practice within provincial boundaries. Already dentists had taken a lead in nationalizing rather than compartmentalizing their profession through the old Council examinations, but British Columbia and Quebec had never recognized them. Now all provinces are accepting the same standards and the same examinations. Other professions, for instance, engineering, teaching, law—should heed this estimable example. By what professional need, client right or Canadian good is professional practice fenced between provinces? Are all Canadians not entitled to seek, in their home provinces, the same and as good teachers, dentists, lawyers and engineers? And should these professional people not be able to practice freely wherever in the country there is need for their services and payment for it?

* * *

Political boundaries set against the mind and the exercise of professional skills are more damaging to the unity of this country than restrictions on inter-provincial trade. The British North America Act does not permit trade walls at provincial frontiers; why should the professions be walled? The arts and sciences should have free play everywhere in Canada. Thus can come about the unity of practice, the interchange of ideas and an equable service to clients, without which parochialism is encouraged and unfair and unreasonable differentials established.

Upset In Wisconsin

Politicians in the United States, as in Canada and Great Britain, use the results of by-elections or special elections as indications of a trend that might become fully developed in the next general election. As often as not, perhaps more often than not, these results prove inaccurate indicators, but the practice persists. That was the case following the recent election in the Ninth Congressional District of Wisconsin, a farming area, where an election was called to fill a vacancy caused by the death of a Republican representative to the U.S. Congress.

The result was unquestionably an upset. A Democrat was elected for the first time in the history of the district. The Democratic Party is hailing the victory as a sign of things to come, and the reversal apparently was so unexpected that the Republican Party is not making the customary disclaimers of significance. The defeated candidate even admitted he thought the result might be interpreted as a rebuke to the Administration.

It may have been. The circumstances, however, may soften the rebuke a little. The previous Republican representative was a "maverick"—a word defined by the Oxford Dictionary as meaning a masterless person. He voted as he pleased, regardless of party policy. The winning Democrat is also a maverick, by pledge at least, for he has promised to follow the voting pattern of his predecessor, no matter what the party policy of the moment might be.

In short, the change brought about by the election seems little more than a change in labels. The farm voters in the area may have intended to indicate dissatisfaction with Administration farm policies, but if they did, the rebuke seems mild. And the Democrats who are making much of the victory might do well to remember that the Republicans formed almost a habit of winning special elections during the years that the late Franklin Roosevelt was President. They even managed to score a really surprising upset in a Democratic stronghold in New York City. But in Presidential years, the Roosevelt regime was never seriously threatened, and the Wisconsin result may prove as meaningless as the Republican triumphs in Roosevelt's day.

The Canadian Art Of War

Canadian regiments, and even the navy, have a long tradition, but the length is due to their British forebears rather than to their own history as fighting units. In his "Military History for Canadian Students", a booklet issued by the Directorate of Military Training, Ottawa, Colonel C. P. Stacey begins his review of significant campaigns and battles with shared experiences: Sir William Phips' attack on Quebec in 1690 in which chiefly English American colonists were set against French regulars and colonials; and the conquest of Canada, 1758-1760. But even such beginnings of Canadian military history are older than the country itself.

The booklet (with 128 pages including appendices and diagrams) is an interesting thumb-nail sketch of the development of the Canadian army and its campaigns. While it is designed as an introduction to the study of military history suitable for Canadian students and especially members of the Canadian Officers Training Corps, old soldiers and the general public will find it valuable and informative, condensed but readable.

The selection of the campaigns and battles used to illustrate military principles as well as to illumine Canadian military history is interesting. There are the two already mentioned, followed by "The Defence of Upper Canada," 1812, the first really Canadian military operation, the capture of Vimy Ridge in 1917, the Battle of Amiens, 1918, the conquest of Sicily, 1943, and the Normandy assault, 1944. These are discussed in considerable strategical and technical detail. Each section is concluded by some paragraphs of comment, in which Colonel Stacey assesses the conduct of the battle in relation to the principles of war.

Of special interest is the inclusion in the appendices of the "Principles of War", that age-old decalogue known in one form or another to every commander, junior as well as senior, who ever served in armed forces of any western nation. The version is modern in terminology, and some of the principles are radically revised; but there are still ten. The list and elaboration as published in the booklet are those officially approved by the Canadian Chiefs of Staff.

Wasps To Zymotic

In idle moments our eye ranges over a couple of sets of books lined up on office shelves. They are encyclopaedias, and, if one is lazy, there is more fascination on the covers than within them. See them standing there: AAB to ECA to JOK and so on down the line. More fun is the series which gives the whole word clues to the alphabetically-arranged contents. A TO ANNUALS is simple, straightforward. Next is ANNUITY TO AZZUBEYDI. What on earth, under or above it, is an Azzubeydi? Perhaps a lullaby crooned by a hornet . . . And so the titles run.

Some of them have a complaisant aptness—BIRDS OF PARADISE TO BULLFINCH, for instance. Not bad; sounds like 'Over To You, Roger' in the bird world. BULGARIA TO CASTANOS seems geographically sound. DESERT TO EGRET has a nice assonance. FRANCO TO GOETHALS is fitting enough. PUMPS TO RUSSELVILLE has a rustic congruity. Oh, our roving eye missed EGUSQUIZA TO FALSETTO. Very good, very good, so precise—no doubt a romantically high Latin American tenor. SULPHUR TO TRAMWAYS AERIAL goes all the way from hell to heaven; well, the direction is commendable. And right next door to this volume is TRANCE TO VENIAL SIN. How peculiarly, haphazardly apt! The eye settles on the final volume in the shelf, WASPS TO ZYMOTIC DISEASE which is like an echo of what has gone before—annuity, azzubeydi, sulphur, venial sin. (The connection is quite clear in our own daydreaming mind, but it is difficult to translate dream-like images.)

What can azzubeydi be? That's the trouble with looking at the cover of even an encyclopaedia; curiosity is piqued, one has to exert oneself to open the confounded book. Now let's see what it says. Well, well, how remarkably suitable to these meandering notions conjured up by an alphabetical arrangement! Mohammed Ibn el Hasan Azzubeydi was an Arabian lexicographer —b. Seville 927, d. 982 . . . That's enough exertion for today; we refuse to look into the EGUSQUIZA volume. Egusquiza is probably something commonplace, anyway, like the pip of a passion fruit.

NOTES AND COMMENT

"Man's jaw receding," says a biologist. And not much wonder—what with the way man has been having to take it on the chin for long and weary years.

A cruel rumor says women's feet are getting larger. If true that means, presumably, that their shoes are getting tighter.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

AS A FOOTNOTE to my remarks on Roger Quilter in last week's column I would like to quote some advice that he wrote in a letter to me several years ago. He says, "I advise you also to study the voice a bit—hardly any composers do that (the 'tessitura' of the different voices, etc.) though they know and study every other instruments' capacities, etc.". Loosely phrased in a letter not intended for publication this advice is nevertheless valuable to any young composer of songs and also gives one the key to the success of Quilter's own songs. He never wrote an unvocal phrase for the voice. Even Beethoven frequently writes for the voice as though it were a first violin part, and more recent writers such as Delius were none too considerate to the mere singer. There are few writers nowadays (Britten is an exception) who write with a sympathetic understanding of the voice. Mozart used to boast that he could write an aria to fit any voice just as a tailor makes a suit of clothes, adapting it to the peculiarities of the individual singer, showing off his strong points and hiding his inadequacies.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE OTHER NIGHT I had the opportunity of listening twice to a performance of Alban Berg's piano sonata, op. 1, his first published composition. Written when he was a young student of Arnold Schoenberg in 1908 it is a very remarkable work, revealing a discipline and coherence unusual in so young a composer. It struck me as odd that this neurotic and tortured music (for such it was) was written in the heyday of "Old Vienna", at the same time as Lehar was turning out his operettas ("The Merry Widow" appeared in 1905). But Vienna, like all great cities, wears several aspects. To most people Vienna in 1908 suggests Franz Lehar, handsome young Austrian officers who click their heels and kiss ladies' hands, "heurige" wine at Grinzing—in fact a mixture of wine, women and song with a liberal helping of Gemuetlichkeit and "old-world charm."

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT THERE were other Viennas. For instance the Vienna of young Dr. Freud. There were writers such as Schnitzler, passionately interested in morbid psychology. There were cliques of young artists sick to death of the spurious gaiety of "Old Vienna". Revolutionaries in art, they revolted against the dead hand of the great Viennese masters. Many of them (including Freud, Schnitzler, Schoenberg, and Berg) were Jews, and as such had no particular fondness for things as they were, though if they could have seen ahead they would have preferred to remain under the easy-going Austro-Hungarian Empire, corrupt and inefficient as it was.

The Berg Sonata seemed in its own way strangely prophetic of the grim Vienna of today, policed in turn by four suspicious Powers, its fine buildings in ruins, its inhabitants furtively hoping to make a few easy pennies out of the droves of sleek American tourists picking their way over the cobblestones in their thinsoled shoes.

✧ ✧ ✧

FROM a more narrow-minded musical viewpoint this sonata is of great value, not only in itself but also historically as a sort of "missing link" between late Wagner and the full-blown atonal style that is nowadays associated with Schoenberg, Berg and their disciples. Written in a transitional style it demonstrates that atonalism is the child of late-Romanticism. It can be regarded as a sort of inverse Romanticism, like the negative of a film, where the whites are black and the blacks white.

✧ ✧ ✧

WAGNER had in Tristan carried chromatic harmony and modulation to a point where ordinary tonality was already becoming somewhat blurred. The Berg sonata carries this tendency still further, and though it pays lip-service to tonality (it ends with a neapolitan-flavoured perfect cadence in B minor) it stretches and distorts it to such an extent that one appears to be in almost all keys at once. The obvious step after this is to abolish tonality altogether, and this is what Schoenberg and his followers did. If we liken the tonal system to an absolute monarchy, with its tonic-king, dominant-chancellors, subdominant-archbishop and other minor nobility, the chromatic notes being disenfranchised, then Tristan and the Berg sonata would be represented by incredible social unrest, with two or three revolutions in each bar, and upstart peasants ascending the throne for a single chord. Atonality, on the other hand, is complete egalitarianism. No note is allowed to get more of a hearing than another for fear of setting up a hierarchy of importance. That to my mind is its chief defect—as Gilbert said, where everybody is something then nobody is anything at all.

✧ ✧ ✧

A READER signing himself A.T.C.M. is kind enough to express appreciation for this column. At the same time this reader asks how it was that I seem to have such intimate knowledge of the early life of Benjamin Britten. "In last week's column he quotes how 'patients (of his father, who was a dentist, P.P.) were often able to distract themselves while listening to the youthful Benjamin ploughing his way through Beethoven's sonatas in the room above the waiting room'. Is he here drawing on his fertile imagination or is this actually based on fact?" I would like to set at rest the mind of my reader by reasuring him that it is based on fact.

✧ ✧ ✧

I WAS NEVER a patient of the late Mr. Britten, and in fact I never got to know his illustrious son until shortly after his death, but I knew several people who have been patients of his when I lived some fifteen miles West of Lowestoft. I have also been more than once to Benjamin Britten's father's house. I have a postcard from Benjamin dated September 18, 1934, inviting me to drive over, lunch and bathe (weather permitting, of course.'" says B.B.—I can't remember whether it did on that occasion). Britten had at that time just left the Royal College of Music, and like so many young men (whether gifted or not) held pretty dogmatic opinions and had little use for that august institution. He had also recently won a prize (second prize, I think it was) in a competition for a chamber music work sponsored by the Daily Telegraph of London. Perhaps one of our Toronto or Montreal papers might do the same to encourage Canadian composers. I mentioned Beethoven's sonatas because that was what my informant said, though it might equally well have been something else; but as a matter of fact Britten, when I knew him, was passionately devoted to Beethoven and was constantly using him to belittle Mozart, a pastime that I deeply resented at the time. Now adays, I am told that he is no longer thrilled by the Missa Solemnis or the Rasoumofsky Quarters and is much more intrigued with Figaro and the Zauberfloete. We all change, and B. B. is no exception.

Letters To The Editor

BIBLICAL PERVERSION

Sir: In one of your issues I noticed the article on the great sale of the R.S.V. of the Bible. This is understandable for a large sum of money was spent on advertising before a copy was available for inspection.

The authors admit over 1,000 sentences have been inserted that were never in any original manuscript and that without comment or italics and words and even whole sentences and paragraphs are omitted, such as John 8—1 to 11, Mark 16—9 to 20, Acts 8 and 37, etc., etc. This last verse included "I believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God". All reliable ancient manuscripts have this verse.

Heb. 1 and 8 states that God the Father is speaking this to God the Son. Yet these R.S.V. translations in Ps. 45-6 have changed this to "Your divine throne endures for ever" and not the One Who sits on it. A footnote in Heb. reads "Or God is thy throne."

The R.S.V. renders Gen. 22 and 18 "And by your descendants shall all the nations of the earth bless themselves."

I think I have written enough to show that the R.S.V. is not a real translation of our Holy Bible, but merely a modernistic interpretation, and a perversion of the original words of the living God.

A huge money-making scheme and copyrighted but the Holy Book is not subject to copyright.

The arch enemy of Christ has thus plausibly caused doubts of the Holy God the Son to enter men's minds, especially those who do not touch the scriptures. See Rev. 22-18 and 19.

IS CHURCH OF ENGLAND PROTESTANT?

Sir: Some time ago a woman wrote a letter to the Editor asking if the Anglican Church was a Protestant Church. I have waited to see if any of the Anglican clergy would reply. They have not done so—at least I have not seen any reply.

I judge from her letter that she is a young woman—probably a young matron with a growing family—and perhaps an Anglican, who has not been told the story of the grand old Church.

It is a common fallacy of the day to class all religions which are not Roman Catholic as Protestant. I hastent to assure this young lady that the Anglican Church is NOT a Protestant Church—and Anglicans are NOT Protestants.

The Anglican Church is a true Catholic Apostolic Church. The correct name for it and any of its members is "Catholic".

Another fallacy you often hear is that Henry VIII started the Anglican Church. He did nothing of the kind. The only thing Henry did was to repudiate the jurisdiction of the Pope of Rome. Henry wanted to gratify his lust and the Pope would not consent to be a party to this. The Church carried on as usual.

It is interesting to note that the Pope at that time took no action whatever to discipline Henry or the Church in England. As a matter of fact it was not for almost a generation when Queen Elizabeth was on the throne for ten or twelve years that the Pope wanted to exert his authority over Elizabeth. She with true, stubborn Tudor character would have none of it and so was ex-communicated by the Pope.

All this time the Church carried on as it always had done and still does.

Mr. Editor this letter is already long enough. A study of History will reveal to anyone that the Church IN England became the Church OF England.

C. J. DAVIS, Lakefield.

Wait on the Lord: be of good courage, and he shall strengthen thine heart: wait, I say, on the Lord. (Ps. 27: 14.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Thus saith the Lord God; Remove the diadem, and take off the crown: this shall not be the same: exalt him that is low, and abase him that is high. It will overturn, overturn, overturn, it and it shall be no more, until he come whose right it is; and I will give it him. (Ezek. 21:26, 27).

✧ ✧ ✧

Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage .... Ye did run well; and who did hinder you that ye should not obey the truth?

This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh. For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary the one to the other: so that ye cannot do the things that ye would. But if ye be led of the Spirit, ye are not under the law. If we live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit. (Gal. 5:1, 7, 16-18, 25.)

Canada In The Middle

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

It is encouraging to note that Canada has managed to establish full diplomatic relations with Franco Spain without so much as a ripple of criticism, even though certain influential sections of Canadian opinion still show outright disapproval of the present Spanish regime, a factor in large degree responsible for consular activity between the two nations being limited in scope after the Second World War.

Last March Canada invited Franco to exchange ambassadors. The Spanish ambassador arrived in Ottawa a few weeks ago. Following in the wake of the US-Spanish defence base agreement, the ambassador's arrival was greeted warmly by the Canadian press. The agreement itself won praise from the French-Canadian press and even grudging approval from the more restrained English dailies.

Ottawa is reported to be planning to announce the name of the Canadian ambassador soon, in fact, may already have by the time this appears in print.

One cannot help noting an embarrassing similarity of background after an examination of the relations between Canada and Franco and those between Canada and Mao. Both dictators came to power under circumstances which were almost identical, except that the supporting power in the one case was Fascist and in the other, Communist. The difference between extreme right and extreme left seems not too great when one, like Canada, is in the middle. If the one can be bridged without comment when interest serves, geometry teaches that the distance to the other is not any greater.

Senate Representation

(Windsor Star)

Prince Edward Island, with a population of about 100,000, has four senators. Nova Scotia, with some 650,000 people, has 10; New Brunswick 530,000 has 10; Newfoundland, with 370,000, has six But British Columbia and Alberta, with more than 1,000,000, have six each, as have Saskatchewan and Manitoba, with populations of 850,000 and 800,000, approximately. Thus the four Maritime provinces, with a total population of about 1,650,000 have 30 senators to 24 for the four Western provinces whose population is near 4,000,000. And Ontario and Quebec, with populations larger than the Western block, have 24 Senators each.

Teepees Bow 5-4 To Galt Black Hawks

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The homers stood out like sore thumbs in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series during the weekend.

In the four games played visiting teams didn't carry away a single point.

St. Catharines Teepees suffered their second defeat in seven tries Saturday when they lost 5-4 to Galt Black Hawks.

Quebec Citadelles broke their string of bad luck with a 7-2 runaway over the visiting Hamilton Tigers Sunday. It was the second victory for Quebec, last-place squad in the nine-team league.

In a doubleheader at Toronto Sunday, Toronto Marlboros sprang into first place in the standings with a 5-0 shutout over Kitchener-Waterloo Greenshirts. In the second half of the twin-bill St. Michael's College Majors downed Guelph Biltmores 6-3.

HAWKS WIN IN FINALE

The Hawks came from behind with two goals in the last period to put down the Teepees. Ron Halstead, who fired the winner, Eddie Switzer, Frank Bettiol, Pete Kawalchuk and Hillary Menard scored for Galt. Brian Cullen bagged two goals and assisted on two others for the Teepees. Hugh Barlow also notched two markers.

George Faulkner rapped home three counters in Quebec to pace the Citadelles. Ray Cyr, Charles Denomme, Mike Ratchford and Carl Wandowich added to the downfall of Hamilton Tigers. Marlin McAlendin and Cummy Burton scored for the Tigers.

Marlboros had little difficulty with the pesky Greenshirts. Billy Harris, Wally Maxwell, Tom McCarthy, Mike Nykoluk and Dave Reid each notched a single.

COUNTS TWICE

Rookie Bill Colvin counted twice for St. Michael's. Ken Linesman, Marc Reaume, Brian Anderson and Jack Caffery netted singles. Bill McCreary, Birley Dimma and Bob Forhan accounted for the Guelph scoring.

The Tigers and Citadelles go at it again in Quebec Tuesday. In the only other Tuesday game, Kitchener plays Guelph.

M. O'Donnell High

Midge O'Donpel rolled high three of 778 with singles of 264 and 277 in the Mercantile Bowling League at Playfair. The 7-0 wins went to Charlotte Credit No. 1, Can. Canoe, Austin's, Bob & Betty, Turner's and Combines over Dominion, United Co-Op, Cherney No. 2, Expressmen, Tent & Awning and Loblaw's in that order. The 5-2 victories were by Mustangs, Jets, and Seabrooke's over Charlotte Credit No. 2, Ackison and Petes Co-Op.

Good scores included: Don Thomas (293) 733, Ray Brady (278) 257, C. Sedore (237) 664, Stan DeWolfe (257) 681, B. Smith (250) 639, M. McNulty (293) 686, Don Reid (273) 666, Ted Williams (276) 646, Mary Young (294) 673, Greta Watkins (258) 624, Harry Rowe (323) 657; and singles of J. Archbald 273, Ted Storey 268, Ida McConkey 234, Bill Ackison 243, Marie Simpson 234, Deb Lucas 236, Bob Martell 259, M. Julian 242, Marg Storey 234, Jack Stevenson 258, and John Chiddle 253.

Teams In West Begin Playoff Games

By GRAHAM TROTTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Saskatchewan Roughriders and Winnipeg Blue Bombers start Canadian major football along the playoff trail Wednesday when they open their home-and-home, total points Western Interprovincial Union semi-final in Winnipeg.

The teams battled down to the wire for second place before Frank Filchock's galloping Riders won it by one point as the WIFU ended its 16-game schedule Saturday night. Saskatchewan was held to a 13-13 tie by the cellar-dwelling Stampeders at Calgary and Winnipeg thumped the first-place Eskimos 17-8 at Edmonton.

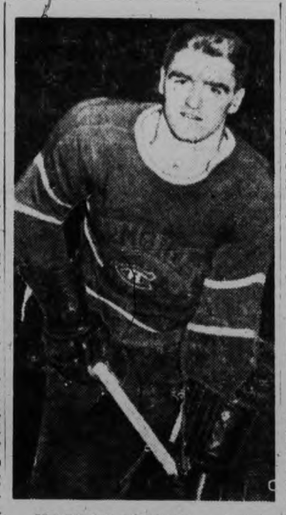
Bombers, pre-season favorites who now appear to have shaken the mid-season slump that relegated them to third place, face a formidable job against Rigers, who ended the schedule as the WIFU's hottest club.

REMARKABLE PASSING

With the veteran Filchock taking over ably at quarter for the injured Glenn Dobbs in late season, Riders were unbeaten in their last five games, winning four before figuring in the WIFU's only 1953 tie game Saturday.

In their last two games, Filchock posted a remarkable passing record of 22 completions in 27 attempts.

During schedule play, Riders beat Bombers four times in six meetings although being out-scored 92-84. Both Bomber wins came at home. So George Trafton's charges have a jinx to beat when the semi-final shifts to Regina next Saturday.



The semi-final winner meets Eskimos for the WIFU championship in a best-of-three series opening Nov. 7 in Edmonton. The WIFU champion then takes on the Ontario Rugby Football Union titleholders in a precedent-breaking sudden-death playoff Nov. 21 in the West.

Edmonton won 12 of 16 games for an easy first-place finish. But their loss through injury of halfback Billy Vessels was nerve-shattering.

Vessels, winner of the Heisman Trophy last year as the most valuable U. S. college football player, was injured early in the Saturday game and was carried off the field on a stretcher. He is under observation in hospital.

The Nobel Prizes are awarded annually from an estate of $9,000,000 left by Alfred Nobel, who died in 1896.

HOCKEY INJURY — Angus (Gus) Galbraith, 21-year-old hockey player from South Porcupine, Ont., has had his left leg amputated above the knee following an injury while playing with the Paisley Pirates in Scotland. A benefit fund has been organized in Timmins to help the young player.

LONDON TEAM AHEAD

KITCHENER (CP) — London CNRA defeated Kitchener-Waterloo Concordias 3-1 Saturday in the first game of the finals for the Southern Ontario Soccer League championship. Second game of the goals-to-count series will be played in London next Saturday.

Many students in agriculture and home economics competed in the various track and field events. The senior year in agriculture won the tug-of-war over the junior in straight pulls, and the 1954 Aggies outscored the juniors by a slim margin of two points on the whole day. A large weiner roast on the school farm was followed by a dance in the recreation hall to finish up the day.

Vessels Injured During Game

EDMONTON (CP) — Halfback Billy Vessels of Edmonton Eskimos suffered a fractured muscle attachment on the spine in Saturday night's Western Interprovincial Football Union game against Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

A club spokesman said Vessels "may be able to play" in the best-of-three WIFU playoff finals opening here Nov. 7.

He charged the Bombers "deliberately set out to injure Vessels and other starry members of the team." He said the Oklahoma import was "kneed" by guard Buck Rogers of Winnipeg and claimed that Winnipeg guard Dean Bandiera and quarter Indian Jack Jacobs also were "unnecessarily rough."

DENIED BY COACH

The Edmonton charge was denied by George Trafton, Blue Bomber coach, and Karl Slocomb, president of the Winnipeg club. Slocomb called it "ridiculous."

Trafton said Vessels was hit by two or three players behind the line of scrimmage and as he tried to get up another player tackled him.

London Collegiate Winner Of Golden Rule Award

TORONTO—(CP)—London Central Collegiate Saturday night won the first golden rule award of Red Feather football.

As 500-bare-legged cheerleaders led more than 15,000 fans in applause, team captain Don Dyckman received the trophy and the fifth annual Red Feather football tournament of champions, billed as the biggest teen-age extravaganza in the country, was over.

During its two-day stand, the tournament attracted more than 35,000 fans. The thousands of dollars they paid for tickets goes into the Toronto and Ontario Community Chest funds for charity.

Eight teams from Ontario secondary schools competed under unique rules.

Each team played four games and there were four winners. But to take home the trophy, a team had to do more than win: It had to "play the game for the game's sake" and "be fair at all times."

The coaches had a code, too, including a reminder that "no advantages are to be sought over others, except those of superior skill."

London Central white-washed St. Catharines Collegiate 19-0 as the tournament opened Friday night, but in taking over the Red Feather championship from North Toronto Collegiate, 1952 winner, it got marks for sportsmanship as well. Judges marked the teams for winning ability, field generalship and player-coach deportment.

The tournament, sponsored by the Ontario Federation of School Athletic Associations in co-operation with a Toronto newspaper (Telegram) and department store (Eaton's), is held annually to raise funds for the Toronto and Ontario Community Chests. When all returns are in, some $60,000 is hoped for.

Indicative of the fair play inspired by the tournament is the fact Oshawa Collegiate, which won the right to represent central Ontario, voluntarily relinquished its privilege when it realized it had broken a Red Feather rule by strengthening its team with outside high school players.

As a result, Alliston Memorial High, the team Oshawa had beaten came to the tournament.

SUDBURY DEFEATED

Saturday night, Ottawa Fisher Park High blanked Alliston 34-0 and Etobicoke Collegiate defeated Sudbury Tech 26-5. Friday night's second game saw Hamilton Westdale down Toronto Danforth Tech 35-6.

Halfback Jim Butler led Ottawa with three touchdowns, five converts and a field goal. Jack Young and Gord Johnson scored the other majors. Johnson also booted a single.

Don Guest, who is also an outstanding Canadian schoolboy sculler, scored two touchdowns and kicked a convert for Etobicoke. Lorry Stacey made two touchdowns and Don Comish went over for the other major.

Gino Pinn took Arne Haldin's nine-yard pass for Sudbury's touchdown.

Dutchmen Drop Stratford With Crunching 9-2 Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Surprise! The weekend in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series was full of them.

Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, after spotting their seven league mates an eight-day jump in the schedule, finally started off with a crunching 9-2 victory over Stratford Indians in Kitchener Saturday.

Hamilton Tigers who won only two games all last season, belted Chatham Maroons 8-4 in Hamilton Saturday for their third consecutive victory. The Tabbies are undefeated this year.

Niagara Falls Cataracts whipped Windsor Bulldogs 7-4 in Niagara Falls Saturday for their first victory of the season after three losses.

The only other OHA Senior A weekend action, staged in Owen Sound Saturday, saw Owen Sound Mercurys nose out Sarnia Sailors 7-6.

FOUR OVERTIME GOALS

In the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A group North Bay Trappers rapped in four overtime goals for a 9-5 victory over Pembroke Lumber Kings in North Bay Saturday.

Don Rope was in top form as he blasted three goals to lead the Dutchmen, last year's Allan Cup champions, to their victory. John Muretich, Jerry Theberge, Jack McKenzie, Ken Laufman Charlie Brooker and Sam Kennedy shared the rest. Lou Bendo bagged both markers for the Indians.

Hamilton broke loose with four goals in the final period to whip Chatham. Frank Liscombe and Busch each fired two goals for Hamilton. Kemp, Unger, Taylor and Murray Comfort rounded out the total. Carl Liscombe, Campbell, Didone and Plouffe were the Chatham marksmen.

Niagara Falls staved off a third-period rally to bounce Windsor. Ted Fauteux and Lloyd Ferguson split four goals to pace the Cataracts. McNulty, Kodatsky and Air fired singles. Wiseman, Keyes, Gordon and Haidy clicked for Windsor.

SEE-SAW GAME

In Owen Sound the lead changed hands three times before the Mercurys salted away their decision with four consecutive goals in the second period. John Sheddon and Bill McComb counted two goals each for the Mercurys. Tommy Burlington, Buck Forslund and Bill Hagen shot the others. Harry O'Connor notched a pair for the Sailors with the remainder going to Ollie Haddon, Roly Beauchamp John McKennel and Nick Federonick.

Orfuns Blank Cobourg Ghosts In 19-0 Football Playoff To Take Group Crown, 24-11

By CEC. PERDUE

Champions don't take their own gridirons along with them, and Peterborough Orfuns didn't need their own field to sweep the Galloping Ghosts into the discard at Cobourg on Saturday. Returning to titular form after losing 11-5 in the first playoff here a week ago, Orfuns rolled to a convincing 19-0 victory before a huge crowd (including many Peterborough fans) in the lakeshore town on Saturday. It gave them the round 24-11, the group championship and the right to proceed into ORFU intermediate "A" finals against either Hamilton or Oakville this coming weekend.

DEFEAT BITTER

After riding high all week on that six-point playoff lead scrappy Ghosts found defeat bitter but offered reluctant congratulations to the jubilant Kotowski crew at the end of a hard-fought fray. It was the second straight year that Orfuns have ousted the former perennial group champions to set them back into "B" contention, and it might well be the end of ORFU football in Cobourg.

Whereas Orfuns played solid rugby, making few mistakes all afternoon, the Ghosts flopped and were never a serious threat after the first quarter. The vaunted passing arm of Don Hatt and the payoff kicking toe of Art Jones were minus quantities in his important tilt. Hatt attempted nine passes and completed but one while Petes completed two of five attempted. Don Bark, nursing an injured ankle, outkicked Jones regularly. Orfuns marchd to 15 first downs to Cobourg's five, and six of them came in the fourth quarter as the champs finished strong.

THE BIG FOUR

Offensive stars for Orfuns were bashing Bill Huntley, speedy Bus Jensen, cagey Jim Milligan and reliable Don Bark, the latter also being a defensive standout all the way with tackles and interceptions. The whole front wall, offensively and defensively, shone from start to finish, with veteran Gord Beatty calling defensive signals and doing more than his share of the bull work. The team as a whole clicked like champions, there being no weak sisters.

The victory was marred for Orfuns by the loss late in the game of Clive Naismith, a great pass receiver, who suffered a fractured collarbone in a downfield collision. Several others of the winners were hurt—Blair Thomson early in the game—but their injuries are not expected to keep them out of further playoffs.

PENALTIES HURT

Neither side scored in the first quarter, and penalties kept hurting the Petes' cause. Jensen skirted end once to move the sticks and Hatt threw a 10-yard pass to Hircock later. Cobourg moved deep into Orfun territory, aided by visitors' penalties in the line, and twice Art Jones attempted placements but each time there was a fumble in holding the ball and they had to run. Each time big losses were suffered by the Ghosts on sharp tackles by Berry and O'Reilly, and Cobourg lost possession. Armstrong plunged for 12 and Jensen, Huntley and Groves moved it up at quarter's end.

In the second, Bark booted a long one and Trimm stopped Reeves for a loss. Jones kicked short into the wind and Huntley took it. Despite a penalty to Orfuns, they rolled up on Army's 15-yard gallop with a lateral and line-knifing by Huntley. Jensen took a handoff and danced blithely around end to go over for a major. Huntley booted the convert to tie up the series. Berry went off hurt and Orfuns' line held the Ghosts, forcing another short kick by Hatt. Cobourg drew a penalty to put them well back, and Milligan threw a long touchdown pass to Naismith, Huntley converting. After a good runback by Alexander, Jensen snatched a Sillers' fumble. O'Reilly limped off then. Orfuns were driving again but noting the minute flag up, Milligan on second down wisely kicked to deadline for an insurance point.

HAD THE EDGE

Neither side counted again in the third but again Orfuns had an edge on play. Bark, Huntley, Jensen and Armstrong toted the mail for the Kotowski squad, while Alexander and Reeves were the only Ghosts to show much. Alexander once ran a kick back 30 yards. Bark intercepted a pass to change the complexion of play late in the quarter, and both sides suffered several times through penalties in a fairly rough fray.

Orfuns drove from centre in the fourth, Huntley getting 10, Army three and then Naismith pulling in a fine forward pass from Bill Huntley on Cobourg's five. Hit hard as he snared the pass, big Clive was helped off with the fractured collarbone. Milligan then went over on a quarterback sneak and Huntley converted to end the scoring. Jerry McGillis intercepted a desperate Cobourg pass later and Lou Nickle was through for two first downs just before the final gun.

Orfuns: Thomson, Hope, Jensen, Hodson, Beatty, Huntley, Berry, Armstronk, Bark Naismith Fitzgerald, Holman, Kirkwood, Beavis, Ouellette, Brioux, McIntyre, Howe, Newark, Milligan, Nickle, Trimm, Forrester, Langhorne J. McGillis, Groves, O'Reilly, Berthelot.

Ghosts: McNally Hircock, Dunlap, Leale, Armstrong, Fewster, Duckworth, Lewis, Sterling Dunn, Matchett, Lowes, Jeffrey, Alexander, Hampton, D. Hutt, Reeves, Jones, Meikle, Rowland, Sellers, M. Hall Walker, Harrison, Irvine, Bennett, A. Magee, J. Magee, Korwacki, Brodie. Officials Rowntree, Glover Frame, Mumford.

THIRD QUARTER

No Score.

FOURTH QUARTER

Orfuns 5—Milligan's try.
Orfuns 1—Huntley's convert.

HARD TACKLING AND STIFF BLOCKING by Orfuns' line Saturday enabled backfielders to move with ease and before the Galloping Ghosts realized what was happening Orfuns had taken a 19-0 win and group title. Floyd Oullette, heady secondary for the Orfuns (top photo), drags down Ghost Jack Reeves while Bruce Duckworth (55) and Cec Armstrong (53) await a possible fumble. In the background at right Bob (Bounce) Howe is ready just in case Reeves breaks loose. The Orfuns took advantage of every opportunity, grabbing several fumbles such as the one in the lower photo where the ball has just slipped out of Jim Siller's hands. Bus Jensen (at left) prepares to pounce on the loose ball. Again Bounce Howe is around, just in case.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

A week before Hallowe'en the famed Galloping Ghosts of Cobourg vanished from the ORFU intermediate "A" scene, and Peterborough Orfuns must take all the blame for it. Or the credit. As an old grid fan from way back, we wondered there in the lakeshore town Saturday if perhaps the Ghosts weren't haunted by shades of former Orfun greats. Fellows like Harry Marsh, Jack Kirkwood, Chuck Kearns, the Spencleys, Bill Shadgett, Mike Loucks, Don Crowe and the rest. We used to beat the Ghosts regularly in prewar days, but since the war the Rapid Wraiths humbled our teams year after year until last season. We squeezed by them then to reach Canadian finals. This year Tony Kotowski's crew made it much more convincing. A 19-0 win for a 24-11 verdict on the round.

* * * * * *

There's no team Orfuns would sooner beat than the Ghosts, and vice versa. A lot of oldtime grid rivalry there. We give Fred Dufton and his exec. full credit for a town the size of Cobourg coming up with some great teams season after season. Names like Mike Meikle and Bob Cooper still give us restless nights. But full credit must go, too, to our Orfuns. They fought doggedly on year after year in a losing cause and only started to click properly last autumn. They're away again now. It must be great satisfaction to Prexy Dr. Don Aitken and his officials, to Wally Farr, Gord Beatty and to capable Coach Tony Kotowski. And certainly to every one of the players. The Champs.

* * * * * *

It Might be the Finish

It just could be the end of ORFU play down Cobourg way. They took defeat mighty hard last year, and Saturday's loss was a very bitter pill to swallow. Especially as they'd been enjoying a six-point playoff lead all week and knowing the next one was at home. But a good team doesn't worry about playing in the other fellow's yard—and Orfuns are really good. Packing the Ghosts with imports this year didn't fit too well with many of the good fans down that way. If the Ghosts are to operate again they must do it as a Cobourg club—with some imports, of course—and not try to transplant Balmy Beaches to the lakeshore town. Personally, we think we've seen the last of Coach Art West down there, but hope the Ghosts are back in '54.

* * * * * *

As for the Orfuns, it's tough to pick stars when the whole crew comes up with an airtight showing. But one must single out a few at times, and we were tickled to see Jim Milligan return to form—the guy loves to win in Cobourg and he was great on Saturday. Don Bark was a tower of strength again, and Bill Huntley is always outstanding. Bus Jensen turned in a starry showing. Several others shone, like Clive Naismith (now out with a fractured collarbone), big Gord Beatty, Johnny Berry and quite a few more. One can't name 'em all, but all were tops. The line stopped Cobourg cold, and statistics of the scrap show how Orfuns were superior in all departments. They sure pleased a lot of local fans who helped swell the big crowd there.

The Siren Wailed Again

Naturally the boys whooped it up later at the Baltimore Hotel. The fire siren was wailing out its victory cry again, and fellows and girls sang, cheered and talked over the various plays. Through an archway we noted long tables neatly spread for a Cobourg victory dinner which didn't come off. The Orfuns celebrated for several hours and then pulled out letting quiet descend upon Cobourg once more. The boys will see action again this week-end, but details have to be worked out at an ORFU meeting Wednesday night in Toronto. Oakville and Hamilton have a sudden-death playoff Tuesdty night, and the winner meets Orfuns. It is expected to be a home-and-home series, but where the first game will be isn't known yet. Maybe here Saturday.

A raft of penalties put the TPT Petes back of the black ball most of the evening Saturday on the small Bowmanville ice surface, and Oshawa Truckmen turned in a smart effort to win 8-3. But for penalties, the score would have been much closer, though Truckers deserved the win to open the OHA senior "B" schedule. They're going to be tough, but we don't look for any soft touches in this puck group. While Donlevy turned in a neat job in goal for Eddie Redmond's men, he didn't get top support at times from his defence or forwards. However, they'll improve rapidly now that they're into schedule play. Gus Leonard was in on all three tallies. Orillia Pontiacs supply the opposition here Friday.

Truckmen Defeat The Petes By A Count Of 8-3 To Open OHA Senior Season

OSHAWA (Special)—Peterborough's TPT Petes dropped their opening game of the 1953-54 senior "B" OHA group schedule when they bowed to the Oshawa Truckmen 8-3 at Bowmanville Arena on Saturday night. The game was for the most part typically pre-season in calibre but still produced flashes of brilliant hockey and gave promise of a very interesting season. Petes trailed 4-0 shortly after the second stanza opened but they got untracked in that frame to collect two goals by Greenlaw and they moved to within 4-3 on Chum Fryia's tally early in the third period. But after that the TPT team ran out of steam and Oshawa Truckmen rolled up a comfortable margin.

Frank Hooper, a Bowmanville homebrew who formerly performed with the Oshawa Generals, notched the first goal of the Senior "B" season when he fired a scorching shot past Jim Donlevy after six minutes of play. About two minutes later Gerry Scott took Harry Sinden's pass and made it 2-0 with a snap shot that was screened by milling players and, five minutes later, George Samolenko had run the count to 3-0 on a three-way play with line-mates Scott and Jed Wilson.

A MAN SHORT

Playing Coach Redmond was serving the first penalty of the game when Hooper got his tally.

Scott got his second on a defence rush by Bill Peters to make the count 4-0 shortly after the second stanza opened and then the Truckmen ran into some penalties just about the time the TPT men started to roll.

Hooper drew a charging penalty and had a misconduct tacked on when he argued the point with referee Ticker Crombie.

Just before Hooper was due on the ice, goalie Les Colvin drew an interference penalty when he chased Leonard out of the Oshawa crease. Gerry Scott served the goal-keeper's term and, while he was off, Greenlaw broke the Peterborough goose-egg on a three-way play with Leonard and Redmond.

A penalty to Hill followed shortly after. The teams held each other until Holden drew a tripping penalty at the 15:21 mark and while the Oshawa winger was doing his time Greenlaw notched his second goal, Leonard and Fryia earning assists on this one. Munroe was also serving a penalty at the time of this goal and Hill was chased again for cross-checking. But there was no more scoring in the period.

CREPT CLOSER

Chum Fryia made it 4-3 as Leonard chalked up his third assist point of the night early in the period but just when it looked as if the TPT men might make a real game of it, they ran into a succession of penalties that nullified their attack.

Munroe was chased for tripping and less than a minute later Crowley drew a penalty for high-sticking. While the Petes were short two men, Bob Holden made it 5-3 on a play with Coach Ernie Dickens. Redmond was chased for cross-checking and the Petes were still short two men when Paul Jago rifled home a short one on a three-way passing play with Hooper and Holden.

Goals by Dickens and Jack Thaler in the last five minutes of the game widened the gap as Petes faltered badly in the closing stages.

Samolenko received a nasty cut over the eye that required stitching while Chum Fryia was the only TPT casualty. He was badly shaken up when he and Dickens collided and they crashed to the ice, with Dickens falling right on top of the chunky Liftlock City forward.

Leonard with his three assists was best for TPT with defencemen Redmon and Montgomery, along with Greenlaw, Hill, Belisle and Fryia, all playing well.

Frank Hooper was a standout for the Oshawa club. With goalie Les Colvin, Sinden, Dickens, Scott, Samolenko and Holden all turning in good games for the Truckmen.

The teams:

Petes—Goal: Donlevy; defense, Armstrong, Montgomery, Munroe Redmond; Forwards: Belisle, Peterson, Collins, Leonard, Fryia, Greenlaw, Hill, Crowley, Prentice.

Oshawa Truckmen—Goal: Colvin, Defense: Sinden McBeth, Peters, Dickens; Forwards: Scott Samolenko, Wilson Williams, Thaler, Etcher, Hooper, Holden, Jago, Yourth.

Referees—Ticker Crombie of Bowmanville and Stan Boshier of Toronto.

OYAMA KATO

A tag team match will headline Wednesday's wrestling card at the Brock Arena. And what an explosive evening it will be when the team of Timothy Geohagen and Pat Flanagan tear into the combination of Al and Tiny Mills. This bout is the culmination of Tiny's continued interference in brother Al's last two encounters. Flanagan figures if the two are in a team match, Tiny won't have much chance to get away with any illegal stuff as either he or Tim can keep an eye on the hefty member of the brothers. The Mills Brothers are smart grapplers—make no mistake on that count—and it will take a couple of good men to gain a decision over them. Tim and Pat figure they can do it. Oyama Kato, Japanese newcomer meets up with Alan Garfield in the semi-final. Reyes Nacho and Herb Larson are in the opener.

Red Wings Blank Leafs 2-0; Lose To Habs 1-0

By ED SIMON, Canadian Press Staff Writer

If you were a National Hockey League coach with a home engagement coming up, would you rather face Detroit Red Wings or Boston Bruins? Pick the Wings, five-time NHL champions, holders of a flock of league records, the most powerful scoring machine in hockey today—and you'd be right. Choose the Bruins, a collection of youngsters and oldsters, a team that hasn't won an NHL title in 13 years—and you'll be sorry. In four road appearances this season the Red Wings have lost three games and tied once. The most powerful scoring machine in hockey today hasn't scored more than one goal in any game on foreign ice.

Again, during the week-end, the Wings travelled to Montreal and were shut out 1-0 Saturday by the Canadiens. Sunday they came home and trimmed Toronto Maple Leafs 2-0.

DOWN LEAFS 3-2

Meanwhile, the Bruins whipped the Leafs 3-2 at Toronto Saturday, moved on to Chicago and beat the Black Hawks 4-3 Sunday.

In the only other league activity, the Canadiens edged New York Rangers 2-1 Sunday to cling to a two-point lead over the second-place Wings. Boston's double victory moved the Bruins into a third-place tie with Toronto.

The list of Bruin goal-scorers looked like a mixture of a high-school graduation class and candidates for the old men's home.

ANYONE CAN SCORE

Frank Martin, 20, and in his second year of pro hockey, fired the goal that beat the Leafs. Joe Klukay, who broke in 10 years ago, scored twice against the Hawks and Milt Schmidt, who wore a Boston uniform when Martin was four years old, tallied once.

Ted Kennedy had the Leafs in front in the Toronto game eight seconds after the opening whistle, tying an NHL record. Tod Sloan made it 2-0 five minutes later.

But Real Chevrefils scored for the Bruins before the period ended. Johnny Peirson tied up the game halfway through the second frame.

Martin's goal, his first as a Bruin, finished the Leafs in the third period.

Against the winless Hawks, Klukay and Peirson connected in the first period before Bill Mosienko scored the first of two for Chicago. Jimmy McFadden tied it up briefly, but Schmidt and Klukay whistled home two tallies while the Hawks were a man short. Mosienko scored again in the final period.

Saturday at Montreal, a first-period goal by Eddie (Spider) Mazur stood up all the way.

Gerry McNeil stopped 29 shots to record his second shutout of the year in the Montreal nets. Terry Sawchuk handled 23 drives at the other end.

First-period goals by Gordie Howe and Vic Stasiuk gave the Wings their victory over the leafs.

Veteran Bert Olmstead scored with less than a minute remaining as the Canadiens defeated the Rangers. Montreal defenceman Tom Johnson and Ranger centre Don (Bones) Raleigh matched goals in the second period.

Coach Collapses Team Wins 27-14

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Notre Dame football coach Frank Leahy collapsed midway in the Notre Dame-Georgia Tech game Saturday, and his worried Irish gridders—who "cried like babies"—went on to win "for Leahy" 27-14.

The 45-year-old coach was stricken at halftime.

Doctors at St. Joseph Hospital said he suffered a severe abdominal spasm resulting from an acute attack of intestinal influenza.

Hospital attendants said Leahy was resting comfortably but would be kept under observation for several days.

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

Argos Lash Ti-Cats 17-5

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

It's just as well that nobody in Western Canada knows which club will travel to Toronto for the Nov. 28 Grey Cup final because no one east of Winnipeg has the foggiest idea who will be waiting for them at Varsity Stadium. The way things have been going, the Big Four should conduct saliva tests.

The Western Conference hits the play-off trail this week and the Big Four race is normal—that is, everything is all fouled up. The eastern union had a big chance to straighten out into a two-way battle during the week-end but now it's anybody's fight.

Toronto Argonauts, humbled by Montreal Alouettes 39-11 the week previously, took it out on Hamilton Tiger-Cats with a 17-5 count at Toronto Saturday. And Ottawa Rough Riders, the powerhouse of the Big Four on paper that looked second-rate on the field the last three outings, knocked over the Als 30-15 at Montreal.

The 16-game Western Conference schedule ended Saturday night with interesting results. Saskatchewan Roughriders, with old pro Frankie Filchock directing play, had to settle for a 13-13 tie with the last-place Calgary Stampeders and Winnipeg Blue Bombers knocked over the first-place Edmonton Eskimos 17-8 at Edmonton.

The tie gave Roughriders second place, one point up on the Bombers and the two clubs meet at Winnipeg Wednesday night in the first of the home-and-home total-point semi-finals. The series winner meets Edmonton in the best-of-three finals starting Nov. 7.

The Ontario Rugby Football Union moved ahead with little fanfare.

Sarnia Imperials, once - feared champions of the ORFU who are finding it tough going this year, came up with one of their best game on Saturday to defeat Toronto Balmy Beach 23-6 and keep their playoff chances alive. Beaches splattered Brantford Redskins 37-0 at Toronto on Sunday to stay in a second-place tie with the Imps.

The league - leading Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen won a playoff berth by defeating the Redskins 25-12 at Kitchener on Saturday.

Perk Johnson, Eric McKeever and Dutch Davey went over for Sarnia touchdowns with Jack McBurr booted a single and the other points came on safety touches. Harvey Singleton took a pass from Bob Schiendenbach behind the Sarnia goal line for the Balmy Beach touchdown. Dick Gregory converted.

The Dutchmen sewed up their victory with first-quarter touchdowns by Al Wade and Bobby Kuntz. Carl Totzke and Don Slemon went over for the other Kitchener majors. Stu Crosse kicked all four converts. Jack Mancos booted a single. Boris Kotoff and Andy Sowalski intercepted a Kitchener pass for a Brantford major and Any Sowalski took a 15-yard forward to count another touchdown. Larry Hairston converted both.

BIG DAY FOR GREGORY

Gregory had a field day for Balmy Beach against Brantford. He rolled up 17 points on two touchdowns, a field goal and four converts. Johnny Bell also scored two majors, one of them on a 45-yard run. John McCutcheon recovered a fumbled Brantford snap behind the Redskins' goal line and Doucette plunged two yards through centre for the other Toronto majors.

Argonauts, who usually come up with the big ones, stopped Tiger-Cats cold, allowing them a meagre 34 yards gained on the ground and only 100 yards in the air. The Bengals were outplayed badly along the line and Toronto quarter Nobby Wirkowski had practically enough time to count the house while looking for pass receivers.

OVER FOR TOUCHDOWNS

Uly Curtis and Doug Smylie went over for the Argonaut touchdowns. Bob Shaw kicked both converts and a field goal while Steve Karrys booted two singles. Cam Fraser kicked a single for Hamilton. Their other points came on two safety touches.

The Alouettes, riding on a three-game win streak, appeared on the way to their fourth victory with a 9-0 half-time lead but they couldn't stand prosperity. Riders ripped through their line and the Als were a badly-beaten club at the end of 60 minutes.

Fleet Bernie Flowers accounted for two Ottawa touchdowns. Avatus Stone, Choo Choo Roberts and Bobby Cunningham scored one each. Roberts made four converts good and also kicked a single. John O'Quinn and Alex Webster counted majors for the Als, both converted by Ray Poole who also kicked a placement.

Bluenose, the famed fishing schooner from Lunenburg, defeated the Gertrude Thebaud of Gloucester in the fifth and deciding race for the International Fisherman's Trophy 15 years ago today in heavy seas off Boston. Bluenose, five times winner of the trophy, was wrecked on a Haiti reef in 1946. The Thebaud was wrecked off Venezuela in 1948.

Canadian Curlers Will Use Granites

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian curlers will use granites instead of the traditional irons in one of the major national championships.

The 101st annual meeting of the Royal Canadian Curling Club agreed Saturday to make the change this year in competitions for the Governor-General's Trophy to be decided in Ottawa.

Sponsors of the move said it would lead to greater uniformity in curling as most players used granite rather than irons.

Mustangs Whip Queen's 19-7 For Fourth Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Western Mustangs are galloping towards their second straight Senior Intercollegiate Football League championship at a relentless pace.

The Mustangs rolled to their fourth straight victory of the year defeating Queen's Golden Gaels 19-7 in Little Memorial Stadium Saturday to keep a stranglehold on first place.

In the weekend's other game, McGill Redmen moved into a second-place tie with the idle Toronto Varsity by coming from behind 13-7 at Hamilton.

Queen's gave the Mustangs their toughest opposition of the year. Trailing 2-1 early in the game the Mustangs started rolling and moved into the lead with a late first-quarter touchdown by Garnet Mason. Murray Henderson gave the London club a 13-2 lead with a major just before the half.

The Gaels showed their best form in the third session when Jack Cook took a pass by Pete Cranston to score. Another Western touchdown by Henderson in the final quarter sewed up the verdict.

McGILL TRAILS AT HALF

The Redmen came from behind a 7-6 half-time deficit to take their second game in four starts. McMaster's touchdown came in the first quarter when quarterback Joe Kosakowski took the ball from the one-yard line after a 55-yard ground drive.

McGill tied the score in the second quarter when George Klein scored after a 90-yard drive. Then Lorne Wrigglesworth of McMaster kicked a single just before half time.

It was all McGill in the last half with Len Shaw evening the score with a 50-yard punt early in the third quarter. The final Redmen touch was set up by an interception by Lionel Quinn when he blocked a kick. Shaw tossed to Hal Biewald for the major. Shaw singled to end the scoring.

Barons Clip Hershey 4-2

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Cleveland Barons remained atop the American Hockey League during the week-end but their margin over the second-place Buffalo Bisons was cut to a single point.

Buffalo clipped Hershey Bears 4-2 for their fourth victory in eight games Sunday night while in the only other Sunday night contest, Pittsburgh Hornets vaulted into third place, two points behind Buffalo and one ahead of Syracuse Warriors and Providence Reds.

At Providence, Pittsburgh goalie Gil Mayer chalked up his first shutout of the season as the Hornets won 3-0. Andy Barbee, Parker MacDonald and Ray Timgren were the goalgetters.

At Buffalo, the Bisons, paced by right-winger. Ken Hayden's two goals, came from behind to defeat the Bruins. Gaye Stewart and Steve Wochy were the other Buffalo goalgetters. Jack McIntyre and Norm Corcoran were the Hershey marksmen.

Here's the way Saturday's scores went: Cleveland 5 Providence 1; Syracuse 5 Pittsburgh 3; Hershey 5 Buffalo 2.

Scientists Now Finding Body Has Little-Known Super-Boss

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The big boss gland of the human body seems to have a super-boss, scientists are finding.

The so-called master gland is the pituitary, located at the base of the brain. It secretes potent hormones, some of which control or prod other glands into action.

But evidence is building up that another area of the brain, the hypothalamus, is a super-boss over the pituitary.

The hypothalamus, sometimes called the seat of the emotions, has long been a mystery area of the brain. It is directly connected with the back portion of the pituitary gland.

The latest bit of evidence of the powerful role of the hypothalamus comes from Dr. Arthur Mirsky and associates of the University of Pittsburgh school of medicine.

STRESS FREE CHEMICAL

They found that fear, pain, loud noises, or other mental or physical stress bring a quick increase of a certain chemical agent in the bloodstream. Real or imagined pain boosts production of this chemical, which is made in the brain.

It has been thought that the pituitary gland manufactured this chemical. But Dr. Mirsky found that animals still produced it even when their pituitary gland had been removed, or when other glands had been removed.

The only possible factory for it seems to be the hypothalamus, Dr. Mirsky reports. The back part of the pituitary gland may be only a storehouse for the chemical made and released by certain cells in the hypothalamus.

BRAIN CONTROL CENTRE

Emotional stress or strain begins in the brain, from the way you think or react. Physical stress is telegraphed to the brain along nerves.

When these stresses reach the hypothalamus, it goes into action and begins turning out the chemical agent at a rapid rate.

The boost in this chemical is believed to stimulate production of other hormones by the pituitary, and that in turn affects the activity or reactions of various body organs and tissues, Dr. Mirsky says.

One of the big ailments of modern man is psychosomatic troubles, actual physical pains, aches and disorders of the body caused by emotional upsets or strains. It's beginning to look as though the mysterious hypothalamus is responsible for these diseases.

Learning how to control or stay friends with your super-boss hypothalamus might have a big benefit upon health.

Senator J. Davis Dies In Hospital

ST. BONIFACE, Man. (CP)—Senator John Caswell Davis, who presented the report of the Senate committee on salacious and indecent literature, died in hospital here Sunday after a long illness. He was 65.

Senator Davis took over the chairmanship of the committee late last session following the death of Senator J. J. H. Doone, who began the investigation.

To Senator Davis fell the task of preparing the report, which recommended greater vigilance on books imported from the United States and, if necessary, expansion of the customs department's censorship staff.

SHOULD BE CONTINUED

The committee said the investigation, carried over two sessions of Parliament, should be continued.

He was the first professional engineer to become a member of the senate.

Senator Davis was president of the Manitoba Liberal Association from 1928 to 1936 and later was the party's chief organizer in the province.

He was appointed to the Senate in January, 1949.

Teacher Shortage Still In 1960

NEW LISKEARD (CP) — David L. Tough, vice-president of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation, said Saturday night that, by 1960, there will be only two high school teachers for every three needed.

Addressing more than 70 northern Ontario secondary school teachers attending the federation's District 12 convention, he said the Ontario College of Education normally turns out 400 teachers a year, but this year enrolment is down.

Mr. Tough, principal of Forest Hill Collegiate in the Toronto area, said a 10-per-cent increase in the number of teachers graduating from the college is needed and the education department is in a dilemma trying to find ways to increase the enrolment.

Death Sentence Inquiry Initiated

OTTAWA (CP)—The government will initiate an inquiry into the death sentence and the law on lotteries during the next session of Parliament, it was reported Saturday in parliamentary circles.

The reports said the inquiry may be undertaken either by a joint committee of the House of Commons and Senate or a royal commission. The government likely will announce its choice soon after the House opening, Nov. 12.

Probation After Death Christian Science Topic

"PROBATION AFTER DEATH" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which was read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world including the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Peterborough, on Sunday. The Golden Text was "The people that walked in darkness have seen a great light: they that dwell in the land of the shadow of death, upon them hath the light shined." (Isaiah 9: 2.) Selections from the Bible included the following from Matthew 7: 13, 14, "Enter ye in at the strait gate: for wide is the gate, and broad is the way, that leadeth to destruction, and many there be which go in thereat: Because strait is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it." Correlative citations from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" included the following: "Every day makes its demands upon us for higher proofs rather than professions of Christian power. These proofs consist solely in the destruction of sin, sickness, and death by the power of Spirit, as Jesus destroyed them. This is an element of progress, and progress is the law of God, whose law demands of us only what we can certainly fulfil."

Reserve Army Units Parade For Claxton

KINGSTON (CP)—Reserve army signals units from London, Toronto, Hamilton, Ottawaand Montreal paraded before Defence Minister Claxton Saturday during final day celebrations of the 50th anniversary of the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals.

The reserve units joined active force soldiers in a 900-man inspection parade before the defence minister and signals and area officers.

Bands from the 2nd and 8th Signal Regiments of Toronto, the 3rd of Ottawa and from the Signals School and Corps in Kingston followed with a massed march past.

Campbellford Ladies Visit Misson Circle

WARKWORTH (ENS) — Mrs. David Dingwall Sr. was hostess for the Missionary Circle of Cramahe Baptist Church and their guests from the Campbellford Missionary Circle.

The president, Mrs. Moran Grills presided over the devotional period.

The Campbellford Circle, under the leadership of Mrs. Weston, president, presented a short play, "Missionary Women in India." A solo was sung by Mrs. Staples of Campbellford.

Following the national anthem, lunch was served by the lunch committee.

TOO MANY RUTABAGAS

Appears to be a surplus of the rutabaga crop. Storage space in western Ontario is filling, price has declined, farmers are filling trenches with the surplus.

WARDENS' BANQUETS

Warden John A. Kincaid, reeve of Madoc, will be host to the members of Hastings county council at a dinner Tuesday evening in Madoc armouries. The Peterborough Warden's banquet is on Wednesday at Havelock.

COURSE BEGINS

A senior NCO course for the 50th HAA Regiment and the 28th Technical Squadron was started over the weekend. It is being conducted by WO 2 William Smith and Sgt. C. Lowe of the instructional and administrative cadre of Kingston for the six weeks.

EXTRA TREAT

Harvest time, especially for raspberries, is long since past but today Mrs. Edward Garvey, R.R. 2, Warsaw, Douro township, is picking a quart of the summer fruit off her bushes. Her son, Eddie, brought in several branches with clusters of berries, some ripe and others that would ripen if the weather were warm enough again.

THE CAMPBELL RINK

The opening of the Peter Campbell memorial rink at Port Hope Saturday night for the new winter season recalls Gordon (Pete) Campbell of Peterborough and his friend of later years, George McCullagh, Toronto, who gave the rink to Trinity College School. It commemorates one of the great TCS football stars whose father was manager of the Bank of Toronto here at one time.

THREE FIRE CALLS

Two flooded space heaters and a faulty sprinkler sent firemen out three times over the weekend. Sunday morning, they answered a call to the home of J. P. Gagnon, 84 Lansdowne St. when a space heater flooded. At 3.45 a.m. today a sprinkler at Great West Saddlery on George St. set off an alarm, and at 7.52 a.m. a space heater in the home of Mrs. Marjery Dollack, 643 George St.

DEPARTMENT FIGHTS FIRE

A small swamp fire, one mile west of Mount Pleasant on the 14th Concession of Cavan township, is being suppressed today by the Department of Lands and Forests, Lindsay district. Owner of the land, Joseph Hall, applied to the department for assistance and is willing to pay for the service since it is outside of the Lindsay fire district and within an organized municipility that has no fire-fighting facilities. The fire is believed to be in peat moss that may have been smouldering for some time during the current dry spell.

RECRUITING GOOD

So far this month recruiting for Peterborough's reserve army units has been good. New unit members are: to the 50th HAA Regiment, Francis Bischof, 502 Park St., Delbert Parish of Bridgenorth, Ronold Pettinger, 612 Bethune St., Albert Coakley, 422 Edison Ave., Richard Francis, 678 Ludgate St., John Phelan, 502 Cross St., Charles Spearin, 313 Elias Ave.; to the 28th Technical Squadron, Patrick Lloyd, 60½ Hunter St., Jack Connolly, 825 Water St., and Robert Green, 227 Burnham St.

ONTARIO FEDERATION OF ANGLERS and Hunters, Zone 5, held their sixth annual convention in Peterborough over the weekend. At the Saturday night dinner two important sportsmen's trophies were presented; in top photo (left to right), Blake Uren of Orillia holds the Scotty Uren Memorial Trophy won for the second year running by the Oshawa District and accepted by George Weldon, club president. King Whyte, next to him, made its presentation and also the Bank of Commerce Memorial Trophy to Bill Owens, the most outstanding individual, also of the Oshawa Club. In the centre photo are (left to right) Zone president Jack Prentice of Toronto, Provincial Secretary and guest speaker, the Hon. Arthur Welsh, zone secretary Campbell Rowatt, and minister without portfolio the Hon. Harold Scott, MPP, both of Peterborough.

T. C. Cunnion, Peterborough Man-Eater Pioneered Town, Dethroned By A Bulldog

The reputations that former Peterborough people make in "greener fields" often seep back to their old home town. Some are good. Others are colorful.

Recently the Detroit Free Press uncovered a rather amusing and incredible story about a former city man now in Gladwin, a small town of 2,000 in central Michigan. Another former Douro and Lakefield resident, Thomas J. Allen, now of Detroit, brought the story to the Examiner's attention.

The former resident, T. C. Cunnion, earned his reputation in the early days of Gladwin when it was a rip-roaring lumbering centre, not the quiet, peaceful little town it is today.

Gladwin then boasted 15 saloons for its 600 inhabitants and the most notorious man in town was Cunnion who would stagger into a saloon and bellow:

"I'm T. C. Cunnion, the man-eater from Peterborough, and I can lick any man in the house."

Cunnion remained the town terror until a Tommy Andrews, a saloon keeper, pitted him against Old Crapo, Gladwin's champion fighting bulldog. Fighting on hands and knees, Cunnion was finally disrobed by the dog before the fight halted.

That was Peterborough's contribution to the history of that little American town.

Clubs, Individuals Given Credit For More Wildlife

"Hunting an fishing is better than ever in the province of Ontario," said Provincial Secretary the Hon. Arthur Welsh, "because of the support of individuals and especially conservation clubs." This was the opening theme of Mr. Welsh's address as dinner guest speaker to more than 150 members of Zone 5 of the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters who attended their sixth annual convention on Saturday evening.

Serious conservation practices, Mr. Welsh said, were vital to the growing tourist business of the province which attracted more visitors, with more friends, each year.

Conservation could not be achieved by legislation or policing alone but if clubs continued their interest and corrective measures there is no danger of hunting and fishing becoming depleted.

With the approach of the deer hunting season he warned all good hunters to be careful in the woods. Talking about the current duck-shooting season he begged hunters to stop duck shooting which wasted valuable wildfowl because they could not be retrieved.

CARP A MENACE

Mr. Welsh reviewed the current research programs on ling and carp, especially carp, that depleted Kawartha fishing waters.

"We must get rid of carp quickly", he said.

Finishing his speech on the conservation theme he reminded that extensive and workable research programs were only possible from information supplied by individuals and clubs to laboratories. Mr. Welsh was introduced by the Hon. Harold R. Scott, Minister without portfolio, and thanked by Zone 5 director L. P. (Pete) McGillen.

Dinner chairman Jack Prentice of Toronto called on King Whyte, committeeman of the Scotty Uren Memorial Trophy, to make its presentation to the club that had achieved the most outstanding work during the past year. It was won by Oshawa District Fish and Game Club, for the second year running, and received on behalf of the club by George Weldon. The most outstanding individual of any zone club, Bill Owens also of the Oshawa Club, received the Bank of Commerce Memorial Trophy, a stirling silver tray, from Mr. Whyte. Blake Uren of Orillia and honorary president of the federation, was present to see the awarding of his memorial trophy.

EIGHT CLUBS

The eight clubs present at the dinner, represented by a strong showing of individual members, were Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association; Simpson-Sears Rod and Game Club; Danforth Rod and Gun Club; Oshawa District Fish and Game Club; Scarboro Fish and Game; Bloor Rod and Gun Club; West Toronto Fish and Game and Toronto Anglers and Hunters Association.

Alderman S. J. Black represented Mayor Hugh Waddell at the dinner and welcomed the delegates to the city. A short ad-

Service Is Held On Site Of New Church

A service of thanksgiving and consecration was held on Sunday on the site of the new St. Giles Presbyterian church. The St. Giles congregation was joined by many from St. Paul's congregation along with their minister the Rev. C. G. Boyd.

Immediately following the morning church service in Confederation school the congregation adjourned to the site of the new church on Park St., where the Sunday School has already assembled under escort. The Rev. Gilbert Smith minister of St. Giles and Knox church, Keene was in charged and he was assisted by the Rev. R. D. Duncanson of Norwood, Mr. Boyd and Stewart Perry.

The junior choir and senior choirs were under the direction of Mrs. G. Wilson Craw.

OLD FAMILIAR PSALM

The service opened with the congregation singing the familiar psalm of Presbyterians, "The Old 100th" and the Scripture was read by Mr. Duncanson. Greetings from the moderator of the Peterborough Presbytery, the Rev. A. E. Toombes of Campbellford, from the Presbytery clerk the Rev. Louis H. Fowler of Port Hope and from James Dutton, who has played a very prominent part in the forming of the congregation, were read by Mr. Perry one of the members of the Kirk session. Mr. Duncanson also brought the greetings from the Synod of Toronto and Kingston.

The children were given a part in the service with the Junior choir leading in a familiar children's hymn and Mr. Smith delivered a short message striking a note of thanksgiving for all the benefits which the people of St. Giles have received since the first service less than 13 months ago. He urged his people to consecrate themselves to the effort which lay before them in the building of the new church. Mr. Boyd delivered the prayer of thanksgiving and consecration. The Doxology and benediction closed the service.

Lawyer Stalks Out Of Court In Protest

W. J. Arthur Fair Defence Evidence Not Given Full Value

Charging that defence evidence was not given its full value, W. J. Arthur Fair, QC, left magistrate's court today before sentence was passed on his client.

Mr. Fair was defending Wilfred Finn, Margaret Ave., who was convicted of drunk driving and sentenced to 12 days in jail.

Evidence in the case revealed that Finn had said he would give a police officer $50 to drive him home and forget about the whole thing. In his own evidence, Finn declared he remembered nothing after leaving a friend's room earlier the day of his arrest.

ALL CONVICTED

Mr. Fair remarked that "every liquor case in this court in the last two months has resulted in a conviction." He suggested in a general way that defence evidence was not always given its full worth when judgment was being considered.

He referred to recent comments from the bench that a witness in a certain case had strayed close to the line of perjury.

"They are not all liars in Peterborough," he said. "I'm shocked to hear you (Magistrate Moore) proceed as though the man had been drunk. One of the Crown's own witnesses said that the man might have been sick."

A friend of Finn, Edward Heffernan, Stewart St., testified that he and Finn had two pints of beer each that day. Finn had not looked well, and his eyes were "very bloodshot".

Finn testified that he didn't remember anything after he got about two blocks away from Heffernan's home. He had been ill for two days before September 6—the date of his arrest—with stomach 'flu, and had been dosing himself with tablets. He remembered nothing from that time until he was in the police station.

Finn said he had worked the Friday before the incident, although he had not been well.

Constable Arthur Beardsmore, who arrested Finn, told court he was driving south on Park St. when he saw a car coming north on the west side of the road. He finally stopped to avoid a collision, and the other car swerved "jerkily" to the east curb.

REMOVED KEYS

Constable Beardsmore ran from the cruiser to the other car and removed the keys from the ignition. The accused was alone in the car, and had to be helped from it. His breath smelled strongly of alcohol, and he couldn't stand without help.

On the way to the police station in the cruiser, Finn offered the constable $50 to "drive me home and forget about the whole thing".

Canada's Democracy To Set Pattern For World—Premier

OMEMEE (ENS)—"I feel assured that we in Canada have a country which will in days to come be the pattern for democracy for the whole world," said the Hon. Leslie M. Frost, Premier of Ontario, Friday evening, addressing more than 200 guests of Warden and Mrs. Vincent Fee of RR 4, Omemee.

The occasion was the traditional Victoria County warden's banquet. It was held in Coronation Hall. The tables were decorated with bowls of fruit, vases of chrysanthemums, and Hallowe'en favors. A turkey dinner was served by the members of the Omemee branch of the Women's Institute. The Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt, minister of Trinity United Church, Omemee, led in singing the grace.

Mr. Fee is completing his 13th year in municipal office and his sixth as reeve of Emily township. Present at the banquet were his wife and three of his six children: Clayton, who is in last year at Osgoode Hall law school, Toronto; Betty of Toronto and Glen, at home on the farm. Mr. Fee was chairman for the program and warmly welcomed all his guests, introducing individually those seated at the head table.

Bill Weir led community singing with Mrs. Leslie Casey at the piano.

Premier Frost expressed his regret at learning of the passing of Mr. William Newman of Lorneville, a former member of the Ontario Legislature. Mr. Frost described him as "a formidable opponent who was at all times honorable and kindly."

He went on to relate some of the early history of the village of Omemee and the county of Victoria and extolled the virtues of Canada.

Two duets were sung by the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Moore of Cambray, Shirley and Beverley, accompanied at the piano by their sister, Mrs. Ross Burns of Little Britain.

Several toasts were proposed: to the Queen by the warden; to the ladies by A. E. Hick, deputy-reeve of Lindsay, replied to by Mrs. D. Hicks, president of Omemee Women's Institute, and to the county by Sherman Moore of Cambray, reeve of Ops township, replied to by Robert Bradt of Bobcaygeon, reeve of Veralum township.

COUNTY PARK

Mr. Bradt recalled that at the June meeting a committee was appointed to search for possible sites on which to locate a Victoria county park. This committee is to report their findings to the November meeting.

Mr. Frank Weldon of Lindsay, county clerk, spoke convincingly of what he termed a better attitude among the people of Canada, approving the recent tendency of the taxpayers to level their criticisms at legislation rather than to criticize personally those holding public office. He told of a provincial muncipal commission recently appointed to study the basis of relationship of municipal government to provincial government and lauded it as a step in the right direction.

Warden Fee introduced former Victoria county wardens Sam Endicott of Ops township, Roy Bottum of Bobcaygeon, George Parrington of Fenelon Falls, Sam Lovett of Eldon township, George Parkin of Fenelon township, Richard Butler of Lindsay, Dr. Foster Graham of Fenelon Falls, Wilbert Worsley of Fenelon township, James Butler of Eldon township, Ray Webster of Mariposa township, and John Bent of Omemee. Mr. Bent recounted some of his experiences during his term as warden.

Miss Donna Bradt of Bobcaygeon played medleys of popular songs on her piano accordion.

BRING GREETINGS

Heber Down, warden of Ontario county, brought greetings as did J. Lowery, warden of Durham and Northumberland counties.

Others who were called on to speake briefly were Harry Deyell, reeve of Omemee, who welcomed all to the village; Clayton Hodgson, MP for Victoria, and S. W. Breeze of Lindsay Collegiate Institute, who represented the town of Lindsay in the absence of Mayor Charles Lamb.

Mr. Fee introduced the members of his own Emily township council: Elmer Mahood, Elwood Faulkner, Lloyd Ashmore, and Edward Lowes. Mr. Lowes voiced appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Fee for the dinner.

The singing of "O Canada" brought the program to a close.

2 Citizens Receive Coronation Medals

Medals commemorating the coronation of Queen Elizabeth have been received by Miss Grace A. Simpson of the staff of the Bell Telephone Co. and Edgar J. Boland, principal of St. Anne's School.

Miss Simpson is corresponding secretary of the Elizabeth Smellie branch of the Canadian Legion Auxiliary, and a director of Peterborough Wing No. 428 of the RCAF Association, officers indicating a special interest recognized in the honor that has come to Miss Simpson in this coronation year. Incidentally she was in London for that event during a vacation of three months in Britain and on the continent.

Mr. Boland has been principal of St. Anne's School since its opening and had previously been on the staff of St. Peter's School.

RUBBISH FIRE

Firemen extinguished a rubbish fire in the gully at Rogers and Hazlitt Sts., shortly after 1:00 p.m. today. Cause of the blaze, consisting chiefly of grass cuttings, was undetermined. A booster tank was used to extinguish it.

YPU Attendance Reaches 400, Officers Elected

A final estimate of more than 400 people were in attendance over the weekend at the George St. United Church for the 25th Annual Young People's Conference of the Bay of Quinte Conference.

Among the highlights of the conference were two addresses by the Rev. A. E. MacKenzie, principal of Albert College, Belleville, concerning the theme "Lord, What Wilt Thou Have Me To Do," and a presentation of "The Bishop's Candlesticks," by the Belleville YPU drama club.

Various commission groups had daily conferences and were led by the Rev. Lloyd Shorten, the Rev. J. A. Steed, the Rev. A. E. Larke, the Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt and the Rev. K. P. Jull.

TOUR OF CITY

On Saturday the members of the convention were taken on a tour of the city and later enjoyed a banquet and play party at Trinity United Church. The play party was conducted by Warren Buttars.

The installation of Conference officers for 1953-54 followed the communion service held Sunday at George St. United Church. The service was conducted by the Rev. A. A. Mathews and the Rev. Lloyd Shorten.

Next year's Conference leaders are, President, Eldon Guthrie, Kingston; vice-president, Mac Cameron, Belleville; secretary, Doris Polk, Kingston; assistant secretary, Reta Christie, Belleville; treasurer, Ray Sadler, Renfrew; Faith and Evangelism, Mary Kennedy, Lindsay; Stewardship training, Marion Brown, Peterborough; Citizenship and Community service, Wayne Tompkins, Cobourg, Mission and World Outreach, Harold Beatty, Lindsay.

THE WAR MEMOIRS OF WINSTON CHURCHILL

THE PILOTLESS BOMBARDMENT

The long-studied assault on England by unmanned missiles now began; the target was Greater London. For more than a year we had argued among ourselves about the character and scale of the attack, and every preparation which our wits could devise and our resources permit had been made in good time.

In the early hours of June 13 (1944) exactly a week after D-day, four pilotless aircraft crossed our coast. They were the premature result of a German order, sent urgently on D-day in reaction to our successes in Normandy. One reached Bethnal Green, where it killed six people and injured nine; the others caused no casualties. Nothing further happened until late on June 15, when the Germans started their campaign of "retaliation" ("Vergeltung") in earnest. More than two hundred of the missiles came against us within twenty-four hours, and over three thousand were to follow in the next five weeks.

The Flying Bomb, as we came to call it, was named "V-1" by Hitler, since he hoped—with some reason—that it was only the first of a series of terror weapons which German research would provide. To Londoners, the new weapon was soon known as the "doodlebug" or "buzz bomb" from the strident sound of its engine, which was a jet of new and ingenious design. The bomb flew at speeds up to four hundred miles an hour, and at heights around three thousand feet, and it carried about a ton of explosive. It was steered by a magnetic compass, and its range was governed by a small propeller which was driven round by the passage of the bomb through the air. When the propeller had revolved a number of times which corresponded to the distance of London from the launching site, the controls of the missile were tripped to make it dive to earth. The blast damage was all the more vicious because the bomb usually exploded before penetrating the ground.

This new form of attack imposed upon the people of London a burden perhaps even heavier than the air-raids of 1940 and 1941. Suspense and strain were more prolonged. Dawn brought no relief, and cloud no comfort. The man going home in the evening never knew what he would find; his wife, alone all day or with the children, could not be certain of his safe return. The blind impersonal nature of the missile made the individual on the ground feel helpless. There was little that he could do, no human enemy that he could see shot down.

✧ ✧ ✧

My daughter Mary was still serving in the Hyde Park Anti-Aircraft Battery. On the morning of Sunday, June 18, when I was at Chequers, Mrs. Churchill told me she would pay it a visit. She found the battery in action. One bomb had passed over it and demolished a house in the Bayswater Road. While my wife and daughter were standing together on the grass they saw a tiny black object dive out of the clouds, which looked as if it would fall very near Downing Street. My car had gone to collect the letters, and the driver was astonished to see all the passers-by in Parliament Square fall flat on their faces. There was a dull explosion near by and everyone went on their business. The bomb had fallen on the Guards Chapel at Wellington Barracks. A special service for which a large number of distinguished officers of the Brigade, active and retired, had gathered was going on. There was a direct hit. The whole building was demolished in a second and nearly two hundred Guardsmen, including many distinguished officers, and their relations and friends were left killed or maimed under the ruins. This was a tragic event. I was still in bed working at my boxes when my wife returned. "The battery has been in action," she said, "and the Guards Chapel is destroyed."

I gave directions at once that the Commons should retire again to the Church House, whose modern steel structure offered somewhat more protection than the Palace of Westminster. This involved a lot of messages and rearrangement. We had a brief interlude in Secret Session, and a Member indignantly asked, "Why have we come back here?" Before I could reply another Member intervened. "If the hon. gentleman will walk a few hundred yards to Birdcage Walk he will see the reason." There was a long silence and the matter dropped.

Our Intelligence had accurately foretold six months before how the missiles would perform, but we had not found it easy to prepare fighter and gun defences of adequate quality. Hitler had in fact believed, from trials he had witnessed of a captured Spitfire against a flying bomb, that our fighters would be useless. Our timely warning enabled us to disappoint him, but only by a narrow margin. Our fastest fighters, specially stripped and vigorously boosted, could barely overtake the speediest missiles. Many bombs did not fly as fast as their makers intended, but even so it was often difficult for our fighters to catch them in time. To make things worse, the enemy fired the bombs in salvoes, in the hope of saturating our defences. Our normal procedure of "scrambling" was too slow, and so the fighters had to fly standing patrols, finding and chasing their quarry with the help of instructions and running commentaries from Radar stations and observer corps posts on the ground. The flying bombs were much smaller than normal aircraft, and so they were difficult either to see or hit. There were poor chances of a "kill" from much more than three hundred yards; but it was dangerous to open fire from less than two hundred yards, because the exploding bomb might destroy the attacking fighter.

The red flame of their exhausts made the bombs easier to see in the dark, and during the first two nights our anti-aircraft batteries in London fired on them and claimed to have brought many down. This tended to serve the enemy's purpose, since some of the missiles might otherwise have fallen in open country beyond the capital. Firing in the Metropolitan area was therefore stopped, and by June 21 the guns had moved to the advanced line on the North Downs.

We had realized of course that some bombs would escape both fighters and guns, and these we tried to parry by a vast balloon barrage deployed to the south and southeast of London. In the course of the campaign the barrage did in fact catch 232 bombs, each of which would almost inevitably have fallen somewhere in the London area.

Nor had we been content with defensive measures. The original "ski sites," ninety-six in number, from which the bombs were to have been launched in France had been heavily attacked by our bombers from December, 1943, onwards and substantially eliminated. But, despite all our efforts, the enemy had succeeded in launching the assault from new and less pretentious sites, and bombs were penetrating our defences in numbers which, although far smaller than the enemy had originally hoped, were presenting us with many problems. For the first week of the bombardment, I kept the control in my own hands. But on June 20 I passed it to an Inter-Service Committee under Duncan Sandys which was known by the code name of Crossbow.

✧ ✧ ✧

We now know that Hitler had thought that the new weapon would be "decisive" in fashioning his own distorted version of peace. Even his military advisers, who were less obsessed than their master, hoped that London's agony would cause some of our armies to be diverted to a disastrous landing in the Pas de Calais in an attempt to capture the launching sites. But neither London nor the Government flinched, and I had been able to assure General Eisenhower on June 18 that we would bear the ordeal to the end, asking for no change in his strategy in France.

✧ ✧ ✧

Our bombing attacks on launching sites went on for a time, but it was clear before the end of June that these were now poor targets. Bomber Command, anxious to share more effectively in relieving London, sought better ones; and they were soon found. The main storage depots for the flying bombs in France now lay in a few large natural caverns around Paris, long exploited by French mushroom-growers. One of these caverns, at St. Leu d'Esserent, in the Oise valley, was rated by the Germans to store two thousand bombs, and it had supplied 70 per cent of all the bombs fired in June. Early in July it was utterly destroyed by Bomber Command, using some of their heaviest bombs to crush the roof in. Another, rated to hold one thousand, was smashed by American bombers. We know that at least three hundred flying bombs were irretrievably buried in this one cavern. London was spared all these, and the Germans were forced to use bombs of a type which they had previously condemned as unsatisfactory.

✧ ✧ ✧

At the headquarters of the Air Defence of Great Britain much thought had been given to the roles of fighters and guns. By the second week of July, however, General Pile (General Officer Commanding Anti-Aircraft Command) and some discerning experts came to the conclusion that the guns could do very much better without undue prejudice to the success of the fighters if the batteries were moved on to the coast. Their Radar for fire control would have more scope, and it would be safer to use the proximity fused shells which were now arriving from America.

The new deployment was a vast undertaking, and it was executed with the most praiseworthy speed. Nearly four hundred heavy and six hundred Bofors guns had to be moved and re-sited. Three thousand miles of telephone cable were laid. Twenty-three thousand men were moved, and the vehicles of Anti-Aircraft Command travelled two and three-quarter million miles in a week. In four days the move to the coast was completed.

by the end of August, not more than one bomb in seven got through to the London area. The "record bag" was on August 28, when ninety-four bombs approached our coast and all but four were destroyed. The balloons caught two, the fighters twenty-three, and the guns sixty-five. The V-1 had been mastered.

The Germans, who keenly watched the performance of our guns from across the Channel, were completely bewildered by the success of our artillery. They had still not solved the mystery when their launching sites were overwhelmed in the first week of September by the victorious and rapid advance of the British and Canadian armies from Normandy to Antwerp. The success of the armies released London and its defenders from the intense strain of the previous three months and on September 6 Mr. Herbert Morrison, Home Secretary and Minister of Home Security, was able to announce: "The Battle of London is won."

In all about eight thousand bombs were launched against London, and about two thousand four hundred got through. Our total civilian casualties were 6,184 killed and 17,981 seriously injured. These figures do not tell the whole story. Many people, though wounded, did not have to stay in hospital, and their sufferings have gone unrecorded.

A second threat drew near. This was the long-range rocket, or V-2, with which we had been so preoccupied twelve months before. The Germans, however, had found it difficult to perfect, and in the meantime it had been overtaken by the flying bomb. But almost as soon as the bombs began to hit us the signs appeared that a rocket assault was also approaching.

Every effort was made to complete the remaining gaps in our knowledge about the size, performance and characteristics of the rocket. Fragmentary evidence from many sources was pieced together by our Intelligence Service and presented to the Crossbow Committee. From this, it was deduced that the rocket weighed twelve tons, with a one-ton war head. This light weight explained many things that had puzzled us, such as the absence of elaborate launching arrangements. These calculations were confirmed when the Royal Aircraft Establishment had the opportunity to examine the wreckage of an actual rocket. It came into our hands as the result of a lucky and freak error in the trials at Peenemunde on June 13, and according to a prisoner the explanation was as follows. For some time the Germans had been using glider bombs against our shipping. These were launched from aircraft and guided to the target by radi. It was now decided to see whether a rocket could be steered in the same way. An expert operator was obtained, and placed in a good position to watch the missile from the start.

The Peenemunde experimenters were well accustomed to seeing a rocket rise, and it had not occurred to them that the glider-bomb expert would be surprised by the spectacle. But surprised he was, so much so that he forgot his own part in the procedure. In his astonishment he pushed the control lever well off to the left and held it there. The rocket obediently kept turning to the left, and by the time the operator had pulled himself together it was out of control range and heading for Sweden. There it fell. We soon heard about it, and after some negotiations the remains were brought to Farnborough, where our experts sorted out the battered fragments with noteworthy success.

Before the end of August we knew exactly what to expect.

✧ ✧ ✧

At the end of August it seemed that our armmies might expel the enemy from all territory within the two-hundred-mile range of the rocket from London, but they managed to hold Walcheren and The Hague. On September 8, a week after the main V-1 bombardment ceased, the Germans lounched their first two rockets against London. The first V-2 fell at Chiswick at seventeen minutes to seven in the evening, the other at Epping sixteen seconds later. About thirteen hundred were fired against England in the seven months before our armies could liberate The Hague, whence most rockets were launched. Many fell short, but about five hundred hit London. The total casualties caused by the V-2 in England were 2,724 killed and 6,467 seriously injured. On the average each rocket caused about twice as many casualties as a flying bomb. Although the war-heads were of much the same size, the strident engine of the flying bomb warned people to take cover. The rocket approached in silence.

Many counter-measures were tried, and still more explored. The raid on Peenemunde over a year before did more than anything else to alleviate the threat. The V-2 attack would otherwise have started at least as early as the V-1 attack, and it would have been from a shorter range, and theerfore more accurate in June than it was in September and after. The United States Air Force continued to bomb Peenemunde in July and August, and both they and Bomber Command attacked factories making rocket components. We owe it to our armies that they had pushed the rocket back to the limit of its range before the Germans were at last ready to open fire. Our fighters and tactical bombers continually worried the launching points near The Hague. We made ready to jam the radio control of the rockets, should the Germans use it, and we even considered attempting to burst the rockets in the air by gunfire as they fell.

Our efforts confined the attack to four or five hundred rockets a month, shared between London and the Continent, compared with an intended rate of nine hundred. Thus, although we could do little against the rocket once it was launched, we postponed and substantially reduced the weight of the onslaught.

Despite the great technical achievements, Speer, the highly competent German Minister of Munitions, deplored the effort that had been put into making rockets. He asserted that each one took as long to produce as six or seven fighters, which would have been far more useful, and that twenty flying bombs could have been made for the cost of one rocket. This post-war information confirms the views Lord Cherwell had so often expressed before the event.

It was fortunate that the Germans spent so much effort on rockets instead of on bombers. Even our Mosquitoes, each of which was probably no dearer than a rocket, dropped on the average 125 tons of bombs per aircraft within one mile of the target during their life, whereas the rocket dropped one ton only, and that with an average error of fifteen miles.

✧ ✧ ✧

Hitler had hoped to have yet another "V" weapon. This was to have been a multi-barrel long-range gun installation dug into the ground near the village of Mimoyecques, in the Pas-de-Calais. Each of the fifty smooth-bore barrels was about four hundred feet long, and it was to fire a shell about six inches in diameter and stabilized, not by spin, but by fins like a dart. Explosive charges were placed in side tubes at frequent intervals up the barrel and were ignited in succession as the projectile accelerated. The shell was intended to emerge from the barrel with a speed of at least five thousand feet per second, and with so many barrels the designers hoped to five a shell at London every few minutes. This time, however, Hitler's hopes were completely disappointed; all the trial projectiles "toppled" in flight and range and accuracy were therefore very poor. A hundred scientists, technicians, and serving offiecrs met in Berlin on May 4, 1944, and came to the unpleasant conclusion that the Fuehrer would have to be told of the failure. We did not know this until afterwards, and as a precaution our bombers repeatedly smashed the concrete structure at Mimoyecques, which five thousand workmen labored as repeatedly to repair.

RESULT OF A "BUZZ BOMB" in London street. Says Churchill: "This new form of attack imposed upon the people of London a burden perhaps even heavier than air raids of 1940 and 1941. Suspense and strain were more prolonged. Dawn brought no relief and clouds no comfort."

"THE LONG-STUDIED ASSAULT" on England by unmanned missiles now began; the target was Greater London . . . on June 15 the Germans started their campaign of "retaliation" (Vergeltung) in earnest. Bomb disposal specialists study a V-1, as Hitler called them.

Not Worried About Recession

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Chamber of Commerce, describing Canada as the "land of greatest opportunity in the world," said today there is no basis for pessimism that a cut in defence expenditures will bring an economic recession or collapse.

In its annual submission to the federal cabinet, the chamber—Canada's national business organization said an easing of international tension should give free enterprise an oportunity to show what it can achieve.

The submission covered policy declarations and resolutions adopted at the chamber's annual meeting in Edmonton Sept. 14-17 and referred to practically all phases of the Canadian economy.

On defence spending, the chamber said it believes any reduction in defence expenditures should be only a minor proportion of present totals "unless and until an effective diarmament agreement is reached and the threat of aggression is removed."

MANY GOOD PROJECTS

"Moreover, the chamber believes that there are many desirable national projects and alternative civilian demands in Canada . . . to absorb any economic readjustments that may be necessary."

"The chamber believes that the objective of Canadian policy should be a population of 30,000,000 by 1975. To achieve this aim, there will have to be more immigrants than have been admitted in recent years."

"The chamber believes that both personal and corporate income taxes are too high for a developing country. State control increases with high taxation."

BUSINESS IMPRESSIONS

"Government control and intervention in business should be kept to a minimum, and should only occur where htere is a clear need to protect some accurately defined public interest."

The chamber "is concerned with the tendency of the United States to modify the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade. . . . Unless new opportunities are provided for other countries to earn dollars to pay for their purchases, there can be no satisfactory solution to the dollar problem."

"An adequate supply of labor on the farms would encourage a more diversified farm program, mean more livestock, ensure a more balanced farm operation, and develop year-round in place of presen seasonal employment.

"Large areas in Canada could materially increase their agricultural production if moisture could be provided by means of irrigation at the proper time."

WANT SUITABLE TREATY

"The chamber . . . urges the federal government to take the necessary steps toward effecting a suitable treaty or to promote other arrangements as will provide means for the international solution to the continuing decline of the fish population in the Great Lakes."

"The chamber urges all responsible bodies to press forward toward the early completion of comprehensive forest inventories and long range estimates of future needs for forest products."

All strikes should be prohibited by a majority of all the employees affected in a government-supervised and secret ballot, held after the expiry of a 'cooling-off' period.

"Sympathetic strikes, strikes due to jurisdictional disputes, mass picketing, intimidation and the secondary boycott are inconsistent with the Canadian way of life and should be prohibited."

"Communists should be barred from employment in all vital services and industries. The chamber approves the steps already taken by the government in this connection and urges continued vigilance."

"The chamber is opposed to any form of compulsory health insurance or state medicine. . . ."

"The chamber urges that a royal commission should be immediately appointed to make recommendations for increased economy and efficiency and improve service in the transaction of public business."

"The financial position of Canadian municipalities is of national concern, and it is urged that there should be a review of provincial-municipal financial relationships in the light of the federal-provincial financial arrangements which have come into existence."

Mission Band Entertains At Birthday Tea

KEENE — (ENS) —The United Church Mission Band held their annual concert and birthday tea Friday evening. The basement was decorated for the occasion.

The program opened with a chorus. Two boys, Donald Robertson and Ronald Bidgood recited. Duncan Patterson sang a solo, accompanied by Jimmie Richardson on the piano. Marion Hawkes recited and "Dolls' Tea Party" was enacted by five littleg irls.

Mrs. Ross McIntyre gave a recitation, Peter Elmhirst recited. Three boys, Jimmie Richardson, David Hawkes and David Fletcher, sang and Craig McIntyre recited. Mrs. H. B. Herrington gave a demonstration of club swinging, accompanied by Miss M. Bryce on the piano.

Greetings from the Women's Missionary Society were brought by Mrs. Fred Nelson. David Hawkes recited and a few words of thanks were said by Mrs. Donald McFarlane.

The program closed with a candle worship service by five children, Donna Short, Eleanor Nelson, Gayle Anderson, Peter Elmhirst and Jimmie Richardson.

Twelve girls wearing fancy caps formed a semi-circle and sang "Happy Birthday", after which all joined in singing the birthday song. Refreshments were served from 12 small tables, each decorated to represent a month of the year.

The guests were received by Donna Short and Eleanor Nelson, who guided each to the table representing the month in which their birthday came.

The hostess and assistant who served tea at the tables were: January—Jean McIntyre and Arlene Short; February —Betty Godfrey and Maryam Wismer; March — Donna Short and Craig McIntyre; April—Eleanor Nelson and David Fletcher; May—Carol Fletcher and Janie Nelson; June—Gayle Anderson and Linda Carpenter; July—Patsy Eason and Jimmie Richardson; August —Judy Joiner and Peter Elmhirst; September —Isobel Elmhirst and Dick Eason; October—Joan Richardson and Janet Wilson; November —Doris Kempt andn David Hawkes; December—Caroline Plunkett and Isobel Irwin.

Farmers Dissatisfaction May Affect U.S. Congress

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — An air of anxiety and uncertainty hangs over agriculture in the United States.

Opinions may differ as to its extent. But the House of Representatives agriculture committee, which ended a 10-day, 1,200-mile tour of midwestern farm states last week, found sentiment ranging from mild concern to dejected pessimism over the economic future.

The situation is filled with political and economic implications. It could bring a sharp change in the political complexion of the Congress to be elected next year. It also could delay, if not kill, efforts of those who hope to lessen the government's role in agriculture.

Fears of a new agriculture depression bear down on many United States farmers and business men. This feeling is due to a number of factors, including: (1) declines in farm prices and incomes, (2) the building up of crop and dairy surpluses, (3) dry weather and poor crop yields in some areas and (4) dissatisfaction with government farm policies and proposals.

The picture painted by the more than 400 farmers and their leaders in upwards of 70,000 words of testimony at hearings held by the committee in Minnesota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio varied greatly in detail, but there was one underlying theme—concern and dissatisfaction.

It stood out bolder in the high-risk production areas of the upper great plains, where wheat crops were poor and livestock men have suffered sharp price declines, than it did in the eastern corn belt, where production is diversified and more certain.

Typical of the stories unfolded in the great plains was this by farmer Joe Bailey who came to the hearing at Watertown, S.D., to speak for himself and his county neighbors.

"In Clark county we have good farms and do a good job of farming," he began. "My neighbors have been telling me that compared to the prices received for their products, their cost of operation is too high. Consequently they are fast going broke. A large number of farmers in our county are selling out and going to the city to make a living."

In the corn belt the committee heard fewer complaints. In central Illinois, a business man told inquirers that farmers were complaining that they had to "wash their own Cadillacs now."

Some farm leaders argued that the hearings failed to give an accurate picture of how farmers as a whole felt. They said some the hearings were "packed" by groups interested in promoting their own pet programs and by the habitually dissatisfied. They said the "good, solid" farmers stayed at home.

MINORITY APPEALS

But those who attended all the hearings were generally agreed on these conclusions:

1. Farmers as a whole want government help in stabilizing their prices and income.

2. Farmers dislike production and marketing controls generally associated with high price supports, but they are willing to accept them in return for price guarantees.

Heard frequently were statements that it is better to be a "controlled farmer with an income than a bankrupt farmer with freedom."

Yet, there were appeals, although in the minority, that the government reduce price supports.

A feature of the committee tour was the appearance of labor union leaders at most of the hearings. These leaders reported industrial layoffs in farm machinery and related industries because farmers were not buying equipment.

VOTE LOSS FORESEEN

Most committee members agreed that the chief "sore spot" with farmers was the "uncertainty" of farm programs after 1954.

Republican members of the committee did not attempt to hide their concern. Several said they foresaw loss of enough farm votes next year to give Democrats a safe control of the new congress.

Soldiers Call Cancellation "A Raw Deal"

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Merle Tingley, London Free Press cartoonist visiting Canadian troops in Korea, said in a cabled letter to his paper Saturday that servicemen call the government's gratuity cancellation a "raw deal."

"The boys are disappointed—a 'raw deal' they hollered," Mr. Tingley wrote. "Some had volunteered for a year over here mainly to earn enough to marry the gal back home. Others counted on the bonus to start in college or set up a business."

The government announced last week that Canadian soldiers who left for Korea after the cease fire last July 26 will not be entitled to any special theatre-of-war discharge benefits. In effect, the troops now are on garrison duty, in the same way as Canada's 27th Brigade in West Germany.

East Berlin Romeo Caught By Comedy Of Errors

BERLIN —(Reuters)—An East Berlin Romeo who strayed into the bedroom of the father of his Juliet featured a comedy of errors described Sunday in the East Berlin Communist newspaper Neue Zeit. Konrad Mueckebein, a young lawclerk, appeared before an East Berlin court on charges of theft. His Juliet was Julia Knopp, a daughter of a scrap metal merchant.

As in the classical story, it all began at a ball. There, Romeo danced with Juliet and whispered sweet nothings into her ear. Juliet's father concentrated on the lavish array of drinks and at 2 a.m. Romeo and Juliet guided father Knopp home to bed.

Romeo spent another hour telling Juliet how wonderful she was. She invited him to have a cup of tea in her bedroom but said he would have to enter by way of the balcony.

WRONG BALCONY

But poor Romeo chose the wrong balcony. He embraced a dark figure in bed and father Knopp set up an uproar. "Help, murder, robbers," he shouted.

Romeo jumped over the balcony into the arms of a policeman who had heard the shouts.

Romeo proclaimed his innocence but Juliet failed to back him up, fearing her father's anger. To make matters worse, father Knopp claimed his wallet and gold watch had been stolen. Romeo was taken to prison.

A few days later police arrested a pickpocket, who confessed he had stolen the wallet and watch at the ball. A judge heard the story and ordered Romeo's release. But it was not a case of love's labor lost. Juliet was awaiting her Romeo outside the court with a bunch of pink roses.

See Growth In Production Bringing Some Tax Relief

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canadian taxpayers, told to expect no major tax cuts in next year's federal budget, can hope that the country's economic growth will product some relief.

Experts say that despite the probability of another $2,000,000,000 defence budget in 1954, the growth of Canada's national production may permit a few tax cuts, likely in the personal income and corporation tax fields.

Finance Minister Abbott, however, made clear in a speech last week that no major cuts are likely until 1955.

The two main factors influencing tax rates are the government's needs and the gross national product—value of all goods and services produced by Canada.

STEADY GNP RISE

The GNP, as it is known among economists, has been rising year by year. At the outset this year's GNP was forecast at a record $24,000,000,000. Now the indications are this will be exceeded, possibly by more than $100,000,000.

And despite some talk of possible recession, the experts are convinced Canada's GNP will continue to grow, perhaps by as much as $1,000,000,000 next year.

They base their convictions on industry's long-range investment plans for developing resources; the continuing heavy demand for goods; the growth of the Canadian market and national income; and other signs of economic strength.

A sudden shift in world events could upset their rosy outlook. But they observe that when the world's most powerful economy, the United States, hit a mild recession in 1949, Canada rode out the storm with hardly a ripple in her economic expansion.

Federal taxes next year likely will be about the same as this year—about $4,400,000,000.

TAX RISE UNLIKELY

It will require all of that to balance accounts and it is unlikely the government will take more from the public. The post-war program of using surpluses to reduce the national debt has been temporarily dropped and Mr. Abbott indicated it likely will not be resumed until 1955.

Thus if the GNP rises, the government could cut its tax rate slightly and still get the same amount of taxes. Otherwise, government experts see no chance of paring the budget.

Defence production will reach its peak next year, requiring another $2,000,000,000 in defence money and other government costs show no signs of coming down.

Refused To Be Repatriated To Get Evidence Against Reds

By STAN CARTER

TOKYO (AP)—A young American soldier today said he refused repatriation from a Communist prison camp so he could gather evidence to prove to the people at home that the Communists "are rotten to the core."

Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson, 23, formerly of Big Stone Gap, Va., remained behind with 22 other Americans when most Allied war captives were repatriated at the end of the Korean fighting.

Last Wednesday he left the compound north of Panmunjom, where the others are still awaiting explanations about why they should come home, and told the Indian guards he had changed his mind —that he wanted to be repatriated.

NEVER BELIEVED REDS

Dickenson, in a press conference today at Tokyo Army Hospital said he never believed in communism, though the other Americans in prison camp 5 at Pyoktong, North Korea, considered him a "progressive" who co-operated with the Chinese Reds.

He said he wanted to learn all he could about the Communists so he could "get revenge for what they did to me and my buddies."

"I just thought I would play along with them and get even with them. I didn't intend to go to China."

Dickenson said the Communists promised him and the other 22 Americans that if they stayed behind they would have "plenty of women, a good home and could go to school to take up any studies."

The Reds also promised the men they could go to China or Russia or any Communist country, Dickenson said.

RETURN AS MASTERS

In about five years, he said the Communists told them, there would be a revolution in the United States. Then the men who remained behind now would return to the U. S. and "be the masters of our own country."

He said perhaps 10 of the 22 Americans now in Indian custody would decide to be repatriated "if they have proper explanations."

He declined to say what he thought American officers should tell the men to get them to come home.

Pleads Guilty To Break-In

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Donald Laporte, 26, Saturday pleaded guilty to breaking and entering and theft after he was arrested in a jewelry store at nearby Lasalle with an estimated $2,000 worth of loot in his possession.

He was remanded to Oct. 27.

Laporte was out on bail awaiting trial in connection with a theft charge laid by Riverside police a week ago. He was arrested early Saturday by chief Del Taylor of Lasalle who arrived at the store two minutes after he received a telephone tip that someone was trying to break into the store.

South Smith WI Plans Dinner For Girls' Club

FAIRVIEW (ENS)—The South Smith Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. George Lockington. The president, Mrs. Clarence Mann, led the meeting.

An invitation was extended from the Lakefield WI to meet with them at their November meeting. This was unanimously accepted.

The president stated that she and the secretary, Mrs. Leo Allen, had attended the silver anniversary of the Havelock WI on Oct. 7. Mrs. Mann was appointed leader of the girls homemaking club, of which she has been leader for the past three years with Mrs. Edison Kimball as assistant.

It was decided to give the club leaders, the girls and their mothers, a banquet in Fairview Church in recognition of the work accomplished. Mrs. Albert Bulmer has been the assistant leader for the past year. Mrs. Wesley Bell and Mrs. Elmer Milburn are the supper committee.

Mrs. George Lockington who had charge of the Institute exhibit said that it had won third place at Lakefield fair, second at Peterborough exhibition, and $5 for entering at Norwood fair, making a total of $20, to add to the treasury.

The resolutions which are to be dealt with at the convention in Toronto were all voted on. The district speaking competition finals will be held in Fairview United Church on Nov. 10 at 8 p.m. Mrs. C. Mann, Mrs. Leo Allen and Mrs. Elmer Milburn were appointed a committee to look after a paper drive when all ladies of the community are asked to donate their waste paper.

The ladies decided to look into the possibility of buying folding chairs for use in the community as a future project.

Mrs. Lorne McKee had charge of the topic on education, and had as her guest, Mrs. Quirt McKinney who presented two films in colour, entitled "Birds of Canada" and "Rivers of Canada". Mrs. Henry Sharpe moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. McKinney and to the hostess.

"Will you always live at your present address?"

No one really likes moving, although most of us do move at one time or another.

When we do, we hope it will be to something approaching our idea of a "dream house". This is likely to be pretty expensive.

This doesn't apply, of course, to those few people whose taste runs to an igloo or a tent.

If you are one of those people who want to own their own home... or want to move to a bigger or better one... or even to be ready to move if you have to, shouldn't you take steps now?

Not everyone wants to save for a house, of course. There are probably a thousand and one things you want. Saving is the way to get them.

To save there's no surer way than with Canada Savings Bonds. It's the safe, convenient and systematic method.

They're easy to get through your bank, investment dealer or through your Company's Payroll Savings Plan. Better do something about it today!

Foote-Gilders Rites At Noon

A lovely wedding of wide interest took place at high noon on Saturday in All Saints' Anglican Church when Doreen Clare, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Gilders, became the bride of Dr. John Edgar Frederick Foote, son of Dr. and Mrs. Norman D. Foote of Toronto.

The Rev. Maurice P. Poole, rector of All Saints' officiated and was assisted by Mr. Marwood F. Patterson of Toronto, theology student and friend of the bride.

Standards of white snowdrift 'mums and ferns were in profusion in the sanctuary. Miss Margaret Flowers, who had played the music at the bride's parents' wedding, was at the organ. She accompanied Mrs. James Morley, who sang "The Lord's Prayer" preceding the ceremony and "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

The bride chose an imported gown of cloud white satin. The moulded basque was fashioned with a square neckline in front and a V effect in the back, etched with pearl and crystal bead scrolling. The long sheath sleeves were pointed at the wrists with matching pearl scrolls. From the pointed minute waistline, the very bouffant skirt billowed over a crinoline in soft pleated folds to the floor, ending in a cathedral train. Her fingertip veil of French tulle was gathered in soft pleats to a matching tricorn of satin and pearls and she carried her white prayer book adorned with white orchids and trailing ivy.

Given in marriage by her father, she was attended by Mrs. Joseph E. Gatfield as matron of honor and Miss Audrey Tufford as bridesmaid.

Keltic green taffeta was chosen for the attendants' gowns. They were fashioned with strapless shirred bodices under figure-moulding jackets, with rounded necklines, over-the-elbow sleeves, and very bouffant skirts. Both wore soft feather headbands, wrist-length gloves of white doeskin and carried arc-shaped bouquets of gold 'mums and ivy.

Mr. William H. G. Foote of Toronto was his brother's attendant. Ushers were John R. Grainger and Ashley W. Woodburn, both of Toronto, and Joseph E. Gatfield, uncle of the bride.

A reception followed at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club. The bride's mother received in a floor-length gown of cafe-au-lait lace over matching taffeta, with accessories in a soft turquoise shade and corsage of gold and turquoise-tinted feathered carnations. Mrs. Foote assisted in a floor-length gown of forest green crepe with accessories in a parchment tone and corsage of pale yellow roses. Also receiving were the groom's grandmothers, Mrs. A. E. Gardner of Montreal and Mrs. H. F. Foote of Peterborough.

Later the bride changed to her travelling ensemble of an afternoon dress of smoke blue peau de soie, soft feather hat and accessories in a mink shade, muskrat jacket and orchid corsage.

Dr. and Mrs. Foote will live in Peterborough.

Craft work for the Little Women's Club on Satunrday afternoon was to make name cards for the Old Country Club and they also made a Hallowe'en poster for their Hallowe'en party being held this Saturday. Margaret Marino reported.

Alvin S. Yelland Wed In Victoria, To Live In London

The marriage of Mr. Alvin S. Yelland, a native of Peterborough and son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Yelland, of this city took place on Saturday at Victoria, British Columbia. Mr. Yelland's bride is the former Miss Elizabeth Gordon Putnam, daughter of Mrs. William Murray Putnam, of Victoria, and the late Mr. Putnam.

The ceremony took place at four o'clock in First United Church, Victoria, the Rev. M. A. Waters officiating The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. James M. Putnam.

Choosing her gown in ballerina length, the bride was charming in cafe-au-lait shade tulle nylon net and french imported Chantilly lace. The bouffant skirt of tulle and nylon net was over champagne taffeta and a crinoline. Floral pattern embroidery of sequins and seed pearls was at the neckline and sides of the skirt. She was wearing a matching lace jacket in the Empire mode, a matching headdress and shoes in tone and she carried cream roses and bronze spray 'mums.

Bridal attendant was Miss Marguerite Cusson, of Vancouver, wearing a ballerina gown of dusky pink taffeta with matching headdress and shoes and carrying a bouquet of peach roses and spray 'mums. Groomsman was Dr. Boyd Roberts, of Victoria, and Norman Putnam and Vern Scott ushered.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Scott, in Victoria.

Afterward the couple left to come east to London, Ontario, where Mr. Yelland has just assumed managership of the Scarfe and Company store, after being associated with the Peterborough branch for some years.

Mrs. Yelland chose for travelling a brown tailleur suit with dark brown accessories, a fur felt hat in taupe shade and a brown fur coat.

Newlyweds Feted

FAIRVIEW (ENS)—A recent bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bullock were honored Friday evening when friends and neighbors gathered at the home of the brides parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Allen. Tucker-Humphreys Nuptials

The marriage took place in George Street United Church on Saturday, at six-thirty o'clock, by candlelight, of Elaine Mary, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward James Humphreys, of Lindsay, to David Vaughn Tucker, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Tucker, of Peterborough.

Nuptial vows were pledged before the Rev. A. A. Mathews. Organist Mr. Charles Allen played the wedding music and Mrs. Charles Hobbs sang "Through the Years" before the bride entered the church and during the signing of the register "The Wedding Prayer." The church was beautifully decorated with ferns, palms and baskets of white 'mums.

The bride was given in marraige by her father and wore an original gown of nylon tulle and French silk lace over feather white taffeta. The bodice was of scalloped lace and the long sleeves came to points over the wrists. The skirt was softly gathered with paniers of lace and ending in a short train. She wore a fingertip veil of sheer silk tulle caught to a Juliet cap of silk lace over taffeta and orange blossoms. She carried a white prayer book centred with red rosebuds.

Mrs. Ken Doughty attended her sister as matron of honor and Miss Beverly Pidgeon was bridesmaid. They were gowned alike in waltz-length dresses of cardinal red taffeta with bouffant overskirts of red and white silk tulle, with matching jackets of taffeta. They carried ring bouquets of white carnations and wore headbands of tiny white rosebuds.

Groomsman was Mr. David Humphreys, brother of the bride. Ushers were Bill Ware and Paul Reid.

The wedding reception was held in the church parlors where the bride's mother received, wearing a gown of charcoal tissue faille with black and white accessories and a corsage of Sweetheart roses. The groom's mother also received, wearing a gown of teal blue tissue faille and lace with black accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Tucker left for a honeymoon in New York and points east. For travelling the bride wore a wool pic 'n' pic suit in sapphire blue shade with slim skirt and box-style jacket, with bracelet sleeves, black accessories and a winter white pixie hat. Her corsage was of red roses.

They will live at 709 Aylmer St. on return.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

White Lamb Stew Is Nutritious

We hear such hackneyed comments as "It's the meat that makes the meal" and "It's the meat that makes the food bills so high'" and "Bill wants meat every meal".

All of these plaintive comments are true to a certain extent, but good intelligent cooks can beguile their families into enjoying less expensive and unusual cuts of meat by applying their minds to it.

Even if you do not have to economize and are in the fried-chicken-roast-beef-steak - level-income-bracket you can't righteously claim to be a good overall cook unless you can tackle stew meat and turn out a dinner that you would be proud to serve to your most critical guests.

Food editors constantly are striving to raise the nutritional and epicurean level of the meals of their readers without sacrificing money or flavor.

In this food editor's opinion this meal meets all of those requirements. We served it to four people and the meat cost 67 cents.

WHITE LAMB STEW

This may be made from shoulder or neck lamb, but since ours was neck that is what I will describe. The butcher chopped through the neck making chop-shaped pieces about ¾-inch thick. Each slice made a serving piece. I covered these with about 5½ cups cold water and simmered it covered for 3 hours, then added 1 tablespoon salt, 1 teaspoon MSG (or Accent), ½ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper, 1 whole green pepper cut in strips, ½ cup mint leaves (not chopped), and let that simmer about 15 minutes, when it was time to add the dumplings.

Dumplings (for lamb stew): Measure 2 cups sifted flour and sift it with 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt and into these cut 3 tablespoons shortening. Then add 2 tablespoons each chopped chives and parsley. (If you do not have chives in the garden add ½ teaspoon finely chopped onion.) Quickly stir in ¾ cup milk. Take off about 2 cups of the liquid from the stew—so that there are about 3 cups left on the meat. Drop the dumpling batter from a tablespoon onto the boiling stew, cover and boil gently for about 12 minutes, without lifting lid.

Wtih these we served buttered and parsleyed chopped carrots and lovely bright quick-cooked spinach. It was a pretty and delicious meal.

QUESTION: Would you please tell me how to put the dressing back into clothes that have gone limp? Mrs. Pearl W.

ANSWER: As you doubtless know the dressing that is in materials is added when the fabrics are woven or being "finished" at the plant. It is a type of starch mixed with a very little wax of some kind and often sugar. It is an exact formula and different with most manufacturers. Even the dry cleaning establishments do not attempt to put the stiffening back into washed fabrics. If the material is cotton use thin starch or any of the packaged starch finishes that are on the market. If you want to try it on silk or rayon write to me and I will mail you one or two of the formulas.

QUESTION . . . you gave a recipe for molasses drop cookies, stating light-colored molasses . . . I would like to know if the raw or crude molasses could be used, and if so would I use less than light molasses? I have a large jar of this raw molasses on hand as my relatives took it for their health when people were taking it for a cure-all . . . could I use 1½ cups sugar in your low-calorie butter cookies instead of sucaryl; G. C.

ANSWER: I've mailed you the molasses cookie recipe. Use 3 tablespoons raw molasses in place of the light. You may have to add 1 or 2 teaspoons milk. No, don't add sugar to the low calorie cookies. Use a proper butter cookie recipe. Here are the ingredients: 2-3 cup butter, 1¼ cups sugar, 2 eggs, 3 cups stirred flour, 1½ teaspoons salt, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Reading Of Biographies Aid Personality

There are many types of personality builders—course in psychology and poise, instruction in beauty culture and lectures galore. To my mind, however, a good biography is a splendid source of information on personality development.

EXAMPLES

Nothing can illustrate for us the building of personality as well as the story of a man or woman who has contributed something to the march of human progress. Consider those who have become outstanding figures in our own time! Read about their early lives, you young folks who are learning to make difficult adjustments. Ponder on the obstacles they overcame, how they decided what they wanted to do in life and how they progressed to their goals.

VALUABLE READING

Whether the boy you choose is a thick tome delineating details and events in the life of a famous person, or whether it is a relatively short simple family story of the type prevalent today, you are bound to learn something that will help you attain an intelligent maturity. Some situation in the story may mirror a problem that you face. Reading about how it was solved satisfactorily will give wonderful encouragement in your own quest.

ANALYZE YOURSELVES

Complete analysis of ourselves is recognized as the shortest path to understanding our quirks and foibles. Knowing the reasons for our actions and feelings. There are many volumes, couched in technical language and difficult for any but a trained mind to follow. Such books are for the professional, or highly educated person. They may be beyond the understanding of Mr. Young Average Citizen. Biography is within everyone's ken, and can serve as a good substitute for scientific works.

If your problem is a special one — if, for instance, you are handicapped, you can always find a book written by or about someone who has been confronted with and conquered your own particular problem.

Ask your librarian to help you find the books you need. She'll be only too happy to oblige.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a girl of 16 with a very nice boy friend. Our only problem is that he wants to bring his buddies with him whenever he comes to see me. I'd like to be alone with him once in a while.

C. M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You've only known the boy a month, so he is probably still too shy to visit you without some backing. Don't worry. In due time he'll muster courage to face you and the family without assistance.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband, our two children and I were living happily until a few months ago when my husband, as a joke, wrote to a woman whose address he found on a package in his shop. He didn't tell her he was married, until he realized that she was falling in love with him. Now she is at the point where she wants to divorce her husband, come here, and try to get my man, who, incidentally, says he doesn't care a bit for her. Should we let her come, or write and tell her how hopeless the trip will be?

P. B.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You should write the lady, enclosing pictures of your children, and tell her, quite emphatically, that her efforts to get your husband are quite futile.

Next time you watch a construction job, remember — you may have a closer connection with it than you think!

If you own life insurance, that connection could be very close. Some of your premium money might be helping to pay the cost of digging that gaping pit. For, every year, hundreds of millions of dollars are invested for policyholders in ways that provide many kinds of buildings.

Homes, schools, power plants, waterworks . . . these are but a few of the projects which life insurance money helps develop. It's really amazing how those dollars get around!

All this building creates jobs too. Not only jobs for builders, but for workers in new or expanded industries from coast to coast.

So anyone who owns life insurance is doing more than providing financial security for himself and his family. He also helps make Canada a better land to live in!

AT YOUR SERVICE!

A trained life underwriter — representing one of the more than 50 Canadian, British and United States life insurance companies in Canada — will gladly help you plan for your family's security and your own needs in later years. Rely on him!

6—In Memoriam

BURNS—In loving memory of Ronald George Burns, who passed away October 26, 1939.
We think of him in silence
No eye can see us weep
But many silent tears are shed
When other are asleep.
—Always remembered by Mom, Daddy, John and Beverley.

THOMPSON—In loving memory of Albert Edward Thompson who passed away four years ago today, Oct. 26, 1949.
You're not forgotten brother dear,
Nor ever shall you be
As long as lift and memory last
We all, shall remember thee.
—Ever Remembered by Cecil, Mary and family.

THOMPSON—In loving memory of A. E. Thompson (Ned) who passed away October 26, 1949.
There is a link Death cannot sever
Love and remembrance last forever,
—Fondly remembered by Uncle Albert.

THOMPSON—In loving memory of Albert E., who passed away, Oct. 26, 1949.
God called him home, it was His will,
But in our hearts we love him still,
His memory is as dear today
As in the hour he passed away.
We often sit and think of him
When we are all alone,
For memory is the only thing
That grief can call its own.
—Lovingly remembered by mother and sister.

7—Card of Thanks

Albert Leaves Calgary Stamps

CALGARY (CP)—Frankie Albert after a disappointing Western Interprovincial Football Union season with the tail-end Calgary Stampeders, flew back to San Francisco Saturday night. It is believed he won't be back.

Frank McCool, sports editor of the Calgary Albertan, said that "by pre-arrangement Albert stated he would take a crack at Canadian football for one year only and that no matter what happened he would be going back to San Francisco and his TV show at the conclusion of the season."

Albert did not live up to his press clippings, partly because he operated behind the weakest line in the WIFU. But on the few occasions that line did give him protection he ranked with the best in his field generalship, passing and running.

Albert sat out Saturday night's 13-13 tie game with Saskatchewan Roughriders with a displaced vertebrae.

OBITUARIES

WALTER CORNEIL

A brother of Mrs. Robert Allan, 540 Stewart St., Walter Corneil, of West Ops, Victoria county, died recently at Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay.

He was born in Mariposa township 73 years ago, and had been a farmer in Ops all the active years of his life. He was a son of William Corneil and Mary Mitchell. Mr. Corneil is also survived by a daughter, Mrs. Reid Roadhouse, of Dunsford, and three sons on the home farm, Lloyd, Douglas and Hector.

MRS. J. F. MORRISON

Mrs. Annie Morrison, widow of Joseph Franklin Morrison, former resident of Peterborough, died Saturday in Niagara Falls at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Earl Maniece.

Born in Richmond, Que., 85 years ago, she was a daughter of the Rev. James A. McCaul and Barbara Peden. Until a year ago she lived at 209 Dalhousie St., Peterborough.

In Peterborough she was a member of Knox United Church. She was an active member and an honorary member of the WMS, and a member of the WA. For many years she taught Sunday school and was teacher of the Berean Bible Class. A constant visitor of shut-ins, she was also an active member of the WCTU and took an interest in the Bible Society.

Her husband died in 1942. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Maniece (Helen), three sons, John and Gordon, of Peterborough, and Edwin, of Cobourg; two sisters, Mrs. Walter Jones (Alice), Mrs. D'Arcy Greaves (Effie) and four brothers, Reginald, Gordon, Wilfred and Leander McCaul, all of Toronto.

The funeral service will be held Tuesday at Knox United Church, at 2 p.m., the Rev. H. G. Douglas officiating, assisted by the Rev. William McDonald, a retired former minister of Knox United Church, officiating. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery. Funeral arrangements are being made by Comstock's funeral home.

Mrs. Michael Conway

Funeral service was held Friday for Mrs. Michael Conway, the former Ellen Abbigal Foley, who died Wednesday at her home in Ennismore. Mass was celebrated in St. Martin's Church, Ennismore, by the Rev. P. Lynch.

In the sanctuary were Monsignor J. V. McAuley, the Rev. J. V. Gillogoly and the Rev. J. F. McGuire. Father Lynch said the graveside prayers in St. Martin's cemetery.

Pallbearers were Leo Scollard, James Harrington, John Harrington, Joseph Sullivan, Earl Hickson and Michael McAuliffe.

Clubs, Individuals

dress of welcome was also made by Peterborough County Warden E. J. Leeson. Gordon K. Fraser M.P. was also called on for a few words of greeting. Zone 5 secretary Campbell Rowatt was especially singled out for praise for his work in arranging for the convention meeting and its ultimate success.

Other head table guests were federation president Dave Wilson of Toronto and Mrs. Wilson; president of Peterborough Fish and Game, Hugh Plowman and Dr. W. J. K. Harkness, chief of the department's fish and wildlife division.

AGAIN PRESIDENT

Many of the delegates stayed for the zone's annual business meeting on Sunday. Jack Prentice of the West Toronto Fish and Game Club was returned by acclamation for the second term as president. The following members elected to the executive were, Sam Traux, F. H. Kortright, Carl Warne, Fred White, King Whyte, Ron Tyler, Sam Merrett, George Calver, Fred Henry, Jr., and James Young, all of Toronto.

K. C. McClelland, Weston; Dave Haig, Midland; Bill Owens, Alex Clayton and Harold Strathdee, all of Oshawa; Harry Nicholls, Thurstonia Park; Blake Uren, Orillia; and Pete McGillen, Hugh Plowmen and Stan Purser, all of Peterborough.

Among the resolutions presented on Sunday by the Peterborough Fish and Game were that the 1954 deer season be opened on the Monday nearest Nov. 9, a later date, to reduce loss of venison through mild weather spoilage. They also asked for closer co-operation on the supervision of freezer lockers and instructions to hunters in the proper dressing and preservation of all wild game.

Sister Societies Join In Rally

FRASERVILLE —(ENS) — A pleasant afternoon was spent on Wednesday when the Fraserville WA held their thankoffering service and tea in the church. Guest societies were present from Bensfort, Bailieboro, Centreville and Springville. Each society took an item on the program.

Rev. I. G. Pollock, Grace United Church, Peterborough, was the speaker. A pleasant hour was spent by all while tea was being served.

Mrs. Rissor of Claremont is visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lackey, Fraserville.

Mrs. Ruby Wood is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Shortt, in Sherbrooke, Que.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Killan of Bancroft called on friends at Fraserville during the week.

Wed In Malton

The Shrine of Our Lady of the Airways R.C. Church, Malton, was scene of a pretty autumn wedding Saturday when Helen Lilian, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Wedgewood, became the bride of Joseph John Cleary, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cleary, of Cobourg Road, Hastings. The Rev. Vincent Egan, PP, officiated.

The bride was becomingly attired in a suit of dove grey and sand tones, navy hat, shoes and accessories, and wore a corsage of white gardenias.

Following the wedding breakfast, the young couple left on a motor trip to Northern Ontario, including North Bay and Temagami.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleary will live in Malton, where the groom is an employee of A. V. Roe, and the bride on the staff of the Schaeffer's Fountain Pen Company.

Girls' Aux. Hallowe'en Tea At Mrs. W. C. Boates' Home

The enthusiastic members of the Girls' Auxiliary of St. John's Anglican Church held a most successful tea Saturday afternoon at the home of their leader, Mrs. W. C. Boate, 171 Antrim St.

The tea was managed entirely by the girls with donations coming from the afternoon branch of the WA, who stand always ready to back the GA in its activities.

The girls and Mrs. Boate were in their GA uniform of navy blue skirt and tie with a white blouse. Guests were interested in ribbons worn on the right arm, bearing badges, chevrons and stars earned through studies and written examinations on various subjects. The GA arm badge is worn on the left arm.

A four-foot high skeleton on the glass panel of the outside door warned guests that it was a Hallowe'en tea. The tea table was lovely with a yellow damask linen cloth centred by a witch's cauldron.

The large silver challenge cup of merit, won by the St. John's group in the Toronto Diocese this year, was flanked by silver candle holders with orange tapers, and orange paper pumpkins formed a background for the table decorations. Orange and black streamers festooned the skirts of the candy and home baking tables.

Mrs. Boate was assisted in receiving by the GA president, Sherry Hope. Daughter Alma Boate, youngest member of the Auxiliary, and Dianne McNamee supplied a convenient and busy baby sitting service. Barbara Sullivan attended the door and treasurer Rosemary Deyell was in charge of the tickets.

This year the mothers were asked to assist in the tea and guests were ushered to the dining room by Mrs. William Gunn.

Tea pourers for one hour periods were Mrs. A. Ball, Mrs. R. Hope, Mrs. R. Sutton, Mrs. P. D. Windrim, Mrs. E. Partridg, Mrs. G. H. Hutchinson.

Servers were Ann Hutchinson and the three Ring of Honor girls, Beth Conley, Eleanor Biddle and Josie Hendren.

The kitchen duties were done by June Valois, Lorraine Gunn, Lois Biddle, Shirley Holmes, Ann Mason and Susan Simmers, with Mrs. P. W. Anderson and Mrs. C. Mason in charge. At one period in the tea, they were called on to assist with serving.

The candy table, which was sold out very quickly, was operated by Mary Sutton, assisted by Carol Calhoun. The home baking table was convened by Ann Merrett, and Beverley Farranca, Shirley Maudsley and Patricia Gunn assisted. Carolyn Ball and Barbara Maudsley were in charge of the leathercraft table.

The group look forward to the time Bona Farthing will join in the GA activities again. Bona has been in the hospital in Toronto since June.

Beth Conley won first prize for selling the most tickets, Alma Booth second and Mary Sutton third.

Bridal Showers

Honoring Miss Elaine Humphreys prior to her marriage on Saturday to Mr. Vaughn Leecher, the Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club, of which she is a member, entertained at a miscellaneous shower and also presented a pair of blankets. Mrs. Brydon Young and Mrs. M. Elcombe entertained at the former's home and presented a wool blanket. Miss Beverly Pidgeon was hostess to a group of friends at a personal shower. Misses Nel and Marjorie Stenton entertained at a cup and saucer shower. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Reid entertained a group of couples and presented a musical stein. The bride was feted by the office staff of the carpentry shop at CGE and presented with a clock. The groom's associates of the structural steel at the CGE presented a smoker and a group of friends presented a radio clock.

✧ ✧ ✧

Much Entertained

Prior to her marriage to Mr. Ronald W. Turner on Saturday, Miss Beverley Reynolds was honored at several showers. Mrs. William Turner, mother of the groom, honored her at a miscellaneous shower at her home in Toronto. Girls of the induction motor office, CGE, where she was employed, entertained at a shower at the home of Mrs. Donald Dennison, Donegal Street. Friends of the bride and groom gathered at the home of the bride's parents where a surprise coffee party was held in their honor and they were presented with a hostess chair, with the remainder of the evening spent in dancing at Club Aragon. Misses Yola Basciano and Joan Reynolds and Mrs. Neil Stewart were co-hostesses at a miscellaneous shower at the latter's home on Park Street S. Members of the Ashby Girls' Ball Team, of which the bride was a member, also entertained at the home of Mrs. Neil Stewart, where presentation of a hassock was made. Mrs. Alfred Griffin, Brioux Ave., entertained at a kitchen shower. Miss Reynolds was presented with a combination telephone table, lamp and chair by associates of induction motors department, CGE.

✧ ✧ ✧

Out-of-town guests attending the Turner-Reynolds wedding on Saturday were: Mrs. William Turner, Mr. and Mrs. R. Bolton, Mrs. Bradley, Mrs. Woods, Miss Ruby Woods, Mr. and Mrs. H. Tyres, Miss Ruth Tyres, Mrs. E. Graham, all of Toronto; Mr. Harold Herman, of Mount Dennis; Mr. and Mrs. C. Haggerty, of Port Union; Mr. and Mrs. H. Rorabeck, Mr. and Mrs. William Clark, Mr. and Mrs. C. Branton, Bonnie and Philip, Mrs. May Branton, Mrs. George Thompson, Mrs. J. D'arcy, all of Oshawa; Mr. and Mrs. William Lightle, Mr. and Mrs. B. Downey, and Mrs. J. Hogan, of Port Hope.

✧ ✧ ✧

Mrs. John E. Foote (nee Doreen Gilders) was much entertained prior to her marriage on Saturday. Mrs. Norman D. Foote entertained at a tea and shower at her home in Toronto. Mrs. William Anderson, Mrs. James Wilson, Misses Audrey Fulford and Gladys James entertained at showers in Peterborough. A presentation was made to the bride by the staff of the engineering department of the CGE, whre she was formerly employed. Mrs. H. F. Foote was hostess at an after-rehearsal party on Friday evening for the bridal party.

Lawyer Stalks

Magistrate Moore said it appeared to him as though the accused had been "hopelessly drunk", although the pills and his illness might have had some effect. He concluded the accused had had more to drink than the two beers he admitted to having.

Without the evidence of the bribe, the magistrate said, he might have considered a conviction of impaired driving. The improbability of Finn's explanation "did nothing to help the court".

Industrialists Invest In Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — American industrialists have invested $1,017,000,000 in Canada in the seven post-war years, more than one-third of it in petroleum, the bureau of statistics said today.

U.S. capital invested $458,000,000 in Canadian petroleum exploration, development and refining between 1946 and 1952. Investments rose from $2,000,000 in 1946 to $140,000,000 in 1951.

U.S. investments in Canadian petroleum last year amounted to $124,000,000 but the bureau said if investment in associated transportation facilities — pipelines, for instance — were taken into account, the total would be 20 per cent higher than in 1951 and more than half the total of all U.S. investments in Canada.

At the end of 1951, U.S. investment in all branches of the petroleum industry in Canada represented about 52 per cent of the industry's $1,225,000,000 aggregate book value.

U.S. investment in mining, meanwhile, grew from nothing in 1946 to $90,000,000 last year for a total of $174,000,000 in the seven years. Most of it went into titanium and iron ore development.

Other U.S. investment in the seven years: Pulp and paper, $95,000,000; transportation, $78,000,000; finance, $43,000,000; other manufacturing and miscellaneous, $367,000,000. Return of capital during this itme amounted to $198,000,000.

Urges Schools Teach Teamwork

SUDBURY (CP)—Labor - management difficulties can be avoided if the principles of teamwork and teamplay are taught in schools, Rev. M. T. Mulcahy of Sudbury said Sunday.

Principal of St. Charles Romeo Catholic boys' college here, he told the northern conference of the Ontario Recreation Association that schools should emphasize activities that can be continued into adult life rather than concentrate on one or two sports.

"You don't see the average man of 30 playing baseball, hockey or basketball, but we spend thousands every year to give a few dozen schoolboys a hockey team," he said. "Schools should also teach curling, golf, archery and soccer."

Other delegates urged a study of the good or bad effects of commercial sponsorship in minor sports leagues, especially hockey and softball, for boys and girls under 14.

Delegates asked larger grants from the Ontario government for recreation. They sent to the Ontario Recreation Association a resolution asking grants on a percentage basis of local recreation committees' total expenses so that larger communities would get larger grants.

Refugees Flee New Downpour

REGGIO CALABRIA, Italy (AP) Heavy rains fell again today throughout southern Italy's Calabria province, where flood last week caused 55 known deaths and heavy damage.

The new downpour drove more refugees from mountain towns and hamlets down into Reggio Calabria for shelter. Rivers and streams were again rising rapidly.

An Italian air force helicopter which was to have set out for small mountain hamlets with first aid supplies had to delay its take-off because of the rain.

Heavy rains, falling in northern Italy during the last 48 hours, today began to push rivers and streams to near flood levels. Landslides were reported in several mountain valleys.

Athletic Associations Name New Presidents

Millie Hayward and John Eastwood will head the girls' and boys' athletic associations at PCVS this term.

Helping Miss Hayward on the girls' executive will be Elizabeth Myles, vice-president, Marie Nisbett, secretary, Josie Hendren, treasurer, Janet Collins, volleyball, Bernice Callan, basketball, Jane Buckland, swimming, and Betty Revill, badminton.

Besides Eastwood on the boys executive are Terry Roberts, vice-president; Jim Heffernan, secretary, and Alex Eastwood, treasurer. Committee chairmen are Brian Bell, volleyball, Bob McKinney, basketball and Doug Livingstone, track and field.

Three Killed In Crash On Hilltop

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Two automobiles met at sunset on the brow of a hill near Welland in a crash that killed three persons and produced probably the weekend's most spectacular multiple fatality in Eastern Canada. Altogether there were at least 20 violent deaths.

A Canadian Press compilation today showed 15 persons killed in traffic mishaps. One person was shot by police, one killed by a hunter, one scalded, one drowned and one died in a fall.

Ontario listed 14 fatalities, Quebec four, and Nova Scotia and New Brunswick one apiece.

Killed in the Welland collision were Clifton Reid, 53, of Detroit, and Mrs. Elsie Back, 55, and her mother Mrs. Kate Fessenden, 83, both of Delhi, Ont.

JUDGE IS VICTIM

Judge John P. Madden was fatally injured when his car went out of control and crashed 20 miles east of Ottawa.

In other Ontario traffic mishaps, Peter Whiteduck, 29, of Matheson, and Joseph Benham, 25, of Everton, died from burns suffered when their truck burst into flames after a collision near Barrie. Five-year-old Connie Jean Moore was killed by a car on the main street of Stayner and seven-year-old Ronnie Danby was fatally injured by a car near his Sarnia home. Norman Barber, 18, was killed in a two-car collision near Stayner. John Pepper, 22, of Merlin, was fatally injured when his car crashed into a ditch near Chatham, Ont. Stanislaus Pucula, 63, was killed near London while attempting to flag a car after the auto in which he was riding in ran out of gas.

LAC. Louis Rouleau, 24, of Broughton Station, Que., was drowned when an RCAF boat capsized near Ottawa. Morris Zimmerman, 45, of Guelph was fatally injured when he fell seven feet to a cement floor in a Guelph garage. Dale Rawson, 18 months, of London, Ont., died from scalds suffered when she climbed into a sink filled with boiling water.

FLOODS RAVAGE ITALY—Torrents of water (top) cascade down what was once a highway in Calabria, Italy. The trestle of the stricken area's main rail line is shown in the background. Inhabitants of the Calabria region (bottom) who didn't have time to gather even their most portable belongings, flee the ravages of the three-day flood. With an estimated 100 dead, the casualty toll is expected to mount in one of the most disastrous floods to hit Southern Italy in history. Federal police predicted the property damage would run into millions of dollars.

Tread Warily About Seats

LONDON (CP) — It looks as though Britain's Conservative government intends to tread warily on the question of restoring the university seats in the House of Commons.

University representation was abolished by the last Labor government, ending a 350-year-old feature of the British Parliamentary system. the custom started with James I, who granted Oxford and Cambridge the right to send two representatives each to the Commons.

Labor claimed the system was undemocratic, since it gave two votes to university graduates. The Conservatives in their election manifesto pledged themselves to restore the franchise, which sent to the 1945-50 Parliament such outstanding independent members as playwright Sir Alan Herbert and journalist Wilson Harris.

The Conservative party was scheduled to discuss university representation at its annual conference in Margate Oct. 7-10, but the debate was squeezed out. Now it appears the question may be postponed indefinitely.

Research Grants

CAPETOWN (CP) — The South African scientific and industrial research council is offering five study grants of £400 each in an effort to ease the shortage of research scientists. A high standard has been laid down for successful candidates.

Ann Fanning Top Speaker At Roseneath

ROSENEATH (ENS)—Ann Fanning, a pupil of SS No. 22, North Haldimand (Fenella school) won first place and the Dr. Robertson Cup at the annual public speaking contest of Alnwick and North Haldimand townships, held in Roseneath township hall Friday evening. Ann chose as her subject "Eskimo Art." She is a pupil of Mrs. Wm. Montgomery and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Fanning. Ann will compete in the county speaking contest at Cobourg on November 6th. Mr. A. J. Campbell presented the Dr. Robertson cup.

Melvin Harvie won second place with his subject "The Best Way To Spend $100." And won the Alnwick township trophy.

Councillor Hector Winkworth presented this trophy. Melvin is a pupil of Mrs. Ronald Grant, principal of Roseneath school.

Third prize and the Fenella-Roseneath Women's Institute cup was won by Bruce Cotter, a pupil of Mrs. Floyd Murphy at SS 17 Haldimand. Mrs. Marcus Lonsberry, vice-president of Fenella WI presented the cup.

Other contestants and their speeches were:

Billy Smith, "My Trip to the U.S.A.", SS 1 and 25; Helen Sandercock, "Queen Elizabeth II", SS 1 and 25; Teressa Roddy, "Farm Safety Rules", SS 21; Maureen Roddy, "Banking", SS 21; Martin Carew, "Household Pet", SS 2; Lois Ferguson, "Busy Bee", SS 17; Winston Minor, "The Wild Goose", SS 22.

Each of the ten contestants were presented with a silver dollar by the chairman, James L. Timlin, a member of Alnwick township school area.

The judges were: Misses Roma Braithwaite and Doris Robins, Mrs. Leslie Poole, Mrs. Ernest Burrison and Mrs. Charlton Grigg.

Other numbers on the program were: A vocal solo by Patricia Cotter with Mrs. Garnet Isaac accompanist; a piano solo by Sharron Noonan; a vocal chorus by Roseneath Jr. Room with Mrs. Louis King, accompanist; a recitation by Joan Ferguson; vocal solo Eugene Hope; a chorus by pupils of SS 21 (Burnley school); a vocal solo by Donna McGrath with Mrs. Frank Down accompanist. Mrs. Louis King was pianist for community singing.

Reports Reds Hold 600 RoKs

SEOUL (AP)—A South Korean who recently escaped from North Korea said today that the Reds are forcibly holding 600 South Korean prisoners-of-war at Sunan, in North Korea.

The soldier, Sgt. Whang Se Woo, said he escaped from Sunan, about 10 miles northwest of Pyongyang, late in September and reached Seoul 10 days ago. He said the Reds are using the South Koreans—many of them officers—for road construction work.

The Communists turned over to the Indian command at Panmunjom last month 335 South Koreans listed as unwilling to return home. They said these were the only South Koreans left.

Both the United Nations command and the South Korean government have charged the Reds are still holding back several thousand other Allied prisoners. The UN command asked the Reds for an accounting of these prisoners in a meeting of the military armistice commission at Panmunjom last month.

All the 600 still held in the Sunan area were anxious to return to South Korea, said the sergeant.

Yugoslavia Ready For Sacrifices

BELGRADE (Reuters)—Eduard Kardelj, one of Yugoslavia's four vice-presidents, said today that Yugoslavia is prepared to make new sacrifices for a just solution of the Trieste problem.

But he repeated Yuglslavia's rejection of the Italian proposal that negotiations to end the dispute should begin after both Italian and Yugoslav troops withdraw from the border areas.

Kardelj said in an article in the Communist party newspaper Borba that the most important thing is to clarify views through direct diplomatic contacts between the governments involved before holding a conference.

Yugoslavia is not against a five-power conference, he said, but it is likely to fail if it tries to settle the Trieste issue as a whole.

The best solution, Kardelj said, was President Tito's proposal—rejected by Italy—that Trieste city be placed under Italian sovereignty, with the remainder of zone A and zone B under Yugoslav control.

350 Cattlemen Meet With Benson

WASHINGTON (AP)—A delegation of 350 cattlemen warmed up for a meeting today with Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson by shouting approval of demands for price supports on livestock.

The cattlemen, who came here from all parts of the U. S., held a mass meeting before their appointment with Benson.

The most popular chord struck at this meeting was that the only solution to the woes of the cattlemen was government price supports such as are given to many grains and other crops.

Forced Cut Wood At 50 Below Zero

BERLIN (Reuters) — A Norwegian woman told today how she was forced to cut wood 10 hours a day, often in temperatures 50 degrees below zero, while serving in a Siberian forced-labor camp.

Randi Samuelsen, 29, was the only woman in a group of seven Norwegian ex-prisoners handed over here Sunday to the Norwegian military mission by Soviet authorities.

Miss Samuelsen said she was arrested by the Russians in May, 1945, while visiting her fiance's parents in Vienna. She was sentenced to 10 years' hard labor for alleged espionage.

She sometimes had to walk 12 miles a day to cut wood. If any of the 1,000-odd women at the camp failed to fulfil compulsory working quotas, they got no food.

275 Strike, Close 9th Mine

TIMMINS (CP) — About 275 workers at Coniaurum gold mines struck today, closing the ninth of 12 mines in the Porcupine goldfields.

At least 5,200 men, members of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL), now are out of work in the area. The three mines still operating, Paymaster, Dome and Aunor, employ 1,800.

The Coniaurum mine, although not strike-bound until today, has not been operating since Sept. 25 when an explosion destroyed buildings and equipment worth $5,000.

Repairs were completed last week and the company expected to start producing ore again today. However the union called the strike before the first back-to-work shift of 100 men was due on the job at 6:30 a. m. About 100 strikers picketed the property today.

The men are seeking a wage increase and union security.

Takes 50 Years For Indians To Come Of Age

HOBBEMA, Alta. (CP)—Alberta Indians have "come of age," says George Gooderham, regional supervisor of Indian agencies.

Mr. Gooderham says education had little perceptible influence on the life of the Indian during the first 50 years of its formal existence, but the last eight years brought great progress.

Addressing the third annual convention of school teachers here, he declared:

"Our standard of education has improved, modern schools have been built, and improved equipment has been provided.

"But the real reason for our progress lies in the Indian people themselves. They have come of age. They have demonstrated their ability to assume responsibility for their own affairs and they perceive the importance of education for their children."

He commented on the increasingly important part Indian women play in their communities.

They are giving "stability and foresight to community and family life and demonstrating an ability to use wisely the economic resources available to the Indian," he said.

There are 18 Indian residential schools and 36 day schools in Alberta.

Starts At Top

HAMILTON, N.Z. (CP)—Architect P. S. King is successfully building houses the opposite way. First he puts up the roof, supported by tubular steel columns, then builds the floor, and finally the walls. He says the advantage is that workmen are under shelter and not delayed by New Zealand's rainy climate.

Veteran Police Officer Resigns Over Investigation

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis police board today resumed its inquiry into reported discrepancies in police accounts of the Greenlease kidnapping case—an investigation which prompted a veteran officer's resignation.

Lieut. Louis Shoulders, credited with breaking the kidnap case, resigned in a surprise move Saturday, charging the probe had destroyed his reputation as an officer.

He called himself a victim of "character assassination."

In another aspect of the case, the FBI arrested a 29-year-old blonde and said she would be charged with giving false information to its agents.

DISCOURAGE FALSE TIPS

The FBI apparently took the action in an attempt to discourage future false tips in its search for the missing $300,000 of the $600,000 ransom money.

Mrs. Elizabeth Eleanor Curti of St. Louis was seized at a small downtown hotel Saturday after she was reported saying she heard a woman acquaintance tell of having seen a "bundle of cash" in a west side apartment.

Authorities said Mrs. Curti gave "phony information" on the missing ransom money, but gave no clues on its whereabouts.

Conviction on the charge calls for a fine of not more than $10,000 or a prison sentence of not more than five years, or both.

Police chief Jeremiah O'Connell said last night that only minor witnesses remain to be questioned in the board's inquiry.

Shoulders, a veteran of 27 years on the force, said two informants told him that Carl Austin Hall, confessed kidnap-slayer of Bobby Greenlease, was in St. Louis and spending money freely.

One was taxi driver John Hager but Shoulders refused to name his other informant. Hager's tip led to the arrest of Hall and his partner in crime, Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady.

Shoulders told reporters after submitting his resignation that the police inquiry should never have been started.

"There always are discrepancies in a case like this," he said.

Shoulders said two suitcases containing $293,000 in ransom money were brought in with the prisoner. He said he "purposely" brought the money to the police station in secret.

"I was trying to protect the (Greenlease) boy," he said. "Hall had told me he was still alive."

Investigate Dumping Of Waste In River

FORT ERIE (CP) — Greater Niagara Fish and Game Protective Association of Ontario has begun investigation into dumping of waste into the Niagara river by industries on the United States side.

The investigation was ordered after reports of fish killed near the Niagara river mouth.

NEW BUCKLEY TREATMENT FOR ARTHRITIC, RHEUMATIC and other MUSCULAR ACHES AND PAINS
HERE IS ONE OF THE GREATEST ADVANCES YET MADE IN THE EXTERNAL TREATMENT OF ARTHRITIC, RHEUMATIC, NEURITIC AND OTHER MUSCULAR ACHES AND PAINS.
It is an altogether new kind of pain-easing rub. It is a rub that attacks pain in a new, different and highly effective way.
The secret of its speed and power lies in its vanishing quality. For the first time chemists have succeeded in combining 9 different pain-easing analgesics in a snow-white cream so finely compounded that it actually vanishes into the skin.
And as it vanishes, it carries the combined power of these pain-relieving medicaments deep down into the pores.
The result is nothing short of blessed. You feel it almost instantly. The extra-penetrating power of Buckley's Stainless White Rub sets up a deep-down internal warmth that soothes, comforts and eases pain with new speed and effectiveness.
Sufferers who have tried Buckley's Stainless White Rub have told us that never in their lives have they found so much relief so fast. So try it. Get Buckley's Stainless White Rub now from your druggist.

MOTORISTS PROVE RISLONE POURS NEW POWER INTO ENGINES!

"One quart of Rislone—and my 5-year old car performed like new in less than 10 miles"
. . . says WILFRED CLARKSON, LANSING, ONT.
"On the recommendation of my service station I tried a quart of Rislone in the crankcase of my 1947 automobile. I then drove the car approximately 10 miles and before the end of the drive I was amazed at the increase in power which my car was delivering. I can unhesitatingly recommend Rislone to Canadian motorists."

● These delighted Rislone users are like thousands of Canadian car owners, fleet operators, farmers and men who run marine engines and construction equipment.
Rislone absorbs gum and sludge, frees sticking valves; gives every engine a chance to deliver restored compression and power. This oil alloy gives your engine a "tune-up" without a lay-up. Ask your service-station attendant about the Rislone TEN MILE TRIAL today!
"Rislone even gave my new car new pep."
. . . says PETER WILSON, TORONTO
"I tried Rislone in my new 1951 automobile, and I experienced performance better than that which I enjoyed when the car was brand new. Believe me, I'm going to be a constant user of Rislone."

Veteran Star Returns To Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Claudette Colbert is back from 20 months of filming and vacationing in Europe. The reason for her return: "You either have a husband or you don't."

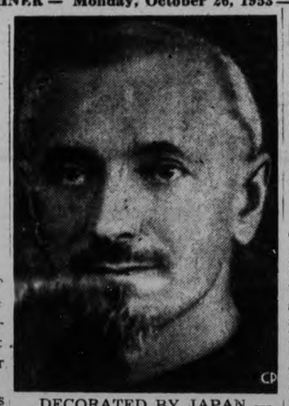
In Miss Colbert's case, she has a husband. She intends to keep him, despite what the rumormongers reported during her absence. She has long been married to Dr. Joel Pressman and admitted he was the reason for her return.

"I could have done more pictures, but I decided to come home. I have always prided myself in the fact that I never have put my career ahead of my private life. I know women who have, and I've seen how unhappy they can be."

The actress indicated she hopes her return will silence those who have sniped at her marriage.

"I used to take such things seriously," she remarked. "Fortunately, it doesn't worry me any more. I got a big laugh out of one report that I was romancing with Anton Walbrook. I suppose the rumor started because I was scheduled to do a picture with him. As a matter of fact, I have never set eyes on the man."

While not making movies, Miss Colbert spent a great deal of time in her native France. She said it made her a believer in atavism—the recurrence in a descendant of the characteristics of an ancestor.



"Of course there's not a drop of blood in me that isn't French," she said. "But I left France at the age of three. Despite that, I felt right at home in Paris. It was as though I had always lived there."

Child Dies In Ice Box

HIGHLAND FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—David Allan Bowdoin, 4, suffocated in an abandoned ice box Saturday, becoming the 15th known victim of such a tragedy in the United States this year. Three other children have died in a similar manner in Canada. The Bowdoin boy had been playing in the back yard of his home with a brother, 9, and a cousin, 7.

TRENT RIVER (ENS). — A capacity crowd attended the annual anniversary fowl dinner in the dining hall of the United Church under the auspices of the Women's Association.

About 500 meals were served with an estimated profit of $400.

The chairman for the program was the Rev. R. G. Newman. The following program was presented: solo, Mrs. John Beatty, Havelock; piano solo, Beverly Dunsford; violin solo, Harry Anderson, Havelock; quartet, Mrs. Douglas Dart, Mrs. Francis Ruttan, Mrs. Ross Pollock and Mrs. Eric Little; piano duet, Sharon and Wally Brown; recitation, Dr. Ada Koons; duet, Doris Newman and JoAnne Kennedy, Havelock.

Third Crash Victim

RENFREW (CP) — A car-truck collision near here Oct. 18 claimed its third victim Saturday when Ray Blimkie of Renfrew, driver of the truck, died in hospital from brain injuries. Rose Smaglinski, 18, of Wilno, who was riding with Blimkie, and four-year-old Donald MacLaurin of Renfrew, riding in the automobile, were killed in the crash.

Kills 500-Lb. Bear

CANTLEY, Que. (CP) — Mrs. Norma Butler, armed with a rifle, stood her ground against a charging 500-pound black bear Saturday and killed it. Mrs. Butler and Thomas O'Hara were chasing the bear, which had been rooting in a garbage pail in this village 10 miles north of Ottawa. The animal turned and charged when their first shot wounded it.

Russ Housewives Promised Better Things

MOSCOW — (Reuters)—Soviet Trade Minister Anastas Mikoyan promises the Russian housewife a bright future with more of everything for the kitchen—from sausage to washing machines — in a speech published here Sunday. Mikoyan told trade officials Oct. 17 what Russia plans to achieve under the government's latest decrees increasing targets for food production and the manufacture of goods for the domestic market. His speech, published in the Communist party newspaper Pravda, promises more meat and butter, vacuum cleaners and refrigerators, kitchen gadgets, television and radio sets and bicycles and cars.

CHAMPAGNE AVAILABLE

Champagne now is available to workers, he said, and the consumption of wine has nearly doubled since 1940.

He urged industry to "devolop large-scale advertizing in order to instruct customers, to teach them and to inform them." But Russia must not adopt "the capitalist way of fooling people by exaggerted publicity."

Mikoyan called for better window dressing, a brighter selection of clothes, more variety in food sold in restaurants and improved hygiene in the transport of bread.

Two Men Die Following Crash

TORONTO (CP)—Two men died in hospital here during the weekend following a truck collision at the intersection of Highways 26 and 27 near Barrie, 60 miles north of here.

Peter Whiteduck, 29, of Matheson died Sunday and Joseph Benham, 25, of Everton, died Saturday night of burns suffered when their tractor-trailer truck burst into flames after colliding Saturday with a dump truck driven by William Alfred, 27, of RR 5, Barrie. Alfred was only shaken up.

Police said the truck driven by Whiteduck was turning on to No. 26 highway when it collided with the dump truck. Gasoline from two tanks at the rear of the tractor cab sprayed over Whiteduck and Benham and caught fire.

Dies At Wedding

TORONTO (CP) — The grandfather of the bridegroom died of a heart attack at a church wedding Saturday. William Taylor of Toronto suffered the attack a few minutes before the wedding of William Richard Taylor and Shirley Maw Bratt.

YES, BUT WHEN?—This hunter figures he has a good place to look for deer, and it's probably safer than in the woods where hunters are behind almost every tree. The highways department sign is on the Nipigon road near Port Arthur.

Proposed Tariff Cuts Disgust Officials

STRATFORD (CP) — Lt.-Col. R. M. Trow, an executive member of the Canadian Woollen and Knit Goods Manufacturers' Association, said Saturday proposed tariff cuts on imports of Japanese textile goods fills him with "complete disgust."

Col. Trow, president of the William Trow Knitting Co., said Canada's textile industry had been jeopardized for the last few years by foreign "dumping."

"If the import tariffs on Japanese textiles are further lowered, I do not see how Canada's textile industry will be able to exist," he said.

Ship Refloated

SOUTHAMPTON, Ont. (CP)—The freighter Manzutti, owned by the Yankcanuck Steamship Lines, ran aground south of the channel into the Saugeen river Saturday. The tug Ruth Hindman arrived later from Killarney and pulled the vessel free. No damage was reported to the ship.

48,000 Alcoholics

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario has upwards of 48,000 alcoholics, the Alcoholism Research Foundation said Sunday night. The foundation reached that figure on the basis of a survey in an unnamed county selected because its proportion of rural to urban citizens is approximately the same as that of the province as a whole.

German Book Charges Allied Crimes

BUENOS AIRES (CP). — A book just published by a German firm here accuses Allied soldiers in the Second World War, particularly the Americans, of extensive war crimes including the slaughter of surrendered German soldiers and the rape of many German women.

The book was printed in German by the Duere-Verlag publishing house, whose monthly magazine Der Weg was banned as Nazi in Germany and Austria by Allied occupation authorities and later by officials of those countries. The English translation of the title is "Allied War Crimes and Crimes against Humanity Documents of the Second World War."

BASED ON STATEMENTS

The editor says the material was based on sworn statements by 6,000 German war prisoners in Darmstadt prison in 1946, taken down primarily for the defence of Hermann Goering before the international military tribunal which tried major Nazi war criminals at Nuernberg.

Since each prisoner who is supposed to have signed charges against the Allied troops is identified only by number, there is no way of telling just when or where the alleged crimes were committed.

Ready-Made Tea

LONDON (CP) — Army catering experts have developed a new type of tea powder, to be tested by the troops in Malaya. The powder contains tea, sugar and milk, and one ounce provides a pint of tea.

Independent Bird

SHREWSBURY, England (CP) —Albert Rock found an injured budgerigar in a tree here and took it to his home. Two weeks later the bird muttered "Bobbie-Meole crescent." Now it's back in its proper home on Meole crescent.

Conservatives Win By-Election At Niagara Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Arthur Jolley, 42-year-old building contractor, Monday was elected to the Ontario legislature for the Niagara Falls riding, winning the seat for the Progressive Conservatives in a four-way fight. His victory was a gain from the Liberals, who held the seat since 1948 until William L. Houck resigned last summer to successfully contest the newly-created federal seat of Niagara in the Aug. 10 general election.

The Progressive Conservative candidate's election in this first by-election since the provincial general election in 1951 increased the party's representation in the 90-seat house to 80. The Liberals hold six seats, the CCF 2, Liberal-Labor 1 and Labor-Progressive 1.

Final returns for the 137 polls were: Arthur Jolley, Progressive Conservative, 10,427 votes; Grant Donald, Liberal, 7,290; Pat Spain, CCF, 1,785; and Mary Price, Labor-Progressive, 287. Some 53 per cent of the 38,016 eligible voters went to the polls.

BEATEN IN 1951

Mr. Jolley, an RCAF veteran and vice-president of the Greater Niagara Chamber of Commerce, lost out by 3,263 votes when he contested the riding in the 1951 general election. He polled 6,946 votes against 10,209 for the Liberal candidate, Mr. Houck, and 3,769 for James Bacon.

Mr. Donald, 52, a Canadian National Railways employee and also a Niagara Falls councillor, conceded Mr. Jolley's election 50 minutes after the polls closed at 7 p.m. EST.

Mr. Jolley, a city councillor for the last two years, said in a broadcast he regarded his victory as a tribute to Premier Frost. Mr. Donald said in a statement: "The battle was a good one. I have no tears. My best wishes will go to Toronto with the Conservative candidate."

Farquhar Oliver, Liberal house leader, said the Progressive Conservative victory shows there "apparently was a desire to be on the side of the government." Noting the big majority of Progressive Conservatives in the house standings, he said it was "unfortunate" for the province that the government should have elected another member.

When the Progressive Conservatives were elected to power Nov. 22, 1951, with 79 seats, their legislature majority was the largest in the province's history. The closest previous parallel to the one-sided victory was in 1929 when the Conservatives under G. Howard Ferguson won 91 seats in a 112-member house.

The riding includes the city of Niagara Falls, the town of Fort Erie, the villages of Chippawa and Crystal Beach and the townships of Stamford, Willoughby and Bertie.

Britain Explodes Second Atomic Blast

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — British scientists, who today set off their second atomic blast in the Australian desert, will leave soon for London talks with Prime Minister Churchill which may decide the future course of Britain's atomic policy.

Sir William Penney, scientist leader of the team, is expected to leave for home in the next few days.

Today's blast passed almost unnoticed in the desolate Woomera wasteland where it was exploded. No news correspondents or local residents heard or saw anything.

The announcement that the atomic weapon had gone off came in this bald statement from the Australian ministry of supply:

"Prime Minister Menzies announced that the second atomic weapon was successfully exploded at . . . a proving ground northwest of Woomera.

CALCULATIONS CONFIRMED

"Theoretical calculations have been confirmed. Full safety precautions were taken. This concludes the present trials."

First explosion in the current test took place at Woomera 11 days ago. Since then British scientists have carried out various other trials involving a number of minor explosions. The current tests followed the initial British atom test on Australia's Monte Bello islands a year ago.

Australia's supply minister, Howard Beale, said the latest tests "represented close co-operation between British and Australian staffs and have been carried through in a spirit of close partnership."

They were "technically, a very satisfactory operation."

While the exact nature of the tests is unlikely to be made known at least for some time, one theory here is that Penny's two explosions were both related to the same weapon. Experts say today's explosion could have been the trial of a new firing device.

If these suppositions are correct, the success of both tests would seem to indicate that Britain now is fully prepared to embark on an atomic weapon production line with the "know-how" to produce a bomb that could be adapted as a warhead for guided missiles.

U.S. Refuses 5 U.T. Students

TORONTO (CP) — Five University of Toronto students were refused admittance to the United States during the week-end when they tried to cross the border with the university's senior soccer team, university officials said today.

They were excluded under United States immigration laws, specifically the McCarran Act.

Ed Duru, the goalkeeper, was one of those barred. He is a native of Turkey. Others were Jose Atucha, from Venezuela, Wally Eze, from Nigeria, and Karl Tamberg, from Estonia.

In addition, team manager Mike Uzumeri, a native of Turkey, was refused admittance.

Last year, several U. of T. swimmers, all natives of Europe, were refused permission to enter the U. S. for an aquatic meet at Niagara University, Niagara Falls, N. Y.

O'Brien Finds Home After 2-Year Wait

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Michael Patrick O'Brien landed in his new homeland Monday after shuttling about the world for nearly two years.

O'Brien told reporters after flying here from Rio de Janeiro that he has no immediate plans. He expressed gratitude to the Dominican Government, which invited him to this country.

O'Brien, 58, told reporters he was born in Tacoma, Wash., and that he considers himself a U. S. citizen. The U. S. department of immigration has denied, however, that he is a citizen.

He said the mixup occurred after he served nearly seven years in prison in Oregon on a holdup charge. He said he had not committed the holdup. O'Brien said a prison official counselled him to adopt the nationality of his Hungarian parents, Andrew and Anna Ragan. Later, O'Brien said, he verified that his name was not in the register of the Hungarian consulate.

Clothes In Motel Belong To Slain Girl

QUEBEC (CP) — Police said clothes found in a Woodstock motel last week have been identified as those of 21-year-old Marie-Anne Carrier whose stabbed and nude body was discovered in a ditch at Iroquois, Oct. 16.

Detectives T. R. Wright and J. W. Teavley of the Ontario Provincial Police said Monday the Carrier family in Bienville, Que., has identified a salmon-colored coat and some underclothes as part of the clothing worn by the dead girl when she left home Oct. 14 to attend a CWAC reserve unit parade in Quebec City.

Search is continuing for a red dress, a pair of shoes, a hat and case belonging to Miss Carrier.

Police are continuing investigations at Valcartier military camp where Second Lieut. Peter Balcombe, 24, who is charged with murder of Miss Carrier, was stationed. Object of the search has not been revealed.

Call Council To Consider Serious Issue

Britain Refused 24-Hour Delay On Palestine Action

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.—(AP)—Pakistan asked the UN Security Council today to order Israel to stop work on its diversion of Jordan river waters until after the 11-nation body debates the rights and wrongs of the issue.

Sir Gladwyn Jebb of Britain said this might be "slightly prejudicial" and asked for a postponement to give him time to consult London on how to vote.

Jebb suggested a 24-hour postponement, but the council finally decided to take it up at 4:30 this afternoon, immediately after hearing a report from Maj.-Gen. Vagn Bennike, Palestine truce supervisor, on Israeli - Jordan border clashes.

NO CHANCE TO SPEAK

Before this procedural debate broke out, the council had summoned representatives of Syria and Israel to the table for a face-to-face presentation of their views. Neither got a chance to speak.

To make way for these urgent council deliberations, the General Assembly's political committee put off until Wednesday continued debate on American charges that the Russians directed a Red torture centre to wring from captured American soldiers "confessions" that they participated in alleged germ warfare in Korea. The new charges, made Monday, brought a quick denial from the Russians.

The United States suspended virtually all economic aid to Israel—an estimated $60,000,000 for the year—after Israel ignored a UN truce commission order to halt work on the Jordan project.

Bennike placed before the council communications to the Israeli government in which he declared that investigation had shown there has been interference with normal civilian life in the demilitarized zone where the project is being

Will Revive "Formalities"

OTTAWA (CP) — Government House announced Monday that part of the pre-war formalities associated with the opening of Parliament will be revived this year.

Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, governor-general, will drive to the opening of Parliament Nov. 12 in an open carriage with a mounted RCMP escort instead of a limousine. Use of a carriage was abandoned at the outbreak of the last war.

The governor-general's carriage will be drawn by four horses, and the mounted escort will include 27 RCMP constable and two officers.

The governor-general will wear his plumed hat and ceremonial black and white uniform with sword for the opening ceremony. The uniform is worn by representatives of the Crown in the various countries of the commonwealth.

Abbott Annoyed At Saskatchewan Ban On Bond Plan

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott said today he is "amazed" and "annoyed" by the Saskatchewan government decision not to allow its employees to buy Canada Savings Bonds through the payroll deduction plan. "That is not the kind of co-operation we expect from a provincial government," he said. "Every other provincial government permits deductions. So do 80 per cent of Canada's private employers."

Mr. Abbott was commenting on a Regina dispatch reporting Provincial Treasurer C. M. Fines as saying that now that the country is back to normal, it is "surely not too much to expect the Dominion government to arrange to sell its bonds in the same way provincial governments have always done."

In reply, Mr. Abbott said the Saskatchewan government doesn't issue bonds comparable to those issued by the federal government.

SOMETHING SPECIAL

In any case, the federal government doesn't ask for any special co-operation from the provinces in any "ordinary" federal financing operations.

But the Canada savings bond drive is something "special." It is for the "national good of the country," said Mr. Abbott. It had high interest rates, designed especially for the wage-earner, with a ceiling on the maximum amount which can be held by each buyer.

11 Fashionable Homes Without Power

TORONTO (CP) — Residents of 11 homes in fashionable Forest Hill groped around with candles and flashlights Monday night when a transformer blew out and a strike of 10 hydro workers left nobody to fix it.

Township officials said today they have "no idea" when power will be restored.

The cut-off came at 4:45 p. m. EST to the block of homes on Shallmar Blvd. Families put on heavy sweaters and ate cold-sandwich suppers.

No men were available to repair the transformer since Forest Hill village's hydro service workers struck last Thursday to back up demands for a union shop.

Reeve Charles O. Bick said the only issues in the deadlock dispute were demands for a union shop covering the 10 employees in the bargaining unit and inclusion of a foreman in the union.

6 Lifeboat Men Drowned Before Homes

ARBROATH, Scotland (AP)—Six lifeboat men, weary from an all-night battle with a gale-tossed sea, were drowned early today within sight of the lights of their own homes. Only one member of the crew survived.

The 35-foot lifeboat put out Monday night in answer to a report that a vessel was in trouble off the Inchcape Rock. That rock, the graveyard of many ships, was the subject of a poem by Robert Southey.

The lifeboat failed to find a trace of the vessel it was sent out to help.

WAVE CATCHES BOAT

Friends and relatives gathered along the harbor wall as the returning lifeboat approached the breakwater. They watched in horror as a giant wave caught it.

Shouts from the crew reached them as the boat was tossed onto rocks only 50 yards from shore. Then nothing could be heard but the roar of the sea and the howling of the gale.

A rocket line fired from shore tangled around the body of the only survivor, Archibald Smith. With its help he pulled himself to safety and was rushed to hospital.

Later, seafarers from this little port found the body of the coxswain, David Bruce, in the wreckage of the lifeboat. He had lashed himself to the helm. Three bodies were recovered from the sea and a search still is under way for the others.

New York Without Milk City Prods Negotiations

NEW YORK (AP)—Milk supplies for 12,000,000 persons dwindled rapidly today in a strike of truck drivers and plant workers while health authorities planned to dump 400,000 quarts into sewers for lack of processing. Anxious parents carried children to milk plants where limited remaining supplies were being doled out.

Charles J. Blanford, federal-state milk marketing administrator, said 400,000 quarts of raw, unpasteurized milk held in tank trucks will be dumped in sewers Wednesday if "something (presumably a settlement of the dispute) doesn't happen" by that time.

The milk has a wholesale value of $40,000.

City prodding kept negotiations going early today in the wage-hour dispute between representatives of 200 companies and the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (AFL), the union of the 13,000 striking drivers and plant workers.

Talks had been going on since Monday morning, with federal, state and city mediators present. However, at 2 a. m. EST today the various parties left the conference room without indicating whether the talks were continuing elsewhere. The sessions had been held at three different hotels in as many days.

Just before midnight, negotiators for both sides said they would remain in session—separately or together—throughout the night. They said, however, there would be no announcement before completion of a formal meeting scheduled for 10 a. m.

Like To Talk To President

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill said today he would like to "have quiet and informal talks" with President Eisenhower but gave no indication such a meeting is imminent.

Answering questions in the House of Commons, Churchill said:

"I am always considering whether there might be opportunity for a personal meeting with the president of the United States. He is well aware of the enthusiastic welcome he would receive whenever he feels free to come to this country."

Churchill denied published reports that he plans to go to New York to take part in United Nations proceedings, saying:

"My attention has been drawn to that statement but I have not formed any plans nor have my colleagues suggested them to me, for attending a session of the UN.

Labor members put several questions to Churchill about his often-voiced wish for four-power talks at the highest level. Churchill said:

"The desirability of establishing easier and more friendly relations with the Soviet government is common ground between both sides of the House. I myself have made various suggestions on the subject. Every proposal must be judged in relation to the circumstances of the time."

Quadruplets Born To Lansing Woman

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Quadruplets were born here during the night.

Mrs. June Trollman, 33, is the mother. She gave birth to three boys and a girl between 11:50 p. m. and 12:02 a. m.

Mother and the babies were reported "doing fine." The tiny infants, ranging in weight from two pounds three ounces to two pounds 10 ounces, were placed in an incubator.

Lansing already is well known for its Morlok quadruplets—four sisters now 23 years old.

Quadruplets are born on an average of once in every 411,268 births. Lansing's population is 92,129.

Youth 16, Charged Dangerous Driving

WELLAND (CP)—A 16-year-old youth was charged today with dangerous driving in connection with Sunday's two-car accident near Fonthill in which three persons were killed.

Thomas Hridar of St. Catharines was driving in front of one of the two cars involved in the accident, police said. They said he made a left-hand turn into a service station just before the head-on collision between the car behind and a vehicle approaching from the opposite direction.

Killed in the accident were Clifton Reid of Detroit and Mrs. Elsie Back and Mrs. Kate Fessenden, both of Delhi, Ont.

Mr. Reid's widow, Olga, and Miss Elizabeth Back, also in the crash, were reported in favorable condition in hospital here today.

London Truckers Back On Job

LONDON (Reuters) — London's gasoline truckers drove their big tankers to the city's garages and oil depots today for the first time in a week, ending an abortive strike over wage claims and union jurisdiction.

Their return meant return to barracks for more than 6,000 servicemen brought to London last weekend to keep gas and oil supplies rolling. Their intervention killed the strike, which had thinned road traffic throughout the metropolitan area.

The 2,500 truckers and their helpers voted Monday to return to work and allow representatives of the Transport and General Workers Union to negotiate their claims with the oil companies. The first union-company meeting will be held Wednesday.

The union opposed the strike, alleged by the government to be Communist-inspired. Labor members of Parliament also condemned it.

London bus services were fully back to normal today. Private motorists were able to fill up Monday at nearly every garage.

Jailed 8 Years For Shooting

WHITBY (CP)—Roger John Corbett, 18, of Uxbridge, Ont., was sentenced today to eight years in the fatal shooting of his brother at their mother's home July 23.

Corbett was originally charged with murder but was convicted of manslaughter when the jury reduced the murder count.

Theodore Corbett died after being hit by a rifle bullet during a family argument in the village 20 miles northeast of Oshawa.

Whitby is four miles west of Oshawa.

Gloom Shadows Paradise

Tax Collectors Visit Isles First Time In 111 Years

ST. MARY'S, Scilly Isles, England (Reuters) — Dark clouds and gloom shadowed Britain's sunny Atlantic paradise today as two income tax inspectors opened an unprecedented visit to hitherto-tax-free soil.

The weather, traditional ally of the Scillies' thriving tourist business, did its best Monday to aid the islanders again, buffeting back the travellers' light plane. But the tax men pushed on through the driving winds and set their craft down safely for their "goodwill and fact-finding visit."

Little goodwill was felt by the 1,800 natives of a region by-passed by tax collectors for the last 111 years. "The vultures are here" was the word passed through the pubs and over the fences.

The Scillies, a cluster of islands southwest of Land's End, have been dreading the visit ever since treasury chief Richard A. Butler announced in his budget speech last April that he would correct the "defective machinery of assessment"—causing the Scillies' happy state of affairs to end. The islanders then were given a year's respite, with pay-as-you-go tax due to be imposed at the start of the new fiscal year next April.

The main tasks now of the tax men are to gather data on the number of persons who will be subject to assessments and to acquaint the people with the intricacies of paying income tax.

The islanders claim that their tax immunity has been more than compensated by the high cost of living on the five inhabited islands. Freight charges from the mainland raise price levels of most commodities to 30 per cent above those in England proper.

The islands derived their immunity from the fact that they were free of land tax in the 19th century. At that time they were too poor to provide any revenue, natives say. When Britain installed its income tax system, it utilized the existing land tax administrative machinery, and the Scillies remained outside all subsequent impositions.

20-Foot Gash In Liner's Side

NEW YORK (AP)—The Cunard liner Queen Elizabeth arrived today with a 20-foot gash on her starboard side, the result of being slammed against a concrete pier in Cherbourg by a strong current.

Commodore Harry Grattidge, master of the 83,000-ton vessel, said cement patches had closed up the hole and that permanent repairs could wait until her annual overhaul in December. He estimated repairs would cost about £5,000.

Among passengers arriving were the newly-appointed British consul-general in New York, Francis B.A. Rundall, and Lt.-Gen. John C. Westal, commandant-general of the Royal Marines, here to visit U.S. Marine installations.

Arrange For Visit

OTTAWA (CP) — James Hagerty, President Eisenhower's press secretary, arrived here today to confer with officials of the external affairs department about arrangements for the president's three-day state visit to Ottawa Nov. 13-15. He was scheduled to return to Washington by air later today.

Gouzenko Willing To Help

Warns Russ Spy Ring Still In Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Eugene Griffin, Ottawa correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, says Igor Gouzenko, the man who exposed Canada's wartime Red espionage, has told him Russian spy rings are still operating in Canada and the United States.

Mr. Griffin said Monday the former Russian embassy cipher clerk here, now living in secrecy under protection of the RCMP, declared there are still "lots of spies" in action in the two countries.

In a two-hour talk with him, Mr. Griffin said in an interview, Gouzenko appealed to other key figures in spy rings to follow his example and give their information to Canadian and U.S. governments. Gouzenko felt that was the only way espionage operations would be fully exposed.

The U.S. newspaper man, who said he met Gouzenko in an unidentified "Canadian town" through a friend of the Russian, said Gouzenko told him he would be willing to meet members of Senator Joseph McCarthy's committee investigating subversive activities in the U.S.

"He said that if McCarthy and his committee thought it would be useful, he would be glad to talk to them," Mr. Griffin said. "He thought, himself, it might be worthwhile."

Gouzenko had expressed the view any such meeting should take place in Canada, chiefly because he is living under an alias and his falsified documents.— though arranged by the Canadian government—might get him into trouble at the U.S. border.

However, Mr. Griffin said, Gouzenko had not made known to the Canadian government his willingness to meet the McCarthy committee.

In New York two Senate subcommittees said they are eager to talk to Gouzenko. "Delighted," was the response in a joint statement from the McCarthy Senate permanent investigations sub-committee and the internal security sub-committee.

PERMISSION ASKED

Roy M. Cohn, chief counsel of the Senate permanent sub-committee on investigations, headed by Senator McCarthy and Robert Morris, chief counsel of the Senate internal security sub-committee, headed by Senator William E. Jenner (Rep. Ind.), said they had asked the state department to request permission of Canadian authorities to see Gouzenko in Canada.

RCMP at Ottawa said Gouzenko's personal safety would be the main consideration if he were to meet the sub-committee in the U. S. But the RCMP source—the force has protected Gouzenko's personal safety since the spy trials—said he "wouldn't want to conjecture on whether such a meeting could be arranged.

DECODED MESSAGES

Griffin said Gouzenko told him that, while working in central intelligence headquarters in Moscow during the early days of the war, he had helped decode many messages from Russian agents in the U.S.

There were a "tremendous number" of these, including military information, plans, blueprints and texts of secret U.S. documents."

Discussing current international affairs, Mr. Griffin said, Gouzenko stated Russia plans aggression and it may come more quickly under Malenkov than if Stalin had lived.

5-Power Conference May Settle Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Dulles said today there could well be a five-power conference to settle the future of Trieste before the United States and Britain withdraw their occupation troops.

The sooner such a conference is held the better it will be for Western defences against communism in south Europe, Dulles told a press conference.

The secretary said it would take considerable time for the 7,000 British and United States troops to be pulled out of zone A. American and British diplomats are discussing in London technical problems involved in the withdrawal, he added.

Audience Sees Queen Arrive On Television

LONDON (CP) — Something new was added to the royal motion picture performance Monday night when the invited audience watched the Queen's arrival on large-screen television from their seats inside the theatre.

They saw the Queen chatting in the lobby with screen stars, including Gary Cooper, Jeanne Crain and Gloria Grahame, before she made her entry into the royal box. The Queen was accompanied by the Duke of Edinburgh and Princess Margaret for the command performance of the new Walt Disney picture "Rob Roy."

Thousands of persons packed into Leicester Square, heart of London's movieland. Hundreds of policemen had to link arms to hold back the cheering throngs as stars and royalty made their entrances to the floodlit theatre.

MET CHILD STAR

The Queen received a bouquet from child star David Douglas-Morris, and then, as television cameras relayed the scene on to the movie screen, was introduced to Richard Todd and Glynis Johns, stars of "Rob Roy."

Then she moved down a line of assembled actors and actresses, pausing to exchange comments with each.

The Queen, resplendent in a tiered crinoline-type evening dress of lavendar organza tied with a big bow at the back, wore a diamond tiara, diamond and emerald necklace and a diamond bracelet.

HEARS RCAF BAND

A feature of the premiere of the Scottish-setting film was Canada's 16-man RCAF pipe band which led actor Jack Hawkins, who was master of ceremonies, on to the stage. It was the band's second appearance before the Queen and the Duke since its formation two years ago.

The band, under direction of pipe major John McKenzie of Edinburgh and led by drum major FO. Jack Oliver of London, Ont., played before the royal couple at a highland gathering in Scotland earlier this year. The Duke also met band members during a visit to the RCAF's No. 1 Fighter Wing at North Luffenham, England, in May.

CAR, MOTORCYCLE COLLIDE

Terrence McGee, 21, of 546 Downie St., received bruises and brush burns Monday evening when the motorcycle he was riding crashed into the side of a turning car at the corner of Brock and George Sts. Damage to his cycle and the car, driven by Amos Jones, 61, of Peterborough, was set at $60. McGee did not require hospitalization.

Plan Pipeline To Aid Water Supply

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Within the next 25 years all cities in the Thames and Grand river watersheds will be getting their water supplies from a pipeline network, probably from Lake Huron, Dr. E. G. Pleva, professor and head of the geography department, University of Western Ontario, declared today.

Dr. Pleva said that although there may be untapped underground sources in western Ontario which could be developed, he did not think they would be sufficient to cope with the foreseen demands of industrial expansion.

He said that although a pipeline network or similar project may appear costly at first glance, in reality it is an investment.

LOOKING AHEAD

Kitchener, Preston, Brantford, Stratford, Woodstock and Ingersoll are taking care of their immediate demands, but are giving a great deal of earnest study to their water problems, the geography professor stated.

He said that all major cities in the two watersheds will have to look ahead to the time when expansion of population and industry creates a much greater demand for water.

London, Dr. Pleva added, has enough water from its two sources of supply—Fanshawe lake and the wells sunk in the Crumlin plain—to serve a population of 200,000 provided water consumption remains the same per head as it is today.

Residents Seek Better Services

Residents of Wallis Drive, led by last year's committee leader Dave Shellenburg, met in the court house Monday night to discuss ways and means of improving conditions in that area. Since the district is not yet incorporated into the city, many facilities are at present unavailable.

It was decided to approach city council through the township council (North Monaghan) for permission to use a 1,000-gallon pumper formerly in use in the north western section of the city before that area was incorporated.

A road improvement committee composed of chairman George Roper, Haig Kelly and Harold Matthews, was set up and will attempt to have conditions improved along Wallace drive and adjacent streets.

City council has already authorized some drainage work to be done in the area behind Civic Hospital and up to Wallace drive and it is hoped that further drainage work will be done along the northern section of the road.

The committee warned against the pumping of refuse, through tile, to the ditches which now exist.

Speed limit signs of 30 mph will also be erected to check excessive speeds now prevalent on the road. Identification signs at both ends of the road and at the corner of Weller St. and the drive, are also to be placed soon.

Find Prices Lower On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO (CP) — Prices were lower in light early afternoon stock market trading today.

Western oil had losses ranging to 25 cents by Anglo-Canadian and Calgary-and-Edmonton.

Uraniums moved higher as the lower-priced issues showed more activity than in the morning. Except for Gunnar's slight loss, other uraniums and Bathurst-area issues were quiet.

Base metals were lower. Most seniors took small drops and juniors were generally lower. Golds were almost even.

Industrials were down. Utilities continued weak. Banks were slightly down and a few others showed signs of weakness.

The exchange's 1 p. m. indexes showed industrials down .31 at 308.48, golds down .04 at 69.81, base metals down .88 at 146.04 and western oils down 1.14 at 89.99.

Raise Loan Interest For Finance Firms

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian chartered banks have advised finance companies that, effective Dec. 1, the interest rate on loans to these companies will be raised from 4½ to five per cent.

The companies are those which handle the financing of motor cars, refrigerators, washing machines and other consumer goods.

A spokesman for one bank described the increase as "in line with the cost of operation." He said it is not part of a policy of "credit tightening."

A spokesman for a finance company said money borrowed at the old rate is loaned out on paper that will not be all paid back for 24 or 30 months. He did not know whether the increase would be reflected in the cost to the consumer of financing of new purchases.

Frost Asks Ottawa Share Hospital Deficit

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Frost Monday asked federal government to share in the province's hospital deficits which ran to nearly $24,000,000 last year.

He suggested the federal government match a provincial maintenance grant of $10,000,000 as a prerequisite to any additional health insurance plan.

Speaking to the Ontario Hospital Association, the premier said:

"Such a plan would reduce the cost of hospitalization, place hospitalization within the reach of more people and place our hospitals in a happier position in which to carry on their work."

His plan was that Ontario be permitted to use present health grants for maintenance purposes. He said "no greater good could be done in this province than if the federal health plans contained at least an option permitting the expenditure of health grants for this purpose."

Premier Frost told the delegates hospitals had gone a long way in recent years; today they offered treatments and services unknown only a couple of decades ago. Similiarly, he said, government support had advanced even more swiftly; from a little over $1,000,000 only 10 years ago to $24,000,000 for hospitals alone this year. And he spoke of provincial contributions only.

CAREFULLY CONSIDERED

The program, however, had been deliberately and carefully considered. There was a twofold problem; first, the provision of more hospital beds, and second aiding in making hospitals pay their way. This had meant that Ontario had made big grants for new hospital construction, and then had launched an innovation in Canada in 1948 of providing grants for maintenance and rehabilitation. In other words, hospitals had to be kept up to date; there was no use adding new bed space and allowing old facilities to degenerate.

To this end, $16,000,000 had been made available this year, apart from funds spent on mental and tuberculosis hospitals, for cancer research, for polio treatment and similar things. Assistance had been advanced for setting up mental ward treatment—to help keep people out of mental hospitals and to foster psychiatric specialization as a preventive measure—and outpatients' services, to leave beds free for patients who really needed them. He believed even more should be done along such lines.

Where priorities were concerned, aid in maintenance came first. Adding of extra burdens could mean eventual inability to meet any health insurance scheme (if such were intended). To this end, he believed, the federal government should follow provincial policies.

NO GREATER GOOD

"No greater good could be done, certainly in this province, than if the federal health plans contained at least an option permitting the expenditure of their health grants for this purpose (rehabilitation of hospital facilities) and maintenance," said the Premier. "I even suggested this the other day to Mr. Martin and I have hopes something might come of it.

"If, for instance, the provincial maintenance grants only, which totalled $10,000,000 of the $16,000,000 advanced this year for maintenance and rehabilitation, were augmented by a similar amount from federal sources, it would contribute greatly to the basic requirement of reducing the cost of hospitalization and placing our hospitals in a happier position in which to carry on their work. In the development of any health plan, this must be fundamental. To talk of one without the other is really getting nowhere."

Boy Chokes To Death On Toy Balloon

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A two-year-old boy choked to death Monday night on a toy balloon.

Joseph Michael Pickering, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Pickering of Miami, was playing with the balloon when it was sucked into his throat and lodged in his windpipe.

The father tried desperately to dislodge the balloon and gave the child artificial respiration until an ambulance arrived. The youngster was pronounced dead on arrival at a hospital.

LINE UP AT DAIRIES

Deliveries to homes and retail outlets were cut off by the strike, which started Sunday afternoon. Consumers lined up Monday outside dairy plants for rationed milk or turned to such substitutes as evaporated and powdered milk.

The union kept milk supplies going to hospitals, schools and some other institutions. Milk tank trucks were diverted from the city to processing plants, for cheese and other dairy foods.

Robert Abelow, counsel for the companies, refused to comment on a report that the dealers might ask President Eisenhower to invoke the Taft-Hartley labor act and seek an 80-day no-strike injunction.

A $15-a-week wage increase and a 35-hour work week instead of the present 40 hours are sought by the teamsters. The company representatives were reported offering package boosts of up to $2.10 an hour. The firms say current wages range from $82 a week for plant workers to $125 plus commissions for wholesale route salesmen.

Bartender Wins $262,721

ST. FILLANS, Scotland (AP) — John Abernethy, a thrifty 29-year-old Scottish bartender, got a good return on his money today—£93,829 ($262,721) for two shillings.

Abernethy practically swept the boards on a football pool. His first dividend was £75,000 and his second dividend £18,347.

On top of all that tax-free cash, Abernethy won the third and fourth dividends which totalled £482.

Abernethy was undecided about his future in the barkeep business now that he's a rich man.

Soviet Accuses Greece Of War Measures

MOSCOW (AP)—Russia has accused Greece of taking measures directly aimed at a new war by granting United States military forces the right to use some Greek air and naval bases.

The charge was made in a sharp protest note delivered Monday night by Andrei Gromyko, Soviet deputy foreign minister, to the Greek charge d'affaires in Moscow, Thomas Ypsilanti.

Asserting that "Greek territory is thus turned into a foreign military base which is counter to the interest of maintaining peace and international security," the note warned that Greece must bear responsibility for the consequences of "worsening the international situation."

The U. S.-Greek agreement, signed in Athens Oct. 12, gave the U. S. and other North Atlantic pact powers the right to use an undisclosed number of Greek bases to strengthen NATO defences.

Officials Approve Canonization Miracles

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Miracles proposed for the canonization of Pope Pius X were approved today by the Vatican's Congregation of Rites.

This, Vatican sources said, virtually cleared the way for elevation to sainthood. His canonization, it is believed, will be a major ceremony of the Marian year that begins next December to honor the Virgin Mary.

Pope Pius X died on Aug. 20, 1914.

Not Properly Using Hospital Facilities

TORONTO (CP)—Lack of space in Canadian and United States hospitals is frequently due to lack of utilization of present facilities, C. Rufus Rorem, executive director of the hospital council of Philadelphia, told delegates to the Ontario Hospital Association convention today.

"The establishment or expansion of a hospital is not an unmixed blessing," he said. "Ineffectual use may result in both a lowering of professional standards and a waste of economic resources."

Return True Bills For Roodman, Seguin

CORNWALL (CP)—A grand jury Monday returned true bills on a murder charge against Henri Joseph Seguin, 28, and on a manslaughter charge against Max Roodman, 40.

Seguin is charged with the murder last year of Leonard Hurd, Maxville, Ont., taxi operator. Roodman was charged following a highway crash between his parked truck and a Colonial Coach Lines bus in which 20 persons were killed July 31. The bus plunged into a canal near Morrisburg.

Indictments were handed the grand jury earlier Monday. About 40 witnesses were called before jury on the murder count and about 20 on the manslaughter charge.

The main spotlight, however, was on Bennike's afternoon report on the border incidents, which brought bitter protests to Israel from the U.S., Britain and France. The Big Three asked that Bennike come here to make his report.

SAY ARABS PROVOKED

Israel has charged that a long series of attacks by armed Arabs on Jewish villages has resulted in the loss of many lives, and finally incited retaliation.

The bacteriological-warfare debate was launched Monday by U.S. delegate Dr. Charles Mayo, the noted Minnesota surgeon, who charged in a lengthy report backed by affidavits from returned American PoWs that Russians directed and actually participated in the torture interrogations that forced some prisoners to "confess" the germ-war claims.

Russia's Jacob A. Malik denounced the charge as "a lie and a slander which we repudiate." He countered that the U.S. had forced the returned prisoners to repudiate their confessions under threat of prosecution.

Sprinkle Of Rain Promises More For City, County

A springle of rain at noon today appeared to be a promise of more to come as mentioned in the probabilities.

Rainfall this month in Peterborough area has been light, but farm land conditions are fairly good in spite of comparatively dry fall.

The last rain here was on Oct. 10 measured at .22 inches by James Harrison, the weather recorder, who is on the staff of the Utilities Commission at their filtration plant property.

"On Oct. 4 we had another rain of .18 of an inch," Mr. Harrison said. "For the month to date that was .4 of an inch. Then on Sept. 26 we had . 48 of an inch.

"So, the fall has really been dry, and water will be needed in the country for early winter supply."

"Moisture is fairly good," Henry Sharpe of Smith, president of the Federation of Agriculture, said this afternoon. "Conditions for late plowing are satisfactory. There hasn't been much rain this autumn, but there is quite a time yet before winter sets in."

W. W. Dawson of Otonabee reports the top six inches of agricultural land "a bit dry", but there is moisture underneath. "I don't hear any real complaints about the rain supply. I think our farmers in Central Ontario feel that we have come through the year with at least sufficiency of moisture. We hear that the Thames River in western Ontario is down to a trickle, and we read about the extreme drought in a large section of the United States. In our area we have had no extremes either way, and I feel sure that we are grateful that conditions have been on the whole favorable."

Mr. Dawson has just completed a farm pond on the north side of the road, opposite his residence. It is fed by three springs, and measures eight feet in the centre.

Meanwhile, Jackson Park Creek through the city has hardly enough water to babble about.

Allow 2 Refugees Into British Zone

VIENNA (AP)—In an unexplained gesture, the Russians in Austria have permitted two Hungarian refugees from communism to pass unmolested through the Soviet zone of Austria to the safety of the British zone.

Austrian police in the Soviet zone said today that the two escapees, Laszlo Marothy, 24, and his wife, Elisabeth, were injured by a mine explosion Sunday while crossing the Iron Curtain between Hungary and the Soviet zone town of Jak.

After the Russians learned of the escape and the couples' injuries, they permitted Austrian authorities to take the pair to a hospital in Graz in the British zone.

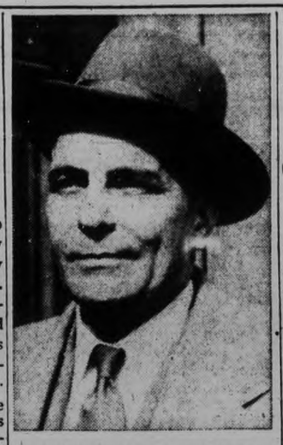
GIVE HELPING HAND—Students at the Ontario Teachers' College willingly gave caretakers a helping hand Monday when the grounds around the school were given their annual fall grooming. During the physical education classes, the boys and girls raked leaves (above) and others with wire-wood baskets and other containers carried the leaves to the nearby gulley which within minutes had a blanket of leaves varying from two to three feet. At the same time inside the school other students were potting bulbs. —(Examiner Staff Photo).

Labor Council Demands Public Apology

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto Labor Council (CIO-CCL) Monday night demanded a public apology from general manager W. F. P. Duncan of the Toronto Transportation Commission for using the word "nigger" on the program "Press Conference" over the CBC television station here, CBLT, Oct. 21.

The council also asked assurance from the TTC that Mr. Duncan's remarks did not reflect a discriminatory hiring policy by the commission.



Dennis McDermott, chairman of the council's committee to combat discrimination, said Mr. Duncan had explained on the TV program his opposition to public lavatories in Toronto's subway on the basis of his experience in Chicago, where, he was reported to have said, they were staffed by "niggers."

JUST "LATIN" WORD

Mr. Duncan said Monday night his remark "was entirely without prejudice. To me 'nigger' is just the Latin for black. To me it is common slang I've been accustomed to all my life. I didn't know it had any derogatory meaning."

The TTC chairman also said the commission's employment policy was free from racial discrimination.

He added that if Toronto requires subway lavatories, it is the responsibility of the city to provide them.

Dick Ouimet President Of The PMHA

Dick Ouimet has been chosen president of the Peterborough Minor Hockey Association for this season, a post he held several years ago. Phonse Brioux is first vice-president, Harley Carr second vice-president, Bill Dawson secretary, and Jack Miller the treasurer. The 12 managers of teams will form an executive committee.

The deadline for entries in the bantam, midget and juvenile divisions (four to each section) is Nov. 1 when a meeting will be held at eight p.m. in the King George Hotel. Ther is room for only a few more entries now. The association will sell booster and season tickets to help finance minor hockey here, and probably an exhibition game for this purpose will be arranged shortly.

The association again will affiliate with the OMHA and send teams into the "A" playdowns. Peterborough Shamrocks last season won the provincial bantam "A" championship.

Hepatitis Outbreak Over In Digby

DIGBY, N. S. (CP)—The outbreak of hepatitis which hit about half of Digby's 2,000 population earlier this year is over.

Town doctors said today that the virus which caused the liver ailment, a form of yellow jaundice, has disappeared as mysteriously as it appeared in June.

There have been no new cases for several weeks. Doctors are confident the disease has run its course.

Charged With Murder

HUDSON BAY, Sask. (CP)—Ernest Flett, 25-year-old treaty Indian from nearby Shoal Lake reserve, Monday was charged with murder in connection with the shooting death of Steven Young, another treaty Indian. Police said Flett is accused of firing a rifle into a reserve shack Saturday, killing Young. Two women were taken to hospital with serious wounds.

Vatican Spain Concordat

MADRID (AP) — The Cortes, Spain's Parliament, Monday unanimously approved a concordat between Spain and the Vatican which Generalissimo Franco said establishes Roman Catholicism as the state religion. Franco noted the concordat recognizes Spanish laws permitting private observances by non-Catholic cults or denominations.

Queen Gives VC To Lt.-Col. Carne

LONDON (AP)—The Queen today pinned Britain's highest military decoration, the Victoria Cross, on Lt.-Col. James Carne for his role in the battle at Korea's Imjin river in April 1951.

Carne, who commanded the 1st Battalion of the Gloucestershire Regiment, which was virtually wiped out in the battle, was cited for showing "leadership which can seldom have been surpassed in the history of the army." He was captured by the Communist shortly after the battle, and has just recently returned to Britain.

Dean Tells Reds to Get Down to Business

PANMUNJOM (AP) — United States Ambassador Arthur Dean warned today that unless the Reds get down to business in planning the Korean peace talks, they face the "onus of not having a political conference."

After his second straight day of stand-off preliminary talks with the Communists, Dean told reporters that if the Reds "persist in their attitude" they ust face such a responsibility.

In the two-hour, 22-minute session today, both sides clung stubbornly to opposing designs for the conference and even how to plan it.

The Communists again demanded that non-belligerent countries be invited to the peace talks and that this question be settled before anything else—time or place—is discussed.

Dean insisted that only those countries whose troops fought in Korea should make the peace, and urged the Reds to settle on a site and date for the conference. Dean warned:

"If we invite neutral nations admirable though they may be, we may turn the political conference into an endless debating society.

"In the meantime, our troops face each other across an uneasy armistice."

Another meeting will be held Wednesday morning.

DON'T HOLD OUT HOPE

Meanwhile, Indian officers attached to the Korean repatriation commission said privately there appears to be no hope of resuming on a large scale the interviews with anti-Red war prisoners who have refused to go home.

The five-nation neutral commission settled down to an almost "do nothing" routine—its only chore the care of 22,776 unrepatriated PoWs in its custody.

There was no hint of a crack in the tight deadlock resulting from the Communist demand 10 days ago that violently anti-Communist Korean prisoners be forced to appear before Red interviewers.

Many Indians say unofficially that the 90-day period for explanations provided by the Korean truce is sure to end in late December without further big-scale interviews.

Then, if a Korean peace conference is under way, it will take over the problem for a month. And at the end of that time prisoners still unrepatriated will be freed.

Hylton Coxwell Dies Aged 77

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Funeral services were conducted here on Monday afternoon for Hylton Coxwell, a man who was probably the best known citizen of the community. Mr. Coxwell had been in failing health for several months, and died in Campbellford Memorial hospital on Friday evening. He was 77.

Born in Toronto, he was the son of the late Charles William Hylton Coxwell and Helen Hahassey. He was married in 1914 and came to Campbellford in 1915. He also lived for a short time in Buffalo, N.Y.

Surviving besides his widow, the former Violet Plummer, are two daughters, Mrs. Donald Meyers (Helen) of Campbellford, Mrs. J. E. Bythell (Mary) of Toronto and one son, John of Campbellford. He has two sisters, Mrs. Arthur Bryce (Vera) and Miss Mona Coxwell, both of Toronto.

METER READER

Mr. Coxwell's job of reading meters for the Public Utilities Commission took him into nearly every home in the town and many on the outskirts. He knew most of the people by their first names. He usually carried a bag of candy to distribute among the children on his rounds. He was the local correspondent for the Canadian Press, the Toronto dailies and formerly was correspondent for The Examiner. He attended the Anglican Church and was a member of Golden Rule Lodge and the Ionic Chapter, R.A.M.

The funeral was largely attended and was held from Bennett's funeral home on Monday afternoon, with Rev. William Howson of Christ Anglican church and the Rev. Dr. D. M. Smith of St. John's United officiating. At the graveside, services were conducted by members of the masonic order.

Pall bearers were members of the lodge and included: E. M. Abernethy, C. H. Davidson, E. J. Wilmink, D. R. Maybee, W. A. Kingston and P. C. Denyes. Honorary Pall bearers were: A. C. Connor, T. J. Craighead, A. J. Meyers, H. M. Donald, Robert Bateson and E. C. Roberts. Brothers of the Lodge carried the many floral tributes.

London Has New Newspaper

LONDON (Reuters)—The first edition of London's first new daily newspaper in 25 years. The Recorder, hit the new stands today.

A 10-page morning paper with an accent on the personalities of big business, The Recorder aims at an initial circulation of 100,000 copies selling at twopence each.

In a statement of policy The Recorder proclaims itself as "independent of party, of newspaper chains, of financial interests, and unbiased in its views."

If it is a success in London it will seek a national circulation.

The first edition presents mainly home news with a small sprinkling of foreign reports. Whole pages are devoted to market reports and sport.

Controlling shareholder in the new company, the Recorder Limited, is William J. Brittain, publisher of 12 local London suburban papers and industrial magazines.

He began his career as a reporter in Hull, England, gained experience on Canada's Montreal Star and Toronto Star and later returned to London as an editorial executive on Northcliffe and Beaverbrook newspapers.

Take Off 2 Screws Then Icebox Safe

CHICAGO (AP)—Each of 28 children who were smothered in abandoned refrigerators in the United States this year died because two small screws held firmly in place, a service expert said.

"You can render virtually any refrigerator harmless by removing the lock stop from the doorsill, as in most models this metal part is held by only two screws," said Harry D. Busby, statistician for the Refrigeration Service Engineers Society.

Busby said 8,000 members of this group—the men who maintain and repair refrigerators—have pledged their help to their communities in making old iceboxes harmless in their communities.

"But anyone can do it," he said. "It takes about two minutes, and it doesn't damage the refrigerator or keep it from being put back into service."

Probation At $50 Good Value

In arguing the merits of an adequate system of probation for dealing with first offenders, we are not narrowly concerned with Peterborough and its courts. Peterborough has had a probation officer for adult offenders for several years. In this regard Peterborough County is better served than most areas in Canada, for all told there are only about fifty full-time probation officers in the whole country. The merits of probation have been so well proven in other countries that a complete system should be established in Canada, to serve both magistrates' and judges' courts.

* * *

A coherent system of probation has been in operation in England since 1907. Partly as a result of it the number of persons sent to prison each year in England and Wales is five times less than the number put behind bars in Canada. This is not only because thousands of convicted persons there are placed on suspended sentence and in the care of a probation officer, but also because probation itself is reformative. In Canada where convicted people are given thirty or ninety days in jail sometimes because the judge lacks the alternative which a supervisor of probationers would provide, seventy per cent. of imprisoned persons are repeaters. Contrast this seventy per cent. recidivism with the effects of probation: Approximately seventy-five per cent. of probationers in England and Wales are rehabilitated and never offend again. The English system works so well that, despite the large increase in population during the last forty-five years, the number of persons committed to prison there has decreased from 185,000 in 1907 when the Probation of Offenders Act was passed, to 20,000 in 1950.

* * *

The social and moral values of probation may be less readily accredited than the economic. Here is the dollar-and-cent worth. An offender who is on probation rather than in prison continues to support himself and family instead of living in enforced idleness. Further, a probationary system is less costly to the state. It costs about $2,000 a year to keep a person in penitentiary, $1,500 to keep him in reformatory, and $50 a year to keep him on probation.

* * *

In the light of such evidence, and considering advances which have been made in modern penal knowledge generally, it is difficult to understand why Canada does not have a system of probation to serve all our courts. It has none, and so the number of commitals to various penal institutions throughout the country continues to rise year by year, to the present shocking total of a hundred thousand each year. We greet with special approval the announcement last Thursday that the Minister of Justice at Ottawa has formed a special committee of experts to study parole and the remission of sentence. In their survey they will include examination of systems in operation in Britain. We hope that the committee will give the English probationary system the thorough study its good results warrant.

Not Living On Borrowed Money

In his first public reference to taxation since the elections this summer, the Minister of Finance held out no prospects of tax reduction next year, and perhaps not in 1955 either, unless the world situation made possible a reduction in the outlay for defence. This sober statement—politically courageous, some call it—is only a reflection of the Liberal election platform, which, more courageously, did not offer tax reduction inducements to voters.

The policy of the Government is to pay-as-you-go in good times, and try to have a little left over to apply against the national debt. These are good times, industrially and commercially, despite high prices and high taxes. Instead of adding to the national debt—which now costs several hundred million dollars a year to look after (interest and the like) Mr. Abbott's policy is "some further easing of the burden of public debt", by surpluses raised through taxes to reduce it and the cost of carrying it.

There is much to recommend taxation as an economic instrument. In times like these Canadians have demonstrated to themselves and to the world that they can pay their way, and contrive also to pay off some of their accumulated war debts. All provinces as well as the Federal Government have had surpluses for most of the years since the war. The result of this policy is to make Canadian money the soundest in the world, the highest in value.

The policy has not restricted production or expansion; many economists believe it has helped make Canada's economy in the last eight years the most expansive in its history, a growth unparalleled by other nations in the same period. It is through such expansion that hope of tax reduction lies. Mr. Abbott said in his Ottawa speech last week that "further tax reductions can only come from further growth in total output and efficiency." It has been this growth that has made possible (and still allowed for surpluses) the several significant tax reductions made since 1947. The greater the national income becomes the more easily will Canada be able to support present defence and social service requirements.

The Federal Government policy seems sharply contrasted with the spending habits of individual Canadians. In the year ending last June credit buying by individuals in this country rose half a billion dollars; the consumer credit bill now stands at $1,732,000,000. This would be frightening and inflationary if the Government itself did not pursue an opposite policy, of paying as it goes, and accumulating a little surplus to pay off past debts. This is deflationary in its tendency, and counteracts the inflationary spending habits of Canadians individually.

Our Fast Firemen

One fire department not far removed from Peterborough has the reputation of never having put out a fire. Not so the Peterborough department's fame, and a demonstration last Wednesday confirms the high regard in which it is held as a fire-fighting force, especially now that it has a fog nozzle.

Alderman Rehill, chairman of the Fire, Light and Water committee of the Council, turned in a false alarm according to a plan known only to other aldermen, the Fire Chief, and our reporter. The chief's car arrived in 1½ minutes at the George Street wharf scene of the test. The pumper made the run in 2 minutes. The aerial ladder was there in 3 minutes, the old ladder truck followed a few seconds later. In six minutes from the time the alarm was turned in firemen had two lines of hose playing, one of them from a rung seventy feet up the aerial ladder.

For the next quarter hour the firemen demonstrated their equipment and skill in the use of it. The new fog nozzle (which permits 500 gallons of water to spray from it each minute) was said by Chief Sorrie to be specially useful for fires under control—like the Ostrander fire last year—dowsing fluently wide areas. A quick change was made, for demonstration purposes, to a straight nozzle through which 1,100 gallons of water can pour in a minute, fiercely and directly on fires leaping out of control.

It was an encouraging show of good tactics, form and equipment, and judging from the smiles on the faces of the firemen in our photograph and the smiles of the approving aldermanic bystanders, Peterborough faces its future fires with confidence.

Unionists Win, As Expected

Last Friday the eighth Parliament of Northern Ireland was elected. A heading in the Montreal Gazette of the previous day, referring to the forthcoming voting, was the flattest understatement we have seen in many a moon. It read: "Vote In Northern Ireland Expected To Be Pro-British". Expected! As certain as the sun's rise tomorrow in the east. The six Ulster counties have elected a Unionist (Conservative) pro-British government since Northern Ireland was granted a parliament following the partition thirty-two years ago. Why, twenty-one members of the government party—just seven short of a majority—had already been returned by acclamation before polling day.

Viscount Brookenborough is again Prime Minister. There have been but two P.M.'s since Northern Ireland was constituted, although four names have held the office—both men being elevated to the Lords in due course, for their true-blue, pro-British, anti-Eire service.

The party and the Prime Ministers maintain their power and popularity on one single theme: maintenance of the ties with Britain. Lord Brookenborough said before the election: "The Unionist Party (its name comes from its platform of union with the United Kingdom) is determined that the question of Ulster's constitutional future shall be the supreme issue at every election until the menace is removed." The menace he referred to was Eire and being engulfed by that republic. It is a simple, beautifully successful political platform. It gives the Ulster Government complete freedom from contentious issues, domestic or external, other than the main contention that Ulster must or must not become part of Eire. On this the camps are clearly divided, and so definitely weighted that the Opposition can never win power at the polling booths until the constitutional issue ceases to be the supreme question. This it will never be so long as Irishmen are Irishmen, north or south of the Ulster-Eire border.

Yugoslavia Ready For The Worst

By LAJAS LEDERER
(in Belgrade)

THE SITUATION in Yugoslavia's Capital of Belgrade can be summed up in one sentence: the people still hope for an acceptable solution to the Trieste problem, but they are prepared for the worst.

The situation is certainly most serious if no satisfactory solution is forthcoming. I know from both Yugoslav and British Embassy sources that all military preparations for the execution of Marshal Tito's threat to occupy Zone A, should Italian forces be moved into that zone, had been completed by last Saturday. The British Naval and Air Attaches, who have just returned from a visit to the danger areas, have told me that from what they have seen anyone who assumes that the Yugoslavs are not deadly serious in their intentions—to challenge by force the Anglo-American decision to hand over Zone A to the Italians—is short-sighted and irresponsible.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT IS ESTIMATED that on a given signal the Yugoslav Army could complete "Operation Zone A," as it is called, within twelve hours. Yugoslav troops are also concentrated in strength in the Julian region on the Italian-Yugoslav border, stretching for eighty miles. I am told that the recent call-up of reservists has swollen the strength of the Yugoslav Army to a quarter of a million. I saw, myself, on entering Yugoslavia last Thursday night, the mood of the soldiers—three long trains passed ours on the way to the danger zone all covered with flowers and bunting and the soldiers were gay; they were singing, and they looked determined. It was like a 1914 scene.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN BELGRADE itself, the tense atmosphere has considerably lessened during the week-end; and although I have no doubt that on the slightest provocation we would see here a much bigger outburst than that of last week, all anti-Western demonstrations had practically ceased today. Even private contracts between Yugoslavs and the British were steadily resumed following Marshal Tito's statement on Anglo-Yugoslav relations to "The Observer"—which was published on the front pages of every Yugoslav newspaper, and repeatedly broadcast on Belgrade radio throughout Sunday. Before that, few Yugoslavs dared to be seen with Anglo-Saxon officials or citizens. Those who did were in many instances stigmatised as traitors.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE BRITISH and American reading rooms in Belgrade, which took the brunt of the popular outburst, have been re-opened, although for only an hour daily instead of all day. Embassies and the principal hotels are still closely watched by the police, and the streets are patrolled by police jeeps; but otherwise there are no signs of abnormality. One can see crowds in front of newspaper offices and agencies waiting for the latest news from the West, but the people now behave with more restraint and the ugly, angry faces of last week have disappeared.

✧ ✧ ✧

ALL THE SAME, it would be unwise to disregard the latent anger and suppressed temper of the people, who are deeply hurt and disillusioned by the Anglo-American action. What embittered the Yugoslav people most was the ruthless method and manner in which this diplomatic operation was carried out. Such behaviour, they say, would not be surprising from Russia; but they did not expect it from the Western democracies.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT IS CLEAR that this sort of treatment will always be resisted by the Yugoslav people, whether it comes from the East or the West. It seems that their anger is not due primarily to the decision itself, but to the fact that the decision, whether just or unjust, was imposed on them. Nothing less than definite recognition of this by the Anglo-Americans will satisfy the Yugoslav leaders and people.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE AVERAGE Yugoslav is not eager to fight. I have been approached in the last few days by several Belgraders anxiously asking me: "Will there be a war?" Nevertheless, they are ready to defend what they call their independence and their rights.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE PROBLEM of Yugoslav-Soviet relations in the face of the "Let-Down" by the West is of course being discussed here. The Soviet embassy takes advantage of the situation both openly and behind the scenes. One should not forget that Russia still has a number of supporters in Yugoslavia, although the number is of no significance. But if the situation grows worse, the chance of more Soviet supporters increases. I was told that the ruthless smashing of the British and American Libraries last week was principally organized by the Cominformists who were delighted at long last to have a free hand against the West. The Soviet Ambassador himself has twice called on Yugoslav leaders at the most critical moments of the past ten days, as though to suggest that his government is in consultation with that of Yugoslavia.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE virulent rumours the Russians spread are most embarrasing to the Yugoslavs, and suggestions that the two sides are having talks on the Trieste question could not be farther from the truth. But although Marshal Tito's clear statement on this issue has greatly allayed suspicion, it has not entirely done so. Only a return to the relations with the West that existed before the Trieste decision will stop this trend—which most Yugoslavs fear more than they have yet said.

Japan's Search For Markets

(Vancouver Province)

Japan is in pretty much the same position as Britain herself. She has a population much larger than she can support from the resources of her own islands. She must import and manufacture and export. To export, she must find markets, and if no nation will buy from her she cannot, of course, find any.

The bottling up of Japan in an economic way was, to quite an extent, the reason for her entry into World War Two. The same sort of treatment could have the same sort of results again. But, apparently, the nations have not yet learned their lesson.

Injuries To Tourists

(Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph)

The municipal traffic report for July makes interesting reading. It records that of the 749 accidents reported to police in Quebec City, 272 involved tourists.

Each of the 749 accidents was the result of negligence and disregard often flagrant, of road and safety rules; most of the accidents caused damage of over $100 each.

An Americ an Opinion: TWO VIEWS OF TH E SAME ANIMAL

Now A 'Tippler's Tax'

(OTTAWA JOURNAL)

LET NOBODY think the last word in taxes has been said, that there is no source of revenue left untaxed. British Columbia's new Social Credit government has shown the fallacy of this position by coming up with a new tax on liquor.

British Columbia is just now introducing a system of cocktail lounges similar to Ontario's, and in what the Victoria Times calls its "insatiable appetite for new revenues" it proposes to soak the drinker who exercises this new privilege of buying liquor by the glass and consuming it on licensed premises.

The Times says whiskey costs at the distillery about 85 cents a bottle, and comes finally to the cocktail lounge loaded with high Federal taxes, high provincial taxes, the licensee's high cost of doing business and his own profit. By that time the original item of 85 cents is buried deep in taxes, costs and profits.

And it is at this stage that the new levy becomes effective. It is a tax of 10 percent on the retail price of the single drink—and, of course, the purchaser pays. That is, a 60-cent drink would cost 66 cents, with tax; the chap who orders a round of drinks for $2 will have to contribute an extra 20 cents to the provincial treasury.

Federal and provincial authorities have shown a high degree of plain greed in the taxing of alcoholic beverages, but British Columbia in this respect stands out now in a class of its own. The danger is that other provinces may decide the Tippler's Tax is the invention of the year and adopt it for themselves.

Letters To The Editor

PROTEST CIVIC ARENA CHARGES

Sir: Civic Arena, Big Deal. Skating used to be 35 cents on a Saturday night and now its 50 cents. Why? Isn't Mr. Smillie making enough as it is? He charges for all hockey practices that there are and at the present moment he has skating Tuesday and Thursday, Friday and Saturday (both afternoons and nights), and later on in the season he collecas from hockey games. Why a person can't even afford to enjoy himself now. Kids went all the way down to the Arena and then had to go home when they found out they didn't have enough money. It would cost a fellow plenty to take a girl down there at that price, considering bus fare and a restaurant after. Fifty cents, and half the time the ice is water with great big holes in it. Why, over at the Lions Pool they only charge fifteen cents to swim (which is all you can do at the Arena) and they don't set a limited time (like 2 hours).

Well, I for one and I'm sure there are others, refuse to patronize the old barn any more. Thanking you for the space, I remain, Disgusted.

NOTE: We must point out that the General Manager does not profit from the charges at the Civic Arena and acts only under instructions from the City Commission which controls it.

THE CHECK-OFF

Sir: Reference to the news that Mr. C. H. Millard, CCF-CIO advocates "Union Security" through the "voluntary revocable check-off" as a base for strike settlement in the mining industry. I would like to point out that these are two very over-worked catch phrases used by the lords of labour who are most likely thinking of their own job security.

I do not blame labour bosses for looking out for their own security. It is obvious that without the check-off many of them would be working alongside the "brothers" in the factories and shops.

If I had the gift of the gab it is possible that I would be advocating something that would bring me a large income plus extravagant expenses—all at the expense of the "slaves" in the shops and mines.

Is it not strange that union officials look to the employer for union security?

Is the collection of dues a function of employers who have their own accounts to settle and collect?

The so-called voluntary check-off is not by a long shot voluntary.

I have seen some of the methods used to get people to sign a union card. All sorts of pressure is applied, usually the card is signed to save trouble by those who are not in favour of the committee and their union.

Once a card is signed a worker is transformed from a company stooge or a communist to a Brother, oh, brother! One thing the worker must remember, he must not dare to revoke the authority or he becomes a company stooge and a commie or what have you again. Therefore when a union official talks of "voluntary check-off" he does so thinking of his security.

Do you remember the protection racket? This business of signing cards reminds me of just that. One signs or is smeared, in other words the worker signs for his own protection and the union bosses security.

Employers who grant the check-off without a secret vote by their employers or without individual signatures are doing an injustice to their workers and are more than likely helping by doing so, to feed the funds of political parties whose ideas are not acceptable to themselves and the majority of their employees.

True, firms that hastily grant the check-off are more free of labour trouble than those that take a stand against it. Forcing workers to pay into, indirectly, the funds of political parties that will swallow their factories and eventually become the bosses of industry and labour, is not in the best interest of the managemen and labour.

If this comes into being the worker will be told by those who have come into power through money collected as check-off, what his wage will be and armed force will be used to stamp out any that dare to strike. It can happen here!

Many labour lords, have gone on record as advocating the compulsory check-off. I wonder if management could in the same way ask for a law that will assure their security? At present some unions have more in their treasuries than some of the plants of firms that they strike.

It is very noticeable that union officials do not miss their salaries when a plant is struck, - oh no! their expenses are higher during that period. While the workers in the struck plant get behind in his obligations to his landlord, stores and taxes, the union officials live off the fat of the land — check-off!

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Grace and peace be multiplied unto you through the knowledge of God, and of Jesus our Lord, according as his divine power hath given unto us all things that pertain unto life and godliness, through the knowledge of him that hath called us to glory and virtue: whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises: that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust.

And beside this, giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowlege; and to knowledge temperance; and to temperance patience; and to patience godliness; and to godliness brotherly kindness; and to brotherly kindness charity.

For if these things be in you, and abound, they make you that ye shall neither be barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ. But he that lacketh these things is blind, and cannot see afar off, and hath forgotten that he was purged from his old sins. Wherefore the rather, brethren give diligence to make your calling and election sure: for if ye do these things, ye shall be ministered unto you abundantly into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. (II Pet. 1: 2-11.)

When Does 'Top Secret' Become Silly?

(Calgary Herald)

It is reported that the Department of National Defence is busy investigating three "serious" leaks in military information, and is very concerned over the matter.

Now, there are two distinct aspects of military security which have to be borne in mind. One concerns the attitude and behavior of the military itself.

The first thing to be done is, for NDHQ to take newspapers into its confidence and state clearly what is and what is not considered to be in the top secret category. This has not been done.

Instead, we have a chaotic and utterly stupid system in operation under which practically anything is secret if some bilious major or colonel in the immediate vicinity decides it is secret, and this type of officer makes such decisions all too often on the basis that any news at all might reflect unfavorably on his own tiny domain.

There is plenty of legitimate and important news in the defense forces, and it should be made readily available to the public. But if everything, including the nearest way to the washroom, is to be treated like the blueprints for an H-bomb, then news correspondents are antagonized, and thereby encouraged to write the whole idea of "security" off as a farce, which it often is in practice.

Interviewing The Prisoners

(Ottawa Citizen)

Before the questioning of prisoners started at Panmunjom, concern was centered mainly on protecting the prisoners from intimidation at the hands of Communist interviewers. It looks now as if the interviewers have all they can do to protect themselves from the prisoners.

LOCAL NEWS-FLASH FROM GILES

THE FASCINATING announcement yesterday that, having sent our last two battalions of troops to British Guiana, we are now left with practically no military protection in reserve caused a faint rumbling of artillery and old majors down at the local.

The owner of a small voice in the corner mentioned that he thought it all very odd, as he had been given to understand that most of his wages went in taxes to maintain a defence programme.

He was immediately quietened by a band of Home Guard revivalists with a warning that if he ever spoke like that again he would be conscripted to a UNESCO string quartet and sent out to quell the next Colonial outbreak.

Agree On Terms For Transfer Of Airport

TORONTO (CP)—Negotiators for the federal transport department and city of Toronto are reported to have agreed on terms for transfer of Malton airport to the federal government in return for the improvement and development of Toronto's island airport.

The negotiators have reported back to Transport Minister Chevrier and the board of control and approval of the scheme is expected soon. It would provide the city with an airfield close to the downtown area capable of handling large planes in all weather. Malton airport is 18 miles northwest of Toronto.

The transport department has invested about $3,000,000 at Malton.

PAY FOR RUNWAY

In lieu of purchase payment, the government will pay the cost of an extended 5,000-foot runway at the island airport, situated in the city's harbor, and make a contribution to the cost of providing tunnel or bridge access.

The transport department now leases Malton airport for $1 a year from the harbor commission, which acts as the city's agent. The government is anxious to protect its investment in the airport by acquiring outright ownership.

Trying Out An Iron Lung

Can Breathe, Cough and Spit For Patient

By ART BRYDON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP)—Polio victims in iron lungs can see the ceiling and a manufacturer's label—and that's about all.

The iron lung or respirator is a key weapon against polio. It is an unwieldy cylinder as large as a bathtub. With attachments it breathes, coughs and spits for patients whose chest muscles are paralyzed.

At the forward end of the lung is the opening—doctors call it the port—for a patient's head supported on the outside by a tiny platform. The lower end of the cylinder pulsates slowly in and out, moved by a lever arrangement geared to a tiny motor. The moving section is flexible leather.

DUAL ACTION

Motion of the lung has a dual effect. As it moves in, pressure on the patient's diaphragm expels the air from the human lungs. Moving out, the sucking action expands the chest and fills the lungs. The speed is controlled by the motor.

Plastic windows on the side of the cylinder allow attendants to see the patient's body. Three ports on each side permit linen changing and other attention.

To get first-hand information about the iron lung I recently spent about 10 minutes in one at King George Hospital, centre of Manitoba's fight against the crippling disease. More than 2,000 cases have been reported in the province this year.

Ports of the lung are lined with sponge rubber to keep the respirator airtight. As I climbed in and inserted my head through the forward part I had a choking sensation as the sponge closed round my throat. With the lung operating I found difficulty in breathing until I relaxed and let the lung breathe for me.

A normal person eliminates irritating matter in his throat and chest by coughing. This is impossible for the chest-paralyzed polio patient.

INDUCES COUGHING

The answer is a machine, hooked by a hose connection to one of the lung's side ports. This "cougher" sucks air from the respirator, thereby expanding and filling the patient's lungs. It is tripped by an electro-magnetic device allowing air to rush into the machine, reversing the pressure and causing a cough.

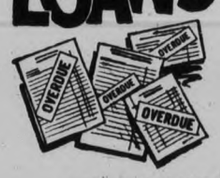
The condition of most patients makes it impossible for them to clear phlegm from their lower windpipe. This requires a tracheotomy. In this operation the throat is opened near the base and a tube inserted to permit breathing. Phlegm is cleared from the windpipe by means of a suction machine. This is one of the reasons why patients must be constantly watched.

A tracheotomy causes air to bypass the voice box, which is higher in the throat, and speech is impossible. When a patient wants to summon a nurse he forces air rapidly through his teeth, producing a noise between a rasp and a gurgle. It is not an uncommon sound in the crowded King George wards.

As the patient improves and can go for longer periods without the removal of phlegm the tube in his throat is plugged—with a common golf tee, inserted sharp end first.

CHEST RESPIRATORS

Patients whose chest muscles have sufficiently recovered to allow them out of the iron lung are aided in breathing by chest respirators.



These consist of plastic bubbles which fit over the patient's chest like an old armor breastplate.

The bubbles are attached to a pump and motor by rubber tubes. The action is the same as that of the iron lung, a suction or negative pressure on the diaphragm alternated with a positive pressure to keep the lungs expanding and contracting.

At the start of the polio epidemic in Manitoba this year the King George had about 10 iron lung patients from other outbreaks. Quick action by authorities, including a flight by an RCAF aircraft to the manufacturer's plant at Boston, brought many machines.

At one point, there were 81 lung cases in the hospital. Authorities predict that the epidemic will leave between 40 and 50 chronic lung cases in King George.

Poem Mourns Board Transfer

OTTAWA (CP)—Mayor Charlotte Whitton's lament concerning the National Film Board's impending transfer from Ottawa to Montreal has been set down in verse.

It can be sung to the tune of "O Canada" and it goes like this:

"O Ottawa,
Our sorely stricken stand,
Some patriot love in our government command,
With slowing hears we see thee rise
And eastward surely flee,
And stand and mourn, O Ottawa,
We stand and mourn for thee.
O Ottawa, the town that was to be,
We stand and mourn, O Ottawa
We stand and mourn for thee."

The mayor, embroiled in a battle with the cabinet involving the board shift, issued the poem to the press Monday, though he doesn't claim sole authorship. She said it was put together during a weekend visitor in Windsor.

Stress Laid On Circulation

TORONTO (CP) — Newspapers must concentrate on increasing circulation to provide greater revenues now that peaks of economy and efficiency have been reached, R. H. Amberg, publisher of the Syracuse, N. Y., Post-Standard, said Monday.

He told a meeting of the Canadian Circulation Managers' Association that advertising accounts for two-thirds of a newspaper's income and circulation the other third. However, because advertising rates depended on circulation figures, he said increased circulation was the only way to boost profit.

He suggested new selling methods, offering encouragement to newsboys and circulation managers and keeping the paper's price within the public's reach as circulation boosters.

Move To Revise Charter

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Canada Monday joined with Argentina, Cuba, Holland, New Zealand and Pakistan in endorsing a draft resolution directed toward revision of the United Nations charter. The general purpose of the draft resolution is to prepare all member states for the revision discussions which under the provisions of the charter must be undertaken in 1955.

Public Opposes Sentence For Cowardice

By DEREK JAMESON

LONDON (Reuters)—A man volunteers to fight for his country and then cowers at the bottom of a foxhole whimpering in fear and panic as the enemy attacks. Is he a candidate for prison or psychiatric treatment?

Many Britons are hotly debating the case of Fusilier Patrick Lydon, 26, sentenced last week to a year's detention and dishonorable discharge from the British Army for "cowardice in the face of the enemy."

Lydon, a volunteer said to have the mental age of a 12-year-old, refused to take up his rifle as 6,000 Chinese attacked his sector of the Korean front Nov. 4, 1951.

The young soldier returned home to the waiting arms of military police after spending 18 months in a North Korean prison camp with some of the comrades he let down.

MANY LETTERS

Since he was sentenced last Thursday, newspapers have been showered with letters, the majority of them sympathizing with Lydon. Newspaper editorials have been for him. "He will live with his shame for the rest of his life," said the Sunday Pictorial. "Surely this is punishment enough."

The public outcry, which may end on the floor of the House of Commons, reflects a change in mood over the years. In the First World War many British soldiers were executed on the battlefields for cowardice—and few people shed tears for them.

The high brass at the war office still has to confirm the sentence. There is hope at Lydon's home in Middlesbrough that the public sympathy will bring a reversal of the verdict.

File Claims For $68,000

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Damage claims of $68,000 were filed Monday on behalf of a three-year-old girl whose parents were killed in a highway accident near Ottawa last Dec. 23.

The girl is Pauline Marier, who was injured in the accident, and the damage suit was filed by her grandfather, Romeo Marier, of nearby Sandwich East township.

The claim was filed against Gamble-Robinson Co., Ottawa, and Elmer Perry, driver of the company truck which crashed into the car driven by Pauline's father, Gerard Marier. Pauline and three other occupants of the car were injured.

In a separate action, Aline Marier, 32, sister of Gerard, asked damages of $16,500 for her injuries. Romeo Marier also is seeking $1,000 for his out-of-pocket expenses for medical attention for his grand-daughter.

9 Legion Branches Oppose Benefits Cut

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Nine branches of the Canadian Legion Monday night passed a resolution protesting against reduction in gratuities or benefits for Canadians serving in Korea.

It urged Ontario and Dominion command and all branches, zones and districts of the legion to "take immediate steps" in an attempt to restore gratuities and credits to all men now serving in Korea.

The resolution was passed at a meeting of officials of the nine branches of zone A-1, which takes in Windsor and nearby areas.

In Toronto, district D protested to the Dominion command the government's action. District D represents legion branches in the Toronto area.

TO STUDY OCEANS—Backed by Canadian dollars, the Siberian-born scientist, Dr. Bodhan Medusa Cwilong, formerly associate professor of physics at the University of British Columbia, will sail from London this week for a seven-year study of oceans. He hopes to find out why the earth is magnetic. He is shown with a complicated apparatus he used to lower helium to 460 degrees below zero, which helped to win a grant from the American Research Foundation. His ocean study is helped by a grant from Dr. Norman MacKenzie, president of UBC.

Charges Dismissed Against Two Men

BRANTFORD (CP)—Magistrate R. J. Gillen Monday dismissed a charge against John James McIlroy and John Petricka, alias George Johnson, of attempting to defraud Jan Borowicz, Brantford, of $1,000 by deceit and falsehood.

The two Toronto men were rearrested to face a charge in Welland that they defrauded a man of $1,000 in a confidence game. Each is out on $20,000 bail in Winnipeg, awaiting trial there on a similar charge.

Denies Charges Of Brutality

TORONTO (CP) — Col. R. H. Paterson, governor of the Don Jail, has denied a former prisoner's charges of brutality at the jail.

Col. Paterson told the legislature's select committee on reform institutions that he had heard many stories of alleged brutality but they were not true.

The jail governor attended the hearing at the request of the committee to hear the former prisoner's testimony.

The former prisoner, in the jail twice for a mental examination, testified that a boy he said was obviously a mental case, had been beaten by other patients while three guards watched.

No Money Spent In Untried Junior By Hockey Moguls In Early Days of Game

By FRASER MacDOUGALL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Hockey magnates who shell out cash in the thousands for untried juniors in these days of hockey prosperity can be forgiven a hearty sigh of regret as they ponder the cases of Sprague Cleghorn and Herb Gardiner.

Tommy Gorman didn't pay Montreal Wanderers anything when he acquired the great Cleghorn for Ottawa Senators in 1919. The Wanderers had written off the tough defenceman because he had fractured both legs. Tommy's only cash outlay was $8.50 for transportation.

In 1926 when Lester and Frank Patrick sold out their Pacific Coast League holdings, defenceman Gardiner was left over. Leo Dandurand got him for $1 in cash and he became a defensive key for Montreal Canadiens in the days when the late Howie Morenz sparkled on the forward line.

Gorman and Dandurand recount the stories of their bargain basement deals in "Hockey Book" (McClelland and Stewart), a fascinating collection of hockey anecdotes gathered by Wilfrid Victor (Bill) Roche, Toronto newspaper man.

INTERVIEWED VETERANS

Roche, now on the financial staff of the Toronto Globe and Mail, left the hockey beat in 1940 and for several years has devoted his spare time to interviews with hockey veterans to get their stories for his book. He sets down some of his recollections, gathered in years of hockey reporting for the old London Advertiser and from four years on the National Hockey League beat for the Globe and Mail.

Morenz, voted the outstanding hockey player of the first half of the century in a Canadian Press poll, figures in many of the stories. One of the best tales of the Stratford streak comes from King Clancy, now coach of Toronto Maple Leafs.

King recalls that in the 1923-24 NHL season, he first got his real action with Ottawa Senators after two years of bench-warming. The Canadiens were coming to town and he determined he would be one defenceman to stop Morenz.

On the game's first rush, Morenz flew right at Clancy. The little Irishman got set to shift either way to nail his quarry. But the next thing Clancy knew "I was flat on my back. . . He had merely skated straight into me and over me."

Clancy issued a typical ultimatum: "Just try that again and I'll knock your block off." Morenz retorted: "I'll be right back on the next rush." He jabbed his finger into Clancy's chest and added: "And I'll do the same thing again."

Says Clancy: "He did."

ION AS MIND-READER

There are stories about Mickey Ion, one of the greatest of hockey referees. Toe Blake, famed as the left-wing partner of Elmer Lach and Maurice Richard on the Canadiens punch line of the 1940s, tells one. In Chicago one night the tough Ion dealt out a penalty Blake didn't like.

Before Toe could blow his top, Ion warned: "Now Blake, you say one word, just one word, and you're out of this game."

Toe controlled his tongue and said softly: "Well, Mickey, I'm not going to say a word but I'll bet you know what I'm thinking."

Said Ion: "You're damn right I do, and you can just get out of the game right now."

The book contains 133 stories, most of them by hockey men. There are a few from sports writers, mostly dealing with old incidents. They cover more than a half century of the sport.

CITY CARPETBALL

The schedule for the week of November 2 is: L.O.L No. 12 vs Fire Hall No. 4; Legion No. 1 vs ing and were never headed as Glens No. 6; Legion No. 7 vs Lawn Boys No. 2; Legion No. 5. vs Orphans No. 8; Fire Hall No. 10 vs Red Patch No. 13; Legion No. 3 vs Legion No. 9.

Results of last weeks play: Legion No. 1 dropped both games to the Lawn Boys by scores of 10-16 and 6-10. At the Fire Hall team No. 10 lost the first game to Legion No. 9 by a score of 6-11 but coming from behind in the second one the Smoke-eaters went on to win 11-8. Legion No. 6 walked away from the Glens by scores of 21-4 and 16-7. At the Legion Hall, Orphans No. 8 won the first game in a see-saw battle when they captured both games by a score of 9-8; the second game was Legion No. 7 all the way, although it was close in the 7th end, by a score of 15-6.

Red Patch No. 13 got the jump on the Posties No. 14 in the first game and won it by 16-10 score. The second game was much closer and the Post Office scored a deuce in the final frame to make it 8 all. The first tie game of the season. At the Legion Hall a close game was won by the Fire Hall No. 4 from Legion No. 3 by a 13-10 score. In the second one Legion No. 3 got the jump in early scor- they won to the tune of 11-5.

The other match between L.O.L No. 12 vs Legion No. 11 was postponed because the Orange Hall was being renovated after the recent fire. This game must be played this week.

The Red Patch have the honor of being the first team to pay their season dues. Incidently, Leo Herr at 7160 is skip of this team, so contact him for games. Reg. Whitehead is the first honorary member to pay his fee. He is now eligible to fill in on any team which is shorthanded.

Don't let that first postponed game start a series of them; play your game as scheduled.

There should be an Executive Meeting called soon to make arrangements for that draw.

Shirai Wins In Dull Fight

By JIM BECKER

TOKYO (AP) — World flyweight champion Yoshio Shirai tonight turned back the challenge of London's Terry Allen in 15 dreary rounds that were heavy on clinches and light on action.

The decision was unanimous.

The referee scored the fight, in Japan's complicated system, 149-136 for Shirai. One judge had it 150-136, the other 150-130. The Associated Press card gave Shirai nine rounds, Allen four and rated two even.

It was a dismal fight. Two more reluctant battlers probably never tangled for a world crown.

Until Shirai opened up in the last three rounds the crowd of 30,000 sat on their hands.

For the first 11 rounds the referee was the busiest man in the ring as he broke up a series of clutches between the fighters.

Early in the fight for the 112-pound crown Allen forced what action there was, but Shirai landed the solid blows. However, the champion seemed reluctant to follow up.

The champion weighed 110¾, the challenger the flyweight limit of 112.

Today we have the list of unattached members of the curling club. On Wednesday we will run Group No. 4 personnel, and on Thursday Group 5.

Members are requested to keep Friday night open. It's the annual pre-season get-together party. The Empress Hotel is the place, and the curtain rises promptly at 7:00 o'clock. Skips are asked to see that each member of his rink is present.

The lady curlers are holding their annual opening tea on Friday afternoon of this week, in the club parlors.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Doug Vaughan is back on his Windsor sports beat after a trip to Europe. He tells how the English columnists who came over to see Randy Turpin training and boxing for the middleweight crown didn't spare the surly British boxer any. Turpin refused to co-operate with the English writers and he didn't get a good press for his attitude at all. Vaughan winds up his piece by writing: "The stories we saw in London and Scottish papers on how poorly Turpin was training for the fight were unbelievably bitter and, believe is or not, most of the people in Britain were sure, if not actually hoping, that their representative would be beaten. At least they were well prepared for his miserable showing."

A pair of mean mat villains, the brother act from Alberta of Al and Tiny Mills, teams up against Pat Flanagan and Timothy Geohagen in the main pro grapple bout at the Brock Arena Wednesday night. In separate scraps, the two Irishmen have taken a lot of punishment from Al and Tiny, the latter in particular horning in to help his brother in two former matches. This time he gets a legitimate chance to show his ability with big Al as they go in the tag bout. The Mills are as rough a pair of wrestlers as has been seen here in a long period. Alan Garfield meets a newcomer Jap matman, Oyama Kato, in the semi-final. Prelim pits Herb Larsen and Reyes Nacho together.

Concerning Those K's

Recently we've been listing rival OHA senior "B" lineups for local fans. Latest one available is Kingston Goodyears, group champs and provincial winners of last season. While there may be the odd change, the present list goes much like this: Goal, Ken Johnston, with Bert Brooks and Andy Anderson also handy. Defence, Ted Nicholson, Bob Londry, Joe Watts, Tommy Goodfellow, Jerry Montgomery, Stan Stewart, Mucker Sweetman, Dave Latimer; forwards, Clint Tinkess, Jack McKeown, Wils Reid, Ross Atkins, Tom Tindal, Don Bellringer, Don Murray, Jack White, George MacMurray, Jerry Wagar, Bob Joyce, Ken Partis, Bud Ohlke, Bud Aitken and Bud Anson. But where's Walt Gerow? They've lost Al DeLuca to Kapukasing.

* * * * * *

Coach Eddie Redmond of the TPT Petes was a little disappointed at the team's loss to Oshawa in Bowmanville on Saturday, but he is not disheartened. Penalties proved the main factor in the local loss and that can be corrected. He has a lot of good material and they'll start clicking shortly. It is true the Truckmen will be tough, just as they were last year, but it's a long schedule and they'll take some beatings too, along the way. Petes will drill hard this week to prep for their home opener against Orillia Pontiacs on Friday. Vic Gregg's squad may be strong, also, and the Petes will have to hustle every game, we expect.

Art in Saddle Again

At the annual re-organization meeting in Batawa of the Trent Valley Hockey League, Art Duncan of Batawa was returned as loop president for his 10th term, certainly a vote of confidence in his ability to weld this scattered village circuit together year after year. Bill Regan of Marmora is first vice-president, Lyn Greer of Wellington second vice-prexy, and Fred Rutherford of Campbellford third in line. Secretary-treasurer for the season will be Cec. Nokes of Marmora. The league again will be divided into northern and southern groups, each running its own schedule, with group winners meeting finally for the TVL title. Most of last year's entries are expected back, though Lakefield has gone OHA. Campbellford won in '53.

The grid Orfuns took a well-earned rest yesterday after their fine playoff comeback to take the Central Ontario group title over Cobourg Ghosts. But they'll be drilling the rest of the week with Ontario finals looming. Club prexy Dr. Don Aitken will take in an ORFU intermediate "A" meeting in Toronto tomorrow night to work out details on the provincial final series. He expects it to be a two-game set, points counting, and hopes to have the first fray here Saturday. Hamilton and Oakville have a sudden-deather tonight to declare a Western Ontario victor. Like last year in final playoffs, Orfuns will miss their two starry pass-receiving ends, Don McGillis and Clive Naismith being out with injuries. Several of the other injured Orfuns are expected to be ready for play again this weekend.

TURPIN ON CARPET

LONDON (AP)—British middleweight champion Randy Turpin may be disciplined by the stewards of the British Board of Boxing Control because of his poor showing against Bobo Olson in their world title fight in New York last week.

Teddy Waltham, secretary of the BBBC and official observer when Turpin took a lashing from Olson, says he is preparing a report on the "unorthodox and inadequate training methods" Turpin used.

Turpin's training, or lack of it, was sharply criticized by British boxing writers who saw him in the United States. Jack Solomons, the London promoter who controls a major share of the fight business in Britain, said Turpin deserves to be brought before the stewards.

REPORT SOON

Waltham told the press he hopes to finish soon his report to BBBC president J. Onslow Fane.

"It will be for Mr. Fane to decide whether the report should go before the next meeting of the stewards in about three weeks time for any possible disciplinary action," Waltham said.

In preparation for the biggest middleweight fight since Turpin lost the world title to Sugar Ray Robinson in New York in 1951. Turpin sparred infrequently, spent days lounging around his Grossinger, N.Y., camp, complained about homesickness and "things on my mind" and threatened to abandon the fight if anyone bothered him.

Waltham said: "I consider his preparation was inadequate for a fight of such great importance."

RECEIVES SOVIET BID

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's senior Football Association club, Arsenal, has been invited to send a team to Russia next year, Moscow radio said Monday night.

The invitation came from a Soviet sports delegation which visited Britain last week and left Monday, the radio said in a broadcast.

Tom Whittaker, manager of Arsenal, said the club knew nothing officially of the invitation. He refused to comment on whether it would be accepted.

Arsenal, which won the league championship last year, would be the first British league team to play Soccer in Russia. Moscow Dynamos toured Britain in 1945, without losing a game against British clubs.

He suggested Oakland may get major league ball. "The weather would be better than at San Francisco."

Debate Rages Over Injury To Vessels

EDMONTON (CP)—While halfback Billy Vessels undergoes a complete hospital rest cure for a painful back injury, debate still rages among Edmonton fans over the circumstances of the Eskimo star's injury which may or may not keep him out of the Western Interprovincial Football Union finals.

Centre of the controversy is Buck Rogers, defensive lineman of Winnipeg Blue Bombers, reported to have made the tackle which resulted in Vessels being carried off the field Saturday night with a fractured muscle attachment on the spine.

An Eskimo club official and some Edmonton players contend that Vessels was "deliberately kneed" in the back after being tackled.

NO ACCUSATIONS

However, Eskimo coach Darrell Royal and some Edmonton sports writers are making no accusations.

"Darrell didn't make any recommendation to me regarding the Vessels incident and no charge regarding deliberate injury was laid" WIFU president Walter Sprague said. "If I thought such a thing was premeditated I would resign this office."

Royal said doctors won't know for at least a week how long Vessels may be sidelined. He said the present belief is that Vessels will be out for two weeks.

When, recently the famous former heavyweight boxer, Sam Langford, who was born in Weymouth, N.S., became the first Canadian-born ringster, to be cited in the greatest of all sports Halls of Fame, the Helms Foundation of Los Angeles, it unleashed a flood of reminiscence about this mighty slugger.

One concerns a match which ended with Langford scoring a knockout in the seventh round, a story told us by the veteran Joe Woodman, who discovered Langford in Boston as a young fellow who was earning his living washing windows.

We'll have to build in a little background for this, primarily that Langford is credited with possessing the most lethal left hook in heavyweight ring history, possibly excelling, in sheer power, that of Jack Dempsey. Also, there existed in Langford's day a considerable amount of racial prejudice, which fortunately has disappeared. Few white fighters or Negro fighters either, wanted much to do with Langford and his lethal punch, unless there was a "gentleman's agreement," which Sam always kept, religiously, lest he should fight himself out of opponents. He was a man of amazing courage and stamina, this Langford, as well as fistic skill. Not over five feet seven inches tall, and despite short arms, he could, when he cut loose, flatten foes with one sweep of that abbreviated left, even though he had to stand on tip-toe to land it. t

Langford was, probably is, one of the best-natured boxers of all time, who chuckled his way serenely along in and out of the ring. But once he was angered, and that is the episode of which we spoke.

As Joe told it, Sam was fighting a heavyweight named Thompson. It was supposed, by agreement, to go 10 good fast rounds, with neither fighter injured much. Thompson had other ideas. In the sixth round, he let go a right cross with everything he had, hit Sam on the chin, dazed him, and almost knocked him out.

When they came up for the seventh round, Langford thrust out his gloved right hand, and said, "Shake hands." Replied Thompson, surprised: "This ain't the last round, Sam."

"It is for you," answered Sam grimly. And so it was.

Langford was boxing in St. Louis, one night, and his opponent's handlers thought to make him nervous by delaying the entry of their boxer into the ring. Sam sat on his ring chair for nearly half an hour, before his opponent arrived. When the usual preliminaries had been settled and the timer was about to ring the bell, Sam stepped to the side of the ring, held up his gloved fist... The surprised crowd fell silent. Announced Langford: "You'll pardon me, gentlemen, if I make this fight short. I have to catch a train."

Then, with one punch, he laid his opponent low.

Notice To Hockey Subscribers

Peterborough Hockey Club subscribers are advised to order their season's tickets now at TEM. Prices have been advanced slightly, the first increase in the past 10 years or more. This is due to the high cost of equipment, etc. The Peterborough Club is still the lowest in the group in regards to admission prices. Reserve tickets are 1.00, general 60c and children 25c.

Only Three Ties To Date In NHL Games, Fewer Goals Being Scored

MONTREAL (CP)—While Messrs. Reibel, Howe, Geoffrion and Lindsay continue their merry, but positionally unchanged, battle for point scoring leadership take a cautious peek at what's going on in the National Hockey League. In the 24 games played so far this season there have been only three ties—or one in every eight games. Going back to the corresponding statistical Monday of last season, seven ties had turned up in 23 games, but a peculiar thing about the present scarcity of ties is that fewer goals have been scored than in the corresponding period last season. To date 110 goals have been scored, an average of 4.6 a game. Last year in the first 23 games there were 117 goals, an average of 5.9.

All of which is contrary to a maxim president Clarence Campbell of the NHL will recite at the drop of a puck—"when the number of goals increases, ties decrease."

SHED NO LIGHT

The current scoring statistics shed no light on this minor enigma, but they do show that Earl (Dutch) Reibel is still leading the parade. The Detroit Red Wings' rookie collected two assists last week and his total now is 13. His closest pursuers also picked up two points apiece.

Gordie Howe, Reibel's teammate and three-times champion, added a goal and assist, giving him 11 points. Bernie Geoffrion of the league-leading Montreal Canadiens also gathered in one goal and assist and at 10 points is tied with Detroit's Ted Lindsay, who matched Reibel's two assists in three games.

Maurice Richard of Montreal heads the goal-scorers with six. Reibel still tops the league in assists with nine.

Terry Sawchuk of Detroit continues to set the pace for goalies. His goals-against average is a remarkable 1.11. Harry Lumley of Toronto and Gerry McNeil of Montreal are closest with 1.67.

Ehlers Hired As Manager Of Orioles

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore-born Art Ehlers has been hired as general manager of the Orioles who return to the American League next season.

Ehlers brings to the new organization which succeeds St. Louis Browns a background of 16 years as a baseball official, the last two as general manager of Philadelphia Athletics.

His contract with the Athletics had expired and he agreed to a three-year pact with the Orioles.

"The extent of his compensation will depend largely upon the success of the club in Baltimore," said Clarence W. Miles, the lawyer who masterminded purchase and transfer of the Browns Sept. 29.

FLAT SALARY

Miles said the 56-year-old Ehlers will be paid a flat salary, undisclosed, plus a bonus depending on attendance.

"Ehlers will have complete authority to run the ball club," said Miles.

Ehlers became general manager of the Athletics in 1950 when Connie Mack quit. He had been directing the farm system of the Athletics since 1947.

Every player from the Browns is up for trade, but only if the deal will improve the Orioles, too, Ehlers said. Cash won't work as bait as it did with the Browns.

"If you're going to trade," he said, "trade anybody—no exceptions—if you're going to help yourself in a couple of positions. Not man for man. And in Baltimore's case it won't be necessary to take cash. Also, if we want somebody, we'll be able to do it."

He added:

"I think the Orioles need good pitching bad. That's my job to get them. I don't know where. If we do get them, we'll make a pretty good run for the first division."

Tennis Champion Trabert Weds

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Tennis champion Tony Trabert of Cincinnati and Utah beauty queen Shauna Wood were married Monday night.

The couple plan a wedding trip to Australia, where Trabert will play with the United States Davis Cup team in a series starting Dec. 17.

Trabert and his bride, both 23, met last June when Trabert won the U.S. hardcourts title here. Miss Wood represented Utah in the 1953 Miss Universe beauty contest, where she placed fifth.

Brian Culler Leading Junior Scoring

TORONTO (CP)—Brian Cullen, a two-year veteran with St. Catharines TeePees, has scored 12 goals and nine assists in seven games to lead the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series with 21 points—two more than his closest rival, Bill McCreary of Guelph Biltmores.

McCreary, with eight markers and 11 assists, is followed by teammate Bob Attersley who has the same number of goals and one less assist.

Bob Senior, newcomer to Toronto Marlboros, has played two games and owns the best goals-against average among the league's netminders. His 0.5 average is followed by the 1.5 mark of teammate Doug Albani.

The leaders:

Report AHL Starting Season In Good Shape

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—The American Hockey League is apparently starting the season in good financial shape.

League president J. B. Sollenberger Monday reported average net receipts for the first few games were slightly higher than last year. He made his report to a league meeting.

Chicago Sox Take Most Of 1953 Defensive Honors

NEW YORK (AP) — Chicago White Sox, the American Leaders in team fielding, also took most of the circuit's individual defensive honors during the 1953 season.

The Chisox, who fielded .980 collectively, placed three men — shortstop Chico Carrasquel, outfielder Sam Mele and catcher Sherman Lollar at the top of their positions, final fielding averages compiled by The Associated Press showed today.

Carrasquel paced the American League shortfielders with a .976 mark, with 18 errors in 762 chances. Lollar accepted 527 chances with only three miscues for .994 and Mele made one error in 225 for a .996 average, to tie New York's Gene Woodling for the lead. Woodling, the top man for the third straight year, handled 247 chances with one error.

SHARE LAURELS

St. Louis Cardinals and Philadelphia Phillies shared National League laurels, each placing two players.

Cardinal second baseman Red Schoendienst paced his rivals with a .981 figure on 15 errors in 803 chances while teammate Enos Slaughter was the leading outfielder with .996 (one error, 238 chances).

Willie Jones, Phils' third sacker, was the No. 1 man at his post with .974 and Philly catcher Smoky Burgess was defensive pacesetter with .993.

Panama Al Brown won the world's bantamweight crown by defeating Eugene Huat of France in a 15-round fight at Montreal 24 years ago today. Brown again beat Huat in Paris the following year, holding the title until Baltazar Sangchili copped it in 1935.

Kithyra Quoted 10-1 For Race

LONDON (AP)—Kithyra broke away from the pack at a London call-over of betting odds Monday night to become the clear favorite for the Cambridgeshire.

Kithyra was quoted at 10-1. Previously, he was bracketed with Sailing Light and Jupiter at 100-8 for the mile and one-eighth race at Newmarket Wednesday. Sailing Light and Jupiter remained at the same odds in the call-over.

Heavy betting took place at Victoria Club. The best backed horse was Hilltop, who closed at 22-1, 11 points less than at last week's call-over. A total of $75,600 was wagered on Capt. C. C. Boyd-Rochfort's entry.

Sunny Brae closed at 100-7 along with Choir Boy. Prince Charlemagne held to 28-1 while Dumbarnie finished at 66-1 after being unquoted last week. Other 66-1 selections were Black Light and Rhinehart.

Stewart Leads AHL Scorers

NEW YORK (AP)—Gaye Stewart, veteran left wing of Buffalo Bisons, led the American Hockey League scorers through games of last Sunday with 13 points on seven goals and six assists.

Stewart, who made his professional debut with Hershey of the AHL in 1941 and played with all of the National League teams except Boston, compiled his total in eight games. His seven goals were tops in the league. Cal Stearns, Cleveland centre, led in assists with eight.

Behind Stewart are rookie Don Marshall of Buffalo with 11 and Jackie Gordon of Cleveland and George Sullivan of Hershey with 10 each.

Larry Cahan, first-year player with Pittsburgh Hornets, maintained his penalty lead with 22 minutes. Emile Francis, Cleveland goalie had the best average in that department with 2.43 on 17 goals allowed in seven games.

Roberts Holds 11-Point Lead In Big 4

TORONTO (CP)—Gene (Choo Choo) Roberts, who scored 10 points in Ottawa Rough Riders' 30-15 victory over Montreal Alouettes last Saturday, holds an 11-point lead in the Big Four scoring race. Only two Canadians are among the first 15.

Roberts, native of Bonner Springs, Kas., has scored 77 points in 11 games for an average of seven points a game. Ray Poole of Als, veteran kicking star from New York Giants, holds the runner-up spot with 66 points.

Statistics compiled by The Canadian Press give Roberts six touchdowns, five field goals, 30 converts and two singles against two touchdowns, 10 field goals and 26 converts for Poole.

LOGAN BEST CANUCK

Tip Logan of Hamilton Tiger-Cats, who joined the Big Four club from Queen's Gaels of the Intercollegiate Union, is sixth with 38 points and Canadian-born Bobby Simpson of the riders, is in 13th place with 15 points on three majors.

In third place, 20 points off pace, is import Avatus Stone of the Riders, who has scored 10 touchdowns —highest in the league—and kicked seven singles for a 57-point total.

GREGORY AHEAD

Dick Gregory, first-year import from Chicago Bears, took over the Ontario Rugby Football Union leadership with a 17-point performance Sunday as Toronto Balmy Beach walloped Brantford Redskins. He replaced John Mancos of Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, who led the union the last three weeks. Gregory has 74 points and Mancos, from Kent State College in Ohio, has 72.

Gino Fracas of the University of Western Ontario Mustangs, leads Intercollegiate Union scorers with 33 points, 13 up on McGill's George Klein and Western's Murray Henderson, tied for second place with 20 points each.

Says Papers Have Edge On TV, Radio

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A syndicated columnist and radio commentator said today that despite the vogue of television and radio, newspapers and the printed word are the "indispensable forms of human intelligence."

"The printed publication, such as the newspaper, best fits the mood of a free-choice economic society," Merryle Stanley Rukeyser told the Institute of Newspaper Controllers and Finance Officers.

He is an international news service columnist and a weekly commentator over the Mutual Broadcasting System.

In a newspaper or magazine, he said, there is no "momentary compulsion on the part of the advertiser to force a reluctant person to heed his commercial message."

AUDIENCE NOT CAPTIVE

Rukeyser said the newspaper "has no captive audience" and added:

"Their readers can take or leave the advertising message, which they do not resent as an interruption. On the other hand, willy nilly, the radio listener and TV viewer is regimented into hearing all or part of the sponsor's commercial.

"Newspaper business executives should not feel, however, that their competition is other media. The 'competition' which puts a ceiling on newspaper earnings from advertising is the high rate of business mortality, due to managerial inefficiency, financial ineptitude and inadequate sales promotion. Therefore, if new and additional media help to keep advertisers healthy and alive, they may be useful allies."

In Monday's election of officers Eric B. Gardner of Kitchener, Ont. was named treasurer of the organization. Chosen president was Richard H. Wills, Roanoke, Va.

Robert Bassett, labor counsel for Hearst Newspapers, told the delegates that the newspapers' percentage of net profits to gross revenue "is at a near-fatal level in a majority of cases." Labor costs now were running to almost 50 per cent of the total operating costs for most newspapers and in many cases riding higher.

AN EARLY CHRISTMAS TREE?—Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Weir have grown in the past three years a begonia which now also completely fills the corner in their livingroom. When Mrs. Weir planted the slip, little did she realize that the five-inch spray would become as large as a Christmas tree. Mr. Weir (above) stands beside the plant to show how tall the plant is. Although they're proud of their begonia, Mr. Weir said it has outgrown its place in the home and anyone wishing it may have it for the asking. —(Examiner Staff Photo).

700 Indians Get Federal Help In Studies

OTTAWA (CP)—At least 700 young Canadian Indians will get federal government assistance in advanced studies this year by tuition grants totalling some $300,000, Citizenship Minister Harris announced today.

The announcement came during the second day of a three-day conference here between the Indian affairs branch and 19 representatives of Canada's 156,000 Indians.

Mr. Harris said assistance previously given by his department to Indians learning trades or attending university has had "very satisfactory" results.

CITES EXAMPLES

An Indian dentist, Roger Ross of the Songhees band, has started a practice at Victoria. A Huron Indian from the Lorette reserve near Quebec, Leon Groslouis, was awarded the Governor-General's Silver Medal as the top medical graduate at Laval University this year.

Among Indians being assisted this year are 18 university students; 21 students of nursing and 12 learning to be nurses' assistants; six attending normal school and seven teachers who took training courses during the summer; and 40 commercial students.

Many of these Indian students will return to help their own people but this is not a condition for assistance in advanced studies.

BLOOD DEPOSIT AT TELLER'S WINDOW—Here's a blood bank that resembles the kind of bank that handles money. Keeping deposits equal to withdrawals is the main object of this Hanoi, Indo-China, blood bank. It is equipped with a teller's window to which depositors are directed. Here, a teller takes blood from a depositor who has his arm through the opening.

Woman Slashes Wrist, Trial Delayed

PARIS (Reuters) — Pauline Dubisson, attractive 26-year-old French girl, slashed her wrist in prison this morning a few hours before she was due to go on trial as the "scourge of thel eft bank" —the girl who kept a diary of her lovers and shot the first man who resisted her charms.

She was found unconscious in her cell in the Paris women's prison, and doctors said she will be in a state of coma for several days. She lost 1¾ pints of blood after binding her arm to constrict the veins, then puncturing an artery in her wrist with a needle or piece of broken glass.

CURIOUS FOLK BALKED

Long lines of people waiting to see her arrive at the Paris assize court went home disappointed at missing the start of a murder trial hailed here as Paris' most sensational this year.

Student Felix Bailly, was found with three bullet wounds—one between the eyes—in his bedroom in March, 1951. Pauline was lying unconscious in the kitchen with a gas tube in her mouth.

Her father, a wealthy business man in a Malo-les-Bains, gassed himself when he heard of his daughter's arrest.

Paulin is alleged to have kept a written record of her long list of lovers and, out of spite, murdered the only one who dared to turn to another woman.

Plan Indefinite Detention Of Five Guiana Leaders

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP) — The London-appointed governor of this troubled British colony today announced the indefinite detention of five leaders of the leftist People's Progressive Party (PPP). An official statement said their activities constituted a threat to public safety and order.

The surprise action was taken under the emergency powers granted Governor Sir Alfred Savage early this month when Britain suspended the colony's six-month-old constitution and kicked out six PPP ministers, charging them with plotting to turn British Guiana into a Communist state.

The five under detention were identified as Sidney King, works minister in the ousted government of ex-prime minister Cheddi Jagan; Rory Westmaas, vice chairman of the party; Martin Carter, chairman of the PPP peace committee; Bally Lachman Singh, a former member of the colony's assembly; and Adjodah Singh.

The men were taken into custody Saturday after they had been accused of trying to whip up support for sugar-industry strikes that have plagued the colony since Britain's drastic troop-enforced action Oct. 9.

WITNESSES SCARCE

The official statement said the governor had decided it was necessary "to make orders directing that they be apprehended and detained in safe custody until such a time as he may further direct" to prevent them from acting in a manner prejudicial to the public interest.

The statement added, however, that "owing to widespread intimidation and fear of victimization" it had been found difficult to obtain eye-witness evidence to support the charges that the men were promoting strikes.

Britain has accused PPP leaders of plotting — with Moscow backing — a campaign of arson aimed at bringing about Communist control of the colony.

Jagan, who flew to London to present his case to the British public, has denied the charge, asserting "a plot has been invented where there is none." He also denied the PPP is Communist.

Kelly Outlines Highway Plans

SUDBURY (CP)—Mines Minister Kelly of Ontario said today plans for highway construction during the next few years in northern Ontario call for linkage of the Timmins, Kirkland Lake and Sault Ste. Marie areas with high-speed roads.

Plans have also been made for the construction of links in the existing network of mining and development roads in undeveloped areas of the district.

Mr. Kelly said in an interview that the new roads will provide northern Ontario with the permanent groundwork for future development. Construction is being planned in co-operation with the department of lands and forests.

Some access roads into the bush are private. Mr. Kelly said these will eventually be taken over by the provincial government to be included in the general network of highways in the north.

Roosevelt Denounces Ban On Aid To Israel

TORONTO (CP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., Democratic congressman from New York, Monday night described as "incredible" the action of the United States in withholding financial aid to Israel as a result of the recent destruction of a Jordan village by Israeli invaders. However, he could not condone the Israeli reprisals.

Mr. Roosevelt said he is confident the U. S. action would be repealed by Congress. He criticized Secretary of State John Foster Dulles for putting the U. S. on "the fruitless road of dollar diplomacy."

Mr. Roosevelt spoke to 1,000 on the 110th anniversary of the founding of the B'Nai Brith organization.

Committee To Bid On Hospital Site

LINDSAY (ENS)—The building committee of Ross Memorial Hospital expansion committee moved a recommendation Monday night that they be empowered to make an offer for a piece of farm property just outside the town limits and across the street from the present hospital site, for the erection of a new hospital building.

The site, on the farm of William Hazelton, behind the Lindsay Fair Grounds, has an area of 10 acres, with access to Highway 7 to the south and more than 800 feet of frontage on Angeline St. The committee decided some time ago that the site would be the most suitable since it would make it possible to combine the services of the two hospital branches. The present building would be used as a chronic and convalescent hospital.

The committee appointed an executive committee, which would be in charge of future work, and which will be able to make decisions pertaining to the fund-raising campaign and other matters without calling a full meeting of the large group now in force. This committee would include the chairman, vice-chairman and secretary of the present committee, the chairman of the building, financee and sub-committees, and the chairman of the present board of governors of the hospital.

A representative of a fund-raising organization is now making a survey of the town and district served by the hospital to determine the chances to raise the necessary $300,000 by public subscription. It is expected that a report from the company will be available when the finance committee will go before Victoria County Council with information relative to the amount which may be required from the county.

Begin Work On Sunken German Ship

PORT HURON, Mich. (AP)—A marine salvage company today began preliminary work toward raising the sunken German freighter Wallschiff from the bottom of the St. Clair river.

The small ocean-going ship was sunk near Sarnia, Ont., in a collision with the Great Lakes ore carrier Pioneer Oct. 2. Harold Patterson, 73-year-old pilot formerly of Kingston, Ont., died of a heart attack after the collision.

McQueen Marine, Ltd., of Amherstburg, Ont., sent a tug and salvage barge to the location today to make preliminary surveys. Actual raising of the vessel is to begin later this week.

The crew of the salvage craft said the ship probably will be shifted closer to shore, where its steel cargo will be removed and holes closed in her side. Then raising operations will begin.

The Wallschiff is lying in 60 feet of water just off the up-bound channel of the narrow, swift river linking Lake Huron to Lake St. Clair.

Woman Unconscious For Fourth Day

CHESLEY, Ont. (CP) — Miss Margaret Spence remained unconscious for the fourth day as she lay in Victoria Hospital at London in critical condition. Attendants reported her condition was unchanged.

The 32-year-old woman was found Saturday morning in her office. She was lying on the floor and was bleeding heavily about the face. Stitches were required to close the deep gash across her temple.

Rushed first to Clinton hospital, the woman was later taken to London for further treatment.

Cause of her injuries remain unknown as authorities wait for Miss Spence to regain consciousness.

Mother, 2 Children Die In Accident

DETROIT (CP)—Mrs. Caroline Salmon, 27, a native of Sundown, Man., and her two young children were killed Monday night in a highway accident near New Boston, Mich.

Her husband, William Salmon, 27, Detroit, and a passenger, James T. Fondau, 25, are in serious condition in hospital.

Police said today a charge may be laid against Salmon, driver of the car, in connection with the accident.

SS 2 To Pay $2 For Health Aid

The board of trustees of Separate School Section No. 2 in North Monaghan township will now pay $2.00 per capita fee to the city to provide school health services for children from the township attending St. Alphonsus School.

An agreement to that effect was approved by the board of works Monday night. Ald. J. A. Dewart, chairman of the board of health, said the new fee, 75 cents more than the previous one, was acceptable to both the board of health and the separate school board.

Ald. Dewart said about 90 per cent of the pupils attending the school were from the city.

The agreement is designed to provide the same health services to all pupils at the school as are being provided for city pupils under agreements signed this year between the board of health, board of education and separate school board.

Health services for the city's public school pupils were previously administered by the board of education. Health services for separate school pupils were provided by the separate school board under an agreement with the board of health. The per capita fee for township pupils attending St. Alphonsus School was $1.25.

The new agreement provide for standard health services for all city pupils as well as township pupils attending St. Alphonsus School.

Sports Store Owners Awarded $75 In Suit

A settlement between the owners of Dit Clapper's Sports Shop and a former employee, Douglas Mortimer, was announced today in county court. Judge John de N. Kennedy presided.

Under its terms the plaintiffs —Aubrey (Dit) Clapper and Dave Wilson—get $75 and court costs. A counterclaim by Mortimer was dismissed with costs.

Clapper and Wilson claimed that they had not received payment for a miscellaneous assortment of sporting goods, valued in all at $214.80, that were received by Mortimer. However they agreed that they owed him $100 for the use of his car while he was selling, thus reducing the claim to $114.80.

Mortimer said that the prices charged him for the goods he was to sell were sometimes wholesale and sometimes retail, contrary to their agreement. He said there were tther credits, as well.

The compromise of $75 to the plaintiffs was finally agreed on by both parties.

Trevor E. Clarke was counsel for the sports store and James B. Lillico was counsel for Mortimer.

Blood Test Set Aside, Driver Fined

LINDSAY (ENS) — Magistrate Gee Monday set aside a bloon test which showed alcohol concentration of two parts in a thousand and convicted a Whitby physician, Dr. Theodore Sweet, of driving while his ability was impaired, after the original charge had been read of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Dr. Sweet was charged following an October 10 accident on highway 7 west of Lindsay. According to the evidence of the other driver, Fred Turner, of Leaside, Sweet's car had travelled on the wrong side of the road, as it approached Turner's vehicle, for some 200 to 300 yards before.

Striking Turner's car five feet off the paved portion of the highway. Sweet's car travelled over 250 feet after the accident.

SMELLED OF ALCOHOL

Constable Jim Plumtree of the Lindsay OPP who investigated the accident said Dr. Sweet was leaning against his car, smelled of alcohol and had great difficulty in walking to the cruiser for further questioning after the mishap.

Dr. H. G. Metcalfe of Lindsay administered a blood test to the accused at the county jail after he had been charged. A. B. Grees of Oshawa, defending the accused, who is second in charge of the Ontario Hospital at Whitby put the defendant on the stand, where he told the court that he had been under great pressure throughout the summer months, and had been taking phenobarbital to alleviate the pains of a stomach ulcer.

On the day of the accident, he said he had left for his cottage at Minden immediately after coming off duty, had three drinks before taking the road and was "dog tired" as he drove north from Whitby. He explained that his dog had whined in the back seat of the car just before the accident, causing him to take his mind from his driving immediately before the crash.

The investigating officer, Const. Jim Plumtree, told the court he found three empty whiskey bottles in the back of the Sweet car. The accused explained that he was taking them on the highway to throw away, since inmates of the hospital looked after the garbage collection, and he did not want them to find the bottles when they attended to his home.

FATIGUE TOO

Two Whitby physicians, Dr. Allan Earl, of the hospital staff and Dr. J. L. Ruddy testified that in their opinion, Dr. Sweet's fatigue could have contributed to his condition at the time of the accident and afterward.
